LOCAL MENTION.

—Letters uncalled for at the Honesdale post office: Miss Grace Balcom, Mrs. Price Utt.

—August Bregstein and W. W. Wood, Jr., returned from a two months' itinerary through New York State, during which time they disposed of the clothing which was purchased by the Bregstein Brothers, at the Hittinger bankrupt sale at Hawley. They report business very good in Sullivan and Delaware counties.

—The Literary Contest to be held in the Lyric, Thursday evening, April 1st, is the first of its kind ever held in Honesdale. The local teachers are endeavoring to make the English work second to none in importance, and much interest is aroused in the work because of this contest. In addition to those whose names have been previously announced, the following have been chosen to deliver essays on "Pennsylvania in Art"—Abigail Baird, Faith Clark and Grace Hanlan. While the judges are preparing their decision, about forty pupils, under the direction of Miss Amy E. Clark, the musical director of the school, will give a humorous operetta, entitled "The Magician."

—Through the consolidating of the business of a number of well known wholesale milk dealers a new organization has just been formed which will be a large factor in the milk market in the future, handling as it will over forty thousand quarts of milk each day and controlling at least twelve creameries in the best milk producing sections in the country, among them being the Preston Park creamery of this county. The new concern has been named The Castleton Dairy Co., its New York city office being at No. 503 West 38th street.

—The Collar and Tie Committee of the Martha Washington Supper were tendered a banquet, on Thursday evening, by their chairman, Miss Grace Bishop, at her home on East Extension street.

—John Tuman, a resident of White Mills, fell from a roof on Tuesday, and received a number of severe bruises.

—Miss Ruth Ruppert has returned home, after spending several days with relatives in Carbondale.

—Charles Simmons, of New York city, spent several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Freeman, of Court street.

—That the cost of the road building in northeastern Pennsylvania has been carried on in the last year along economical lines is shown by the report of District Engineer Arthur W. Long of the state highway department. In the counties of Lackawanna, Susquehanna, Wyoming, Wayne, Pike and Monroe twelve miles of highway were built in 1908, costing on an average, $1.43 per running foot or $7,560 a mile. The total cost of the twelve miles, including the construction of the road itself, engineering, the building of bridges and inspection amounted to $88,836.99, the road building being $80,718.33 of the whole. The highways considered were as follows: Mt. Pleasant, one mile; Lehigh township, seven and one-quarter miles; Seelyville road, one mile; Glenburn, two miles; Dyberry-Bethany road, three-fourths of a mile. The low cost of the roads and the absence of extras were due to Mr. Long's careful estimating, the extras for 1908 amounting to only $271.11. The Lehigh township road cost the least of any, the price per running foot being $1.21. The highest priced was the Seelyville road, costing $2.08 a foot.

—Monday and Wednesday nights of next week, the following vaudeville acts will take place on the stage of the Lyric: Lawrence Sisters, Comedy Singing and Dancing; Harry Mantell, Monologist; Nelusco, Comedy Magician, New Motion Pictures and Illustrated Songs. In place of giving the people a cheaper show at lower prices the management will continue to offer a big hour and a half performance at 10 cents for balcony and 20 cents for main floor seats. Two performances will be given on the evenings of the above dates, at 7.30 and 9.00 o'clock. For the latter part of the week an entirely different program will be billed. See advertisement later.

—Charles S. Penwarden, Secretary of the Wayne County Pennsylvania Society of New York City, writes us that the annual meeting of the society will be held May 11th, at 8 P. M., at the Hotel Manhattan, Madison Avenue and Forty-second street, New York city, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year, and one director for a term of three years, receiving and acting upon the reports of the officers and committees, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting. The following named gentlemen have been regularly and duly appointed as members of the Nominating Committee: John H. Strongman, Geo. R. Valentine, Dr. Peter J. Gibbons, Francis A. Dimock, and William W. Starbuck. Owing to the vast amount of very important business to be transacted, and the many interesting matters to be considered at this meeting, there should be a large attendance; and it is expected that each and every member of the association will make a special effort to be present.

—The Carbondale correspondent of the Scranton Republican says: "The annual literary contest between the Carbondale, Honesdale and Dunmore High schools which is to be held in Dunmore on Friday evening, April 16th, has aroused intense interest among the local high school students and the coming event promises to be of great interest and over which keen rivalry will be manifested among the different contestants and their followers. Preliminaries have been held in which the local students have done remarkably well and will no doubt bring honors to this city when the judges of the contest render their decision. The interest in Honesdale and Dunmore is equally as vivid as it is in this city, and in both places preliminary contests are being held. The Carbondale High school will be represented by Raymond Bellamy in the declamation, "Webster's Reply to Hayne;" Miss Jane Brink in the recitation "The Baron's Last Banquet," and Miss Loretta McDonough in the essay, "Pennsylvania in Art." The alternates are Miss Blanche Kerins and Rexford Moon. The local students are preparing their colors and school yells and a large delegation from this city will attend the contest."

