CHILD WAS SLAIN.

Body of Alma Kellner Found Hidden in Cellar.

MISSING SINCE LAST DECEMBER

Long Search For Little Niece of Millionaire Louisville Brewer Ends in Grosse Discovery—Disembodied Remains Indicate Crime.

Louisville, Ky., May 31.—Every detective in Louisville is striving to unravel the baffling mystery of the tragedy which overtook little Alma Kellner, eight years old.

An alarm has been sent to the police of the entire world to seek Joseph Wendling, aged twenty-seven, janitor of St. John's Roman Catholic church at the time Alma Kellner disappeared. It is suspected that he has some knowledge of the crime. Wendling disappeared from this city on Jan. 14, leaving his wife, who is housemaid for Father George Schuhmann, pastor of St. John's, without so much as a word.

It is alleged that a carpet, which was wrapped around the body of Alma, belonged to Wendling, and the police have found clothing of his which they believed is blood stained. A microscopic and chemical examination will be made of the clothing.

The decomposed body of the child who mysteriously disappeared from her home last December was found in a subbasement of St. John's school at Clay and Walnut streets. The body was lying in three feet of water.

The body was positively identified as that of Alma Kellner by her uncle, Frank Fehr, a millionaire brewer of this city.

The condition of the body indicated that it had been in the hiding place for several months and that a crude attempt to bury it had been made. The discovery was made shortly before 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and Chief Lindsey, who hurried to the scene in an automobile, said he had no doubt it was the body of the missing child.

The decaying torso, for a limb was missing, was wrapped in a piece of carpet. The missing limb was found in another part of the cellar, the foot bearing the shoe. The latter feature is puzzling the police.

Alma Kellner disappeared Dec. 8, and from that time until the body was found the case has been a mystery. She left her home on the morning in question to attend a service at St. John's church, and the last seen of her was when she waved goodbye to her mother in front of the residence. The search for the missing girl extended all over the United States, and thousands of dollars were expended by her relatives in the effort to locate her.

The body was found by a plumber who had been sent into the cellar to stop a leak in a water pipe which had flooded the basement.

Chief of Police Lindsey and Coroner Ellis Duncan, who came hurriedly to the scene, announced that the body was that of Alma Kellner, and the chief later gave it out that he believed it to be a case of murder.

One hundred children convened in several rooms of the first and second floor were hurriedly dismissed from their classes and sent home when the find was reported to those in charge of the school.

The torso was found wrapped in a piece of carpet, save for one limb, which was later discovered in a corner of the cellar and buried in the clay floor of the basement to a depth of perhaps three feet. Lamps were quickly brought and the relatives of the child summoned.

Frank Fehr, the millionaire brewer and uncle of the girl, made a hasty examination and stated that the body was that of Alma, for whom he had been searching for months. A ring on the child's finger was expected to finally establish her identity.

The school adjoins St. John's church, where the Kellner family worshipped.

It was to attend services at St. John's church on the morning of Dec. 8 last that Alma left home, about a quarter before 9. She was seen a few moments later as she neared the church by a druggist, who noticed her stopping for a moment to play with a cat which was sitting in the window of the store. The druggist was the last known person to see the child alive.

ROOSEVELT-ROOT CONFAB.

London, May 31.—Colonel Roosevelt had a two hours' conversation with United States Senator Root here. When questioned after the interview the colonel became very reticent and declared he had nothing to say.

LARA IS REPULSED

Storming Forces Driven From Bluefields.

HEAVIEST FIGHTING OF WAR.

Nicaraguan Government Less Hopeful of Early Crushing of War—Venus Misses Clash With Gunboat. More Marines Landed.

Bluefields, May 31.—General Lara, commanding the Nicaraguan regular forces, made an unsuccessful attempt to rush the trenches held on the left flank of General Estrada's position.

The fighting was the heaviest that has taken place during the operations around Bluefields, and the losses were proportionately severe. It is reported on what seems to be excellent authority that the dead and wounded in the struggle alone will foot 250. The revolutionists captured 150 prisoners, most of whom were in shocking physical condition and who agree in the belief that General Lara has abandoned hope of carrying Bluefields by storm as he evidently expected to do.

