LOCAL MENTION.

—The large audiences at the Lyric Theatre, three weeks ago, who were specially pleased with the beautiful songs and clever dances of Mr. Martin and his wife, billed as "Martin and Fabbriani, 'The Kiddies,'" will be interested in the following postal, received on Tuesday last:

ROME, N. Y., MARCH 27, '09. DEAR MR. HAM—To-day, Saturday, at noon, a baby boy was born to us, at Rome Hospital, Rome, N. Y. Both are doing fine. Best wishes to you and all. Very Sincerely Yours, MARTIN.

—The Scranton Times, in an article relating to the coming Marathon race, under the auspices of that enterprising journal, has the following to say about the contest, which should be suggestive to those who intend to compete in THE CITIZEN'S Five Mile Race, which comes off May 31st:

"An era of long distance running appears to have hit northeastern Pennsylvania. In schools and colleges through this corner of the State are scores of young Marathon aspirants, and old-timers predict a slump in the short sprints for at least a season. The race will be in the open and through a section of the country noted for its beautiful natural scenery and rough roads. The course will be over a mountain or two and promises to bring out the best that is in the entries, which to date number almost half a hundred from a dozen cities and towns. Just how great an interest is being manifested in distance running is indicated by practice runs that are daily taken by ambitious athletes. It is a familiar scene to witness half a dozen loose pantalooned boys and men running over mountain roads and through the streets of the suburbs after work at night and early in the morning."

—On Wednesday the Villanova baseball team defeated Princeton by the score of 9-6. Fred. Schuerholz, of Honesdale, pitched the entire game for Villanova. He allowed seven hits and had one strike-out to his credit. Princeton had two earned runs.

—The remains of Mrs. Seely, wife of the late Col. Franklin A. Seely, (whose sudden death in Washington, D. C., on Sunday, March 7th, was noticed in THE CITIZEN at the time) having been in a receiving vault at the National Capital since her demise, will arrive in Honesdale this afternoon, when final interment will be made in Glen Dyberry cemetery.

—Principals H. A. Oday, of the Honesdale High School; J. H. Tuckley, of the Carbondale High School, and Dayton Ellis, of the Dunmore High School, held a conference in the Dunmore High School, on Tuesday last, at which it was decided to hold the triangular literary contest in which the three schools compete, in the Lyceum theatre, Scranton. There will be three competitions—recitations, declamations and essays. The elections are: Recitation, "The Baron's Last Banquet;" declamation, "Webster's Reply to Hayne;" and essay, "Pennsylvania in Art."

—The Del. & Hud. Co. have made arrangements for an Easter excursion to Boston which will afford those who take advantage of the reduced fares from points along their railway system to visit the many places and subjects of interest in and about that city, including Bunker Hill Monument, Boston Common (famous in history) Public Gardens, Landing Place of British (1776), Site of Old Liberty Tree (1775), Emancipation Statue, Public Library, City Hall, Old Court House, Beacon Hill, Site of Boston Massacre (1775), Old Chapel (1749), Old South Church, Massachusetts State Capitol, Trinity Church, Old State House (1714), Site of Benjamin Franklin's Birthplace (1706), Faneuil Hall (Cradle of Liberty), New Christian Church, etc. Trains will leave Honesdale at 6:55 on Tuesday morning April 6, and 1:20 in the afternoon of the same day, and returning will leave Boston on regular schedule time of the Boston & Maine R. R., up to Friday, April 16, and tickets will be good to destination until Saturday, the 17th. The fare for the round trip from Honesdale is $9.25; from Carbondale, $8.65.

—The Honesdale Foot Wear Co. broke ground yesterday for their new factory on the extreme point of the "Green," on Park street. The building will run parallel with the Dyberry river for 178 feet and be 30 feet in width, two stories high in front, and three stories in the rear. Kreitner Brothers are superintending the work of excavating.

—John P. Neary, who will be remembered as the genial local manager last year of the "Penny Arcade" in the Powell building, Main street, and also conducting the same business during the excursion seasons at Lake Lodore, in connection with Wm. Curtis, died at his home, 427 Mary street, Providence, Pa., on Wednesday morning last, March 31, 1909. The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at St. Rose Church, Scranton.

—Following is the list of unclaimed letters remaining at the post office for the week ending March 29th: Thomas A. Arnold, Bankers' Protected Society, Mrs. M. Coyle, W. V. Peas.

—Miss Vera Ulbricht and Herbert Wright were united in marriage at St. John's Lutheran church at 11 A. M., Wednesday, March 31, 1909. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Wm. F. Hopp, the pastor. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride at East Honesdale. Mr. and Mrs. Wright left on the 4:30 D. & H. train for a ten days' trip; after which they will reside in Hawley, where the groom is employed at his trade as a glass cutter.

