WANTED—Will buy three shares Dime Bank stock. Mention price, Box 95, Honesdale.

FOR SALE—House and nine acres of land in Prompton. Terms to suit buyer. F. P. Kimble, Honesdale, Pa.

BRAMAN has some splendid native and western horses for sale, all in excellent condition at Allen House barn.

SPECIAL attention given to children at Charlesworth's Studio.

FOR SALE—Ray house, on East Extension street. Large lot with sixty feet front. M. E. Simons.

LOCAL MENTION.

—Rev. A. L. Whitaker will hold services in White Mills on Sunday at 3 p. m.

—Deposit, N. Y., has lost entirely the Outing plant, its chief industry. It followed the bank smash.

—A number of the young ladies of Seelyville will entertain their friends at a dance at Oliver's bungalow on Friday evening.

—Carbondale had a daring robbery, Tuesday. Thieves entered the home of Wm. Dougherty in broad daylight and secured $58.

—On Saturday evening the class of 1905 of the Honesdale High school will hold a reunion at the home of Miss Eva Wilson, on East street.

—Beer took a sudden drop in Port Jervis, Tuesday. Donahue's cold storage building for that beverage "squashed," and dropped a floor load into the basement.

—Services in Grace Episcopal church will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Sunday. During the month of August they will be suspended. Sunday school will be held as usual.

—The Katz Underwear company will entertain their employees and their friends at a dance in the new factory building to-night. Music for dancing will be furnished by Freeman's orchestra.

—"Housekeeping" is the largest single industry in the world, and the fewest people are trained for it," says a writer in the Scranton Tribune. Of course that refers to Scranton. It isn't so in this locality.

—The Midsummer night dance and festival of River Street Improvement Society, which occurred Wednesday evening, at the new building of the Honesdale Footwear Co., was well attended and a most enjoyable affair, in all respects.

—Father Barlaky, of St. Joseph's church, Bethlehem, Pa., recently ousted from his church 31 people who were avowed Socialists. It was an excellent example for all. Let such people return to the land from which they sprang. This country has no need of them.

—William H. Flake, the evangelist who is floating down the Susquehanna river in a houseboat, from Binghamton, has safely reached Columbia. He came near being capsized in last Sunday's storm, but managed to pole his ship ashore, although the hold showed much water. He'll be drowned yet, if he keeps up that cruise.

—The printed account of the reorganization of the National Guard of Pennsylvania and the organization of additional companies was denied Tuesday at the adjutant general's department. If any change is made, it is probable that companies now in existence will be dropped, instead of additional companies being created. This may or may not, interest the State's soldiers here.

Berry Was a Native of Galilee.
Garrett S. Berry, who was murdered by Amos C. Blakeslee, in Scranton, Tuesday night, an account of which appears in another portion of this paper, was a native of Galilee, about 15 miles from Honesdale, and he and his people are well known here. He went to Scranton at the age of 18 years where he has resided ever since. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Berry, still reside in Galilee. He is survived also by four brothers and one sister.

Painful Accident.
Mrs. Elizabeth Blaine, aged about eighty years, met with a painful accident at her home on Delaware street, Monday evening. Mrs. Blaine was taking a chair from one room to another, and in some manner she tripped and fell heavily to the floor, sustaining a severely bruised hip and side. At first it was thought that her hip was dislocated. Dr. Griffin was called and gave the patient medical treatment.

Lost Money Found—A Year Later.
It will be a year next Tuesday, since Mrs. Theodore Herbst of River street, lost a pocket book, while picking berries on the Moosic mountain. On Wednesday of this week Mrs. Herbst and a party of friends again went up the mountain to pick berries. Remembering the best place to gather berries, she went to the same spot where she had picked the year before, and to her surprise found the pocket-book with its contents intact. The purse contained $1.67 and a railroad ticket from Farview to Honesdale.

The Corner-Stone Laying, July 24—Reception Committee.
The following named gentlemen will constitute the committee to receive and welcome His Excellency E. S. Painful Injury.

While working in the brewery on Wednesday morning, Jacob Hartung was run down by a truck loaded with malt. He received a fracture of the knee, and was bruised about the body. He was taken to the home of Burgess John Kubbach.

Wayne County Fair.

The Wayne County Fair Association is making preparation for its Fair which will be held this year. A number of fine attractions have already been secured and many improvements will be made on the grounds. This year's fair promises to surpass all previous ones conducted by the society.

Changed His Base.

John Disch, who has been salesman for the Honesdale Shoe Company for a number of years, has tendered his resignation. Mr. Disch has accepted a position as salesman for the new Honesdale Footwear Company and will leave on a trip in the interest of that concern in a few weeks.

Home Coming Week.

