

TELLS WHY FOUR BEAUTIES WED HIM

Noted Comedian Takes Many Thousand Words to Explain Mystery in New Book

NAT GOODWIN'S GREAT MEMOIRS

His First Wife "An Angel"—Second "Silly Fool," and Maxine Elliott "A Joan with Nero-like Ambition"—Fourth Makes Him Most Happy.

My first wife was an angel. My second a silly fool. My third a "Roman Senator." My fourth makes me superlatively happy.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Nat C. Goodwin, comedian, mining promoter, world traveler and married man, has turned author.

The introductory chapter deals with the surroundings of his present home. Here is a sample paragraph from the opening page:

"Here I am confronted by the sea. Back of me are the roses and on either side of the blue-brown mountains hold converse with the sun and stars and dipping their august heads in silent acquiescence of the eternal greatness."

Going some, oh, as a handy little describer of the beauties of nature? But Mr. Goodwin's book is not a book on landscape gardening or the care of lawns.

Their Respective Qualities. It takes him a good many thousand words to explain why four beautiful women did marry him, but, summing up his conclusions in his foreword, he puts it thus:

"Eliza Weathersby married me for love.

"Mrs. Nella Baker Pease to get out of the vortex of society into the artistic life of Bohemia.

"Maxine Elliott was prompted by ambition.

"Edna Goodrich—well, because I didn't bore her."

In his domestic retrospections Mr. Goodwin takes up his wives in their proper order.

"She was one of the most beautiful women I ever knew and one of the most self-sacrificing wives that ever blessed man with her devotion and love.

THE JEWISH RACE, HE SAYS

Prof. Schmidt Declares That the Ancient Hebrew is Not the Modern Jew's Ancestor.

Ithaca, N. Y.—The current idea that there is a Jewish race is erroneous, said Prof. Nathaniel Schmidt of Cornell University, a teacher in Oriental history and Semitic languages discussing the question of whether the modern Jew is descended from a distinct and separate family.

Continuing, he says: "There is a Jewish race descended from a separate family possessing certain physical, psychological, and linguistic characteristics, but this is entirely erroneous. In both ancient and modern times there was extensive assimilation: the masses in the Bible times intermarried frequently; in fact, the kings and priests had no scruples about intermarriage, and this assimilation had much to do with destroying race homogeneity."

"The Jews in Southern Russia, for instance, are not descendants of ancient Hebrews. The pagan chertars, who lived on the banks of the Caspian and disappeared from history in the ninth century were compelled to adopt some form of monotheism and embraced Judaism. These people intermarried freely with Polish Jews and formed the basis for the present Jewish population in Southern Russia."

"Certain traits in the life of Jews make it possible to speak of them as a Jewish people. From Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Jesus to Karl Marx and Lassalle they have shown a tremendous passion for justice. The Jew, too, is cosmopolitan, thinking in terms of humanity, and, lastly, the Jew has a prophetic instinct."

"The Jew, however, makes lump judgments. The old prophets criticized the people; Karl Marx condemned the whole capitalistic class."

HYENA FOILED BY LION.

King of Beasts Upsets Cage on Beast That Menaced Keeper.

Oxford, Pa.—Attacked from behind by a hyena, which had escaped from his temporary cage, Capt. Snider, an animal trainer with Wheeler's circus, was rescued in a most peculiar manner by a lion.

Capt. Snider was eating breakfast when the hyena sprang upon him, knocking him down. As he went down the trainer had the presence of mind to lie perfectly still.

He lay this way for about five minutes, when help came from a most unexpected quarter.

The big lion that was caged close by, although supposedly untamable, having a record of killing two keepers and seriously injuring two others, had taken a decided fancy to Capt. Snider.

This animal had seen the attack by the hyena and tried to get out of the cage which imprisoned him. This was impossible, but he did the only remaining thing to rescue his keeper. Crouching in one corner of the cage, he sprang with terrific force to the other side, upsetting the heavy cage upon the crouching hyena, pinning it to the ground.

HAD TO LOSE BEARD.

Banker Looked Like Abdul Hamid and Was Warned to Shave.

Bucharest.—The director of a Roumanian bank, having to visit Constantinople a few days ago, found on arriving there that the authorities insisted that he should shave off his beard.

Expostulating, he was informed that his beard was of exactly the same shape as that of Abdul Hamid, the ex-Sultan, and that since many supporters of the old regime wear their beards thus he might be taken for a reactionary and expelled from Constantinople. Thus it was for his own good that the authorities wished to shave him.

On this explanation the banker consented to the sacrifice.

FLATFOOT, NATIONAL ILL.

