LOCAL NEWS.

The regular monthly meeting of the supervisors of Texas township was held at the court house Wednesday afternoon.

Isaac B. Garrett, of Eleventh street, suffered a stroke of paralysis on Wednesday evening.

The following young men have entered the employ of the Bell Telephone Co.: Joseph Jacobs, Joseph Caprio, Russell Burcher and Edward Kelly.

The Ladies' Aid Society will serve supper and strawberry short cake in the M. E. church Friday, June 4th. First table at 5:30.

Jno. A. Coddling, a former sheriff of Bradford county, and an influential Republican, died at Towanda, aged 91 years, on June 1.

A thirty-eight pound snapping turtle, captured in Collins's pond, Cherry Ridge, was on exhibition at Hartung's meat market on Wednesday last.

The employees of Herbeck and Demer's Cut Glass factory started working 12½ hours a day on Tuesday. At the present time the concern is rushed with orders.

The factory of Martin Canfield on Main street was closed several days this week, so that repairs could be made about the place.

Twenty-three marriage licenses were issued during the month of May by prothonotary, M. J. Hanlan.

The following were elected trustees of the Methodist church on Wednesday evening: J. C. Birdsall, Isaac Lobb and C. F. Ballock. The two latter trustees were elected to fill the vacancies caused by the removal from town of G. H. Knapp and the death of E. H. Clark.

Henry Collum, of Hawley, was released from the county jail on Tuesday, June 1st. Collum was arrested some time ago on the charge of illegal fishing. He refused to pay his fine and was committed to the county jail, where he served thirty-eight days.

Richard Parry, of Carbondale, was drowned in Bronson's pond, formerly known as Robinson's pond, in South Canaan township, this county, on Sunday last. Parry, with a party of seven others went to the pond Saturday evening to fish. They stayed over night and on Sunday morning decided to go in bathing before returning home. The water was colder than expected and Parry was soon seized with a cramp and sank out of sight. The efforts of those nearby to recover the body were successful but not until life was extinct. The remains were taken to Carbondale the same afternoon. Deceased was a very estimable young man who had resided in Carbondale only about two months. He had no relatives in this country and came here from Clydach vale, Wales. He was twenty-five years of age and was employed in the mines.

There are said to be 2,700 people in Carbondale who were born in Wayne county. There are not so many Honesdalers as that who are natives of this county. Carbondale appears to bear about the same relation in the matter of citizenship to Wayne county that London does to Dublin; the former containing more natives of the Emerald Isle than the entire population of Ireland's capital city.

William Bosch, a Sullivan county (N. Y.) farmer and boarding house keeper, is in the Monticello jail charged by his step-daughter Florence Van Eastenbridge, with having taken advantage of a visit of her mother to Honesdale in March last, to invade her room and force her to a submission to his will. Bosch is 34 years of age, and is said to have a bad reputation. The girl is not yet sixteen.

The County Commissioners and their clerk, Geo. P. Ross, are delivering the ballots for the primary election, June 5th, throughout the county, this week. The Commissioners have awarded the contract to erect a stone arch bridge near Penwarden's factory, at East Honesdale, to Frank Varcoe. The new structure will replace the one recently damaged by the high water. Mr. Varcoe's bid was $740; the next lowest bid being that of Seaman and Breneman, $750.

REPUBLICANS:—Attend primaries on Saturday, June 5th, and vote for Wm. C. Ames and Charles T. Smith, delegates to State Convention. ADV.

Attention—Veterans! Regular meeting of Capt. Ham Post, No. 198, this (Friday) evening.

Memorial Day was appropriately celebrated in Hawley. A large parade, participated in by the G. A. R. Post and patriotic citizens, passed through the principal streets, headed by the Hawley band, and thence to the Eddy cemetery, where the ceremonies were held. At noon a public dinner was served. In the afternoon there were amusements in the line of a ball game between a Scranton club and the local team, resulting in a score of 11 to 4 in favor of the visitors and an interesting quarter of a mile foot race between three Scranton and three Hawley boys. The first prize was won by Raymond Wall, a Hawley contestant.

Albert Paff, aged 20 years, of Scranton, met a terrible death on Monday, by falling down the elevator shaft in the Mears building, that city. Paff was engaged in oiling the machinery at the top of the elevator shaft, when he lost his balance and fell backward into the shaft. For a moment his feet caught in the cables and he hung head downward in the shaft, while his terrorizing cries filled the building. Finally his feet became loose and he dropped into the shaft. The elevator was ascending at the time, and was just about to stop at the third floor, when Paff landed on the top of the car, his body breaking through a portion of the iron cage. Paff was still alive when removed from the elevator, but was unconscious and died an hour after being received at the State Hospital.