HENS AND EGGS.

What, When and How to Feed Practical Hints from an Experienced Poultry Raiser. What is the Best Feed?

[THIRD ARTICLE] Fowls like parched corn occasionally; it is good for them, too. Begin early on rough evenings to heat your corn. Let it get well parched; then set aside till cool enough to feed. The best way to feed wheat is in the straw. They will go at it when nothing else will tempt them from their laziness. The same can be said of millet. See that you have a sheltered, sunny place for the hens to scratch, and keep the litter deep in it—no less than seven or eight inches. The scratching shed is the hopper to the egg farmer's pocket book.

Keep some roosters with your hens; one for each twenty hens; no more unless you intend to hatch the eggs. It is not true that hens will lay as well without any male birds as with them. That kind of life produces sexual starvation, which is death to egg production. I have tried it, and know what I am talking about. But beware of too many roosters. A change of males will usually awaken the laying instinct.

Ground charcoal mixed in the morning mash occasionally is a good tonic for the digestion. Burn a small pit of hard wood in the calm weather of summer, and thus have plenty of charcoal for winter; it will keep for years. Keep grit before your hens winter and summer, particularly in the winter. The reason hens lose their appetites and get sick in winter is a lack of grit. Hens cannot handle whole grain in winter unless they are constantly supplied with grit. Oyster shells are not grit, they are animal material, and soon soften under the hen's powerful digestion. It is a good thing to feed them but do not use them as grit. They are valuable for the lime and animal matter they contain. Do not buy old ones if you can get them fresh.

Old mortar is good for hens in winter. If you cannot get any old mortar or plaster make some in the summer of sharp sand. Get a load of road dust each summer and put it in a dry place and use it all the next winter. Make boxes for the hens to dust in. Put them in a sunny place and watch the hens make the dust fly and drive off the lice. Throw dust on the droppings, and thus keep your house sanitary. Besides, it renders the droppings more valuable for fertilizing purposes.

Here is the record for thirty-five hens during the month of March: Total number of eggs laid, 600. Sold at 23 cents per dozen, 21 dozen; at 20 cents, 29 dozen—total sales $10.66. Cost of feed, $3.33. Net gain $7.33. I am not charging anything for labor or waste of the table. I have seen larger records than this in a good many poultry papers, but I fail to get them. It may be of interest to the reader to know something about the breeds. They are as follows: Ten thorough-bred White Plymouth Rocks; ten thorough-bred Brown Leghorns; fifteen first cross, White Plymouth Rocks and White Leghorns—total 35. Five of the White Rocks are now sitting. JOSEPH STEVENS.

—Irving Clark, who is employed in the advertising department of a Philadelphia daily paper, spent Wednesday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Clark, of Cliff street.

—Invitations have been issued by H. Z. Russell, to attend the wedding of his daughter, Miss Sophie Menner Russell, to Clinton Israel Dow, which will be solemnized at Grace Episcopal church, on Thursday evening, April 22d, at half past seven o'clock, followed by a reception at the family residence, No. 803 Church street, at eight o'clock. Mr. Dow is a resident of Manchester, New Hampshire.

Martin K. Kimble's Sudden Death.

On Thursday of last week, Martin K. Kimble, the well-known proprietor of the old Kimble hostelry near the Wayne county fair grounds established by his father, came to Honesdale on a business errand. He walked from Hotel Wayne, corner of Main and Park streets, to the National Bank, and returned to the Allen House about noon. Soon afterward, while seated in the hotel, he complained of pains in his chest, and called the attention of those conversing with him to the fact that his head was in a state of profuse perspiration. Although no apprehension of any serious trouble was entertained at the time by his friends, he evidently took a more grave view of his condition, and later in the day, after taking a prescription of phenacetin and morphine, which he had put up at a near-by drug store, telephoned his son-in-law, Elijah Bunnell, to drive down for him. He complained of feeling unusually tired on reaching home, but apparently soon recovered his general strength and spirits, and attended to his customary household duties until Tuesday last. That morning he arose as usual and went out with his son-in-law to attend to the cattle, seemingly in the best of health, for one of his years, and in the best of spirits. After dinner he went to his room, and shortly afterward his granddaughter, a little girl, happening to pass the open door, discovered him lying on the carpet at the foot of the bed. Her mention of the fact that "grandpa had gone to sleep on the floor," startled the family, and quickly brought the members of the household to his side. He was lifted to the bed, and a physician summoned, but all efforts to resuscitate him proved unavailing, his death evidently having been the result of heart affection.

