LOCAL MENTION.

—Subject of sermon in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening will be "A Word to Young Married People."

—Our genial friend, Levi Patterson's horse, Baron O., finished second in the 2:20 pace, and 2:17 trotting event at the Oneonta Fair.

—The building on Main and High street, part of the Roe estate, has been bought by W. A. Gaylord; consideration, $5,000.

—Go down to the stable before bedtime and see that everything is all right with the horses. You may save a good horse by so doing.

—Wayne county will be represented at the Monroe county fair by horses owned by Henry Theobald, Fred Crockenberg and M. E. Galvin.

—You will be sorry if you do not attend the Wayne County Fair next week. It will be better than ever before and a terribly large crowd is expected.

—The list of entries for the races at the county fair is made up of a number of horsemen whose entries are a guarantee of some excellent contests.

—The 12th annual ball of the Alert Hook and Ladder company will be held at their hall on Tuesday evening, October 12th. A supper will be served by the ladies. Go and have a good time.

—The Presbyterian Sunday school had their "Rally Day" last Sunday. There was a good attendance, well arranged exercises, big collection and a very instructive address by William B. Holmes.

—Don't forget the Wayne County Sunday School Convention at Bethany on Friday. There will be sessions at 10:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Free conveyances will leave Union station at 8:45 and 10 a. m., 1:15 and 6:45 p. m.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Torrey, Jr., have as their guests at Kirkland Lodge, Clinton, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Torrey, of Honesdale, Pa., John H. Torrey, of New York city, and Mrs. M. H. Torrey and daughter Jeannette, of Brooklyn.

—A Texas editor refuses to publish obituary notices of people who, while living, failed to subscribe for his paper, and gives this pointed reason: "People who do not take their home paper are dead anyway, and their passing away has no news value."

Chas. Thompson has gone back to Yale college to finish his studies.

—Katz Bros. Millinery opening will start Thursday, Sept. 30th.

—Kimble and McCarty, Esquires, are arguing in Monroe county court at Stroudsburg this week.

—If you do not see the list of special premiums for the Poultry and Pigeon exhibit in this issue of The Citizen, look for it in the next issue.

—John Loercher, Lawrence Weinger, Christopher Lowe, A. M. Leine and Edward Dietzer have installed a combination gasoline plant to light the front of their stores.

—Orders were issued by Col. Stillwell of the 13th Regiment, for all companies to begin drilling on Oct. 1st. Our company having no armory will have to disobey orders.

—Tom Clark's skill as a farmer is running neck and neck with his reputation as a manufacturer of cut glass. He has a record of 168 bushels of oats out of 11 bushels sowed. This equals a mile in 2.02 1/2.

—The following United States Jurors were drawn from this county to serve at Scranton, the week of Oct. 13, 1909: Grand Jury—O. E. Bunnell, Honesdale; E. D. Penwarden, Carley Brook; S. H. Rhoades, Gouldsboro; E. A. Wright, Pleasant Mount. Petit Jurors—Thomas Moore, Prompton.

—The Katz Underwear Co. are getting a lot of good advertising through the Valley and elsewhere. It is due to the fact that they are advertising for help which they must have owing to the rapid expansion of their business. Honesdale underwear and footwear are big factors in the business world.

—The fire gong sounded at a few minutes after 12 o'clock on Monday and the fire apparatus was gotten ready for the job at once, but there was no job for them to do. There was some smoke at Gibb's garage, but only smoke. Later report says that Albert Kimble's house on the hill caught fire and was burned to the ground.

—Every time Brother Haines gives us a report from his weather prophet, "Hicks," it acts the same as a "red flag to a bull" on the religious editor of the Herald and he throws his verbal darts into the report. We think Brother Haines does this to irritate the bull, as he hasn't any more faith in dope of this kind than the rest of humanity.

—Milton W. Lowry is the unanimous choice for president of the Pennsylvania League of Republican clubs. It is an honor worthily bestowed as Mr. Lowry has long been an ardent worker in the Republican clubs and very active in promoting their interests. This is the second time that this league has been headed by a resident of Scranton.

—We have a pedestrian club composed of a lot of husky young fellows who hoof the roads of Wayne county weekly and get more recreation thereby than they would sitting in the club room or on their front porch. Sunday afternoon they reeled off about 17 miles and were richer in health and strength for so doing. Searle, Richards, Butler, Heft and Frailey did this stunt last week.

—Dame Rumor was on a rampage last week and had a number of our prominent citizens married. As the parties were all eligible, our reporter spent some time trying to get at the facts but concluded that the suggestive influence of the highly illuminated posters of "Maloney's Wedding Day," which adorned the bill boards around town, was the cause of the rumor, and consequently Manager Dittrich refused to allow the troupe to play at the Lyric on the evening advertised.

—The Deputy State Highway Commissioner places the blame of giving Dyberry township the preference in state roads over Texas township, on the County Commissioners, and a letter to this effect was written to C. A. McCarty, Esq., attorney for Texas township. As Texas township had made their application a year ahead of Dyberry it looks as if the commissioners have been badly advised as they have always shown disposition to give everyone a square deal.

—A bulletin was issued by the Erie management recently, calling attention to the care with which that road has handled its passenger traffic in the last five years. In that period over 125,000,000 passengers were carried, 3,750,000,000 passenger miles without a single fatality. Trains carrying these passengers ran 50,000,000 train miles in order to accomplish the feat. It is very doubtful if this record in regard to safe carriage of passengers on railroads has been surpassed anywhere in this country.

