Young Railroad Man Convicted of Murder in First Degree.
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 29.—After a trial lasting four days the jury in the supreme court here brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree against Napoleon Monat.
Monat, who is twenty-three years old and a trainman on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, was convicted of murdering John Kil, an aged restaurant keeper, at Hopewell Junction and robbing him of $523.
Monat entered the restaurant and, laying 5 cents on the counter, asked for a corn-cob pipe. When Kil turned to get the pipe Monat struck him over the head with a draft bolt, causing death.
Supreme Court Justice Tompkins sentenced Monat to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison, and the trial of George Conrow, charged with being an accomplice in the crime, was begun.

MONAT TO DIE IN CHAIR.

TAFT ON LOSING SIDE AGAIN.
Bourne and Butt Beat President and General Edwards.
Washington, June 29.—President Taft was on the losing side in a foursome at golf, he and his partner, General Edwards, being defeated by Senator Bourne and Captain Butt, military aid to the president, by 2 up.
Neither frequent defeat nor hot weather deters the president from his purpose to become more than what he calls himself, a "bumble puppy" at the game. His play shows great improvement.