—The remains of Henry Weed, who died in a Scranton hospital last week, were removed to Winwood, this county, for interment.

—The Family Theatre on Sixth street, under the management of C. H. Schrader, Jr., continues to attract large audiences. Three reels of moving pictures are exhibited at the matinee and evening performances, and the vaudeville numbers are all of a high order of merit. The best of order prevails, and one of the commendable features of the theatre is the location of the picture machinery many feet from the entrance, thus insuring safety in case of fire. The illustrated songs are all of the popular order, and sung by very capable vocalists.

—The Collar and Tie Committee of the Martha Washington Supper were tendered a banquet, on Thursday evening, by their chairman, Miss Grace Bishop, at her home on East Extension street.

—John Tuman, a resident of White Mills, fell from a roof on Tuesday, and received a number of severe bruises.

—Miss Ruth Ruppert has returned home, after spending several days with relatives in Carbondale.

—Charles Simmons, of New York city, spent several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Freeman, of Court street.

—Ray Brown and Elmer Taylor, students at Lafayette College, are spending their Easter vacation at this place.

—Dr. V. Lidstone, of this place, spent Sunday with his mother, in Scranton.

—Dr. H. B. Searles has rented the Bentley property on Court street, between 10th and 11th, soon to be vacated by Hon. Leopold Fuert and family.

—The family of Cashier Joseph A. Fisch, who are about to vacate their residence in the Grambs apartment house on 15th street, will remove to the new Kreitzer building on 10th street.

—Dexter Keeler, of the 16th U. S. Infantry, with headquarters at Fort Crook, Nebraska, is spending a month with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. F. Keeler, of North Main street.

—Myron Dodge has resigned his position as clerk at the Allen House, and will be succeeded by Leo Osborne.

—John O'Connell left yesterday for New York city, where he has secured a position.

—Walter Oliver, of Carbondale, was a visitor in town yesterday.

—Mrs. Sarah Tannhauser, of 1029 Main street, the aged widow of Sigmond Tannhauser, is suffering from a stroke of paralysis.

—Mr. and Mrs. August Hartung, of Callicoon, are in Port Jervis with their son Albert, who, during their stay in that city will submit to an operation for the removal of one of his eyeballs, the sight of which was destroyed some months since by an accidental knife thrust. Dr. N. C. Skinner will perform the operation.

—Miss Irene Long returned on Wednesday from New York, where she spent several days selecting millinery goods.

—At the funeral services of Hon. Wm. Connell, which were held at his late residence in Scranton on Tuesday last, many letters and telegrams of condolence sent to his son by distinguished people in various parts of the country were read, among them one from Hon. E. B. Hardenbergh, of this place. Congressman C. C. Pratt also sent a message of sympathy.

—In the Personal and Pertinent Column of the Scranton Times the fact is recalled that the late Hon. P. P. Smith made herculean efforts to get through the bill establishing the Middle district during the second administration of Grover Cleveland. The house of representatives was then Democratic. Judge Smith easily secured the passage of the bill through the house and had the promise of an appointment as judge from President Cleveland, with whom he stood in high favor. But the judge struck a snag in the senate. Senator Quay, though he had great respect for Judge Smith was too much of a partisan to let the bill go through which would give a life appointment for judge to a Democrat, when by waiting a little the appointing power might be in the hands of a Republican. So, the bill died in the senate. This is a part of the struggle of Judge Smith to get on the bench which was never written before.

English Etchings.
England was first so named by King Egbert in 829 A. D.

In 1908 the lifeboats of the Royal National Institution were launched on service 411 times and saved 446 lives.

The Marine hotel at Worthing is certainly ready for the new development. It now adds on its notice board, after the usual announcements of stabling and motor garage, "Airships may anchor here."

Death from starvation was the verdict at a Shoreditch inquest on a woman match seller named Upton, aged sixty-four. Her husband said he was eighty-one, and they had only 30 cents a week to live on.

Spurred on by the "invasion" talk, an anonymous British patriot has sent a check for $50,000 to Lord Escher to assist in equipping and recruiting the 11,000 volunteers needed to complete the London quota of the territorial army.

Sporting Notes.
Kentucky is the only state left open to turfmen for spring racing.

