—G. Wm. Peil, the "Quality Store" druggist, has an Easter display of fifteen young chicks in his window, which were raised by Mr. W. H. Karslake, of the White Wing Poultry farm.

—The Baby Contest at the Lyric is drawing good crowds. The relatives of the babies are beginning to warm up in their efforts to capture the prize for "our Baby" which is in the contest without a doubt.

—Mrs. Olive Quick and Daniel Vicinus and family will occupy the rooms in the F. & M. Bank building, recently vacated by Mrs. W. McCown, who has rented rooms of Mrs. Fannie DeWitt, on Court street.

—"Our New Minister," with the original all-star cast, including Miss Claire Vincent and Mr. Frank Gardner, will be seen at the Lyric on Thursday afternoon and evening of next week. The play is now in its ninth season and turns them away nightly, according to the telegraph reports from the cities. It will be a gala event, and the theatre is sure to be packed, so we would advise those intending to be present to secure seats at once.

—After fifteen years of pleasing service to the Honesdale public and commercial travelers, John Brown, head porter at the Allen House, resigned his position on Wednesday and left for Scranton where he has accepted a position. No man in these parts was better known to the traveling public than Mr. Brown, who was always a willing worker and courteous to everyone with whom he came contact with, and undoubtedly will be greatly missed for sometime to come. He leaves the Maple City with the best wishes of the entire community. Frank Antonio succeeds Mr. Brown at the old hostelry.

—Rev. Mr. Walker, of Narrowsburg, pastor of the M. E. church at that place, had the Rev. William Long, a traveling evangelist, who had been enjoying his hospitality, arrested on the charge of stealing $4.00. Long was arrested at Callicoon and brought to Narrowsburg for trial. After several hours of wrangling it was proven that Rev. Long's seven-year-old son Clyde, had stolen the bank containing the $4.00, broken the bank and had taken the money. A jury, after a stormy trial, convicted the father of larceny and committed him to jail. After a few hours' confinement he complained of having cramps. The constable was awakened and was requested by the prisoner to get him a drink of water. While the constable was doing this, the Rev. Long took to the tall timber by crossing the river to Wayne county, Pennsylvania, and has not been seen since.

—Don't forget the Easter Monday dance at the Lyric Hall on March 28th.

—P. H. Reining and sons, purchased the Grimes property in Cherry Ridge township Tuesday, for $1,600. The farm contained 116 acres.

—Gifford Pinchot, on Friday last, in compliance with a cablegram received by him a few days previously from Theodore Roosevelt left for Europe to meet the Colonel, and no doubt the Ballinger matter is the one important topic which Roosevelt is anxious to be well posted on.

—One of the resultant effects of the Union Revival services was plainly in evidence at the Wednesday evening prayer meeting of the different churches. The meetings were unusually well attended by an awakened membership whose interest in the services was strongly manifested.

—William Rockwell and W. O. Curtis of Scott township, lost over $1,000 of township money by the Knapp Bank failure at Deposit. They were in Honesdale lately and made good this money. It seems too bad for them to lose this amount. We are sorry that they did not bank in some Wayne county institution.

—Capt. Kelley has received word from the State Armory Board that just as soon as a deed for the property on Park street is sent them, together with the necessary information as to the character of the soil and depth necessary to dig for proper foundations, the plans for building will be made, and bids for erection be advertised for.

—Judge Little's charge to the jury in the Truesdale vs. Arnold case was an ideal charge to a country jury. It was lucid, clear and shorn of all technical terms, that have a tendency to confuse the mind of a layman. The Judge boiled down the voluminous testimony so that all extraneous matter was dissipated, leaving the jury the plain law and the facts proven by the evidence, in such a concise form that a juror, by exercising ordinary intelligence, would have no trouble to reach a decision.

TRUESDALE CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

This Famous Case Has Occupied the Attention of Judge and Jury This Week.

The case of Charles H. Truesdale, administrator of Adelaide Truesdale vs. Juliette Arnold, Frank Arnold and Mortimer Arnold was given to the jury Thursday morning at 11:30. This case was called Tuesday morning and has continued for two and a half days. The action was one of trespass for the alleged trover and conversion of certain personal property belonging to Juliet Truesdale at the time of her decease. Plaintiff was represented by F. P. Kimble and C. P. Searle; Judge Wilson, E. A. Delaney and Judge Anthony represented the defendants.

The following witnesses were called in behalf of the plaintiff: Charles H. Truesdale, Robert A. Jadwin, C. E. Spencer, depositions from Myron Merrithew, Lyman Kennedy, Ward Robinson, A. J. Platt, Anna Kennedy, William Arnold, Edward Burns, D. W. Edwards, Mrs. Gertrude Kennedy, A. J. Robinson, Fred Hines, and Harvey Sargent.

