

IN MEMORIAM

Brooklyn Pastor Breaks Down at Service.

LOVING TRIBUTE TO GEO. E. GALE

Impressive Eulogy to Dead Man Whose Body Was Interred in Greenwood.

[From the Brooklyn Eagle, April 6.] Impressive services were held last night, over the remains of Geo. E. Gale, the well known citizen and capitalist, who died at his residence, 1305 Albemarle road, Friday morning. The Rev. Dr. Nancy McGee Waters rendered a eulogy, during which he broke down and sobbed the words he uttered. The clergyman, whose ten years of close intimacy with Mr. Gale had given him an opportunity to study him closely, described him as the embodiment of four virtues—sincerity, guilelessness, friendliness and charity.

"You have all come here to pay silent tribute to a friend, a true friend," he said. "I have known Mr. Gale for ten years, and I can say that he was one who would frown on anything that was not strictly sincere and honest. He was proud, very proud, of his father, and he inherited that impulse for righteousness and secret charity. His good work was done so quietly that often his family were not aware of the fine uses he made of his money. He was above small things, and no one could appreciate friendship more keenly than he. But he was modest in friendship. He would, however, go half way with all good men."

Dr. Waters recalled Mr. Gale's earlier days when he did not possess the worldly goods that were his at the time of his death. He called him a family man, and also one whose every dollar was worth one hundred cents. The service was concluded with prayers for the dead, followed by the Apostles' Creed.

While the pastor spoke and told of the dead man's church charity, as he had personally observed it, and his long attendance at church and Bible class, many of those present wept.

When the pastor had completed his services for the dead, Miss Kellogg, in beautiful voice, rendered "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Lead, Kindly Light." Miss Kellogg sings in the choir of the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church, of which Mr. Gale was pastor, and which Mr. Gale and his family had attended.

Besides Miss Kellogg, Ross David, tenor, and Benjamin F. Russell, baritone, rendered "Hark, Hark, My Soul." The burial took place at 10:30 o'clock this morning from 1305 Albemarle road, the body being taken to the receiving vault in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery. Dr. Waters accompanied the body to the cemetery. Many friends from the Union League Club, the Manufacturers' Association, the Mystic Shriners and Odd Fellows attended the funeral services.

SCHOOL LADS USE RIFLES.

Begin Firing in National Interscholar Shooting Competition.

Washington, April 12.—Boys in public and private schools throughout the country in which interest is taken in rifle shooting began firing today in the first interschool rifle shooting competition of a national character ever held in this country under the auspices of the National Rifle Association.

The prize will be the gallery championship of the United States for 1909, the trophy being the Astor trophy presented by Colonel John Jacob Astor of New York. This will be kept in competition for twenty years, at the end of which time it is to be presented to the school whose team has won it the greatest number of times.

Woodford Sees King Victor.

Rome, April 12.—King Victor Emmanuel received General Stewart L. Woodford, former United States minister to Spain, in private audience. The king said that it had afforded him great pleasure to meet Theodore Roosevelt recently at Messina.

Peru Prohibits Boxing Matches.

Lima, Peru, April 12.—The government has issued an order prohibiting boxing matches either in public or in private.

Blocking Castro's Game.

Whether Castro left Venezuela of his own sweet will or got the toe of the boot from his people is of small importance now. His getting back is another matter. Venezuela repudiated him when he was at a safe distance and could well afford to do so with several powerful countries applauding her courage for reasons of their own. Fortunately the enemies Castro has made are many. The role of a protector is often abused where a big nation with an ax to grind mixes into the affairs of a weaker one.

Several countries have the best reasons for wanting Castro squelched, and the safest way to avoid complications seems to be to back up his home enemies. The policeman's club in this case is international. There is less of a menace in that than in the possible rehabilitation of Castro.

Capt. James Ham Post Celebrates Lee's Surrender

A PLEASANT ANNUAL REUNION

The Veterans Renew Their Youth in Dreamland—Sheridan's Ride from Winchester Witnessed by a Participant—The Banquet at Voigt's.

