CHILD VANISHES.

Fear "White Slavers" Murdered Little Girl.

MAKING A RIGID INQUIRY.

Missing Child Last Seen When in Custody of Belle Moore, Mulatto Woman Now Under Arrest. Was to Have Been Sold.

New York, May 3.—That an eleven-year-old girl who was bargained for by the women agents of the Rockefeller white slave grand jury has been brutally murdered and her little body hidden somewhere, if not destroyed completely, is the belief of Assistant District Attorney James B. Reynolds, who is in charge of the present investigation, which has resulted in the arrest and indictment of two men and a woman on the charge of trafficking in young girls.

Who this child is, who her parents are or where she came from is as much a mystery as is her present whereabouts. When last heard of she was said to be in the custody of Belle Moore, the mulatto woman who is now in the Tombs. The Moore woman will not say a word about the child.

The price paid in the New York "white slave" market for young girls was made public after the special grand jury of which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is foreman had returned indictments against Belle Moore, Alec Anderson, a negro, and Harry Levinson charging them with the sale of four girls. It appeared that George A. Miller, a former government agent, who worked for the congress committee in 1907 in the investigation of immigration abuses and who is one of the secret agents employed by the district attorney in the present investigation, paid $40 for Ida Greenberg and Gussie Ehrlich, whom he procured from Harry Levinson, and $120 for Alice Hilton and Belle Woods, two girls said to be under eighteen, whom he purchased from Belle Moore. Alec Anderson is said to have had part in the second transaction.

A HONESDALE BOY.

James Moran sent to the Lexington Team. Jimmie Moran, the St. Peter and Phoebe Snow catcher of last season, and one of the most promising mitt men in the valley, has been sent to Hogan Yencey's team at Lexington, Ky., in the Blue Grass League, by Manager Billy Clymer, of Wilkes-Barre.

Jim showed fine form with the Barons, doing better work than any of the other youngsters. He has a good throwing arm and fine head; while at the bat he was always considered dangerous in this section, having no certain weakness, hitting them high, low or wide. Jim will have very little trouble in making good in Kentucky. Moran left last Thursday night for his new place.

GRAND LARCENY AT WINWOOD.

On April 15th, Sidney L. Spicer was arrested at Deposit by Constable B. C. Anderson, on the charge preferred by E. E. Hackett, of having committed grand larceny, second degree, by inducing E. E. Hackett to loan him three hundred dollars, March 23rd, at Winwood, Pa., as a result of his false and fraudulent pretences. On arraignment April 15th before Justice L. G. Carpenter, Mr. Spicer at first refused, but later, on the next day, consented to give bail and secured an adjournment of the hearing until April 18th, which was later extended, after special plea of counsel, J. B. Wade, to April 25th. At the hearing held on the above date, the people were represented as they had been from the beginning of proceedings by F. A. Taylor, and the defendant by Attorneys E. D. Cummings and J. B. Wade of Deposit. The defendant at this hearing renewed his motions for a dismissal, raising pleas in bar to the jurisdiction of the court and sufficiency of the information and warrant for rest. These motions being overruled and exceptions taken, the hearing of the People's witnesses was held and continued until April 26th. On this date, the people having rested Mr. Cummings of counsel, again moved for dismissal, and upon this being denied, defendant waived his rights to make a statement and after arguments by Mr. Cummings on the part of the defendant, and Taylor for the people, Mr. Spicer was held to await the action of the grand jury. The bail bond, which was fixed at $500, was not given by defendant, as his counsel intends to test the proceedings by habeas corpus, and in default thereof he was taken to Delhi, and committed to the custody of the Sheriff last Wednesday afternoon. Owing to the novelty and nature of the charges the outcome is being eagerly awaited by all who have any acquaintance with them, and the probability is that further developments in the matter will take place within the next few days.

DR. HENRY JESSUP DEAD.

Celebrated Missionary, Well Known Here, Died in Far East.

New York, April 29.—Members of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions to-day received with regret the announcement of the death at Beirut, Syria, of Rev. Dr. Henry Harris Jessup, head of the mission work there.

Dr. Jessup was 78 years old and a noted linguist, geologist and botanist.

He first went to Syria in 1857. So engrossed was he in his work that when President Arthur offered him the post of minister to Persia he declined.

Dr. Jessup was born in Montrose, Pa., in 1832, and educated at the Cortland Academy, Homer, N. Y., at Yale and at Union Theological Seminary. He was thrice married—in October, 1857, to Miss Caroline Bush, at Montrose, Pa. She died in 1864, in Syria. Four years later he married Miss Harriet Elizabeth Dodge, at Hartford, Conn. She died in 1881, in Syria. Three years later he married Miss Theodosia Davenport Lockwood at Binghamton, N. Y. She died in Syria in 1907.