Henry Sprague, of Nicholson, Pa., shot and killed Roger Greenwood, wife of Nicholson, on Tuesday of this week. Sprague was held without bail upon the recommendations made by the coroner's jury. The man who committed the murder is now in the Tunkhannock jail. He is past 60 years of age and was employed in the Shields stone mill at Nicholson. It is the general impression that on the day of the murder the men, after filling up with intoxicants, began quarreling, and the shooting followed. Sprague says he will tell all upon the witness stand.

James Murray, of Mayfield, had his right arm amputated at Emergency hospital, Carbondale, on Sunday last. He had left home in the morning to go on a fishing trip in Wayne county, and rode on a coal train on the Scranton branch of the Ontario and Western railroad. When near Pleasant Mount, he jumped from the train and in some way got under the wheels. His arm was terribly mangled. He was taken to Carbondale where it was found necessary to amputate the member at the shoulder. While his condition is serious it is hoped that he will recover.

By the enforcement of the Nolan anti-noise ordinance, the death-knell of "canned" music on Lackawanna avenue, Scranton, and other streets in the central city where moving-picture shows flourish has been sounded. Formal orders were issued to the police by Director of Public Safety William G. O'Malley last week to arrest all violators of the ordinance, which was passed in the closing days of the Dimmick administration, and is aimed at the unnecessary blowing of locomotive whistles and the tooting of automobile sirens, as well as at the graphophones. Already the railroad companies have notified their engineers to blow the whistles only when necessary. Hucksters and vendors of ice cream are likewise affected by the measure, because it prohibits the use of a bell while disposing of merchandise. The minimum fine for each offense is $5.

On petition of Kathryn Shaffer, who claims that her brother, William Malloy, is insane, the following commission was appointed: Dr. P. F. Griffin, Herman Harnes and P. R. Murray. On Wednesday the commission announced that Mr. Malloy was insane and an order was issued by the court that he be sent to the hospital for the insane at Danville.

The following is the list of unclaimed letters at the postoffice for the week ending June 1, 1909: Mrs. Ella Dailey, Mrs. Joseph Dooley and George Kines.

It will be noticed that this week's chapter on Poultry Raising by our White Mills contributor, Joseph Stephens, ends very abruptly; the writer explaining that precisely at the moment he was finishing the sentence he was robbed of a goodly sum. It appears that Mr. Stephens is the collector for some fraternal organization, and had the sum named in his cash box, in a closet adjoining the one in which he was writing. Being momentarily called outside he placed his manuscript on top of the box. On his return, he immediately discovered that his papers had been disturbed by some intruder, and on investigation he found that the money had also been taken. He at once started out to find the thief. His investigations brought him to Honesdale on Memorial Day, where the services of Detective Spencer were enlisted, but their persistent watch till nightfall brought no results.

The Farmers' and Mechanics' bank will be closed every Saturday afternoon during the month of June, July and August.

There will be a Sunday school service next Sunday (Trinity Sunday) at St. John's Lutheran church at 7 p. m. Parents and friends of the Sunday school are cordially invited to attend.

William Campbell, of Equinunk, was arrested by constable C. R. Rosencramer, of Lackawanna, early yesterday morning on the charge of stabbing his wife. Campbell and his wife had a few words on Monday, resulting in his pulling a knife from his pocket and cutting her in the thigh. Campbell left Equinunk and went to the home of his father-in-law, G. J. Kerwin, of Mast Hope, where he was arrested. He was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Samuel Alman, who committed him to the Wayne county jail, in which he was lodged yesterday afternoon. The prisoner is said to be a dangerous character, having only recently been sentenced to a long term of imprisonment under suspension of which he has lately been at liberty.

Rev. W. F. Hopp will conduct Lutheran services at the White Mills chapel on Sunday at 8:30 a. m.

Fred Olsen is visiting relatives in New York city.

Horace C. Hand, cashier of the Wayne County Savings Bank, who has been ill at his home on Church street for many weeks, is suffering from a recent paralytic attack, which his immediate family and friends, owing to his advanced years, naturally regard with much apprehension. Symptoms of the present phase of his illness were noticeable on Tuesday, and a gradual progression of the trouble was noted until on Wednesday night, when the lower limbs both became involved, and the power of speech was lost. We have no later information up to the moment of putting The Citizen to press, but, considering Mr. Hand's advanced age, and the nature of his malady, we can only hope for the privilege of recording a more favorable condition in our next issue.