Charles H. Truesdale testified: Married Adelaide Truesdale in December, 1900. She died July 23, 1908. I first knew Juliet Arnold in 1895. In 1900 she possessed 427 acres of land in South Canaan, house, barn, etc. After my marriage to her daughter she lived with us. We took possession of the farm and all cattle and property on it. My wife furnished the table and I managed the farm under her direction. On December 14, 1906, there were present at my home, Frank Arnold, my wife, Mrs. Arnold, Myron Merrithew, J. P. Ward Robinson and myself. At that time three deeds were executed by Juliet Arnold. One to Adelaide Truesdale, my wife, for 152 acres of land.

The morning after the deed was executed, Juliet Arnold stated: "You all now have your land and I will see who will do the best." Another paper was delivered to my wife by Juliet Arnold. A bill of sale of the personal property, witnessed by Ward Robinson and Lyman Kennedy. Juliet Arnold told Kennedy that it was for the personal property. Saw the paper afterwards. It was kept in a bureau drawer in my room. Papers disappeared after my wife's death and could not be found. On the sixteenth day of June, 1908, my wife had in her pocketbook about $200. She also had money in two Carbondale banks. I was present when Platt, the assessor, called in fall of 1907. My wife and Mrs. Arnold were also present. My wife told the assessor that the homestead and the personal property were hers. Mrs. Arnold made no comment. My wife's health was very poor two months prior to her death. Her mind was deranged.

At this point, Robert A. Jadwin, Cashier of the First National Bank of Carbondale, was called. Testified that Adelaide Arnold had an account in the bank and that same was closed June 19, 1908. Paid $242.66 to Frank P. Arnold, endorser of the order. Check offered in evidence. Arnold stated that his sister was very ill and unable to sign her name. She knew what she was doing. Arnold stated. No cross-examination.

C. E. Spencer, Cashier of M. & M. Bank, Carbondale, called and testified. Paid $609.66 upon order to Frank Arnold June 19, 1908. Arnold stated that sister was very ill.

Charles H. Truesdale recalled for cross-examination. In the conversation the day after my marriage Mrs. Arnold said: "Now you are married and I'll turn all the property over to you. I will make out the papers later on. You are to pay me 75 cents apiece for the props and 1 cent each for the small mine ties." I was to work out the road tax and she was to pay the cash tax. I bought most of the personal property on the farm.

Myron Merrithew's depositions offered and received in evidence. Executed the papers for Juliet Arnold. There were three deeds, to Mortimer, Frank and Addie Truesdale. The deed to Mrs. Truesdale, I handed to her. I acknowledged another paper. Did not know what it was but supposed it to be a contract for the personal property. Mrs. Arnold was present. Her daughter was in the same room.

Cross-examined—I did not read the other paper. Lyman Kennedy testified to a conversation between himself and Juliet Arnold. She stated that she had divided the personal property between her three children. Nothing was said about the personal property. Witnessed a paper. Juliet Arnold said it was a deal between herself and her daughter. Chas. Truesdale and Juliet Arnold were present. Mrs. Truesdale did not talk naturally during the last two months of her illness.

Cross-examined: Mrs. Arnold told me it was a deal in regard to the personal property for the protection of Addie.

C. H. Truesdale recalled for further cross-examination: Mrs. Arnold told me to pay Addie for the props as she was everything on the farm. I paid Addie for the props after that. My wife, in the presence of Mrs. Arnold, told me to go ahead and do the business. She said, "My head troubles me and I cannot be bothered with it. After that I did business in my own name."

Mrs. Lyman Kennedy corroborated her husband as to the time he witnessed a paper. She was present at a later conversation with Mrs. Truesdale and Mrs. Arnold. Mrs. Arnold stated that the paper was an agreement between herself and Addie in regard to the personal property.

Ward Robinson testified to being at the Arnolds home Dec. 14, 1908, and witnessing three papers. Mrs. Truesdale, Frank Arnold, M. Arnold, Mr. Truesdale and Mrs. Arnold were there. Saw another paper given to Mrs. Truesdale. Heard them talking about personal property.

Cross-examined: Did not sign exhibit 6. Mrs. Truesdale told me she wanted Mr. Kennedy to sign the other paper.

A. J. Platt, assessor for South Canaan for 1908, testified that Mrs. Arnold told him to assess one part of the farm to Addie, one part to Frank and one to Mortimer. She said to assess the personal property to Addie.