—J. C. Birdsell, of Honesdale, one of the proprietors of the Seelyville Wollen mills, was in town for a short time on Monday calling on old friends. The judge has been one of the leading business men of Wayne county for a generation and it is safe to say that there are none better known in the county. He and his brother have taken the wool that has grown on the sheep that have fed on Wayne county's thousand hills since the time of our grandfathers and has made the product into blankets that are renowned for their excellence. Don't infer from this that Mr. Birdsell is an old man. Not by any means. He looks as straight, energetic and virile to-day as he did a score of years ago. Mr. Birdsell was on his way to Albany. —Forest City News.

—The "Woman Pays" is one of the best plays ever presented at the Lyric.

—Levi Patterson's "Town Directory" was first under the wire on Wednesday at the Oneonta Fair, and captured the $400 stakes.

—The bomb which was found near the platform where Presidents Taft and Diaz were to meet was a harmless thing.

—A marriage license has been granted to Tracey E. Webster, of Sherman, and Louise C. Duske, of Rowlands.

—The Honesdale football team went to Port Jervis on Saturday and defeated the team of that place by a score of 11 to 0.

—The canard about being fined for issuing checks less than $1.00 has been exploded. It was a misinterpretation of a law passed during the Civil War.

—A good place to spend this (Tuesday) evening is at the convention of Christian Endeavor societies at the Presbyterian chapel. Good singing, excellent addresses and no collection.

—Mrs. Mary Brown has sold her property on South Church street to William Keltz, foreman of McKenna Bros cut glass factory. Mr. Keltz will take possession about October 1st. Mrs. Brown and family will remove to Scranton the early part of next month.

—There are several cases of diphtheria in Honesdale. The following young people are confined to their homes with the disease: Ernest Lemnitz, Harriet Wilder and Evelyn Seitz. The children are all members of the same class in the Honesdale school.

—Aurora Borealis or Halley's comet is held responsible for all funny business that took place on the telegraph and telephone wires on Saturday. Everything in the wire line was demoralized and business was at a standstill as the wires refused to be controlled by the operators.

—The Ladies' Improvement Society and their friends were entertained by Mrs. W. F. Suydam, Sr., at her residence Saturday afternoon. Over fifty were present and with Bridge, Whist, Five Hundred and the refreshment had an enjoyable time. Prizes were awarded, they being donated by our enterprising merchants and manufacturers. Proceeds, amounting to $40.00 for the benefit of the Improvement Society, was realized.

—The Wayne County Christian Endeavor Society held their convention on Tuesday, Sept. 28th, at the Presbyterian Chapel. The morning session was called to order by the President, F. D. Waltz, of Newfoundland. After the opening exercises the regular routine of business was transacted after which there was an excellent address by the Rev. Mr. Wendell of the First Baptist Church of Honesdale. The afternoon session is in progress as we go to press, and we shall publish an account of the proceedings in our next issue.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chubb, one of the city's most estimable women, died at her home, No. 12 Oak avenue, Carbondale, at 4:15 o'clock last Friday afternoon, following a long illness.

Mrs. Chubb was born in Canaan, Wayne county, fifty-four years ago. Her maiden name was Emily Margaret Wagner. She had resided in Carbondale for 11 years, during which time she won the warm regard of all with whom she came in contact. Mrs. Chubb was a devout member of the First Methodist Episcopal church and was ever attentive to her religious duties.

She is survived by her husband; four sons, Boyd of Oneonta; Adelbert, Charles and Frank; two daughters, Mrs. Rose Shaffer and Mrs. Maud Stephens; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Shaffer and Mrs. Elizabeth Benjamin and two brothers, William and Wheeler Wagner.

Born February 16th, 1899. J. Foster Ward, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ward; entered into rest, Sept. 24, 1909. Between these two dates was lived a life that, though brief, made its impression, not only where those who knew him well, but those who incidentally met him. Bright, intelligent, manly, with a love for everything that appeals to the boy nature, trustworthy beyond his years, active, strong, even athletic, his sudden going away shocked all who knew him. For a week he was not well. On Friday morning last it was found necessary to remove him to Dr. Burns' Hospital in Scranton, where he was operated upon for appendicitis. He rallied from the operation, but his heart was too weak to stand the strain, and at 8:30 p. m. he gently fell asleep. Earthly hopes that centered about the life of this brave boy are shattered, but the hopes that center in the immortal life will sometime be gloriously realized. The profound sympathy of the entire community goes out to the home out of which so much of light has gone. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by his pastor, Rev. Dr. Swift, and all that was mortal of Foster laid away in the beautiful Glen Dyberry cemetery.

"There is no death, the stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown,
They shine forevermore."

"Brewster's Millions."

One of the most interesting attractions of the season will be "Brewster's Millions," which will be seen here at the Lyric on Monday evening, Oct. 4th. The play is a dramatic version of Winchell Smith and Byron Ongley by George Barr McCutcheon's famous and successful novel. Frederic Thompson's original company, headed by Robert Ober in the stellar character, and the splendid organization that appeared during the long runs of the play in New York and Chicago, will be seen here. The production of "Brewster's Millions" ranks among the foremost stage effects of recent years. Frederic Thompson is proprietor and manager and in his latest efforts in stage effects he has outdone his marvelous work in the staging of the wonderful spectacles in the New York Hippodrome. There are thirty speaking parts in the play which not only require capable actors, but also tremendous scenic, mechanical and electrical outfit which has been furnished in the proverbial Thompsonian manner. Some of the effects are remarkable—notably that in the third act depicting a storm at sea, which is so perfect an illusion that the audience is swayed as if it were actually on ship board. This illusion is produced by a combination of mechanical and electrical effects all of which owe their origin to the genius of Frederic Thompson and on which he holds ten distinct patents. The engagement of "Brewster's Millions" here should duplicate the enormous success that has attended its phenomenal runs in the large cities of the country.
