LOCAL NEWS.

—During the last two weeks nearly 3,000,000 fish fry have been shipped from Mt. Pleasant for the stocking of streams and lakes throughout Luzerne county and for points on the Lehigh Valley railroad between Sayre and Easton, as well as points along the Pennsylvania and D. L. & W. roads as far south as Sunbury and Northumberland.

—The Pennsylvania Live Stock Breeders' Association announces a list of prizes for a corn-growing contest in which yield of corn per acre is the chief consideration. Contestants are given the liberty to select any acre, and to fertilize, plant and cultivate the crop as they please. A $50 Silver Cup and ten cash prizes are offered for the best acre of corn. For information as to the conditions of the contest, prizes, etc., corn growers should drop a postal card to E. S. Bayard, Secretary, 203 Shady Ave., Pittsburg. Competition is open to all Pennsylvania farmers and their families or employes.

—John Latourette, of Lebanon township, was arrested by Detective N. B. Spencer on Wednesday last on information furnished by Jasper Burdick, watchman for the Wayne Hunting and Fishing Club, charging that he was a trespasser on the lands of that corporation. He was given a hearing before Justice Robert A. Smith, in Honesdale, and fined two dollars and costs; the defendant admitted that he had fished in a stream leased to the prosecuting company. His claim that he was not on the lands of the company, but in a public highway, while doing his fishing, failed to save him from the penalty of the law.

—Marriage licenses have been granted to Leslie A. Brader and Katherine M. Heinicke, both of Honesdale; Geo. Seely and Lillian L. Hazen, both of Dunmore; Sidney M. Woodley and Emma Wegst, of Beach Lake.

—The Seelyville Pinochle club will play the Knights of Columbus a series of games Thursday evening.

—In a recent issue we gave some idea of our townsman's (Homer Greene's) interesting new book, "A Lincoln Conscript." In the Stroller's department of the Scranton Tribune the appended article appears, to which we may add, that, with such change of names as seemed advisable the scenes of Mr. Greene's new story are located in this county, and the characters are easily recognizable people of Salem township, and the vicinity of his boyhood home: "I have just received a copy of 'A Lincoln Conscript,' a charming story of the War of the Rebellion, from the pen of the well known author, Homer Greene of Honesdale. It deals with the experiences of a southern sympathizer, who was drafted during the war and refused to respond to the nation's call. Through the interference of President Lincoln the stubborn individual is saved from court martial and death, and becomes one of the most enthusiastic admirers of Lincoln and a faithful soldier in the Union army. The principal scenes are laid in Pennsylvania and the characters of war time live in the pen pictures given in the author's fascinating vein. The volume, which is published by the Houghton Mifflin company, of Boston, is profusely illustrated with drawings by T. DeThulstrup, and sells for $1.50. It is not only an appropriate tribute to the memory of the great Lincoln, but is a correct story of war time conditions, and its historical features and moral trend make 'A Lincoln Conscript' one of the best books that could be placed in the hands of the young reader. In these days of vicious, immoral 'best sellers,' that outrage decency and pervert the mind of youth, Mr. Greene's latest effort affords a refreshing and uplifting diversion."

—On Thursday evening, April 29, at the Lyric Theatre, under the auspices of the Amity Social Club, Barbara Fritchie, the Frederick Girl, a very beautiful southern play in four acts will be presented by an exceptionally capable cast of local talent. The drama is being rehearsed under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Kimble Dittich, who is programmed to play the title role "Barbara Fritchie," and Benj. H. Dittich, Manager of the Lyric, is staging the production. Besides the large cast of nineteen, many other people will be used as citizens, soldiers, etc., making the company number about fifty. This will be the first play, by local talent, to take place in the Lyric Theatre, and, as the Amity boys have always given our people the best of amusements, even under the most discouraging and disadvantageous conditions, in the past; we naturally, now look for them to surpass anything that they ever heretofore presented to the public. Seat sale starts at the box office at 9 a. m. Wednesday morning, April 28th. All tickets purchased before that time must be exchanged for reserved seat tickets.