Dr. Osgood at Harvard Declares It the Great American Disease.

Boston.—"Flatfoot has become the great American disease," said Dr. R. C. Osgood at his Harvard Medical School lecture.

"American physicians," continued Dr. Osgood, "have given special study to diseases of the feet. Perhaps the focusing of attention on the subject has increased foot discomfort."

Buried with $8,000.

Agram, Hungary.—At Bosna-Brod there died recently a rich peasant, Nicodemus Valati, and he was buried in his best Sunday suit. A week afterward his heirs found his will, which stated that Valati's money had been sewn up in the lining of this suit.

After much trouble the heirs induced the bishop of the diocese to permit the body to be exhumed, and this was done in the presence of the local officials. The money, amounting to some $8,000, was found intact.

This 40-Cent Menu Won Prize.

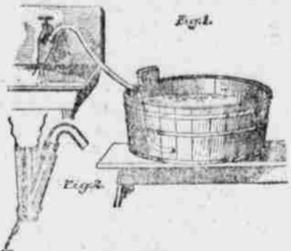

Chicago.—Twenty thousand women tried for a prize offered by a morning newspaper in a menu contest for the best forty-cent dinner for four people. Mrs. Frank Leslie Eldridge carried off the laurels. The following is her menu: Vermicelli soup, bread and butter, veal fricassee, mashed potatoes, Dutch slaw, baked apple, coffee.

Household

DEVICE FOR EMPTYING TUB.

Makes Unnecessary the Carrying of Water to Sink by Painful.

The lifting of the tubful of water is often a physical impossibility, and the carrying of the water from the tub to the sink by the painful is a tiresome task. If the house be provided with running water at the sink, a very simple contrivance may be devised for utilizing the city water pressure for the emptying of the tub. By providing a simple form of ejector at the faucet and connecting one inlet of the ejector to a short piece of hose leading to the sink, the water may be easily drawn out of the tub into the sink, even though the latter be at a higher elevation. In the accompanying sketch, there is shown a simple contrivance of this character, in which the ejector is formed of a block of wood adapted to be detachably secured to the faucet. The ejector includes two passages intersecting at an angle and having a common outlet as shown in section in Fig. 2. One of these passages receives a stream of water under pressure from the faucet, and the escape of this water from the lower end of the ejector tends to draw water out of the tub through the hose and to deliver the latter to the sink.

Handy Method of Emptying a Tub.

The same device may be used for refilling the tub. To secure this object, it is merely necessary to close the lower end of the ejector with a plug or in any other suitable manner.

As shown, a short rubber plug is connected to a strap tacked to one side of the block. By inserting the plug within the open lower end of the passage and securing the free end of the strap to a button on the opposite side of the block, as shown in dotted lines, the water will be caused to flow from the faucet down through one passage and up through the other to the hose and thence to the washtub.

Some Catsup Ways.

In making catsup of tomatoes, use as little spices as possible, especially those that darken the color, such as cloves and allspice. A writer in Farm and Fireside gives the following way to make red catsup: Get a common soap-shaker, to be had for ten cents at the department stores, and put your whole spices in this, and drop it into the boiling catsup. The perforations are small enough to retain the spices, but allow their strength to pass to the catsup. It is said the red color will be preserved.

Another way to make the catsup is to boil the tomatoes until soft, with slices of onions and salt, to taste, then rub through a sieve to remove the skins and seeds, and boil down until thick. Boil up the vinegar once, with sugar and ground cinnamon to taste, mix with the thickened tomato pulp and seal up in small bottles while boiling hot.

In making catsup, or any other relish, only the porcelain-lined or enameled ware vessels should be used—never tin, nor iron, nor chipped or cracked agate, enameled or porcelain-lined, as the contents coming in contact with the inner metal of the vessel, will be injured.

Home-Made Citron.

A fair substitute for the commercial citron may be made from the common citron melon. Take a sound, ripe melon, cut into pieces of convenient size and let stand in alum water overnight—a piece of alum the size of a walnut to a gallon of water. In the morning drain through a colander, and rinse with clear water poured over it. Put over the fire in clear water and boil until tender. Allow a pound of sugar to a pint of the water in which the melon is boiled, and cook the fruit until it is transparent and the syrup very thick. Leave in the syrup for four days, then boil up again, adding a little water if the syrup is too heavy. Repeat the process again, and then take the fruit out of the syrup, lay on the plates to drain, sprinkle with sugar and dry in the hot sunshine or in a slow oven until like the important article. Pack between layers of paraffine paper, and sprinkle well with sugar.

