—The Wayne County Teachers' Association will be held at Lake Como October 1st and 2nd.

—Beware of pickpockets in town next week. Such times as these they are very likely to be around.

—Joseph Schlosser met with an accident on Wednesday, where by he broke a bone of his right hand.

—Freeman's orchestra will conduct a social at the Lyric hall on Friday evening.

—The strong Father Whelan team of Scranton will be the local opponents at Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon.

—The regular meeting of the Honesdale Home company has been postponed from Thursday night until Thursday, Sept. 16.

—The Exchange Club will entertain the members of the Wayne County Pennsylvania society at their room Monday evening.

—A meeting of the Wayne County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company was held Wednesday. A levy of six per cent. was made upon the policies in force during last year. All losses were settled.

—The High School base ball team went to Siko on Wednesday and defeated the team of that place by the score of 18 to 4. Dorringer of White Mills was in the box for the locals.

—A big up-to-date merry-go-round is being installed near the D. & H. depot and the music of its loud sounding Hurdy Gurdy will help swell the music of Old Home Week.

—The following is the list of unclaimed letters remaining at the postoffice for the week ending Aug. 30: Mrs. Susie P. Blake, M. B. Bogardes, Miss Louisa Huber, Mrs. Mary Stage.

—The town council held a special meeting on Tuesday evening, Aug. 31, in the town hall and arranged for an appropriate decoration of the municipal building during Home Coming Week.

—Old Home Week visitors will be cordially welcomed next Sunday at Grace Episcopal church, both the morning service (10:30 a. m.) and the evening service (7:30). Sunday school will be held at 12 M.

—The vacancy in the Judgeship, caused by Judge Purdy's death, will be filled by appointment, made by the Governor. The appointee will serve until a successor is elected at the election to be held in 1910.

—Rev. W. F. Hopp preached his farewell sermon on Sunday, the morning in German and the evening in English. Rev. Hopp leaves shortly for South Bethlehem where he will prepare to become an Episcopalian Rector.

—The town council should forbid the throwing of talcum powder during Old Home Week. This is a custom that prevails on occasions of this kind and should be suppressed.

—As we go to press Honesdale presents a gala day appearance, all the notable buildings being handsomely decorated and on Home Coming Week will assume an attractiveness that will be worth seeing.

MRS. F. B. PENNIMAN DEAD.

Mrs. Jane Broadwell Penniman, widow of Francis B. Penniman, who was for many years a leading citizen of our borough, died at the family home on Church street on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 31, 1909. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ara Broadwell, and was born in Utica, N. Y., May 27, 1819. In years, she thus reached within less than nine months of the centenary point. She was married at Utica, May 11, 1835, to Francis B. Penniman, a native of that city, but then engaged in the printing business at Cleveland, Ohio. For ten years following, they lived in Cleveland, and in Binghamton, N. Y., and in May, 1845, they removed to Honesdale, where, in September, 1844, Mr. Penniman had established the "Honesdale Democrat." Since that time—a period of more than sixty-four years—she has been a resident of our borough. Her husband died July 10, 1889. She is survived by two children, E. A. Penniman and Mrs. Mary, wife of W. K. Dimock, both residents of Honesdale; and three grandchildren—Miss Edna P. Dimock, of Honesdale, her brother, Francis A. Dimock, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Wm. B. Penniman, of Enid, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Penniman was for many years a member of the Presbyterian Church. Her life and character—her daily walk and conversation—bore sincere though unassuming testimony to the reality of her faith, and won for her the esteem of a wide circle of friends, while as a wife and mother she reached the highest success—that of making a happy home. About fifteen years ago her left hip was broken by a fall, and this left her partially crippled during the remainder of her life. She bore the affliction with rare patience and cheerfulness, and it had comparatively slight effect on her usual habit of untiring industry. Her mind remained alert and unclouded until the last.

The funeral was held yesterday (Thursday) afternoon, the interment being in Glen Dyberry. Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Swift, of the Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman, and the pallbearers were H. J. Conger, T. J. Ham, H. Wilson, H. C. Ensign, J. E. Richmond, and Wm. B. Holmes.

Rainfall at Dyberry in August.

1909, six days, and trace four days. 2.92 inches; 1908, six days, and trace three days. 2.95 inches; 1907, least recorded, 0.59 inches; 1885, most recorded, 8.77 inches; average, 28 years, 2.46 inches. Sixteen days were clear, eleven fair and four cloudy; average 66 per cent. of sunshine; six per cent. less than last year. Prevailing wind northwest.

Temperature, August, 1909—Highest, 84, 94 degrees; lowest, 49, 1908; highest August record, 96 degrees; lowest, 31st, 34 degrees; lowest, 21st, 1908, 23 degrees; lowest recorded, 22d, 1895, 32 degrees; greatest daily range, 28th, 45 degrees; least daily range, 17th, 5 degrees; average daily range, 29.2 degrees; warmest day, 25th, mean, 74.5 degrees; coldest day, 51st, mean, 52.5 degrees; mean for month, 63.4 degrees; mean for month, 1908, 64.5 degrees; warmest, August, 1878, mean, 71.7 degrees; coldest, August, 1866, mean, 59.2 degrees; average 43 years, 65.2 degrees.