Remember that Honesdale's Home Coming Week begins September 6—Labor Day, and continues four days. Have all your relatives and friends whom you can, visit you during that time, particularly former residents. We are to have a most enjoyable time. Don't let any person or any newspaper make you think otherwise, but take hold with a will, and help the celebration along. The program will be published soon. Watch for it.

Joyful Reunion.

Paul Sardalo has been in this country for several years. He received a telegram from New York, Tuesday, that his wife had arrived there from Italy, and would meet him at Lackawanna at 2:13 Wednesday afternoon. That Paul was overjoyed is putting it mildly. He at once communicated the good news to his brother-in-law, Narazoni Bigaleo, and the next morning, early, they started, on foot for Lackawanna, a distance of twenty-five miles. They arrived in time, and a joyful reunion took place on the depot platform. Boarding the first passenger train they came to Honesdale where they were met by a delegation of countrymen (and women) and escorted to the husband's boarding house. Last evening, a grand reception, proper, took place. It is described as a very jolly justification.

Pennsylvania Northfield at Montrose.
It will doubtless be of interest to preachers of the gospel in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, and the church workers, that a movement has been inaugurated by Dr. Torrey, the famous evangelist, to establish at Montrose, Susquehanna county, a Pennsylvania Northfield.

The town of Montrose has been chosen by Dr. Torrey as a permanent residence for his family and as headquarters, not only for the work of the Conference, but of an Evangelical Society and a publishing company for the dissemination of evangelical and evangelistic literature.

The secretary of the executive committee is George G. Mahy, who for twenty years has been prominent in Y. M. C. A. work in Pennsylvania. For information regarding the conference, he may be addressed at Scranton.

MURDER IN SCRANTON.

Garret S. Berry the Victim—Amos Blakeslee the Jealous Murderer.
At 10:15 o'clock Tuesday night last, Amos C. Blakeslee, who had separated from his wife, burst through a screen window of his wife's home, at 720 Adams avenue, and confronted her and Garret A. Berry, general manager of Schrader Bottling Works. After angry words Blakeslee shot Berry in the right temple which wound caused death a short time afterward.

Blakeslee at once went to police headquarters and gave himself up, confessing the shooting.

Mrs. Blakeslee, whose supposed relations with Berry, had aroused her husband's suspicions, is a woman of forty-eight years, and has several grown-up children, the offspring of a former marriage. Even while her husband was living with her, previous to April 3 last, she rented out several of her rooms to boarders, two of whom were in their upstairs rooms when the shooting occurred, although no one could be found who had heard the shot fired.

Mr. Berry is a man of forty-five years and with his wife and two children lived in the Schrader residence, which is immediately next door to that side of the double block at 718 and 720 Adams avenue where the Blakeslees live. Mrs. Berry and the children are now spending a summer visit at Seneca, N. Y. Berry had worked for the bottler for many years and had risen from a common laborer to a position of confidence and good pay. Physically, he was a handsome man, with over six feet of height and more than two hundred pounds of weight. His features are fresh and well formed and he wore a becoming mustache, brown in color. His reputation is of the best. At one time he boarded with Mrs. Blakeslee and it was his habit to step over every little white to chat with the family.

Black Hand Gang Finally Broken Up.

With the arrest of Tony Tarogross in Passaic, N. J., and his imprisonment in the Lackawanna county jail, where his associate, Tony George, has been for a number of days, a step has been taken to break up a Black Hand gang that county Detective M. A. Rafter says has been operating in Scranton for some time.

Tarogross disappeared from Scranton soon after George was arrested on suspicion of trying to extort money from Joseph Ragons, a Linden street merchant. Although George refused to admit anything, Tarogross made a complete confession soon after his arrest.

Ragons received the first letter from the gang a year ago. It threatened the death of the merchant and his family unless $500 was paid. Instead of paying the money, Ragons turned the letter, together with similar ones that followed, over to Detective Rafter. The trail led to a house in Raymond court, where several young Italians lived. When the one member, George, was arrested, the others fled.

May Interest You.

If you need and remember the following, it will, perhaps be of benefit you when you go to New York, via the Erie:

When the train service of the Hudson tunnels is extended to the Erie station at Jersey City on Aug. 2, the patrons of the Erie will find the arrangements complete for the use of Mr. McAdoo's trains.

The Erie has constructed a subway from the center of the train shed to the Hudson tunnel station. Passengers inbound will find entrances to this subway at each platform, and will descend short flights of steps to the subway proper, which is very commodious in size.

Under cover and guided by electric lights the passenger walks a short distance to the tunnel station and can either take a train to the Church street terminal or uptown to Twenty-third street.

The outbound passenger, emerging from the train at the Erie station, uses the same subway in the opposite direction. At the entrance to the stairways he will find train indicators.

These devices are ingeniously arranged so that every train and every station may be shown by simply turning a crank.