Anna Kennedy testified to working for Mrs. Truesdale in June, 1908. Mrs. Truesdale paid her. Testified to the condition of the pocketbook when she was paid. Saw five or six $20 bills. Mrs. Truesdale was very ill in June and July. She was very nervous and would fly all to pieces when Mortimer came and witness would call her husband to quiet her.

William Arnold, son of Mortimer Arnold, stated that he visited his grandmother in 1907 in reference to borrowing a horse. She told witness that she had nothing whatever to do with the property and to see the other parties.

D. W. Edwards called and testified. I live in Hamblinton, Wayne county, and sell spectacles. I was at the Truesdales in the latter part of 1906. I sold a pair of glasses to Mrs. Arnold. Mrs. Truesdale paid me. Mrs. Arnold told me that Mrs. Truesdale would pay for the glasses, that she owned everything there.

Mrs. Gertrude Kennedy testified that she had known Mrs. Truesdale all her life. Saw her once or twice a week after her illness. Her condition was very bad. The last few times witness called Mrs. Truesdale did not know her.

Cross-examined: Mrs. Truesdale was at time delirious. A. J. Robinson, one of the appraisers, testified that he heard demand made to Frank Arnold for papers and money. Arnold said he had no papers or money.

Harvey Sargent testified to working for Mrs. Truesdale in 1907. Saw Mrs. Truesdale and Mrs. Arnold. Mrs. Truesdale said, "This place is mine." Mrs. Arnold said, "Yes, the place is hers." Was there again in June, 1908. Addie was out of her head. Mrs. Arnold said, "Mrs. Truesdale is out of her head and you need pay no attention to her. The plaintiff rest at this point."

Defense moved for a non-suit. Motion disallowed.

Defense then called the following witnesses: Depositions of Juliet Arnold, Dr. John D. Day, C. A. Emery, Joseph A. Fisch, Mortimer Arnold, Frank Arnold and Sylvester Delaney.

Mrs. Arnold's depositions state: I took the deed to Adelaide and put it away. It was never delivered to her. I never intended to have a conversation with Addie, she was not to have the place until I got through with it. The health of Addie was miserable when these papers were signed. Adelaide did not own the personal property. The stock and things are mine. Frank frequently brought money to Addie from the bank. She signed the papers. Never had any conversation with Truesdale in regard to the property.

Dr. Day testified to attending Adelaide Truesdale during her last illness. Her condition was bad but her mind seemed clear.

Cross-examined: Did not see her for a week or perhaps more prior to her death. Sent her medicine by mail.

C. A. Emery, Cashier of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank, and Joseph A. Fisch, Cashier of the Dime Bank of this place, both called by the defense, and qualified as handwriting experts.

Both gave as their opinion that the signature of Truesdale on the deeds as witness and on the will were the same, and were both in Truesdale's handwriting. Also stated that the ink seemed to be the same on both documents and that both were apparently written at or about the same time.

Mortimer Arnold testified that his mother and Adelaide had a common pocketbook which was kept by the mother. Stated that breastpin and a gold dollar were given to Truesdale by his mother and that she said that was all she had to give him.

Frank P. Arnold testified that Adelaide was not present when the deeds were executed.

Sylvester Delaney testified to hearing Lyman Kennedy say that he did not know the contents of the papers signed at the Truesdales.

Defendants offered in evidence a bill of discovery, answer and answer to interrogatories in No. 1 Oct. Term 1908. Offer refused by the court.

Defense rested, and Judge Little, after a careful and impartial summing up of the evidence, gave the case to the jury.

LATER—Just as we go to press the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for the sum of $1,683.

SPECIAL CENSUS AGENT. Ex-Sheriff E. H. Cortright received word yesterday from W. N. Stewart, Chief Statistician for manufactures, one of the staff of the Census Bureau, that he had been selected as a special census agent for Wayne and Pike counties, to gather the special information from manufacturers which is called for by the Census Bureau.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

CRIMINALS AND DRINK.

Dr. Albert Wilson, the brain specialist, described the results of his recent work in a lecture before the members of the Society for the Study of Inebriety recently.

"Although alcohol is so great a problem in crime, I could fill the platform with criminals who are teetotalers," said Dr. Wilson. "A particularly accomplished criminal told me the other day that he must keep entirely away from drink when planning a crime. Another, however, said that he required a little stimulant just to help him carry out a job."

Dr. Wilson told a story of Berry, the late executioner. After carrying out five hundred executions he became so sympathetic toward criminals that he gave up hanging and became a temperance missionary. Talking of the magnitude of crime, the lecturer said that a million persons are arrested in this country every year. Three hundred thousand, equal to the population of a large town, are sent to prison, while crime costs us $6,000,000 a year.—London Daily Mail.
