—Winifred Mumford, who has been manager of the Bell Telephone Exchange at this place has been transferred to Carbondale and left for that city Saturday.

—The Pennsylvania short-hand reporters Association, in session at Scranton "roasted" Hon. Adelbert C. Fanning, President Judge of Bradford county, because he removed Alfred C. Head from the position of official stenographer of the courts of that county. Says that the Judge's action was "unmanly and unprovoked." Tut-tut! Just remember the wide ditch between one who wears judicial ermine, and the chap who makes turkey-tracks with a lead pencil.

—A goodly number of our citizens who are interested in a Greater Prosperity Honesdale, met at the court house on Thursday evening, July 2d, to take in to consideration the feasibility and desirability of having an Old Home Coming Week. Many who were interested in the movement were absent owing to other engagements which had been entered into before notice of the public meeting had been announced. Professor Oday was elected chairman and N. J. Spencer, secretary. The chairman briefly stated the object of the meeting and called upon Messrs. A. T. Searle, M. J. Hanlin, Wm. H. Dimmick, and Rev. W. H. Swift to give their views upon the subject matter of the meeting. These gentlemen all responded and in such an enthusiastic manner that that when the question was placed before the meeting it was unanimously agreed to have a Home Coming Week celebration. The question of organization was then discussed and Jno D. Weston was unanimously selected as President-Director and Milton R. Salmon, secretary. The following directors were selected to have charge of details with power to select their helpers: L. J. Dorflinger, Finance; M. J. —Chas. Meyers, of Port Jervis, while passing Jadwin's corner, was struck on the head by a block of wood which dropped from the top of the telephone pole, located at that place. It was very fortunate for Mr. Meyers that his hat was strong enough to deflect the force of the blow, for the weight of the block and the distance it fell was sufficient to have fractured his skull had it not been for the hat. The telephone company gave Mr. Meyer a new hat and he went on his way thankful for his narrow escape.

—The voice of the mowing machine is again busy. The hay crop generally speaking is good.

—Make continual war upon that most dangerous of all pests, the house-fly. When we say "most dangerous" we simply quote the warning of prominent medical experts. Get the fly before he infects your victuals and gets you.

EDITOR OF "THE CITIZEN."

About two weeks ago the Bell Telephone Company instructed the Consolidated Telephone Company to remove its wires, from poles lines on High and East Street, they apparently being under the impression that they owned the pole line in question. The Consolidated Company very promptly informed them that the line in question was the property of the Electric Light Company, and on Thursday of last week a conference was held between the Bell, Consolidated and Electric Light officials, at which time the Electric Light officials informed the Bell people in no uncertain manner that the line in question was the property of the Electric Light Company, and that the Consolidated Company had every right to occupy the same, by agreement with the Electric Light Company.

Notwithstanding this, without a word of warning the Bell Company cut every Consolidated wire in question, on Tuesday morning, thereby disconnecting about fifty telephones, thinking to cripple the Consolidated Company in this district, and the subscribers be forced to go over to the Bell Company, however within 24 hours afterward the Consolidated Telephone Company had reconnected every telephone.

HARRIMAN'S NEW HOME.
The Finest Residence in America To-day.

E. H. Harriman's palatial residence at Arden is fast nearing completion and it is said that he gave orders to have the work done by the time he returned from Europe. The walls and interior are finished and most of the workmen are now engaged on the tennis courts. The interior is described as rich and elegant, but not gorgeous. Much use is made of native woods in lining the walls. Mr. Harriman's son's rooms are finished in cherry. There are separate rooms for all the domestics and the household will be a large one.

The view is described as grand. The wooded mountain tops, billowing one above the other, stretch in every direction. Summer and winter the aspect will be such as to captivate the eye, inspire the imagination, and charm the beholder into the pleasures of living. While the air on the hill-top will be fifteen degrees cooler in summer and warmer in winter than in the valleys, there will be with the seasons a constant change of color to lend enchantment to the vista of scenery.

The lawns being laid out, will parallel those of the regal castles of Europe. It is said that the smoothness, glossiness and beauty of the old world lawns have been wrought by age, some of them being 1,000 years old, leveled by the trend of human feet for centuries. Yet at the Harriman residence, when finished, it is probable there will be found stretches of the softest sward, on made ground over blasted rock, that will rival anything of the kind. The terraced garden in front of the house has been planted with a maze of attractive shrubbery.

Altogether, as the great dwelling approaches completion, the foresight and taste of Mr. Harriman in choosing this site for his home is being more and more appreciated. It excels in cost and beauty anything of which Tuxedo park can boast or in fact any dwelling around Greater New York.

Property values have been enhanced in every direction around, an army of workmen have been employed for two years, and what was formerly barren rock and wild woodland has been converted into an inviting domain fit for the habitation of those of the most aesthetic tastes.