The divisions will be shown by colored lights and signs; white for the main line, blue for the Northern Railroad of New Jersey, yellow for the New Jersey and New York, pink for the Greenwood Lake and Newark branch, and green for the New York, Susquehanna and Western when its trains use the Erie terminal.

A passenger for a main line station will see a white light on the top of the indicator, next the time of departure, then the indication as to whether express or local, and below will be shown the names of each station at which the trains will stop.

Bulletin boards will be conveniently placed, where special announcements may be made, following the policy of the company in keeping patrons informed as to track conditions, similar to the method now in vogue, whereby if a division is blocked by a wreck or other trouble, the statement is placed on the bulletin board at the ferry slips.

Broadcloth.

Broadcloth was first so called because it took two weavers side by side to fling the shuttle across it.

Chinese Ink.

Chinese ink is made by carbonizing a mixture of colza or sesame oil, varnish and lard and mixing the product with gum water and a little camphor and musk. The ink is pressed into molds to dry.

Cannon.

The first cannon to be cast in one piece was made by an English ironmaster in 1543.

A Historic Reef.

The Reef of Norman's Woe, made known to every schoolboy through Longfellow's "Wreck of the Hesperus," is but a short distance offshore from Rafe's chasm, near Gloucester, on the north shore of Massachusetts.

Babylon.

Babylon was probably the first city in the world with a population of 1,000,000.

Red Meats.

"Red" meats are less liable to contamination than fish or chicken. The latter should not be eaten if there is the least suspicion of odor about them. Beef slightly tainted, though disagreeable, will not produce ptomaine poisoning.

The Largest Pearl.

The largest pearl known is two inches long and four round and is said to be worth $250,000.

Blood Heat.

Blood heat, the normal temperature of the human body, is about 98½ degrees F. This is known as blood heat and is maintained within one or two degrees, whether in the arctic or the tropical regions. Any deviation from the average is injurious and if it be great or long continued is likely to prove fatal.

Peat Alcohol.

Alcohol is obtained from peat by treating the fiber with sulphuric acid and fermenting with a special yeast. A ton of dry peat yields forty-three gallons of pure spirit at one-fourth of the cost of potato alcohol.

NEARBY NEWS.

Fire Monday morning destroyed the grist mill of J. T. Myhart, at Peckville.

Mrs. Tony Lutz of 420 10th Avenue, Scranton, was found dead in her bed Tuesday morning, from near fallure.

Charles Lewis and John Hall, blacksmiths, of Scranton, while repairing a sheave wheel at Storr's No. 3 shaft, Tuesday night were, by the sudden jolting of the carriage, by which they were being hoisted, thrown 650 feet, to the bottom of the shaft. The bodies were horribly mangled.

The first passenger train through the down-town tunnels under the Hudson river of the McAdoo system between the Church street, New York, terminal buildings and the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Jersey City, started from the New York side Monday forenoon at 10:25, and made the trip in two minutes and 40 seconds.

Martin Leskowski, a sentenced murderer, escaped from the Carbon county jail at Mauch Chunk, early Monday morning, by sawing the prison bars. It is thought he had help from the outside and is being concealed by friends in that vicinity.

Two prowlers attacked Mrs. Campbell, of the 700 block, Wyoming avenue, on Olive street, Sunday night at 11 o'clock between Penn and Wyoming avenues and after throwing her to the ground snatched her purse and made off. The case has been reported to the police.

Four men alternating in pairs as a death-watch are assigned to the cell of Nicholas De Mazio in the Lackawanna county jail by Sheriff P. F. Calpin. De Mazio is doomed to be hanged on July 29 for the slaying of his wife in Old Forge July 7, 1908. The execution is expected to come off as scheduled.

At Punxsatowney, Sunday, the State constabulary charged upon a crowd of several thousand people at a strikers' mass meeting. A deputy fired his revolver, whereupon a striker fired at Detective Ellis and then at a trooper. A bullet struck another striker in the hip. The shooter was arrested.

The miners of District No. 1 opened annual convention on Tuesday at Wilkes-Barre.

At Pittston Sunday morning last, Morrello Rosario, at a dance, shot Chas. Scott in the head, seriously wounding him. The shooter then ran, was pursued by the crowd and being cornered shot himself in the head. Death was instantaneous.

A foreigner, whose name is not known, was struck and killed by a train, at Clark's Summit, on the D. L. & W. road last Sunday.

Peter Sudor, of Edwysville, was killed by a Lackawanna trolley car, Sunday. This victim was five years old.

Coming to Honesdale Aug. 16. Edward Connolly, a member of the Junger Mannerchor, Scranton, was a caller in town on Tuesday. The society has decided on Monday, Aug. 16th, and will run their excursion from Scranton to Honesdale.

A committee of arrangements will visit this place in a few days. The society expects to bring about two thousand people to Honesdale that day. The societies from Wilkes-Barre have been invited and a big time is assured.
