

FOR A CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT

Novel Method of Decorating Booths That Charm the Fair-Goer

BOOTHS ARE CLUSTERED TOGETHER

The church of to-day is sure to hold a fair during one month or another, and right after Easter is a favorite time. When an entertainment of this sort is contemplated the first thing to be considered by the parish ladies is the decoration of the booths. It is here that feminine ingenuity is taxed to the utmost for something novel, something new that will produce a display, that will charm the fair-goer and bring in the money.

For some reason the Southern woman has a peculiar facility in getting up fairs, and with it the decorating of the booths. In a small Virginia town a number of parish members resolved to have a three days' bazaar to help pay off a debt of the church,

MONDAY'S BOOTH, TYPICAL WASHDAY.

French work table linen of newest patterns, and all the necessary accessories of a well-set table. In the center was a group of dollies of every sort and kind—some in fan shape, some in cornucopias, some in queer designs, but all ready for service and of no greater value than those found in the shops.

Thursday's booth was pronounced to be the most beautiful as well as the most successful, being dressed for an afternoon tea. The foundation used was a light-weight silkoline in a brilliant tone of yellow, over which was a lace cloth of inexpensive make, the needle-work of one of the parish ladies. It was so put together as to be available for other purposes after the fair was over.

Along all edges were crinkled paper chrysanthemums, fluffy blossoms forming a floral border, which were so grouped as to show a variety of tints of the same plant. To enhance the beauty of the booth was a centerpiece—a copper samovar for coffee, which made a brilliant setting in a wreath of natural smilax. Teapots in different wares formed novel corner pieces. There were cut glass, Colonial china and the like, good, rich cakes from every State, cups of Russian and ordinary tea, sandwiches dainty and delicious, with a fine tea and fruit punch not usually found elsewhere.

Friday being the cleaning day, the booth was equipped in lavender cretonne with a pretty flower design, with full ruffles—the same on all edges. The articles for sale were brushes of all sorts, new inventions for the saving of labor, polish of all kinds, dusters, home-made and otherwise.

Saturday being the traditional baking day, the booth was dressed in pure white crepe paper, while the attendants wore white lawn gowns with big aprons over them and caps of white paper. The stand fairly groaned beneath its weight of good things. There were biscuits baked to a turn, bread brown and tempting; there were cakes of many and delectable sorts; there were rich layer cakes, perfectly cooked loaf cakes, jumbles, cookies and the like. Then there were puddings, pies—all sorts, with flaky, appetizing crusts; substantial meat pies and fruit pies were represented. In addition to the ready-to-eat dainties, there were certain of their ingredients for sale. Baking powder was there in boxes of varying sizes; the finest of flour, offered in packages of convenient size; butter was supplied in tempting rolls, and also the freshest eggs were heaped in baskets, each and all being offered at current prices.

some church pattern, and both held in place by gilt strands. In either case the treatment partook of some religious matter and church emblems, accompanied with brilliant and illuminated letterings. As a center ornament, the seven-branched candlestick was utilized, well filled with tall candles. To give a good effect to the whole, green palms of tissue paper made a fine border for all edges and had a harmonizing effect with the white and gilt. This Sunday booth was equipped with Bibles of different sizes, prayer-books, hymnals, church calendars and all the paraphernalia necessary for a church service. All sorts of holy devices were sent in for every denomination, and a variety of religious books which are published each season, all to be sold at the regular publishers' prices.

Monday, being wash day, had its booth given over to an executive housekeeper, who begged or bought all the essentials for a "blue Monday." The lot comprised tubs, wash-tubs, all sorts of soaps, clothes-lines, wringers, boxes of starch and blue, clothes-pins and the like, all of which met a ready sale and reaped a good harvest. To make the booth attractive, it was dressed in a dark-blue cheesecloth with a pure-white border of the same material, with flax-rosettes at the corners, and as a center decoration there was a child's tub filled with white chrysanthemums and big ferns.

Tuesday, which is generally ironing day in all families, was made a scheme of different shades of red tissue paper, which was adjusted according to fancy, festooned in big scallops, decorated with big rosettes and long ends at each corner falling to the floor. The back of the booth, which was decorated in red crinkled paper, was laid in pleats, the edges adorned with green paper ferns, which lapped each other as they approached the top. On this stand was found everything pertaining to the day. Every new invention was in evidence for smoothing sleeve and shirt-waist

For the Wednesday booth a beautiful shade of pink was selected, the trimming in tints and tints of the same color. For this a silky saten was chosen, fine in quality and of such a dainty tint and so exceedingly attractive as to give a silken sheen to the whole. The back of the booth was nicely padded, making a soft and pliable background for the various centerpieces of embroidery and lace, the latter so arranged as to form a motive which gave an artistic effect to the whole scheme.

At each of the four corners were piled napkins, traycloths in beautiful and to make certain household articles a feature, which are needed in all homes.