Among Dr. Jessup's contributions to science and literature in the form of lectures and books is his work of two volumes—800 pages—just issued by Revell & Co., entitled "Fifty-three Years in Syria."

"I have visited America seven times," he writes, "in the past fifty-seven years, four times on regular furlough and three times through circumstances beyond my control. This has involved traveling 105,000 miles by sea and 50,000 miles by land. While in America I delivered 901 addresses and sermons, besides numerous talks to Sunday schools."

Dr. Jessup leaves four children, the Rev. William Jessup, of Syria; Mr. Henry W. Jessup, a lawyer, of New York City; Miss Annie Jessup, infirm, and Mrs. Day, wife of the professor at the Syrian Protestant College, and one brother, Dr. Samuel Jessup, also a missionary in Syria.

Dr. Jessup was well known in Honesdale and Scranton, having visited his brother, the late Judge W. H. Jessup, at Scranton, several times. His last visit was about five years ago. He is an uncle of W. H. Jessup, R. M. Jessup and G. M. Jessup and of Judge Hand's family.

According to W. H. Jessup, the news of his uncle's death is no surprise, a letter from Beirut some two weeks ago notifying them of Dr. Jessup's critical illness and said he would likely be dead before the letter arrived.

CLUB SELLS TIMBER.

The Kimble Lumber Co. Has Purchased a Large Amount of Timber.

The Kimble Lumber company, composed of Senator Miles Rowland, of Kimbles; Dr. H. B. Ely, of Honesdale, and David Medway, of Moscow, has purchased of the Forest Lake club the standing timber on 1000 acres of land in Lackawaxen township, Pike county. The club requested lumbermen to send in sealed bids for this timber, which were opened last week. We understand three bids were received, and the price paid by the Kimble Lumber Co. was something over $5,000. They have five years in which to remove the timber, which is second growth and is principally white pine. About 45 years ago the primeval forests covering these lands were cut off by the Helberts. The club has 2,000 more acres covered with timber of the same growth.

LAI'D AT REST.

Mrs. B. F. Dunn, for many years a resident of Dyberry, Wayne county, passed away Friday morning, April 22nd, at 2:30 a. m. She was seized with a light stroke on Easter Sunday from which she never recovered, but gradually grew worse, until Wednesday noon when she received another stroke, which ended in her death.

Mrs. Dunn was the daughter of the late and well known M. D. L. Keene, who was one of the leading contractors and builders of Dyberry for many years. She was born in Dyberry on June 9, 1852, and spent her girlhood days in that town, and on September 26, 1871, she was united in marriage to B. F. Dunn. She is survived by her husband, six children and one brother, namely, Mrs. John F. Bray, Mrs. R. B. Keene, Misses Hattie and Edith, and Ralph, all of Scranton, and W. W. Dunn of New York, and one brother, Egbert M. Keene, of Maplewood, also six grand-children.

The funeral was held from her late home at 1113 Delaware street, Scranton, Pa., on Sunday at 3 o'clock, Rev. Olmstead of the Asbury M. E. church officiating. The remains were laid at rest in their beautiful family plot in the Dunmore cemetery. Rev. Olmstead read from her own Bible the 31st chapter of Proverbs, beginning at the tenth verse, where she had marked nearly every verse with her own hands, and which was very appropriate, as she lived it day by day in her life. She joined the M. E. church at Bethany nearly thirty years ago, and in 1888 she moved to Scranton, and placed her letter in the Asbury M. E. church where she was one of the most faithful and untiring workers. She was esteemed by all who knew her; no better evidence of this could be than the beautiful flowers that she received, the casket being literally buried in flowers. The pall-bearers were B. F. Tinkham, B. F. Jayne, O. L. Colvin, W. H. Treverton, William Lanyon and Thomas Tamblin. The flower bearers were Judson Stevens, William Hendrickson and F. S. Oliver.

Those who attended the funeral from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Dunn and family and Miss Edna Phillips of New York City; Mr. Jules A. Dunn and Mrs. Louise Mulledy of Dyberry; Mr. George Marsh and daughter Lizzie, and Miss Grace Reitenauer of Honesdale, and Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Keene and Mrs. F. S. Keene of Maplewood, Pa.

CAVE-IN AT TUNNEL.

WAYNE CUT GLASS COMPANY.

The stockholders of this company have sold their entire stock issue to a syndicate of Towanda capitalists, under the agreement that everything belonging to the company is included in the sale excepting the real estate. The machinery, fixtures, finished and unfinished blanks, will be shipped at once to Towanda where the new owners will carry on the business. Arrangements have been made whereby John Weaver, Jr. and John Kimble, also the salesman, William McKenna, will be retained in the employ of the new owners. Mr. John H. Weaver, Sr., who has been the principal stockholder makes the statement that for seven years they have been putting in money into the concern to help build up a business for the younger members of the company; in all those seven years the stockholders have not received one cent of profit. They have met all their obligations, and have made it a point to keep their men together at all times of the year, and see that they were paid a fair return for their labor, and now that the men are dissatisfied, and have gone on a strike, they feel that they are not justified in continuing the worry and annoyance of furnishing employment for men who, if they cannot have their own way, will not work or allow anybody else to work.