On Friday night last, April 9th, the forty-fourth anniversary of the surrender of General Lee, and the practical close of the great civil war was celebrated by Capt. James Ham Post, G. A. R., as has been the custom of that organization for many years past. Commander Henry Wilson is entitled to special praise for his successful efforts to make the occasion a memorable one. The programme included the attendance of the entire Post and guests at the "Dreamland," where, by special arrangement, the stirring moving picture war scenes of Sheridan's Ride, the surrender of Lee, and the announcement of the end of the conflict, and other views of vivid interest to the veterans were displayed to the enthusiastic approval of the old soldiers. The East Honesdale Fife and Drum Corps, a most efficient organization, was present in the theatre, and, when the scenes suggested, added to the realistic character of the occasion by their stirring rendering of patriotic music. After the moving picture entertainment the party adjourned to Voigt's Hotel, adjoining, where a sumptuous banquet had been prepared. The spacious dining room, on the second floor was found to be profusely decorated with the national colors, artistically draped on the walls, with the "G. A. R." initials appropriately conspicuous; while the tables were resplendent with hyacinths and other potted flowers in bloom, with smilax trailing around among the dishes in most attractive fashion.

The party having been seated with Hon. John Kubbach at the head of the tables, and the tempting viands disposed of, Commander Wilson introduced the Mayor as the presiding officer in a neat little speech, in which he stated that it had been the custom of the Post to select the chief magistrate of the borough for that distinction at its Appomattox reunions. Mayor Kubbach acknowledged the compliment paid him in felicitous words, in the course of which he mentioned the fact that, while in the Legislature some years ago, he had met a man of prominence, who, learning that he was from Honesdale, was most enthusiastic in his praise of our noted local author—in poetry and prose—Homer Greene, and, as Mr. Greene was present, he felt justified in calling on him for a few remarks.

Mr. Greene, in response, seemed at first disposed to excuse himself from saying anything farther than to acknowledge in a perfunctory way his appreciation of the honor done him, but finally his innate sense of justice found expression, and claiming that forty-four years of amity and peace should have wiped out the prejudices and animosities of even the old soldiers whom he was addressing, paid a glowing tribute to the character of General Lee; crediting him with a sincere belief that in casting his lot with the Confederacy, he was controlled by patriotic motives and acting under a conscientious sense of duty. In lesser degree he had a good word for the discouraged, foot-sore, impoverished, vanquished common soldiers of the confederate army, and touchingly pictured the love and fidelity to their disappointed commander as they knelt and kissed his boots when he passed through their ranks after the surrender. Mr. Greene's remarks were heartily applauded.

Ex-Mayor Thomas J. Ham, Wm. E. Justin and others briefly responded to calls for speeches, after which Hon. Leopold Fuerth, Representative of Wayne county in the Legislature, who had made the trip from Harrisburg in response to an invitation to be present, spoke at considerable length in explanation of the status of several bills in which people of this section are interested, and especially of the Harrisburg Capitol Park Extension bill, the school code bill and the Soldier's pension bill.

Coffee, cigars, etc., gave zest to the closing hour of the reunion, while reminiscences of the great conflict were being exchanged by the veterans; the whole being greatly enlivened by the strident music of the fife and drum corps, which at the close of the entertainment, was tendered a vote of thanks by the old soldiers, to whom the patriotic airs so capably rendered brought back vivid recollections of the days when they "drank from the same canteen."

THE GOOD COMPLEXION.

Simple Remedies Which Every One May Apply With Safety.

There is no excuse for the woman who has a bad complexion. Find out the cause, my dear madam, and remedy it.

There are two reasons for a poor skin, outward irritation and a sluggish condition of the internal organs.

No woman who has a bad complexion or intestinal troubles need ever dream of having a clear, bright skin. She should leave facial lotions alone and seek the aid of a good doctor. No woman who is afraid of pure air can ever be a beauty, and she who wears tight clothes is actually suffocating the pores of her skin, so that they cannot breathe, and the result is a mottled, unhealthy pallor.

If you sleep in a room with windows wide open, if you pay attention to your health and if you exercise, you are bound to have a good color—not necessarily rosy cheeks, but a healthy tinge. The texture of your skin may not suit you—that is a matter for local treatment—but don't make the mistake of applying the local treatment first when the trouble is more than skin deep.

And before I speak of the different forms of treatment I want to observe that the daily tub bath and rubdown do more for the texture of the skin of the face than anything else. They stimulate the circulation and work wonders in that way.

Now, as to other things, the face should be washed every morning and every night with hot water and a pure soap of the mildest quality. The water should be as hot as one can stand. This opens the pores of the skin and frees the dirt and impurities. But after this hot application the skin should be carefully rinsed (for if soap is allowed to stay it makes it yellow and leathery), and then cold water, ice water preferred, should be applied to the face to close the pores.

The woman who washes her face with hot water and then goes right out into the dust of the street is bound to have a sagging face and coarse pores. More than that, she will be no stranger to blackheads, as these are caused by dirt accumulating in enlarged pores. So don't forget the cold water application.

