LOCAL MENTION.

—The Honesdale basket ball team will play in White Mills on Saturday evening.

—The case against Dr. C. W. Treverton has been continued in the Lackawanna county courts for the third time, going over to next term in consequence of the absence from Scranton of one of his counsel.

—Letters uncalled for at the Honesdale post office:

Mr. and Mrs. Brush, Mrs. Myra Coney, Mrs. Mary A. Dolan, Mrs. John Looz, Floyd Montran, B. Simons, H. H. Sweeney.

—It often happens that the man who buys everything he can from the cheap catalogue houses, like Sears-Roebuck & Co., and Montgomery Ward, is the very fellow who, when he has a little misfortune in his home, is around with a paper asking the merchants with whom he ought to deal to help him out a little.

—The regular inspection of Company E was held at their hall, on Eighth street, Wednesday evening. Majors Clarke, of Williamsport, and Conrad, of Scranton, were in attendance. The local company is in very good condition; sixty-eight answering to the roll-call. On March 23, Company E, with Company I, of Easton, will go to Washington, to attend the inauguration.

—The case of Joseph Ackerman vs. Thomas Quinney was brought before Justice of the Peace William H. Ham, on Thursday morning. Both parties claim the ownership of a dog, the plaintiff alleging that his dog left him about a year ago, and returned to him last month. The defendant went to the plaintiff's place of business on Wednesday, and took the animal, claiming that the dog belonged to him. The defendant was held in $100 bail for his appearance at court.

—District Superintendent Rev. M. D. Fuller, of the Honesdale district of the Wyoming conference, will officiate at communion services at the following places: Sunday, February 7, Pleasant Mount in the morning and Orson in the evening; February 14, Beech Lake in the morning and Narrowsburg in the evening; February 21, Bethany in the morning and Honesdale in the evening. The quarterly conference of the Honesdale church will be held Friday evening, February 19, at which Rev. Fuller will be in attendance.

—Hon. George Moscrip, Bradford county's senior representative in the House, on Wednesday of last week, introduced a measure authorizing the erection at Towanda of a monument commemorative of the late Hon. David Wilnot, author of the "Wilnot Proviso," and one of Pennsylvania's most illustrious sons, who was born in Bethany, January 20, 1814, when that village was the county-seat of Wayne. His mother was a daughter of the pioneer James Carr, of Canaan township. It is eminently proper that a monument to David Wilnot should be erected by the State of Pennsylvania, which he served so well and honorably. But why not locate it in Bethany where he first saw the light, and where he had his residence for the following twenty years?

PERSONAL.

—Austin Lyons was a visitor in Hawley, last week.

—Edward Katz spent several days this week in Wilkes-Barre.

—H. E. Simons, of Scranton, is spending a few days in this place.

—Miss Jennie Touhey is the new operator at the consolidated Telephone office.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Tuman, of Scranton, are visiting relatives at this place.

—Mrs. James Lindsay and daughter, Mrs. Vina Wetherby, spent Monday at Keene.

—F. W. Tibbitts, of the firm of F. W. Tibbitts & Co., of Philadelphia, is in town on business.

—John Stegner, Andrew Murtha and John O'Connell attended a dance in Hawley, last evening.

—Mrs. W. H. Millsaugh and daughter Ruth, of Port Jervis, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith, of West street.

—Mayor J. Benjamin Dimmick, of Scranton, has formally withdrawn his name from further consideration as a candidate for United States Senator.

—Russell T. Whitney has bought the good will, horses, wagons and general equipment of the Honesdale Ice Co., with which he has been connected as manager for some years.

—Rev. W. F. Hopp, Ph. D., is the way to write it since the Iowa Christian College has conferred the honor of Doctor of Philosophy on the popular pastor of the St. John's Ev. Lutheran church.