The provisional government here has issued a decree transferring the customs house from Bluefields bluff to the main harbor. Ships arriving are now compelled to transfer their freight and passengers to the schooner Caye, which is stationed three miles off the mouth of the harbor of Escondido.

It is learned that there was nearly a clash on last Friday night between the Madriz gunboat Venus and the American man-of-war Paducah. Irlas, the commander of the Venus, gave notice that it was his intention to bombard the Estrada trenches. In order to reach them with his guns it would have been necessary to throw shells over the city proper. The commander of the Paducah cleared his vessel for action and notified the Nicaraguans that he would sink the Venus if a single shot was fired. The Venus withdrew from her position and has kept in the background since.

More marines from Colon have been landed here. It is recognized that their presence was needed, as the situation is exceedingly critical. Details of the capture of Bluefields bluff seem to confirm the charges of treachery on the part of General Zeledon, who was accused at the time. While the loss of the position was a heavy blow to Estrada, it is not believed now that they can take the city even by siege.

MEAT DEARER IN ENGLAND.

Supply Decreased Both at Home and Abroad—Future Dark Too.

London, May 31.—The National Federation of Meat Traders' associations announced that owing to the decreased supply both of home grown and imported meats the butchers and retailers of meats in England will be compelled to advance prices.

The statement is added that there is no indication that meat will be any cheaper here in the near future. The sources of supply are said to be seriously depleted.

FEAR STRIKE TROUBLE

Force of Deputies Replace Police at Denver Refining Company.

Denver, May 31.—Trouble is feared at the Globeville plant of the American Smelting and Refining company, near here, where 500 men went on strike after demanding an increase of 25 cents a day in wages.

A force of deputies took charge of the situation, replacing a detail of Denver police who had been called to the plant.

STILL IN POLITICS.

Tom L. Johnson Says He Wants to Be Mayor of Cleveland Again.

New York, May 31.—Tom L. Johnson, former mayor of Cleveland, O., is not to retire and take from American politics a picturesque figure. When he went to Europe a short time ago it was reported that his health was shattered and that he was "all in." Today he is back in New York in the lusty guise of an after dinner speaker and an aspirant for further political honors.

On his return from Europe in improved health he told his New York friends that he intends to run for mayor of Cleveland for the sixth time a year from next fall. Three cent fares prevail in Cleveland, and the stockholders of the city railroad are now getting their 6 per cent dividends, and some of them have got over feeling sore on Mayor Tom and have set up a cry for him to run again. He says he had rather be mayor than governor or president. Mr. Johnson believes that his former opponent but now his friend, Governor Harmon, is to carry Ohio again next fall. Johnson controls the Cleveland Democratic organization and expects to give Harmon 20,000 majority in that city.

Mr. Johnson spoke last night at the banquet of the New York Single Tax club.

BUTTER MENTIONED IN BIBLE.

Genesis Has First Account of the Use of This Now Widely Popular Delicacy.

The first mention of butter occurs in Genesis XVIII., in the account of the entertaining of three angels by the prophet Abraham. Abraham's wife, Sarah, had been set to make cakes, and Abraham "ran unto the herd, and fetched a calf tender and good," and it was dressed. When all was ready for the feast, we are told in the eighth verse of the chapter quoted "And he (Abraham) took butter and milk and the calf which he had dressed, and set it before them; and he stood by them under the tree, and they did eat." The butter here referred to was, however, not the same as the butter which is so widely used in the western countries to-day, but is said to have been more in the nature of curdled milk. Probably olive oil occupied the same position in the dietary of those days that butter does among us. It is believed by the Arabs that the process of making butter was divinely revealed to Abraham, who handed the knowledge of it to the world through his posterity; others assert that when Hagar, with her child, was sent away by Abraham and was perishing with thirst in the wilderness, an angel brought her a refreshing draft of this "oriental nectar," which has ever since been held in the highest esteem by all true Ishmaelites.

Some single suits to clean up stock, at Menner & Co.'s store, will be sold out regardless of cost. 4w
