STRIKE IS SETTLED

Pittsburg Street Car Men Go Back to Work.

MAYOR MAGEE AS PEACEMAKER

His Threat to Seize Lines Under Old Law and Operate Them Brings Both Sides to Reason.

Pittsburg, June 29.—After a conference lasting fifteen hours at Mayor Magee's office between the union surface railroad men's leaders and traction company officials the Pittsburg car strike, which had tied up traffic for seventy-two hours, was declared off, and the motormen and conductors returned to work.

The strike, which resulted in a loss of over $200,000, was the outcome of but two points of difference between the car company and the motormen and conductors, one being the alleged neglect upon the part of the car company to shorten "swing runs" and the other the refusal of the railway officials to reinstate discharged men without proper hearing.

When the warring factions assembled the mayor addressed them in plain terms and stated what he thought was only the just deserts of residents of Greater Pittsburg and suggested that the temper of the people seemed to indicate they would never tolerate rioting nor prolonged traffic disturbances.

The mayor said he had discovered an old law under which he can seize the street car lines in the name of the city and operate them for the accommodation of the public. His threat that he would appeal to this law caused both sides to lean toward peace, and they finally agreed to settle their differences.

An agreement allowing discharged men proper hearings before superintendents and the assurance of the car company that they would shorten "swing runs" 50 per cent was drawn up and signed.

Cases of rioting and violence were reported to the very last, although all the police reserves were on duty, augmented by special deputies sworn in by the sheriff of Allegheny county.

Fourteen strike breakers were chased away from the Rankin car barns by union sympathizers. A fusillade of shots greeted the strike breakers as they emerged from the barns. Men in a nearby plant joined in the chase after the strike breakers, running them more than a mile.

Two county detectives missed death by a narrow margin when a crowd of persons around the Herron Hill car barns set upon a score of strike breakers. The officers attempted to pacify the fighting men. The crowd devoted their attention to the officers and after beating them unmercifully dragged them to a high bridge over a ravine near the car barns and threatened to throw them over the rail if they refused to promise to keep out of the clashes between the strike breakers and the friends of the strikers. The timely arrival of the police saved the officers from probable death.

DAYLIGHT PLAN TRIED.

Cincinnati Will Move Clocks Ahead One Hour This Summer.

Cincinnati, June 29.—The city council of Cincinnati has passed an ordinance providing for the enforcing of the "daylight plan" suggested by heads of commercial and business clubs.

It contemplates moving the clock ahead one hour during May, June, July, August and September.

Cincinnati is the first city in this country to change the working hours during the summer months. The idea has been introduced in England, France, Germany, Australia, Denmark and Belgium.

The ordinance when introduced was accompanied by a petition signed by 90,000 names, and it was passed unanimously.

On May 17 a committee from the National Daylight association called on President Taft, who suggested that the movement be started in Cincinnati.

POLICEMAN SHOOT'S GIRL.

Charged With Murder, but Declares It Was an Accident.

Cincinnati, June 29.—Policeman Monte Lowenstein was arrested here on a charge of murdering Nellie Marts, nineteen years old, daughter of well known parents at Middletown, O., who was found shot.

Lowenstein admits having met the girl frequently following his first acquaintance with her at Middletown when he was an officer of the Ohio national guard during the annual encampment there. Lowenstein says the shooting was an accident.

ISRAEL W. DURHAM DEAD.

Leading Philadelphia Politician Succumbs at Atlantic City.

Philadelphia, June 29.—Israel W. Durham, Republican "boss" of this city, state senator from the Second district and president of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, fell dead from heart disease in his cottage in Atlantic City.

Durham was a bricklayer by trade, but soon went into the flour business with his father. He was born in the old section of Philadelphia in October, 1856. He was early initiated into practical politics, and his rise was rapid.

He was a ward leader when Senator Quay, whose power in eastern Pennsylvania was being contested by Dave Mack, selected him as his representative.

In 1896 Durham led a revolt against the dominant Republican leader, David Martin, and accomplished the election of Alexander Crow, independent Republican, as sheriff over the late Samuel H. Ashbridge, the regular Republican nominee. This made Mr. Durham the undisputed leader of his party in the city, and for nine years he enjoyed a power that was almost despotic in its completeness.

In 1905 Mayor John Weaver revolted against the power of Mr. Durham and his associate, James P. McNichol. Previous to this Mr. Durham's health had begun to fail, and he became less active politically, leaving Mr. McNichol to fight alone the battles of the organization against the reform element.

His baseball connections are of comparatively recent date. He secured controlling interest in the Philadelphia club at the recent change of ownership and took an enthusiastic interest in its affairs.

WOODILL INQUEST ENDED.

Jury Says Eastman Killed Gage's Ward or Was Accessory.

St. Michaels, Md., June 29.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Edith May Woodill, the ward of Lyman J. Gage, was finished in the lonely bungalow of Robert E. Eastman, where the murder was committed, and with the verdict of the jury.