—Frank P. Smith, a notice of whose death appears in another column, will be remembered as the young man who suffered so severely from hemorrhages at the residence of Mrs. W. H. Briggs, 11th street, about four years ago.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gaylord and Mrs. J. J. Curtis went to Philadelphia, yesterday morning, for a visit with their sons, Albert B. Gaylord and Judson J. Curtis, who are successful business men in the City of Brotherly Love.

—Carlton S. Brooks and Miss Elsie L. Webber, both of Beach Lake, were married at the Episcopal rectory, Thursday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. L. Whittaker. The couple were attended by Miss Jessie White, of Honesdale, and Charles E. Webber, of Beach Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks left on the Erie train for a wedding trip to New York and other cities.

—Dr. William T. Bull, the famous New York surgeon, whose condition from cancerous complications long seemed hopeless, had sufficiently improved in strength to permit of his removal to Savannah, Georgia, on Friday last. Before his illness he weighed 255 pounds, but is now reduced to 145. Dr. Bull was for a long time professionally associated with the late Dr. D. B. St. John Roosa.

Steen.

FEB. 1st.—Being laid up for repairs and amendments last week, the bobolink is again on duty.

The tax payers of the borough of Prompton have at last awakened to the realization that they have been "hooded" and hood-winked for a number of years by a certain clique, residents of said borough, but taxable to no extent, who, when they name their ticket at the regular caucus will see to it that they are nominated and elected by fair or by foul means; but having been caught at the last regular caucus at their trickery, a special meeting of the citizens and tax payers was called together Friday evening, Jan. 29, on which occasion the school was filled to its utmost capacity. After discussion, a Citizens' ticket was nominated and elected and the result sent to the Commissioners' office in due form, and in the hope that no serious errors have occurred in sending in names not indorsed at the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Dryer, who has been in attendance on her father, David Wonnacott, for the last three months, returned to her home at White Plains, N. Y., on Saturday.

Samuel Found is confined to his home with a slight attack of pneumonia.

Jacob Wayman still lies very low at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Dennie.

On account of the recent thaw the Lake Lodore Ice Co. was at a standstill all of last week.

February 16th all tax-payers of the borough should look after their own interests by voting a straight Citizens ticket.

The weather being favorable, the Lake Lodore Ice Co. will resume operations this week.

Galen Perry, of Carbondale, visited friends in this section Sunday.

Mrs. Oliver Chapman, of Carbondale, is visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snediker, at Prompton.

Mrs. Emily Blake, of Honesdale, is spending a few days with her brother, David Wonnacott at Steene.

Norman Arnold and family have moved from Carbondale and located in his father's house here.

Mrs. William Cole, who has been seriously ill, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Vanbuskirk, who has been quite ill, is able to be around again.

Rev. Mr. Lees, of Prompton, is talking of selling his parson. She is a dandy.

OBITUARY.

Frank Smith died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Smith, of Indian Orchard, on Tuesday morning, Feb. 2d. Deceased was twenty-eight years of age. He was born in White Mills. Besides his parents he is survived by the following brothers, John, Joseph and August; also a step-sister, Mrs. Stephen Baner, of Hawley, and a stepbrother, Jacob Detsch, of Honesdale. The funeral will be held Saturday morning, at 9:30 o'clock.

John Finnigan died in the Port Jervis Hospital on Tuesday last from a fractured skull and severe shock received on the previous Saturday while at work in a stone quarry at Long Eddy. He was struck on the head by a large stone, and never recovered consciousness after the accident. He was born in Ulster county, N. Y., and learned the trade of stone cutting at West Hawley. For the past ten years he had been in the employ of the Kenney Brothers at Long Eddy. He leaves a wife, three sisters and three brothers, among the latter being Philip Finnigan, of Equinunk.

Mrs. Maggie Alexander Gollwyne, daughter of Robert Alexander, formerly of Mt. Pleasant, died at her home in New York on Wednesday of last week, aged 42 years. Her remains were brought to her childhood home for burial on Saturday last. A short service was held in the Methodist Episcopal church, Pleasant Mt. Interment in the cemetery.

