A fine specimen of what can be grown from a peach pit planted about ten years ago appears in the window of the Economy. It is a small branch supporting two of the finest peaches of the yellow Crawford variety, which were grown about one hundred feet from where they are exhibited.

The attraction at the Lyric for all next week will be Mr. Eugene Weber and the Weber Stock company, in a repertoire of high class comedies and dramas, presented in a superb manner, at popular prices, ten, twenty, and thirty cents. A complete change of bill will be given nightly. There will also be daily matinees, starting Tuesday; prices ten and twenty cents. On Monday night Mr. Weber will appear in Walker Whiteside's great comedy success, "We Are King," in which he makes some remarkable quick changes of costume. In the first act Mr. Weber makes four distinct changes, the last being accomplished in nine seconds. This is very mystifying to the public.

WAYNE COUNTY'S 47th ANNUAL FAIR

OVER 7,000 PEOPLE IN ATTENDANCE ON WEDNESDAY.

The Wayne County Agricultural Society held their annual fair on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week. On Monday there was a good attendance, it being the opening day and exhibitors was busy getting ready their exhibits. Tuesday was Children's Day—all school children being admitted free and the number present was exceedingly large; the young people were in evidence everywhere, and to say that they had the "time of their life" was putting it mildly. The exhibits were far ahead of any previous meeting, both in number and quality. We expect in our next issue to give a detailed account of the exhibits. The cattle portion of the fair was excellent. The pigeon and poultry display was the greatest ever held here, but lack of room and accommodations prevented this portion of the fair being more attractive and better appreciated. Gas engines and farm machinery of all description were well represented. The hardware men of Honesdale had exhibits that attracted attention. Spettigue had a guessing contest for a Lehigh range in progress. The lucky one guessing the number of shingle nails in a sealed bottle is to get the range. The midway of amusements was filled with the usual class of entertainers, and they all seemed to be making money. The races which we print below were exciting, well contested and kept the spectators interested up to the last heat in the last race. Everybody was good-natured; no disturbance or disorder and the society is to be congratulated on the successful carrying out of their program.

The 2:18 race on Tuesday afternoon was a good one but the other horses in the 2:40 race were outclassed by Billy, owned by H. H. Wilson of Williamsport, who took three straight heats in 2:24 1/2, 2:22 1/2, and 2:21 1/2. There were four other horses in the race as follows: Sylvia Burgie, entered by Henry Theobald of Honesdale; Alice Reilly, Martin Galvin, Honesdale; Eclipse, J. K. Hornbeck, of Equinunk; Winnie Lou, L. A. Patterson, Carbondale. Results as follows:

Billy, r. g. 1 1 1
Eclipse, ch. s. 2 3 2
Winnie Lou, b. n. 4 2 3
Sylvia Burgie, s. m. 3 dis
Alice Reilly, s. m. 5 dis.

The 2:18 was a warm contest that went five heats. Lizzie R. broke repeatedly on the first half mile and was distanced. She was allowed to work behind the others in the other heats and kept well up to the bunch. Billy Wilton was entered by John Congdon, of Smyrna, N. Y.; Baron O., by Levi Patterson, Carbondale, Ricand by D. G. Underwood of Deposit; Lizzie R. by E. Schoonmaker, of Hurleyville, N. Y. Results:

Billy Wilton, b. g. 1 1 2 3 3
Baron O., br. g. 2 3 1 1 1
Ricand, br. g. 3 2 3 2 2
Lizzie R., gr. m. 4 dis.
Time: 2:18 1/2, 2:18 1/2, 2:20 1/2, 2:23 1/2, 2:22.

On Wednesday the 2:23 race went four heats, Henry Theobald's Sylvia Burgie showed up well in the second heat, but on turning to score in the third the sulky was overturned, and both horse and driver got a fall. Sylvia in another sulky started well but broke on the lower turn and ran clear to the upper turn before being brought under control, and was distanced. The other horses were Eclipse, entered by J. K. Hornbeck, Equinunk; Winnie Lou, L. A. Patterson, Carbondale; Lyndon, R. W. Gardner, Lock Sheldrake, N. Y.; Lady Huff, N. C. Goff, Mongaup Valley, N. Y. Results:

Eclipse, ch. s. 3 1 1 1
Winnie Lou, b. m. 1 3 2 2
Lady Huff, b. m. 4 4 3 3
Sylvia Burgie, s. m. 5 2 dis
Lyndon, s. g. 2 dis.
Time: 2:22 1/2, 2:24 1/2, 2:22 1/2, 2:27 1/2.