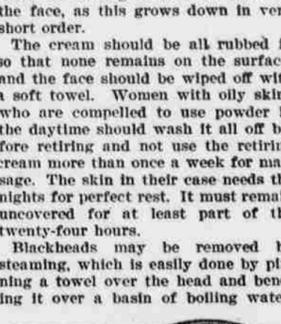

Before retiring at night the same washing with hot water should occur, only instead of closing the pores with the cold application they should be allowed to stay open to receive nourishment in the shape of a good skin food skillfully massaged into the tissue.

The finger tips should move in a rotary motion, the entire movement being upward. Special care should be given to the lines around the mouth and the eyes and those on the forehead, which should be rubbed with a sidewise motion.

Under no circumstance should any lotion containing lanolin be used on the face, as this grows down in very short order.

The cream should be all rubbed in so that none remains on the surface, and the face should be wiped off with a soft towel. Women with oily skins who are compelled to use powder in the daytime should wash it all off before retiring and not use the retiring cream more than once a week for massage. The skin in their case needs the nights for perfect rest. It must remain uncovered for at least part of the twenty-four hours.

Blackheads may be removed by steaming, which is easily done by placing a towel over the head and bending it over a basin of boiling water.

TAKING OUT PARENTHESIS LINES.

While the pores are thus opened the little black specks may be pressed out with the fingers, and an astringent lotion, which one may buy in any drug store, should be immediately applied, together with a cold spray.

Some women believe in skinning the face every year, but this painful process, which means a fortnight's seclusion, is apt to give one a temporary improvement only. The smooth baby's skin which is revealed at first soon becomes a network of fine wrinkles. I sincerely advise no woman to try this alone, as so many do, but only attempt it under the care of an experienced specialist. I have known of one or two cases where the most awful skin disease was the result.

An oily complexion needs powder and it is a positive protection against the dust and smoke of a great city. As a rule, you will find women who use powder have better skins than those who do not, thus destroying an old fashioned belief. The only thing one must remember is to wash it off before retiring and to keep the surface from becoming too dry by means of a good massage with cold cream at least once a week.

TARIFF IN SENATE

Finance Committee Gets Bill From Printer.

PROBABLY REPORT IT TODAY.

Senator Aldrich Says Seventy-five Per Cent of Articles Used by All the People Have Been Reduced.

Washington, April 12.—The Payne tariff bill as amended by the senate committee on finance having been received from the public printer, it was presented to the full committee today.

When the senate convened everything was in readiness, and Senator Aldrich immediately brought up the tariff measure by asking consent of the minority to the immediate reporting of the bill.

Senate leaders would not predict how much time is likely to be occupied in the discussion of the portion of the bill fixing rates of duty.

A large number of important items are to be submitted to the judgment of the senate without recommendation, the purpose being to convince the senate and the country that the committee has not arbitrarily assumed the power to make a tariff bill and that it recognizes the right of members of congress not on the tariff framing committees to help to shape the tariff bill so far as the controverted schedules are concerned.

Members of the finance committee have discussed their proceedings with greater freedom than ever before in the history of tariff legislation. Senator Aldrich asserted that 75 per cent of articles used by all the people had been reduced and that the free list had been lengthened to an extent that would be surprising to everybody.

The members of the committee have done their best to make their recommendations popular, and they predicted that their efforts would be appreciated.

In placing a large number of articles on the free list and in reducing duties on many others it has been found necessary to materially increase the duties on many luxuries in order to produce necessary revenues.

The Payne bill increased materially the rates on brandy, alcohol, gin, grain spirits, cordials and liquors, but made practically no increase on champagne and still wines.

The senate committee has decided upon an increase amounting to about 25 per cent above existing rates on wines of all kinds and has made increases above the Payne bill on other spirits.

No announcement was made as to the amount of additional revenues which these increases will produce. A number of other articles regarded as luxuries have been increased, and the tariff experts feel confident that the bill will produce as much revenue as is needed. All of the increases on perfumes and toilet articles provided by the Payne bill will be reported.

In addition to placing tea and coffee on the free list the committee proposes to admit cocoa free. An especial effort was made to reduce rates on the so called "breakfast table" articles of commerce. It is reported that another effort will be made to have a duty placed on coffee in the senate in behalf of the coffee syndicate, which is alleged to have a large number of bags of Brazilian product hoarded in this country.

At a meeting of the committee it was decided to add coal to the list of subjects, on which the advice of the senate, without recommendation, is to be asked. This means that instead of striking out the reciprocity clause and fixing a duty of 40 cents a ton on bituminous coal, as heretofore decided, the Payne rates will be reported without recommendation.