The Edgemere Yacht club of Detroit will build three catboats to compete in the races for the Tuff cup at Toledo.

Harry Payne Whitney has shipped a dozen polo ponies to England to be used by him and his friends in their contests abroad this season.

HENS AND EGGS.
What When and How to Feed
Practical Hints from an Experienced Poultry Raiser.

"What is the best feed?" continued from March 19th: After we begin to get hard frosts in the autumn, few people who keep poultry ever realize that it is necessary to begin to feed green food. Begin early to feed cabbage or steamed clover. Fowls taken off the range and denied green food will stop laying within a few days, no matter what other food they get. Steamed clover leaves gathered where the hay is thrown down for stock, is as good a green food in cold weather as one can give. It should be fed nearly every day all winter. If you do not have this, use cut or shredded clover. Fill a vessel with it in the evening, mix just a little corn meal with it, then pour boiling water over it till covered, then cover the vessel till morning, letting it stand where it will not get cold. Next morning drain off the water and heat it to make your morning mash. About noon feed the clover. It is surprising how the fowls will eat it, and how it helps to make eggs. On nice days when it is not cold enough to freeze have heads of cabbage just high enough so the hens will have to jump up to get at them, but do not rely on green food for part of your ration. It is to be fed as an auxiliary. It is not concentrated enough, and does not contain enough carbon to form the bulk of feed in cold weather.

Remember that any sudden change in feed will stop the egg supply for a time, no matter how good the substitute. Make all changes gradually. Do not let the hens get too fat. It is not true, as some writers claim, that a very fat hen never lays any eggs, but more will lay well when not too fat. My experience teaches that a hen must be tolerably fat in cold weather to lay well. Did you ever wonder why the large breeds are naturally better winter layers than the small breeds? I think it is because they are more liable to lay on fat and are thus better enabled to withstand the cold. Old hens sometimes get overfat, and do not lay well, but this is rarely the case with hens not more than a year or two old. The writer will give the record of thirty-five hens for the month of March on April 2d, Friday's issue.

These hens are under his own personal care, and if any one wishes to exchange notes either through the columns of this paper or Box 5, White Mills, Pa., they will receive the writer's careful attention. JOSEPH STEPHENS. White Mills, March 25, 1909.

Pen and Brush.
George Bernard law is the son of a baker and earned his living as a lawyer's clerk while attending the university.

Josef Israels, the Dutch artist, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday at The Hague on Jan. 27 last, but he is still just as jolly in his mood and just as active at his work as he has ever been.

John Elliott, an American artist, has painted in Rome a "Diana of the Crossways" for the National museum at Washington. Queen Margherita has expressed great admiration for the painting.

M. Jusserand, who is French ambassador at Washington, had hoped one day to bring his literary history of the English people down to modern times. His life as a diplomatist is now, however, so busy that he has had to abandon the idea of carrying the work further than to Shakespeare's death.

Observations of a Man.
Some women never look at anything they buy, while others seem to buy everything they see.

The man who found he could never win a girl's heart has been probably experimenting on ones who haven't any.

No matter how hard a man may work, it is nothing to the labors of his wife if she has tackled the job of keeping up appearances.

The meanest man in the world is continually bobbing up. Now he happens to be one who is trying to invent a combination washboard and piano.

The young lover is very likely to question whether he is going to get a good wife when he sees his girl's brother sewing a button on his coat.

Santa Claus Hospital.
Santa Claus hospital is the name to be given to the hospital for children which the women of Denver are raising money to erect. A good part of the money has been gathered by the children of the city under the leadership of Mrs. T. S. Hayden, president of the association, and Miss Adelaide Reynolds Haldeman, vice president. This children's branch of the Hospital association was named the Legion of Honor, and even babies of two and three years wore its white cross badge and took part in the entertainments employed to get the necessary funds.

Soothing Sewing.
Few "nervy" women realize what a soothing effect sewing has on the nerves. When things go wrong in the home and numerous irritations gather in the mind, an hour's sewing is a wonderful comfort.

George Sand, one of the most neurotic women, was always loud in praise of the soothing effect of sewing a long seam, and every woman who has tried this simple remedy will contribute a similar testimony.

Gift For Those Going Abroad.
A pretty and convenient little gift to make for the friend who is going abroad is in the form of a linen envelope about an inch longer and wider than the picture postcards which are so popular.

Green or blue linen may be used and the words "Postal Cards" embroidered in the outline stitch on the front of the envelope. You can embroider your friend's initials on the flap, which fastens with a button and loop.

The envelope is bound with white ribbon and makes a dainty case for the foreign postal cards.