Two Good Recipes.

Here are two recipes, one for curing pimples and the other for removing blackheads.

Pimples.

Beta-naphthol ..... 5 grains
Oil of chamomile ..... 5 drops.
Ointment of benzoated oxide of zinc ..... 1 ounce.
Use on the surface.

Blackheads of the Skin.

Boric acid ..... 2 drams.
Alcohol ..... 2 ounces.
Rosewater ..... 4 ounces.
Use with friction twice a day on the skin affected.

Many of the new camisoles have sleeves that come to the elbow and can be worn as slips under transparent blouses.

PROFESSIONAL BY-PLAY.

Lawyer Got Paid Back in His Own Sarcastic Coin.

Most lawyers take a keen delight trying to confuse medical experts in the witness box in murder trials, and often they get paid back in their own coin. A case is recalled where the lawyer, after exercising all his tangling tactics without effect, looked quizzically at the doctor who was testifying and said:

"You will admit that doctors sometimes make mistakes, won't you?"

"Oh, yes; the same as lawyers," was the cool reply.

"And doctors' mistakes are buried six feet under ground," was the lawyer's triumphant reply.

"Yes," he replied, "and the lawyers' mistakes often swing in the air."

WISE GIRL.

Tom—What! You're going to marry Tom Speed? Why, he's awful!

Carrie—What makes you think so?

Tom—I hear he's been blackballed by every club in town.

Carrie—Yes, I heard so, too. That sort of husband won't have much excuse for staying out at nights, will he?

Kinder Mad.

Steve Long is noted for attending to his own business and saying very little about it. One morning an inquisitive neighbor met him returning from the woods with his gun over his shoulder.

"Hello, Steve. Where ye been? A-shootin'?"

"Yep."

"What ye been a-shootin'?"

"Dog."

"Yer dog? My! Was he mad?"

"Wall, he didn't look so danged well pleased."

Great Operation.

A baseball player had two fingers of his right hand pretty badly bungled up in practice, and on his way home from the grounds he dropped into a doctor's office to have them attended to.

"Doctor," he asked anxiously as he was leaving, "when this paw of mine heals will I be able to play the piano?"

"Certainly you will," the doctor assured him.

"Well, then, you're a wonder, Doc. I never could before."

Take Her Choice.

"You know the engagement between Jack and myself is off, and I asked him to send back my presents and a lock of my hair that I gave him."

"Well?"

"Well, he sent a servant this morning with a large packet containing innumerable locks of hair from gray to flaxen, raven to red, with a message that I could choose from among them my own property!"

Johnny and the Whale.

Mother—Johnny, you said you'd been to Sunday-school.

Johnny (with a far-away look)—Yes, mamma.

Mother—How does it happen that your hands smell of fish?

Johnny—I carried home the Sunday school paper, an' the outside page is all about Jonah and the whale.

Make-Up of the Tailor.

It requires the originality of a genius, the wisdom of a philosopher, the brains of an inventor and the tact of a diplomatist to make a success in the tailoring trade. To bring about a restoration of color and grace in men's clothing will need the qualities of a hero and a martyr.

Willie and Noises.

Willie, the minister's son, was enjoying himself hugely playing on his new drum. It annoyed his up-to-date mamma, who said persuasively: "Willie, do you like to annoy mamma and make such a noise?" "Well," said Willie, "I like all noises, 'cept singin' noises and preachin' noises."

"Nuff Said."

Brown—What did your wife say about your being so late home the other night?

Jones—Nothing at all. She just sat down at the piano and played "Tall me the old, old story."

Defined.

"Father," said little Rollo, "what is meant by a Sabbath day's journey?"

"I am afraid, my son, that in many cases it meant twice around the golf links."

A Question of Years.

Stella—Is she in her declining years?

Bella—No; her accepting years.

The Era of New Mixed Paints!

This year opens with a deluge of new mixed paints. A condition brought about by our enterprising dealers to get some kind of a mixed paint that would supplant CHILTON'S MIXED PAINTS. Their compounds, being new and heavily advertised may find a sale with the unwary.

THE ONLY PLACE IN HONESDALE AUTHORIZED TO HANDLE CHILTON'S MIXED PAINTS

Is JADWIN'S PHARMACY.

There are reasons for the pre-eminence of CHILTON PAINTS

1st—No one can mix a better mixed paint.

2d—The painters declare that it works easily and has wonderful covering qualities.

3d—Chilton stands back of it, and will agree to repaint, at his own expense, every surface painted with Chilton Paint that proves defective.

4th—Those who have used it are perfectly satisfied with it, and recommend its use to others.