The expectation of the committee is that the reciprocity clause will go out, however, that the duty will be decreased to about 40 cents and that the present rate of 15 cents per ton on slack coal will be maintained.

The senate stands about two to one against free lumber, and its advocates now fear that they will not be able to maintain the reduction agreed upon by the house. The fight which will be made on the floor for free hides has begun already, and an effort is being made to line up the members.

While the senate is wrestling with the tariff bill the house will meet only on Mondays and Thursdays, when the census bill as passed by the senate will receive attention, but little or no other business will be undertaken. Speaker Cannon will begin to prepare for the appointment of the house standing committee, which probably will be announced prior to the final adjournment of the extra session.

GOV. LILLEY MUCH BETTER.

Strong Hopes That Connecticut's Executive Will Recover.

Hartford, Conn., April 12.—There is marked improvement in the condition of Governor George L. Lilley, who is ill at his home here.

Early in the day he was able to recognize members of his family after having slept naturally. He is resting comfortably, and there are strong hopes for his ultimate recovery.

Weather Probabilities.

Cloudy and warmer, followed by showers.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS.

American League Starts at Washington and Philadelphia.

Washington, April 12.—Last night Washington had an inauguration day that was a fairly big thing in its line. Today it has another that is even bigger in the eyes of the men and women and little children who turn first to the sporting page to see what the baseball players have been doing. With the playing of the game today between the Washington and New York teams here and the Boston-Philadelphia game in Philadelphia the American league baseball season will be pried open.

All roads lead to the Senators' park today. The indications are that the show in the building with the big dome, where the tariff is being discussed, is running a very dismal second in public interest. The senators and representatives are going to play "hooky," and even President Taft is expected to forget the cares of office for awhile and go to see the game. He is one of the leading fans of Cincinnati, his home town, and has lost many a bet on the Reds' failures to win pennants.

Tomorrow there will be a rest all around for the ball players, and on Wednesday comes the grand opening, when all sixteen teams of the two big leagues will be on the job. In the American league Chicago will play at Detroit, Cleveland at St. Louis, while New York and Washington will clash again here and Boston and Philadelphia will again forget brotherly love in Philadelphia. While all this is happening in the American league, the National league will have openings in New York, Boston, Cincinnati and Chicago. The visitors who will be entertained in those cities will be, respectively, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

THE CITIZEN

Has made arrangements for A FIVE MILE FOOT RACE

AFTER THE MARATHON PLAN

WHICH WILL TAKE PLACE ON Decoration Day MAY 31

5 Handsome Gold and Silver Medals will be Awarded the Winners!

ENTRANCE FREE

To all competitors living in the county, exclusive of professionals; entries to be made at any time prior to May 30th.

ALL CONTESTANTS will be required to submit to a physical examination by competent physicians, to insure proper endurance condition for race.

FURTHER DETAILS including instructions for proper training, will appear in succeeding issues of THE CITIZEN.

CITIZEN'S 5 MILE RACE

How to Train.

For all who may contemplate entering this race, the following suggestions are important:

Long walks and slow jogging should always be given a course of training for distant running. Whenever a difficulty in breathing is felt, the athlete should walk until his powers of respiration have recovered. He should never sit or stand around uncovered, but as soon as his work is done, cover up warmly until an opportunity to be rubbed down is given him, and then dry, warm clothes should follow.

While running, the athlete should stop just as soon as he feels a pain in his side, or the front part of his lower leg becomes sore.

The diet should be simple, sleep abundant. Omit tobacco, all alcoholic liquors, tea, coffee, pickles, pastry, dumplings and the like.

The time to start to prepare for the run is now. Do not wait, but pitch in and get the winter's stiffness out of the muscles.

PRIZE ESSAYS.

The approaching completion of the High School buildings will soon necessitate the grading and arrangement of the school property grounds. No one is more interested in having this work properly done than the pupils who are to use them, and no landscape gardener should attempt the task without consulting them. In order to stimulate suggestion on this point THE CITIZEN offers the scholars of the Public School two prizes of $1.00 each for the best two essays on "The Best Way to Arrange the New School House Grounds," the competition to close April 17th. The articles, which must not exceed four hundred words in length, are not to be signed, but the name of the writer must be written on a separate slip, and enclosed in an envelope with the essay. The contributions will be numbered and submitted to competent judges who will decide on their respective merits. The winning essays with the names of the authors will appear in the first number of THE CITIZEN following the award.