KATZ CONVICTED.

Former Brewery President to Be Sentenced Today.

STOLE STOCK FROM HEINZE.

Maximum Penalty For Offense, Grand Larceny, Ten Years in State Prison—Accomplices Turned State's Evidence and May Escape.

New York, May 3.—Charles Katz, formerly president of a Brooklyn brewing company, will be sentenced today. He was convicted last night before Supreme Court Justice Marcus of grand larceny in the first degree. The maximum penalty is ten years in state prison.

Katz was tried for the theft of Ohio and Davis-Daly copper stock, worth $110,000, belonging to F. Augustus Heinze. The case has become better known as the Heinze-Copper-Windsor Trust company swindle. Donald Persch, a stock broker, who was recently tried for the same crime, will be placed on trial again. His first jury disagreed. Walter Clark, one of the alleged conspirators, was the principal state witness.

Katz's trial began a week ago yesterday. He was hopeful that at least the jury would disagree.

The jury retired at 4:55 p. m. yesterday. At 10:17 p. m. they brought in their verdict. When it was announced by the foreman Katz almost collapsed. Mr. McIntyre had the jury polled.

In the early part of August of last year it became known that Heinze needed cash. Katz had been dealing in curb stocks. He was acquainted with Donald Persch, a curb broker; Walter L. Clark, also a broker, who had served a term in the Elmira reformatory for forgery; John F. Sherwood, who was employed with Field & Co., stock brokers, and a young clerk connected with the Windsor Trust company. The scheme concocted and carried out was this: One of the conspirators went to Heinze and told him that a loan of $50,000 could be got from the Windsor Trust company if Heinze did not appear directly in the transaction. Heinze suggested that his broker, Matthew M. Joyce, act as owner of the collateral to be put up.

As a matter of fact, no money was put up by the trust company, it acting as what Mr. McIntyre called in court the "turning point." Joyce was induced to take copper stock of Davis-Daly and Ohio companies to the trust company. Its value was then $110,000. Field & Co., advanced $50,000. This was given to Joyce, who gave it to Mr. Heinze, with the usual commissions deducted.

It had been understood that the stock would remain with the Windsor Trust company, but the very next day Field & Co., through Sherwood, advanced $50,000 cash with which the stock was taken up and sold in the street. When Heinze and his broker complained to the Windsor Trust company they learned for the first time that the corporation had not put up a penny of the $50,000.

The conspirators, having sold the stock and paid the $50,000 they had borrowed from Field & Co., divided about $48,000.

Whether Clark and Sherwood, who turned state's evidence, will ever be tried remains to be seen. L. J. Field was indicted recently for his connection with the transaction. He is to be placed on trial.

TAFT BILL SLASHED.

Administration Yields to Abandonment of Two Sections.

Washington, May 3.—The situation in regard to the administration railway bill in the senate reached a crisis late yesterday afternoon. President Taft and the Republican leaders have been obliged to abandon two important features of the measure. The sections to be dropped overboard are numbers 7 and 12, the former opening the way for traffic agreements between the roads and the latter legalizing mergers in cases where one road owns at least 50 per cent of the stock of another.

This decision was not reached by the senate leaders until they had got President Taft on the long distance telephone at Pittsburg and informed him of the seriousness of the situation. It is understood they told the president plainly that it was doubtful if the organization could muster the votes to carry these sections of the bill.

London, May 3.—At Barrow-in-Furness today the keel was laid of the battleship Princess Royal, the largest warship of any navy in the world. She will be of 23,000 tons displacement and 700 feet long.

WESTON'S RECEPTION.

Veteran Pedestrian Approaching the New York City Hall.

New York, May 3.—Edward Payson Weston, the seventy-two-year-old pedestrian who completed his walk across the continent yesterday, passed today quietly at his home.

He started out from Santa Monica, on the Pacific coast, near Los Angeles, Cal., on Feb. 1, determined to walk the 3,400 miles to New York in ninety days. He exceeded expectations. Surmounting all difficulties he arrived yesterday, thirteen days ahead of time. In welcoming him, Mayor Gaynor said: "I am mighty proud of you, Weston. The whole world ought to be proud of you. You started on Feb. 1 at 4 o'clock and got here on May 2 at 3:10 o'clock. This is marvelous. There never was anything like that in the history of the world. You are one of the benefactors of the human race. You have made people go out into the open and taught them how to live. If they would follow your teachings they would live a hundred years instead of fifty."

An immense crowd greeted Weston on his arrival at the city hall, which was the point at which he ended his long trip.