—Freedom Lodge, No. 88, I. O. O. F., of Honesdale, will observe the ninetieth anniversary of the Order as follows: On Sunday evening, April 25th, all members of the Order will assemble in Freedom Hall at 7 o'clock sharp, to attend services at Grace Episcopal Church, Rev. A. L. Whitaker, Pastor. On Monday evening, April 26th, the annual banquet will be served from 5:30 to 7:00, followed by a musical and literary programme and social intercourse. Each member is entitled to bring but one lady (no children) because of the limited seating capacity. Outside invitations will be restricted to clergymen and representatives of the press and their wives.

—The Carbondale Leader of Monday last, among its "One Minute Interviews," has the following which seems to cloud the claim of priority of Mr. Kenworthy as a Honesdale-Carbondale stage driver: "In the Leader of April 16th I noticed an article stating that Wm. Kenworthy, of Honesdale, was the only surviving driver of the Honesdale stage. From a reliable source I am informed that Mr. Kenworthy commenced driving the stage on this route in 1875, succeeding Mr. Townsend. Issacher Heacock, at present a resident of Carbondale, commenced driving on this same line Nov. 12, 1857. This would make him 18 years older in that line of business, than Mr. Kenworthy." Mr. Heacock's son is now the office clerk of the Allen House.

—Under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. there will be a Silver Medal Oratorical Contest in the Presbyterian Chapel on Tuesday evening, April 27th, to begin at eight o'clock. Miss Ruth Kennedy has trained the class and will have charge of it. The contestants are: Coe Lemnitz, Albert Krantz, Roy Leinbach, Emeline Wells, Bertha Garrett, Matilda Curtis, and Florence Hiller. Miss Kennedy will also recite. The recitations will be interspersed with fine music. Come and enjoy a delightful evening for only twenty-five cents.

—As Memorial Day, this year, falls on Sunday, the usual exercises of the day will be held on Monday, May 31st. The 30th will be observed as Memorial Sunday, by a sermon commemorative of the war and its results. In our borough, both days will be observed substantially as in the past.

—Central park is undergoing its annual cleaning. Several men are engaged this week putting the grounds in shape for the summer.

—A gang of linemen, under the supervision of Foreman McHugh, are rebuilding the Pennsylvania telephone company lines at this place. The company expect to make a number of improvements about their plant in Honesdale.

—W. F. Loftus, an employe in the office of the county commissioners is being boomed for a Carnegie medal by B. T. Jayne, of Scranton, and Frank McDermott, of Carbondale, as the result of an heroic act performed by him Saturday in saving Charlotte Stiles, a daughter of Christopher Stiles. The three men were fishing in the Lackawaxen at Creamton, Wayne county, when the girl fell into the river. Loftus dove right in after her and caught her in his arms. The child struggled so fiercely that the young man was all but drowned himself. He finally got her close to shore and the other fishermen helped him struggle to the bank.—Scranton Republican.

—An Equinunk correspondent writing of the death of Hon. H. A. Farley of that place, says that he had been attending to his duties at his store, and, after waiting on a customer, closed his store and started for his home, but few hundred feet distant, and had gone about half the way when he fell dead in his path. The immediate ailment is not known, though it was probably heart trouble.

—Edward Weist was arrested Tuesday by officer Canivan, for cruelty to animals. He pleaded guilty before Squire Smith and was released after paying the fine and charges.

—Munson McDermott has accepted a position with the Honesdale Electric Company. Mr. McDermott and wife will remove to this place at an early date.

PERSONAL.

—W. J. Ferber, of Honesdale, has been drawn as a petit juror, and William Sutton, of Seelyville, as a grand juror to serve at the next term of the United States Court which will convene in Harrisburg the first week in May.