This makes our third dry season, with many springs and streams dry, and crops on nearly all dry lands light and poor. This year apples in many orchards are very small, irregular, wormy and poor; early fruit on many trees not worth gathering. Plain, white frost this morning near my station, and six other mornings nearly cold enough for frost. Fifteen days maximum register 80 to 94 degrees.

THEODORE DAY.

Dyberry, Pa., Aug. 31, 1909.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Samuel Clark died at her home in Hingham, Mass., on Tuesday. Deceased was 83 years of age and has been an invalid for some time. She is survived by two daughters, Mamie and Hattie, at home, and three sons—Charles, of John Island, N. C.; Richard, of Cleveland, and Thomas B., of this place. The funeral will be held Friday with interment at Meridan, Conn.

Found Asleep in Haymow.

Lizzie Aug, aged eight years, who resides with her grandmother at White Mills, this county, was tucked in bed one evening recently. In the morning she was missing. Neighbors searched for the child for 24 hours. Then she was found asleep in the haymow of a neighbor. The child said she had left the house in the middle of the night.

A NEW ANTISEPTIC PAINT.

Consul Thomas H. Norton, writing from Chemnitz, says that in the warfare which is being waged so persistently against tuberculosis in Germany, increased attention is being devoted to paints and washes which may be applied to walls, etc., and which possess in a greater or lesser degree the power of destroying germ life. He gives the following example:

In a recent number of the publications of the German health office, a report appears with very full details regarding the tests applied to the new pigment called vitralin, a highly lustrous paint which can be applied to surfaces with the same ease as ordinary paints, with a basis of white lead, or zinc white. Its chief value is for disinfecting, and it is prepared and sold more specifically for use in rooms, etc., where it is desired to combat pathogenic germs. In this respect it seems to be far in advance of all of the ordinary substances applied to walls, containing lime or lead compounds. The importance of such an agent, in connection with modern sanitary appliances for destroying the microbes of disease, led the health office to make somewhat exhaustive tests of the germicidal properties of vitralin under varying conditions. The results may be briefly summarized as follows:

When in contact with a vitralin coating, the bacilli of tuberculosis (as found in saliva) are completely destroyed in 3 days. Diphtheria bacilli require 5 hours, typhoid bacilli 8 hours, and those of pus (staphylococci and streptococci) from 6 to 12 hours. On the contrary, no lethal effect could be observed upon the spores of anthrax, even when the contact lasted 20 days, although a distinctly retarding influence upon the development of the spores was noticed. Control experiments carried on simultaneously with surfaces covered with ordinary oil colors, whitewash, etc., showed either no germicidal power or a much less degree of efficacy.

Direct sunlight renders the lethal action much more rapid than when it is carried on in diffused daylight. The material upon which the coating is applied exercises no appreciable effect. The same results were secured when the pigment was spread over glass, porcelain, brick, and wood. The disinfectant property remains for a considerable time in the coating of paint, although after the lapse of a year it was found to be distinctly weaker—i. e., a longer time was required to bring about complete destruction of bacteria.

The investigator came to the conclusion that the specific disinfectant property of vitralin results from the oxidation of the linseed oil which forms an important constituent of this paint, as of most paints. Further, this oxidation is dependent upon the presence of a certain degree of moisture, and, naturally, of oxygen; and warmth as well as light is an important factor in favoring the formation of the active germicidal agent. This property of vitralin is likewise unaffected by prolonged exposure to powerful antiseptic agents, such as corrosive sublimate, formalin, potassium-sulphuric acid, etc.

The conclusion of the officers of the Imperial Health Office is that vitralin furnishes a highly valuable addition to the weapons employed in combating bacterial disease, and that it can be most advantageously employed in all rooms, etc., where germ life is liberated, consumptives' sanatoria, wards for infectious diseases, and the like.

Attention is called to the fact that the presence of such a wall coating as vitralin does not necessarily supersede the use of the customary disinfection methods now legally obligatory. There is, however, a distinct advantage in having a continuous destruction of disease germs maintained, whenever they come in contact with the walls of an apartment during its temporary occupancy by a person affected by an infectious disease.

MUST FILE SLOT MACHINES.

Treasury Refuses to Alter the 30,000,000 Lincoln Cents.

Owners of the 50,000 penny-in-the-slot machines throughout the United States, who complain that the Lincoln cents are slightly too thick for the slots, have received word from the treasury department that the free use of a file is their only relief from the trouble.

It is deemed a Herculean task by treasury officials to bring the 30,000,000 pennies so far coined down to slot machine size and they point out that filing down either side of the slots will be far easier. The rim of the penny is too thick for the average slot by one two-hundredths of an inch.