For the 2:15 race L. A. Patterson, Carbondale, entered Town Directly, John Condon, Syracuse, N. Y., Mocking Girl; A. H. Turner, Scranton, Edna Ross. Results: Town Directly, big. g. 1 1 1 1 1
Mocking Girl, b. m. 2 2 2 2 2
Edna Ross, b. m. 3 3 3 3 3
Time: 2:18 1/2, 2:19 1/2, 2:20 1/2.

Norman Bodie rode his Indian motorcycle, an exhibition mile, in 1:39. The quarter was made in 35 seconds; the half in 49.

J. P. McMahon, of Susquehanna, performed the undesirable part of starter, and he gave the best of satisfaction. He is fair, and does not give the drivers much scoring. They appear to know that if they do not get where they belong, the bunch will go anyway.

First Baptist Church. Regular services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Rally Day exercises at the Bible school at 11:45. Parents of the scholars and friends of the school are cordially invited to attend.

The sermon subjects will be as follows: Morning, "The Rock and The Church"; evening, "Abounding Sin." The pastor will conduct services and preach at the Berlin Baptist church in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Reuben Kimble Dead

(Contributed).

In the early morning of September 29, 1909, Mr. Reuben Kimble passed from his earthly tenement at his home in Clark's Summit to the place prepared for him from the foundation of the world, eternal in the heavens. For the past five years he has been a great sufferer. He was a son of Levi and Polly Kimble and was one of a family of fifteen children. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss. Lee and Corena, both at home. His funeral obsequies were attended in his own loved church on Sunday forenoon at 11 o'clock, and a fine, comforting discourse was given by his pastor, Rev. Mackeller. The text selected was from Philippians 1st chapter, 21st verse: "For to me to live is Christ and to die is gain." He was a member of the Methodist church and filled his place faithfully at every service when it was possible for him to be present. Besides his wife and two children he is survived by four sisters and three brothers, as follows: Washington Kimble of Stroudsburg; Harmon of Minisink; Levi of Hawley; Mrs. T. Utt, of Dunmore; Mrs. James Swan of Uawick; Mrs. William Altemeter of Arlington, and Mrs. Emmitt Decker of Sparrowbush. He was born February 8, 1857. A large concourse of friends were in attendance to pay the last tribute of respect.

The father's voice that was once heard is stilled; God has called him home to meet his loved ones gone before; we shall greet him ere long where flowers immortal bloom." Interment was made in Clark's Green cemetery.

Council of Ordination.

A council of the Wayne Baptist Association, composed of twenty-seven messengers, convened at the South Clinton Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to consider the advisability of ordaining to the work of the gospel ministry, Mr. Harry J. Baker, pastor-elect of the church. Rev. R. D. Minch was chosen moderator of the council, and Mr. W. H. Hall was elected clerk. Mr. Baker gave a very clear statement of his christian experience, his call to the work of the ministry, and his views of Bible doctrine. After a very thorough examination upon these three points, the council unanimously voted to recommend his ordination and the church arranged for the following order of exercises to be carried out in the evening: Ordination sermon, by Rev. P. H. Lynch, of Carbondale; Prayer of Ordination, Rev. James Rainey, of Aldenville; Hand of Fellowship to be extended by the father of the candidate, Rev. Thomas Baker; charge to the candidate, Rev. R. D. Minch, of Honesdale; charge to the church, Deacon E. K. Curtis, of Aldenville.

Something Money Cannot Buy.

Almost any woman would be ready to cry her eyes out with sheer envy if she could see Mabelle Gilman Corey's gowns, jewels and the thousands of luxuries with which her husband, the steel king, has surrounded her. Even the most serious-minded of women, those who usually are not carried away by the follies and extravagancies of the rich, would feel their hearts beat quicker if they could wander at will through the great French palace where the former actress now lives and see how her husband's wealth has poured out the sack of the whole world at her feet. She has money untold; she emulates royalty in the magnificence of her surroundings; an army of servants wait on her. There is not a single wish that money can gratify that she need let pass unsatisfied.

Yet Mabelle Gilman Corey is unhappy. She has been unable to buy social recognition. The people she wants to know do not call.

Mrs. Corey's years of life on the stage have made applause as the breath of life in her nostrils, and she misses it now. Surrounded by every magnificence, she finds the days dull and heavy. She is now sure that the future holds no promise of a change.

In Paris usually the easiest city in the world for money to buy enjoyment and for the people who have wealth to obtain social recognition, she is surrounded by a swarm of parasites. True, these leeches bear resounding names and titles. They talk fluently and intimately of royalties and nobilities, but they have no standing whatever except among the army of boulevardiers who live by their wits.