The following personal item explains itself, and will be welcome news to many near friends of the "Answerers," as showing that at last advice they were well and happy. A fine post card photo of the Cunard Liner, the "Lusitania," which reached The Citizen office yesterday, contains on the address side the following, directed to Thomas J. Ham: "On board Lusitania, off coast of Ireland, May 24.—This to remind you that friends are thinking of you and our old home, even on the other side of the earth—with regards and best wishes! Horace G. Young, Richard H. Gibbons."

Earl Sherwood, James Keen, William E. Justin, George Van Osdoll, Verdine E. Odell, Peter Colum, John E. Cook, and George C. Brown, surviving members of Co. M, Seventeenth Pa. Cavalry, participated in Monday's parade, and had a little campfire by themselves when the public celebration was over.

A. J. Rehbein, travelling salesman for the Durland-Weston Shoe Co. left for his western trip yesterday. From Chicago he will go to Seattle, and thence to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Denver. In Seattle he will have the pleasure of meeting a brother and in Los Angeles will have a visit with his son, Ford.

W. Corbett, of Rockville Center, N. Y., manager of the Carnegie Steel Co., visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hulsizer, at West street, early in the week.

The veteran, Capt. C. E. Baker, ex-mayor of Waymart, called at The Citizen office on Monday. Mrs. Baker was in town with her husband to witness the memorial exercises.

Roy Male, of New York, spent Sunday and Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Male, on the East Side, Hawley.

Attorney-at-law Henry Dunning, of Wilkes-Barre, whose father, Rev. Charles S. Dunning, was the Presbyterian pastor here from 1861 to 1880, was in Honesdale early in the week on business connected with the trolley line. He was entertained by the Golf club at supper on Monday evening.

Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, and author and stock raiser, who recently gave an entertainment at the Lyric under the auspices of the Honesdale Realty Company, has separated from his wife and moved his fancy stock from Morris Plains to a farm near Goshen, N. Y.

Miss Anna H. Brown returned on Tuesday from a six weeks' visit with friends in Elmira and Greene, N. Y.

Dr. A. R. Dimock, of New York city, spent the first of the week in Waymart, as the guest of H. C. Ensign and family.

The Misses Weiss, who spent the winter and spring in New York city, have returned to their home in this place.

Louis Helfferich was a business caller in Scranton, on Wednesday.

Charles W. Douglass, whose death is announced in another column, was a railroad man for most of his adult life, and yet met with only one severe accident. That was in the Carr's Rock (now Parker's Glen) disaster, the wreck of the morning of April 15, 1908, the wreck of which the writer, with many other Honesdalers, went down to see. Mr. Douglass was returning home on No. 12, to Port Jervis, when the train was derailed at Carr's Rock. The four rear coaches were precipitated down an embankment one hundred and eighty feet to the Delaware river. Superintendent Douglass was in the rear coach, which together with the other coaches burned at the edge of the river. Twenty-eight passengers were killed and ninety-six were injured. Mr. Douglass was taken out of the burning coach by the engineer, Henry Green, and Jay Lynch, conductor of the sleeper. But one other person was taken out of that coach alive, a man named Donahue from Oil City, Pa., whose back was broken. Mr. Douglass's injuries consisted of burns, three broken ribs, dislocation of the right shoulder and dislocation of the right hip. The latter injury was overlooked by the surgeons, and not until the trouble was located quite recently by the X-ray was it known that the right hip joint was dislocated, and in all the years from 1908 he had endured untold suffering from a trouble which eminent surgeons had failed to discover.

Miss Cora Eck is visiting the family of her uncle in Port Jervis.

Gilbert White is visiting his son Irving, in Rock Island, Ill.

Hard on Her. "Officer, I appeal for protection. A man is following me and attempting to make love to me."

"Begory, Ol've been lookin' for an escaped lunatic! Where is he?"

Always Won. "Have you ever loved and lost?"

"Nope," responded the maiden promptly. "I've won every breach-of-promise suit I ever brought."

Accordingly. "Are prices regulated by supply and demand?" "Certainly," answered the Trust dictator; "by whatever supply we choose to have on hand and what ever demand we choose to make."

Groundwork. Madge—What is the object of hazing in college?

Majorie—I guess it's to teach the boys brutality for use in the football games.

MATRIMONY.

Peleted Philosophy from One Who Has Had Experience.

What is marriage? Marriage is an institution for the blind.

Why do some people never marry? Because they do not believe in divorce.