The Dow-Russell Wedding.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Grace Episcopal church Thursday evening, April 22, 1909, when Miss Sophie Menner, daughter of Henry Z. Russell, was united in marriage to Clinton I. Dow, of Manchester, N. H. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 p. m., by Rev. Dr. Henry C. Swentzel, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The maid of honor was Miss Marietta Russell, a sister of the bride; and Zenas H. Russell, of Manchester, N. H., acted as best man. The bride's maids were Misses Dorothy Menner, Antoinette Durand, and Lucy Russell, of Honesdale, and Allison Wyeth, of St. Josephs, Mo. Louise Means and Mrs. Zenas H. Russell, of Manchester, N. H. The bride was attired in a beautiful white lace robe, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. The gown of the maid of honor was of yellow crepe de chine and she carried a bouquet of white lilacs. The bridesmaids were attired in gowns of white point d'esprit over satin, and they carried bouquets of Easter lilies.

As the bridal party entered the church the wedding march from Lohengrin was rendered by the organist, Mrs. Jessie B. Dolmetsch, assisted by Sonner's orchestra.

The ushers at the church were R. Milton Salmon, and James Mumford, of Honesdale; Charles L. Bausser, James Felton, and Remsen Varick, of Manchester, N. H., and Harry M. Mitchell, of Cleveland, Ohio.

The bride is one of Honesdale's charming young ladies, and has a large circle of friends in this city. The groom is a prominent resident of Manchester, N. H., and holds a responsible position with the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co.

The decorations at the home and church were alike, consisting of palms, Easter lilies and cut flowers, and were in charge of Clarke & Co., Scranton.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, at the corner of Eighth and Church streets. The catering was in charge of Maresia & Co., of New York city.

Among the out-of-town guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Dow, and William G. Parker, of Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. George S. Stone of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. George Crooker, Miss Story, and Mrs. Fuchs, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Uncle (visiting his student nephew)—Glad to see you hard at work, my boy. What are you doing there? Nephew—Chemical experiments, uncle—combining acids with metal. By the way, dear uncle, do you happen to have any metal about you?—Megendorfer Blatter.

BREWERY TROUBLE

Application for Receiver for Pa. Cent. Brewing Co.

HONESDALE BREWERY INTERESTED

Charges of Mismanagement and Extravagance Not Sustained by the Evidence—Company Will Probably Go on as of Old.

The application for a receiver for the Pennsylvania Central Brewing company, which is pending in the United States Court in Scranton, is likely to be refused by Judge Archbald, and it is expected that the company, with which the A. Hartung brewery of this place is connected, will go on as it has been doing.

A bill in equity was filed three weeks ago in United States court against the company by J. Edward Ackley, as plaintiff, charging gross mismanagement by the officers and alleging that the company is insolvent.

The hearing on the bill was set down for 10 o'clock Wednesday forenoon and instead of calling witnesses, the evidence was in the form of affidavits on both sides for the purpose of confining the issue to the material facts, and disposing of the case quickly.

It was averred in several affidavits for the defendant that the suit was instigated by John G. Persch, of New York, with the sole purpose of forcing a combination of all the brewery interests in Lackawanna, Luzerne and Wayne counties, and that the plaintiff Ackley, is a New York lawyer who has been Persch's counsel for a good many years, and who is but a nominal stockholder of the company at present and only so to give him a standing in court which he otherwise would not have.

Judge Wheaton and George Llewellyn, of Wilkes-Barre, and Judge Carpenter, of Scranton, appeared for the plaintiff, and Judges Knapp and Kelly and M. J. Martin, for the defendant.

Judge Archbald said at noon that he would dispose of the matter forthwith, if he could see his way clear to do so, and from an incident which cropped out during the hearing it was thought probable that his decision would be in favor of the company.

The judge incidentally inquired if any attempt had been made by the plaintiff to have some of the matters complained of adjusted without going to the extent of making the move for a receiver.

To throw a company or any business into the hands of a receiver, it is necessary to affirmatively show that it is insolvent. While the plaintiff makes allegations to this effect in his bill by averring that the sinking fund provision for the fifty thousand dollars worth of bonds due this year has not been met, the company shows that it got the consent of a majority of the bondholders; and that every bill, note, claim and obligation of every sort and kind from the first day the company was organized to the present has been met and that now the company has sixty-five thousand dollars in bank to its credit and total assets readily convertible into cash in the sum of four hundred thousand dollars.