The verdict of the jury was "that Eastman killed Edith May Thompson Woodill or was accessory to the murder." It was a compromise verdict, as four members of the jury refused to sign until the words "or was accessory to the murder" were added.

William Sutton, who went to the bungalow to ask Eastman to attend a religious meeting, definitely fixed the time of his visit as Sunday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock. This also fixes the time of the murder as Sunday night. Sutton swore positively that he heard Mrs. Woodill's voice. It was conversational in tone, and there was nothing to indicate that she and Eastman were or had been engaged in a quarrel.

George Powell testified that he spent all of Sunday at Sutton's farm, within view of the bungalow, and that he saw no one go near it. Powell's testimony seems to dispose of the story that a party in a launch visited the bungalow on Sunday.

Robert Seth testified that Eastman appeared at his place on Saturday night between 11 and 1:30 o'clock, saying his launch was ashore, that he had "a lady" on board and that he would not have Seth know who she was for $1,000.

Seth said he agreed to let Eastman have a team and to place it where he and the girl could reach it without being seen.

San Francisco, June 29.—The direct primary law enacted at the recent session of the legislature was held to be constitutional by the state supreme court.

MAY DROP SUGAR TRUST CASE

Counsel Argue That Statute of Limitations Applies to Offense.

New York, June 29.—Following a conference between counsel for the American Sugar Refining company and for the United States, there was a well authenticated rumor that the government will not further press its charge against the company of preventing the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, a competitor, from doing business.

The argument made by John G. Milburn and his associates to Henry A. Wise, United States attorney, was that the offense alleged took place more than three years ago and thus falls within the immunities of the statute of limitations.

Mr. Wise, after going over the records of the case, said that the effort to make out a case would be continued, but well informed persons in touch with the company were unqualified in their assertion that the case will be dropped.

Mr. Wise sails today for France to collect evidence in the Panama libel case. During his absence the grand jury will continue its inquiry. If no case is made out within two weeks the matter will go over until his return.

Entirely aside from the Pennsylvania refinery case, the grand jury may, during the summer, take up the matter of the American Sugar company being a monopoly in restraint of trade, with a view to bringing a civil suit for dissolution.

TELLS OF $2,000,000 LOAN.

Dresser Says He Contracted It Without Consulting Directors.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 29.—Daniel Leroy Dresser, former president of the Trust Company of the Republic, which is alleged to have suffered losses as a result of the financing of the United States Shipbuilding company, testified in the case of Charles H. Kavanaugh against former directors of the company that he had been asked to resign as president following his return from Europe in November, 1902, and had refused.

Of the $6,000,000 which the shipbuilding company was obligated to pay on August 12, 1902, in order to take over the constituent properties of the company, Mr. Dresser said more than $1,000,000 had been secured, including a loan of $700,000 made to Lewis Nixon by the Trust Company of the Republic. The remainder, $2,000,000, was loaned to Nixon by the trust company on August 12, Nixon and Dresser giving their notes and shipbuilding collateral as security.

This loan, Mr. Dresser said, he made as president of the trust company without consulting the board of directors.

PRINCE VON BULOW RESIGNS

German Chancellor Will Retire to His Villa in Rome.

Berlin, June 29.—Prince von Bulow authorizes the announcement that he intends to retire from the chancellorship of the empire as soon as the pending finance reform measure is disposed of. The prince has resigned and remains in office only temporarily in an endeavor to pass the bill.

Emperor William has not yet given consideration to the question of a successor to the chancellor, but the most probable choice is Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, imperial secretary of state for the interior. He has been in close contact with the emperor for ten years as president of the province of Brandenburg and imperial secretary, and his personal relations with the emperor are most cordial.

Prince von Bulow, who came from the German embassy at Rome twelve years ago to be foreign secretary, will go back to Rome and live in the villa recently purchased by him there at a cost of $500,000. He received a bequest of $1,375,000 under the will of Herr Godfrey, a wealthy sugar merchant, whom he never met.

FARLEY TO BE A CARDINAL.

Vatican Prelate Says New York Archbishop is Sure of Hat.

Rome, June 29.—"Archbishop Farley of New York will be made a cardinal," says a Vatican prelate, who adds, "His nomination to be a member of the Sacred college is certain."

That the pope holds Mgr. Farley in the very highest esteem was demonstrated in a telling manner when the pontiff received him in farewell audience.

After the archbishop had tendered the New York archdiocese's contribution of $35,000 to the pope's fund for the relief of the sufferers by the earthquakes in southern Italy the holy father gave Mgr. Farley a superb amethyst ring set in a circle of twenty-four diamonds.

The pope told Mgr. Farley that America held the foremost place in his affections and that he looked forward to the day when hers shall be swept away and America shall become not only the greatest power in the world, but the most Catholic nation.