The idea grew that, as a novelty, a number of booths should represent the days of the week, from Sunday to the following Saturday, bringing together every sort of attractive commodity, some of which were to be sold above the current store prices.

These booths occupied one side of the room and were clustered together, making a very showy scheme, being only a few feet apart. The Sunday booth was covered with a cream cheesecloth, the fall-over trimmed with some conventional pattern of striped effect placed so as to form a border, the colorings like those used in the church design. This frill was deep, reaching the floor, and made quite full. As corner decorations, there were banners of silk or of very fine cardboard, both in pure white. If of silk, they should be embroidered to show a device of gold and white; if of cardboard, painted in watercolor in girls, with capable assistants, did admirable work. They were capital sellers, and so gathered in the pennies and nickels with a rush.

At the Dutch booth was every known device from Holland, in which windmill effects did duty in expensive Delft ware and other designs of picturesque make.

The most popular booth was the one in which fancy articles were sold. It was decorated in green, the background forming a charming treatment for home-made accessories, which were hung up in the most effective way. It was a regular up-to-date affair, with all sorts of attractive lingerie, the newest ideas in bags, pin-cushions and the like, handsome button and shoe bags, opera reticules made of melon seeds, jewel cases of silk and satin, handkerchief cases of pompadour silks, glove cases of plush, brocade soft silks and the like.—McCall's.

Fish Spins Silk.
A shellfish in the Mediterranean spins a fine silk as fine as any from a cocoon. The fish is the prima nobilia.

IS STRANGE CHINESE ANIMAL.

The Takin Seems Moose, Yak, Antelope and Goat Combined.

Strange to contemplate is the Chinese takin, first of its kind ever brought to the shores of the United States, which was placed on exhibition, stuffed, in the Antlered Museum of Natural History. As far as is known to Mazon Mitchell, one of the American consuls in China, who presented the specimen to the institution, he is the only Caucasian who has ever seen one in its native crags.

The Takin, or Chinese Buffalo.

The takin, or Chinese buffalo, which now adorns the museum, is about the size of a Jersey cow, and it cannot be said that he bears much resemblance to the American bison. His body and legs suggest both the antelope and the goat, his back is like that of a yak and his head, which is surrounded by curving horns, has the bulging nose which suggests that of the moose. The takin has hoofs which are parted and his ways are like those of the goat. He is a rather heavy animal, yet he spends his time in the western mountains of the Sze-Chuan province, where he gets about among the crags as lightly as does the big horn of the Rockies. He is strong and able-bodied and in a fight can give a good account of himself.

The hide of the takin which was sent here was dry and as hard as a board, and Mr. Higgins, chief taxidermist of the museum, had a long struggle with it in getting it into proper form, but by following the hair pattern he has been enabled to present the skin with all the distinction which an animal of such complicated anatomy deserves.

The hoofs of the creature are very hard and have grooves and scratches in them, which indicate that he was well accustomed to making his agile way over the sharp rocks in his native province.

Saturdays.
To-day, within the galley's hold,
We yearn for Nappies far away.
The vision of the Matterhorn
Is calling to our hearts to-day.
Thus, longingly, we strain and sweat
From daybreak to the fading sun—
A struggling horde that plays the game
For prizes when the work is done.

Ah, yesterday we yearned the same
For Saturday to come once more!
All week within the stuffy school
We conned our lessons o'er and o'er.
"Amo, amas, amat," we droned,
And bounded Chile on the map,
But over all we heard the croon
Of rivers where the billows lap.

Ho! Saturday would set us free
To wander by the bayou's brim,
To fish for lunkers at the bridge
With Stubble and with Fat and Slim.
Ah, when the sun rose in the east
And mother called us from our bed
We did not drop to sleep again,
But heard, the first time, what she said.

Then off to join our happy crew,
How gladly, joyously we sped;
And as we chorused by the way
Our faithful Tiger barked ahead.
Oh, those were days worth hoping for,
Worth slaving for, when work was through—
For what in Switzerland or France
Can yield the happiness we knew?

Ah, Saturdays of youth! Thy joy
Sweeps back with mocking voice of scorn
And scoffs at us each week-end day
When carols wako the timid dawn;
For what vacation is so sweet
As that we knew in childhood, pray,
When gladness as a meadowlark,
We "went a-fishin'" Saturday?

Many Physicians in New York.
One physician out of every twenty-one in the United States lives in New York City.

His Prime Necessity.
The under dog doesn't care much for sympathy; he wants assistance.

Are You Half Sick?

Just sick enough to feel heavy headed, lazy and listless, to have no appetite, to sleep badly; just sick enough to feel restless and nervous, and to have what you eat feel like lead in your stomach; not sick enough to take to bed or call a doctor, but just sick enough to not know what to do.

Ninety-nine times out of one hundred these symptoms are all caused by the stomach, bowels, liver and digestive organs. Now, all this can be remedied in one night by taking Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills.

The Takin, or Chinese Buffalo.