To put the matter into a nutshell the company claims, by affidavit of its treasurer that it has two dollars to pay every dollar of claims or obligations.

The bill asking for the receiver complains that a large and extravagant sum is paid to officers for work done by subordinates, that the company has run behind two hundred thousand dollars in 1908, that it failed to make the last sinking fund provision for fifty thousand dollars of its bonds, and in addition to the excessive salaries to the officers large sums are expended in expense accounts under the guise of being on business trips to other cities.

The affiants in the affidavits for the plaintiff are George G. Brown and Thomas B. McMann.

As we go to press we learn that, as was anticipated, Judge Archbald denied the application for the appointment of a receiver, saying in concluding a long opinion that he saw no grounds whatever for granting the petition.

COLLECTOR LOEB SEES TAFT.

Visits President and Secretary MacVeagh on Smuggling Cases.

Washington, April 22.—William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, had a conference with President Taft and Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh regarding the alleged New York smuggling cases.

It is said that three of the most fashionable New York dressmakers are involved in the smuggling of more than $6,000,000 worth of robes and laces from Paris and that their operations have been going on for years.

Harriman's Cousin Dies in Paris. Paris, April 22.—James Arden Harriman, a first cousin of E. H. Harriman of New York and son of James Harriman of Washington, died suddenly here. He was a banker in Wall street and lived at Pleasantville, N. Y.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Bridget Moran died at her home on Forest street Tuesday evening last, after two weeks' illness with the grippe. Deceased was sixty years of age; was born in Honesdale and resided in this place for a number of years. She is survived by the following children: John, Thomas, William, Frank, James, and Andrew; also by the following brothers: William, of Honesdale; Thomas, of Scranton, and John, residing in the west. The funeral will be held this Friday morning, from St. John's church and interment will be made in St. John's Catholic cemetery.

Rev. Dr. Charles M. Giffin, who for nine years was pastor of Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church, in Scranton, died suddenly last Tuesday evening after dining at the home of R. D. Armstrong, No. 17 Prospect Park, West Brooklyn, N. Y., with whose family, Dr. and Mrs. Giffin were spending the evening. Dr. Giffin and family had spent the past two months in Egypt and the Holy Land, only arriving home on the steamship Baltic on Sunday evening. Monday was spent with his son, Wm. Giffin, in Brooklyn, and on Tuesday, after calling on other friends they were to enjoy the evening with the Armstrong family. While there, Rev. Giffin was suddenly prostrated and died within fifteen minutes, before a physician could reach his side. Rev. Dr. Giffin was sixty-nine years old, and had been a Methodist preacher for half century. He was among the foremost ministers of that denomination, and during his active years in the service had filled some of the biggest pulpits of the country. He was twice pastor of Grace M. E. church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and four years ago went to the First church at Asbury Park, N. J., where his ministry continued to this time. He was an exceptionally strong man in the pulpit, and as a pastor, endeared all to him. His widow and two sons survive—the latter both being Methodist ministers located in charges near New York city.

THE 24-HOUR CLOCK.

A manufacturing concern in which only one-half of the employees work in the daytime has a twenty-four-hour clock in the timekeeper's office, by which the work record is noted. The business day begins at 1 o'clock in the morning, and when other clocks indicate midnight this factory timepiece shows that it is 24 o'clock. The men who go to work at the time ordinarily known as 6 p. m. are recorded as having started at 1 o'clock. The people in charge of the work say that this change in the timekeeping method has prevented many errors, and although it took the men a little while to become accustomed to it they now speak of 14 and 16 o'clock in a matter of fact way and without the smile which at first the strange figures provoked.

WOMAN, LOVELY WOMAN.

Her waist begins just below her neck. Her hips have been planed off even with the rest of her body. She is usually buttoned up the back, and around her neck she wears a section of barbed wire covered with lace. She wears on her head a blond haystack of hair and on top of this a central dome with rings about the same size as those of Saturn. She is sawed in her gown like an Indian papoose, and on the end of her feet are dabs of patent leather. She walks on stilts like heels with the expertness of a tight-rope dancer. The pores of her skin are full of fine white powder. This is a woman.
