WAYMART HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Beautiful Exercises Held in the M. E. Church, at Waymart, Last Friday Evening.

The twenty-seventh anniversary commencement exercises of the Waymart high school were held in the M. E. church on Friday last before a large audience.

Among the musical features of the evening worthy of note were a well-rendered violin solo by Adam Knorr and a violin solo by Miss Pearl Griffith, a young soprano of much promise.

The recitation of Miss Hylia Ames, a junior, received well-merited applause and gave abundant evidence of dramatic talent.

Among a number of orations of considerable merit those of Miss Arleta Dymond and Miss Violet Spry would seem to be entitled to the most praise. It would be a difficult task for even an experienced writer to develop original thought from an overturned barrel of stock selections and outlines. Miss Dymond and Miss Spry rose superior to their environment and surmounted this difficulty successfully—the former with such a hackneyed theme as "We Will Find a Path or Make One," the latter upon the subject of "A Fair Field and Equal Chance." Miss Spry was becomingly gowned, graceful and modest. Her delivery was pleasing and the subject matter of her oration evinced careful thought.

A hush fell upon the audience when Principal Dooley arose to deliver his own valedictory address. The venerable professor alluded feelingly to his long term of service and to the honors that had been heaped upon many of his graduates after leaving his fostering care. But it is to the amenities of this farewell address and the gentle, forgiving Christian spirit that permeated it throughout that we wish to draw attention. A follower of that Divine Master who taught above all else the doctrine of brotherly love and the duty of forgiveness even unto "seventy times seven" the venerable professor enjoined upon his hearers the dangers of idle words and carping criticism. "Beware of epithets," said the speaker, "for whatsoever is more than 'yea and nay' in your communications cometh of evil" and "why beholdest thou the mote in thy brother's eye but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?" "Judge not that ye be not judged." "It is only a believer who can feel the full force of these sentiments," he continued, but they are rare rules of conduct for laymen as well as Christians. Be gentle, patient, forbearing, uniformly courteous, and never lose your temper," said the professor.

So much for the didactic, but it was in the emotional parts of his address that the professor rose to flights of genuine eloquence. His tones became sonorous, his language chaste, elegant, refined—something of the rich and mellifluous imagery of Keats, the daintily delicate touch of Shelley, the refined polish of Tennyson and the grandeur of Shakespeare.

Let us hope that the professor may be induced to reconsider, and that we may always have him with us.

COL. McCURE'S SUDDEN DEATH

Veteran Editor Passes Away on Sunday—A Remarkable Career.

Col. Alexander K. McClure, Prothonotary of the Supreme and Superior Courts of Pennsylvania and for many years a prominent figure in politics and journalism, died Sunday, June 6, 1909, at his home in Wallingford, Delaware county, aged 81 years. He had been suffering from infirmities due to his advanced years for some time, and Sunday was the first time in more than a week that he felt able to leave his room. In company with his brother-in-law, Alfred Gratz, he sat on the porch of his home for a short time Sunday afternoon. Feeling himself growing weaker he asked to be assisted to a lounge in the parlor and he died a few minutes after he had been assisted into the house.

Col. McClure was born in Perry county, Pennsylvania, and when only 19 years of age became the editor of the Juniata Sentinel. Two years later he was appointed on the staff of Governor W. F. Johnson, whom he had supported in his newspaper. He first gained political prominence in 1853, when he was nominated, and defeated, for Auditor General by the Whigs.

A member of the Republican convention which nominated Lincoln in 1860, McClure was the only one who suggested that the Pennsylvania delegates should break away from Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, and vote for Lincoln. This was done and Lincoln's name stamped the convention.

When the Civil War broke out McClure was a leader in the State Senate and urged vigorous measures. He was chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs and was closely identified with the war policy of Governor Curtin. He formed close relations with President Lincoln and his Cabinet and took a prominent part in national politics. As Adjutant General he superintended the drafting of Pennsylvania "A" troops.

Colonel McClure located in Philadelphia more than 50 years ago where for a time he practiced law. In 1873 he was defeated for the office of Mayor of Philadelphia by a small majority after a bitter contest. With the late Frank McLaughlin he established The Times, and for years wielded a trenchant editorial pen. One of his greatest battles was a crusade against the "Dandy Mayor," William R. Smith. His bitter attacks upon Mayor Smith's administration caused the latter to bring suit for libel against the Times. Smith was given a verdict of nearly $50,000. After advancing years had caused him to give up his editorial labors, he busied himself with writing his reminiscences and revising several of his earlier works. In 1903 he was appointed prothonotary of the Supreme and Superior Courts of the State. He was for many years president of the Clover Club.

Dr. Gotwald will speak at the Indian Orchard school house on Sunday, June 8, at 2:15 p. m., and at the White Mills church at 3 p. m.

The White Ribboners will meet with Mrs. Albert Berger on Tuesday evening, June 15, at 7:30. Miss Lottie Roe, Flower Mission Supt., will have charge of the meeting. The subject will be: "The Flower Mission."

Kathryn B. Sonner and Edward J. Holl were married at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 3, 1909, at St. Mary Magdalen's Catholic church. Rev. William Dassel officiating. The bride was attired in a gown of white silk trimmed with lace, white applique and ribbon, and carried a bouquet of roses. She was attended by Miss Anna Spinner, of White Mills, who wore a dress of suseine silk, trimmed with tulle net, and white satin, and carried pink carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Harry Holl. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Bangert. Mr. and Mrs. Holl received many beautiful presents consisting of cut glass, linen, silverware and furniture. After a two weeks' wedding trip to New York, Albany and Syracuse, N. Y., they will return to Honesdale and reside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bangert. The groom will take charge of the general store conducted for a number of years by Mr. Bangert.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's Catholic church Wednesday morning, when Gertrude R., daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Bernard Reilly, of North Main street, was united in marriage to Paul Fives. The ceremony was performed at 9 o'clock by Rev. Thomas M. Hanley. The bride was given away by her father. As the bride and her father and bridesmaid, Miss Mae Finnerty, entered the church, Mrs. L. B. Richtmyer, the organist, rendered Lorin-gren's wedding march. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Frank Fives, of Scranton. During the nuptial mass "Hearts and Flowers" was rendered by the organist, and as the bridal party left the church Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered. The bride was attired in a white lace princess robe, and black picture hat, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The maid wore a champagne princess robe, black picture hat and carried a bouquet of hydrangeas. The bride's traveling suit was of blue silk, and she wore a tan traveling coat. The ushers at the church were Edmund Finnerty and Charles Reilly. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was attended by the bridal party and immediate relatives. The house which was artistically decorated with ferns and potted plants, presented a very beautiful appearance. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fives are well known and popular young people of Honesdale, a fact attested by the numerous beautiful presents from their large circle of friends. They left on the 2:00 train for a wedding trip to New York and other cities, and upon their return will reside at Hotel Wayne.