When a man thinks seriously of marriage, what happens? He remains single.

Should a man marry a girl for her money? No. But he should not let her be an old maid just because she's rich.

When a girl refers to a "sad countenance," what does she mean? She means that the man got away.

Is an engagement as good as a marriage? It's better.

In selecting a husband, why does a girl prefer a fat man? Because a fat man finds it hard to stoop to anything low.

When asking papa, how should a young man act? He should face papa manfully and never give him a chance at his back.

When the minister says, "Do you take this woman for better or worse?" what does he mean? The bridegroom's people construe it one way, and the bride's family interpret it another. It is very sad.

When a man says he can manage his wife, what does he mean? He means he can make her do anything she wants to.

When a child is smart and good, to whose family is it due? To its mother's.

When a child is bad and stupid, to whose family is it due? We refuse to answer.

Is it possible for a married man to be a fool without knowing it? Not if his wife is alive.—United Presbyterian.

The Gentle Sex Again. The patient conductor had been waiting for their fares for fully a minute. Each insisted upon paying.

"It is my turn," said the one in blue, "and I am going to pay just as soon as I can find that dime."

"No, I insist," spoke up the one in brown. "Here it is, conductor."

"I shall never forgive you. I was just about to—"

"Oh, I made a mistake. That was a penny. Give it back and—"

"Gracious! I am so glad. Here are the two fares, conductor."

The one in blue paid. When she reached home she said to her husband:

"The stingy thing! She just picked that penny as a bluff! I'll never be shopping with her again!"

While the one in brown said to be better half:

"Close! I never saw such a class woman in my life. Why, she actually forced me to pay both fares! But I guess how stingy some people can be!"

Grateful Little Creatures. Artemus Ward called on a friend the night before one of his panoramic lectures. There were some three or four large roaches scurrying about the room, and they attracted his attention.

"I am very fond of roaches," he said. "Once, in my own home, I found a roach struggling in a bowl of water. I took a half walnut shell and put him in it; it made a good boat; I gave him a couple of toothpicks for oars. Next morning I saw that he had fastened a hair to one of the toothpicks, and had evidently been fishing. Then, overcome with exhaustion, he had fallen asleep. The sight moved me. I took him out, washed him, gave him a spoonful of boiled egg, and let him go. That roach never forgot my kindness, and now my home is full of roaches."

SHOPPING.

Mrs. Towne—This piece of lace was made on a special order; there is not another bit like it in the world.

Mrs. Browne—Won't you lend it to me this afternoon, dear? I am going shopping and I can try to match it.

Circumstantial. "Ah, I see you are married!" exclaimed the merchant.

"No, sir," replied the applicant for a position. "I got this scar in a railroad accident."

A Cure. Boreleigh—Yes, Miss Doris, I suffer dreadfully from insomnia, y'know.

Miss Doris (suppressing a yawn)—Did you ever try talking to yourself Mr. Boreleigh?

Change of Locality. Rudd—They say Jerome is going to stop gambling in New York.

Scudd—Where is he going to gamble.

OPENING OF THE GOLF SEASON.

Hill Top, the home of the Golf Club, had the appearance of a good sized city on Memorial Day; it presented a very animated scene as there were gathered there nearly 125 persons. It was opening day, and a tournament had been arranged which was participated in by a large number of golfers. The ladies' first prize was won by Miss Etta Neilson with a score of 63. Other prizes were won by Mollie Parker, Nellie Hulsizer, Beatrice Rehbein and Jennie Schoonover. The prizes for gentlemen were captured by Walter M. Whitney with a score of 92, and H. Scott Solman, 93. M. J. Kelley was the winner of the handicap prize with a score of 84, and William B. Holmes coming next with 96 to his credit. After the games were finished 116 of those present sat down to an excellent repast and all agreed that a most enjoyable day had been spent, and voted for another good time on July 4th.

UNION MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The Baptist church last Sunday evening was filled to overflowing, the auditorium, the annex and galleries being packed with those who had come to join with the G. A. R. and Company E, 13th Regiment, in memorial services. The pastors of the Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Lutheran churches assisted the Baptist pastor in the exercises. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. George S. Wendell, of Chester, Pa. This was an excellent discourse well delivered, and held the attention of the vast audience very closely. The Drum Corps was present and assisted in the exercises. The choir, reinforced by string and brass instruments, rendered the old patriotic songs in an inspiring manner. The solo by Mrs. Archer, the duet by Misses Wagner and Mantle, and the anthem in which Mr. Wagner took the principal part, ably assisted by the entire choir, were most excellently rendered.