The facile flattery of such as these has palled at last on Mabelle Gilman Corey. Only a fortnight ago in Paris she confessed all this to an American woman who just has returned to New York. To this woman, an old friend, Mrs. Corey poured out her tale of disappointment. She had to tell some one, and she craved sympathy. She told how it was long before she fully and finally understood that her social ambitions never could be realized. At first she thought that there might be a little difficulty in getting an entrance into society, but that the Corey millions would be the magic key to all that she desired. She told of her disappointment and her despair.

"I can't stand this life much longer," she said. "I am going back to the stage. That is the place for me, after all. I love it and I have never ceased to love it. I ought never to have left it. I care for it more than ever now. It is the one thing that seems worth while."

A Big Help to the South.

If the announcement that a perfect cotton picking machine has been invented proves true, one of the most enormous strides of a century in an industrial way has taken place. The average annual production of cotton is valued in its finished state at a little over three billions of dollars. The picking is done by hand, and almost exclusively by negroes. They are slow and their methods wasteful. When a crop is raised, it is a matter of grave importance to the planter to get it successfully gathered and baled.

The world's cotton market is growing, and already demands a larger supply than the South is able to produce. The importance, therefore, of an invention that would rid the planter of dependence upon the negro at harvest time is apparent. But the picking of cotton is a kind of labor that does not adapt itself readily to machine work. The crop does not ripen all at once, but gradually, and therefore two or three pickings have to be made. To invent a machine that will gather the bolls that have ripened and leave untouched the green ones is a difficult task. Nearly five hundred patents on devices of that nature have been taken out, but cotton is still picked by hand. This latest invention, which is heralded as a success, may be equally disappointing, but a demonstration of its capacity is sure to interest all who are interested in cotton, and that means everybody.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Gardner will celebrate on October 15th the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. This is an occasion that few people have the privilege of celebrating—death, divorce, or separation intervenes in 98 cases out of every hundred, but Mr. and Mrs. Gardner have lived happily for fifty years, have brought up an interesting family and to-day enjoying most excellent health, bid fair to celebrate a great many more anniversaries, and if the well wishes of the many people who know them have any bearing on this prediction they will surely live to enjoy them. Mr. Gardner (or as we all call him Ben. Gardner) has plotted almost everybody who lives here in and out of the borough over the Erie Railroad for years, and while he held the throttle as engineer no one can say but what he brought them home safely.

FATAL ACCIDENTS IN STATE.

Figures Are Made Public for the Year of 1908.

While there was a marked falling off in the number of fatal accidents in the industrial establishments of Pennsylvania during 1908, as compared with 1907, the non-fatal accidents more than doubled, according to the annual report of Chief John H. Rockley of the bureau of industrial statistics, which was sent to the printer last week.

The total number of deaths for 1908 was 1,348, as compared with 1,422 the preceding year; but, on the other hand, the non-fatal accidents increased from 6,145 in 1907 to 12,610 in 1908.

"There is some consolation in the fact that many of the accidents were of minor consequence, and that the death list has been diminished," says the report, "but the need for more persistent care and caution on the part of both employer and employe is so apparent that it is useless to repeat the warning here.

"Many safeguards have been provided, but to avoid disaster there must be a purpose born of common sense not to take foolhardy risks or imprudently attempt to do things when they are surrounded by known elements of danger.

"More than half the accidents reported," he adds, "are chargeable to such causes."

The heaviest losses were in the anthracite coal mines, where 618 is devoted to looking over the results the year. In the soft coal mines 531 were killed and 3,005 injured. Steel works killed 61 and hurt 1,511. Blast furnaces reported 47 fatal and 374 non-fatal accidents. Rolling mills had 14 dead and 304 injured. In the cement industry 21 were killed and 359 injured.

In no other industry were more than ten killed, but the injury record includes the following: Steel castings, 311; Philadelphia textiles, 182; car works, 796; foundries and machine shops, 209; furniture factories, 109, glass factories, 800; locomotive shops, 323; paper mills, 301.

Cumulative Dangers.

"When you have made a statement for which you are sorry, you should own up to it," said the idealist. "No," answered Senator Sorghum; "it is bad enough to say something you regret without following it up with an expression of self-distrust you are sure to regret still more."

Delicate Compliment.

Modiste—To wear a fashionable hat with grace you must have a head like this wooden model. That is the reason why madame looks so charming in the hat I made for her.—Simplicissimus.
