and loving hands could do was of no avail, and the light of the home has gone out. The bereaved parents and brother have the sympathy of the entire community and many who would come to the bereaved home to offer their sympathies are fearful of spreading the dreaded malady and must remain at home. Surely, we must trust to Him who doeth all things well, to comfort the bereaved ones. Miss Edler was about 18 years of age. Interment in South Sterling cemetery at 11 a. m. May 25th.

WHITE MILLS.

May 26.—An article appeared in one of the Wayne county papers mentioning "Hardenbergh for Governor Wood for County Treasurer and Ross for any old office." I wish to say, that I think that Hardenbergh and Wood are as well qualified as any would-be aspirant for the offices mentioned that ever wore political slippers in the county to-day, and I think that Ross's being reappointed to his office speaks well for his past services as Commissioners' Clerk, and there is no doubt that he will be in line for something better by the time his present position expires; that is, if he follows the customary rules of promotion. I am not mentioning him for the office of Prothonotary.

The law has declared that if you kill a man, you get eight years; but if you steal a boy you get a lifetime.

Have you observed that Ham & Hittinger's calendar for 1909 has changed the date of the moon? viz: May 26, first quarter; and June 3d new moon? I wonder if they will try to change the tides on the 1910 calendar.

There was a sign printed in White Mills and placed in a conspicuous place; it read: "One hundred dollar pitcher beaten by farmers." The Indian Orchard base ball team wanted to secure two professional players from White Mills, but before engaging them for the season they gave them a trial game on Sunday against the Halfway House Farmers. The Farmers defeated them by the score of six to five. So anxious were the White Mills boys to gain a reputation for themselves as a battery, that they could not judge how much exertion they wasted, but by these two professionals not reporting for duty on Monday it goes to show that there was not any hayseed, or flies, on the so-called buckwheat farmers.

At the time of the massacre of General Slocum by the Indians there was planted a red oak tree at the head of the Wyoming Valley. Said tree is still growing.

It measures at the trunk nineteen feet and ten inches in circumference and the diameter at the top, from limb to limb, is 94 feet. It was measured last Sunday by two residents of White Mills and one of Indian Orchard. The three men have taken up forestry as a study. This is something that we should encourage, especially among the younger element. I would like to know how nearly the dimensions of this tree compares with the big elm tree above Honesdale.

Simple Rules for Self-Protection.

The commissioner's warning and suggestions have reference not only to grip but to tonsillitis, bronchitis, colds and pneumonia. He asks nothing impossible or difficult of the average person. He expects no sacrifice, no giving up of cherished habits. As he well says, the price of immunity or of health is not high, in fact, a little thought and a little firmness is all that he asks, and the "price" is more enjoyment and fuller life in the long run.

Moderation in eating and drinking, a reasonable amount of exercise, walking in the open air, ventilation of houses and offices, avoidance of overheated places and excessively heavy clothing—these are the very simple and feasible forms of "insurance" which he prescribes. To know them should be to adopt them.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Stick to the Silo.

The farmer who allows a milk dealer or anybody else to talk him into giving up his silo is not wise. Stick to your silo and your bank account will be all the better.

BAKED ELEPHANT'S FOOT.

Col. Roosevelt Will Be Privileged to Taste a Delicious Dish.

While Colonel Roosevelt is in Africa he will have an opportunity of tasting that delicious dish, baked elephant's foot. The Elephas Indicus or Elephas (Loxodon) Africanus walks on his toes and the balls of his feet. The real foot of an elephant extends up some distance from the ground. Like the "trotter" of the hog the foot of the elephant is full of gluten, and the flesh, if properly baked, is very tender, tasting something between pork and chicken. From a freshly killed elephant the foot is cut off at the ankle, and baked in a hole in the ground which has previously been heated with hot stones. The hole must be red-hot and a few heavy stones left in the bottom. The foot having been put into the hole, which is made just about big enough to receive it—some natives line the hole with green leaves—and is shoveled over it and it is left to cook. One must not be in a hurry for his dinner. When taken out and the thick skin peeled away a delicious morsel awaits the eater.

Banking Control.

Six banks in New York control the stock market. They can elevate or depress prices at will. They can make ready money one per cent, or 300 per cent. They have no compunctions of conscience, because they have no conscience. Here's a bank with enormous deposits. It pays no interest; but its president and directors speculate with the money as if they owned it. Why do people invest their money to this institution? What do they get out of it? If the bank fails the depositors are ruined.—N. Y. Press.

The Era of New Mixed Paints!

This year opens with a deluge of new mixed paints. A condition brought about by our enterprising dealers to get some kind of a mixed paint that would supplant CHILTON'S MIXED PAINTS. Their compounds, being new and heavily advertised, may find a sale with the unwary.

THE ONLY PLACE IN HONESDALE AUTHORIZED TO HANDLE CHILTON'S MIXED PAINTS Is JADWIN'S PHARMACY.

There are reasons for the pre-eminence of CHILTON PAINTS:

- 1st—No one can mix a better mixed paint.
- 2d—The painters declare that it works easily and has wonderful covering qualities.
- 3d—Chilton stands back of it, and will agree to repaint, at his own expense, every surface painted with Chilton Paint that proves defective.
- 4th—Those who have used it are perfectly satisfied with it, and recommend its use to others.