Anyone suffering from chronic constipation, biliousness, sick headache or liver complaint can tone up the entire system, elevate the spirits and again make life really worth living by a single week's use of Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills. You will have a good appetite and sleep well. They are Nature's laxative, entirely different from anything you have ever taken before. Physicians use and recommend. They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These little Vegetable Pills will ward off many ills.

To Cure Constipation, Bilioussness and Sick Headache in a Night, use

By virtue of process issued out of the Court of Common Pleas of Wayne county, and State of Pennsylvania, and to me directed and delivered, I have levied on and will expose to public sale, at the Court House in Honesdale, on FRIDAY, MCH. 11, 1910, 2 P. M.

All of defendant's right, title and interest in the following described property, viz:

The First—Beginning at the north-east corner of lands which Walter Bray sold to William Simon; thence by said Simon south twelve and one-half degrees east sixty-six and one-half rods to a stone corner; thence north seventy-seven and one-half degrees east forty-four and four-tenths rods to a stone corner; thence north twelve and one-half degrees west twenty-seven and one-half degrees east forty-two rods to the place of beginning, containing twenty-three acres and eighty perches, be the same more or less.

The Fourth—Beginning at a beech tree marked for a common corner of lots numbered 13, 14, 17 and 20, in the allotment of the late Robert Shields lands; thence by No. 13 north seventy-seven and one-half degrees east one hundred and forty rods to a stone corner; thence by Lot No. 21, south twelve and one-half degrees east one hundred and thirty rods to a stone corner; thence by Lot No. 19, south seventy-seven and one-half degrees west one hundred and forty rods to a stone corner; thence by Lot No. 17 north twelve and one-half degrees west one hundred and thirty rods to the place of beginning, containing one hundred and thirteen acres and twelve perches, be the same more or less. Excepting fifty-six acres and one hundred and forty perches heretofore conveyed. See Deed Book No. 13 at page 35, etc.

The Fifth—Beginning at stake and stones, the south-east corner, late of John Durlam; thence by lands of William Penwarden, north twelve and one-half degrees west thirty-four rods to a stake on the ty-two rods to a rock corner; thence north 77½ degrees east thirty-eight rods to a public road; thence along said road, seven and one-half degrees west eighty-nine and seven-tenths rods to the place of beginning; containing thirty acres and one hundred and twelve perches, be the same more or less.

The Second—Beginning at the north-west corner of the land above described; thence by the same north seventy-seven and one-half degrees east sixty-six and one-half rods to a corner; thence north thirteen degrees west forty-seven and one-half rods to a stone corner; thence south eighteen and one-half degrees east forty-seven and three-fourths rods to the place of beginning, containing twenty acres and sixty-five perches, be the same more or less.

The Third—Beginning at stones corner on top of high ledge; thence by lands late of Walter Bray south eight and one-fourths degrees west seventy-three and one-half rods to a stone on rock on the top of a ledge; thence north seventy-seven and one-half degrees east sixty-seven rods to a stake and stone corner; thence north twelve and one-half degrees west sixty-nine rods to a stake and stone corner; thence by land first above described south east side of the Day pond; thence across the said pond, south thirty-eight degrees west fifty-three and two-tenths rods to a rock; thence along the division line between lands now or late of John Durham and Henry Riefler, north seventy-seven and one-half degrees east forty-one rods to the place of beginning; containing four acres and fifty-seven perches, be the same more or less. The above five pieces constitutes what is known as the Henry Riefler farm of upwards of one hundred and thirty-five acres, upon which is a dwelling house, barn, apple orchard and nearly all improved land.

The Sixth—Beginning at a heap of stones, the south-west corner of land in the warrantee name of John Woods; thence north seventy-seven degrees east two hundred eighteen and one-half rods to a stone corner; thence by Lot No. 14 in the Wilcox lands, south thirteen degrees east fifty-five and one-half rods to stones corner; thence south seventy-seven degrees west two hundred eighteen and one-half rods to stones corner; thence north thirteen degrees west fifty-five and one-half rods to the place of beginning, containing seventy-five acres and one hundred and seventeen perches, be the same more or less.

The Seventh—Beginning at the south-east corner of above described lot; thence north seventy-seven and one-half degrees east fifty-six and one-half rods to a corner; thence north twelve and one-half degrees east fifty-six and three-fourths rods to the south-east corner of Daniel Bryant's land; thence south seventy-seven and one-half degrees west fifty-six and one-half rods to a corner in a stone wall; thence south twelve and one-half degrees east fifty-six and three-fourths rods to the place of beginning, containing twenty acres, be the same more or less.

The last two pieces comprise the Goodnough farm, upon which is a large frame dwelling house. Large barn with underground stable, ice house, and other out buildings. Apple orchard and other fruit trees, and some fifteen hundred dollars worth of standing timber and acid wood.

Seized and taken in execution as the property of Chester J. Goodnough and Frank D. Goodnough at the suit of Wm. H. Lee, assignee, No. 207, March Term, 1908. Judgment, $300. Attorney, Lee.