Martin K. Kimble was the youngest son of the Wayne county pioneer, Asa Kimble, and his wife, Abigail (Pellett) Kimble, and was born at the farm where he died, May 24th, 1835. He was brought up as a lumberman and farmer, succeeding to the homestead, and marrying Miss Mary Robinson. One daughter, now Mrs. Elijah Bunnell, was the result of the union. She, with her mother, husband, and a son and daughter, survives him; also two brothers, Isaac R. and William Kimble. The late Sheriff Warren P. Kimble was a nephew.

Owning the long established licensed hostelry immediately adjoining the fair grounds, and always giving his personal attention to his business, Mr. Kimble naturally had a very wide circle of acquaintances and friends among the exhibitors at and patrons of the county fairs. Everybody seemingly knew and respected "Mart," and few announcements of this nature would bring a sense of personal bereavement to so many readers.

The history of the Kimble family covers many pages of Wayne county's story of early development. It has been recounted over and over again as the worthy pioneers and their descendants have crossed the divide, and needs not be repeated now. Suffice it to say that of all the long succession of our citizens who have worthily borne the name, not one has left a cleaner or more spotless record than Martin K. Kimble.

The funeral will be held from the residence at 3 o'clock this, Friday, afternoon. Interment in Glen Dyberry cemetery.

THE JAPANESE FERN.

For Successful Growing the Plant Needs Plenty of Moisture. Many persons who admire the Japanese fern balls which do so well for some home gardeners and fall utterly for others know little of the character of the plant, thousands of which are imported each season.

The scientific name is Davallia bullata, but it is a species of the harefoot fern that is a native to Japan. It has a creeping root which runs along the surface of the ground, and from it small, fibrous roots are thrown out as feeders.

These creeping root stocks, or rhizomes, are gathered by the Japanese and closely fastened over frames filled with sphagnum moss, which retains moisture in abundance when the plants are growing.

The Japanese love to grow these ferns in all sorts of odd shapes, such as houses, animals, wreaths, pagodas, boats and figures, but few except the balls are imported.

The chief reason for failure to have the ferns green is that they are not given enough moisture and are kept in too hot rooms. It is well to immerse the baskets occasionally in a tub of tepid water and never let them dry out.

The greatest mystery of medical science is the exact use of the thyroid gland, which is the seat of the disease known as goiter.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. William Crockenberg, aged 32 years, died suddenly at her home in Clemo on Monday night last as the result of internal hemorrhage. She is survived by her husband and five children.

Charles Shearer died Monday, March 22, 1909, at his home at Hawley, aged 75 years. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Charles, of Carbondale; Mrs. George Bauman, of South Bethlehem; Harry, of Scranton; Fred., Elizabeth and William, of Hawley. The funeral was held from the home of his son, Wm. on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Rudolph Lucas, officiating.

Mrs. Catherine McCaffrey Meyers died at the home of her son, Joseph Meyers, in Port Jervis, on Friday March 26th, of heart failure and old age, aged 80 years. She was born at Ballaghaderne, County Mayo, Ireland, and was the daughter of James and Mary McCaffrey. About 55 years ago, she came to this country and settled in New York city, where she was united in marriage to Felix Meyers. Mr. Meyers' death occurred seven years later. Mrs. Meyers lived for some time in Honesdale and then moved to Lackawanna. About thirty-four years ago she went to Port Jervis, where she resided up to the time of her death.

Mrs. John Brock an aged and highly esteemed resident of Cherry Ridge township, died at her home in the early morning of Saturday last, March 27, 1909, on her 75th birthday. Her maiden name was Catherine Kimble, she being a daughter of John and Polly Swingle, early residents of South Canaan township. She was orphaned when she was of tender years, and found a home until her marriage to Mr. Brock in 1854, with Mrs. Sarah Sharpsteen. Her husband died in 1899. Mrs. Brock's death was sudden, the aged lady passing away probably from an affection of the heart. She is survived by three sons, Clark, William and John; and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Toms and Mrs. Sidney Colwell. Interment was made in the Indian Orchard cemetery.

PRIZE ESSAYS.

The approaching completion of the High School buildings will soon necessitate the grading and arrangement of the school property grounds. No one is more interested in having this work properly done than the pupils who are to use them, and no landscape gardener should attempt the task without consulting them. In order to stimulate suggestion on this point THE CITIZEN offers the scholars of the Public School two prizes of $1.00 each for the best two essays on "The Best Way to Arrange the New School House Grounds," the competition to close April 15th. The articles, which must not exceed four hundred words in length, are not to be signed, but the name of the writer must be written on a separate slip, and enclosed in an envelope with the essay. The contributions will be numbered and submitted to competent judges who will decide on their respective merits. The winning essays with the names of the authors will appear in the first number of THE CITIZEN following the award.