Her father and mother are both living, and reside at Endicott, N. Y.; also five sisters, Mrs. W. Tiffany and Mrs. G. Coles, at Endicott; Mrs. John Lang, at Waymart; Mrs. Fred Reynolds, in Seattle, Wash.; Josephine, at home, and one brother, Charles, at Newburgh, N. Y.

Mrs. Celia McCormick, wife of Wm. Dunn, died at her home in Mount Pleasant on Friday evening last, January 26, 1900. The following circumstances connected with her death are furnished by a correspondent: "About six weeks ago she gave birth to twin boys. The mother and babes were doing finely, and she had gotten up and was doing her own work. On Wednesday evening the house caught fire from the chimney and the shock from it left her in such weakened condition that she died on Friday."

She is survived by her husband and four children, the oldest a boy six years old, a girl four years old and the twin babies; also two brothers and four sisters and her mother, Mrs. John McCormick. Her sisters are Mrs. C. Moylan, of Waymart; Mrs. John Lestrangle, of Poyntelle; Mary, at Coudersport, and Margaret, at home. The funeral services were held at Hill Top, Rev. Father D. W. McCarthy officiating. Interment in Hill Top cemetery.

Henry O. Silkman, owner of the beautiful Lake Henry estate at Maplewood, Lake township this county, between Scranton and Lake Ariel, died on Monday last, February 1st, 1900. He was 78 years of age, and is survived by his wife and two sisters. For several years he had suffered from rheumatic troubles, though up to two months ago he was able to be about most of the time. Mr. Silkman was born in Katonah, West Chester Co., N. Y. When but a child his parents moved to Dunmore, where they lived for a few years, later taking up their residence in what is now North Scranton. There the father opened an iron foundry and his sons Henry O. and Frank B., became associated with him in the enterprise. Twenty-five years later the foundry was destroyed by fire and Henry O. Silkman went to Berwick, remaining there for a short time, later moving to Maplewood, where he owned a large tract of land. When the Erie and Wyoming Valley railroad passed through his land he was given important concessions for the right of way.

For over thirty years, Mr. Silkman lived at Maplewood, where he owned large timber tracts and a fine water power plant. For a number of years he operated a saw-mill and a chair factory. Mr. Silkman was also the owner of Lake Henry and the land between the lake and the Erie tracks. This stretch was covered with the finest timber and was one of Mr. Silkman's most highly prized possessions. He made it into a beautiful park, which he improved with pathways and rustic bridges and in which he erected large pavilions and other buildings necessary for a picnic ground. The park was used for a couple of seasons, but owing to the fact that the railroad company would not furnish train accommodations it had to be abandoned for all but private uses. Lake Henry was made famous as a fishing ground when Mr. Silkman stocked the waters with pickerel, perch and catfish. Thousands of anglers went to the lake each season and many of them built cottages along the shore. Mr. Silkman was also interested in the large ice houses at the outlet of the lake, in which many tons of ice for the use of the people of Scranton and other places, was stored each winter.

Homer Davenport.

He went over to England and was lionized to death. Whistler, the impossible, fell in love with him.

Phil May sat at his feet. Gladstone said he was the one American he ever saw who was the kind of man all Americans tried to pretend to be.

Lord Salisbury put off a trip abroad to meet him and hear him tell stories of the days when his one ambition was to be a circus clown. Henry Irving said he was the best story teller he'd ever heard. He was dined and wined and run after, and his one grievance was that these great men should so plainly show that they were weak in some way by making such a fuss over a nobody like himself. He's so simple that he's the most complicated man I ever knew. Ambition, vanity, love of power—he has heard the names of these things—he doesn't know what they mean.

If he hadn't been a famous cartoonist he'd have been a famous animal painter. Or he would have been a famous singer—he has a baritone of gold—or he'd have been a famous sculptor or a famous speaker.

He's a genius—his pictures are only one way of showing it. The great secret of his marvelous influence isn't in his pictures—it's in the man.—Winifred Black, in the Denver Post.
