Col. Roosevelt Sails From Europe Tomorrow.

HE IS BUSY PACKING TODAY.

Tour of Foreign Capitals Ended—More Kings to Hobnob With—Preparations Completed For Great Reception in New York.

London, June 9.—Tomorrow Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will say farewell to Europe and sail back to America.

Today will end his remarkable period of speechmaking and hobnobbing with kings.

As the hour of departure is so near, Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt were chiefly engaged today in the packing of their belongings for the voyage across the Atlantic.

Colonel Roosevelt declares that he has not asked for nor will he accept any favors from the New York custom house upon his return to America on June 18.

In reply to questions concerning the report from America that in view of the fact that he had represented the United States as a special ambassador at the funeral of the late King Edward his baggage would be allowed the exemption from customs inspection that attaches to ambassadorial agents the colonel said:

"I have not asked any courtesies of the New York port or any special consideration for my own baggage or that of my family. I expect to pass

HENRY M. BOUTELL.

Congressman Attacks Prohibition in Brewers' Convention.

Washington, June 9.—An attack on prohibition by Congressman Henry Sherman Boutell of Illinois and a prediction by President Carl J. Hoster of the United States Brewers' association that the time would come when the brewer would be found working with the "real and practical reformers" in the interest of temperance, were the salient features of the fiftieth annual convention of the brewers at the opening session.

Representative Boutell advocated temperance in all things, characterizing it as "closely allied and almost akin to strength." President Hoster in his annual address to the 500 delegates assembled from all parts of the country declared that he had no apology to make for being a brewer and that he recognized every brewer as a promoter of "true temperance."

INSURGENTS MAKE GAINS.

Republican Primaries Show Increased Following of Discontented Leaders.

Des Moines, Ia., June 9.—The vigor of the national fight between insurgency and stand patism is exemplified in the results of primary elections throughout Iowa, the home of insurgent Senators Cummins and Dolliver.

With only five counties missing Governor B. F. Carroll, Republican, is nominated for re-election by a majority of 706 votes over Warren C. Garst, Progressive Republican. The missing counties are known as Carroll strongholds and probably will bring his majority up to 1,500 or 2,000.

Two years ago Carroll was nominated over Garst by 23,000 votes. Insurgents captured eight out of eleven congressional nominations.

South Dakota in Doubt.

Pierre, S. D., June 9.—Indications are that it will take an official count to settle the contest for the Republican nomination for governor.

Both stalwart members of congress—Martin and Burke—were nominated for re-election. The stalwarts made legislative gains also.

The gubernatorial candidates are George W. Egan, independent Republican; Governor Vessey, Progressive, and S. H. Elrod, stalwart.

Progressives assert they have nominated a good working majority in the legislature.

Denounce Insurgents.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 9.—Denunciation of the insurgents and commendation of the Republican administration was the trend of a number of speeches at the first session of the Republican convention in this Senator La Follette's state.

Every mention of President Taft's name by the various speakers was followed by a demonstration. Vice President Sherman addressed the convention, denouncing insurgency.

Black Still Fights.

Pittsburg, June 9.—Robert J. Black, claiming that an honest and correct count of the ballots at Saturday's Republican primaries will show him to have received a majority of 1,100 votes over Congressman Dalzell, filed a petition with the county commissioners asking that the ballot boxes from sixty-five precincts be brought in and opened and the votes recounted.

Friends of Dalzell immediately asked for a hearing. This will be granted, but it is not likely to check the procedure.

New York Preparations.

New York, June 9.—All arrangements have been completed for the brilliant reception which is to be given Colonel Roosevelt on his return from Europe.

Numerous persons from all parts of the country are already assembling here to see the greeting, which will assume the proportions of a spectacle.

ANTI-DIAZ REVOLT.

Yucatan Disturbances More Than Indian Uprising.

LED BY EXILED OFFICERS.

New Aspect Given to Trouble in Mexico Deepens Border Interest—Colonel Victor Montenegro One of Rebels' Leaders.

El Paso, Tex., June 9.—Information received here forces out the startling revelation that the trouble in Yucatan is not merely an "Indian uprising," as described by Mexican officials, but an organized revolution against the rule of Diaz.

This fact has caused Americans here to accept with distrust much of the previous information sent out concerning massacres by savage bands.

Developments are being watched with deepened interest.

It is the fact that Colonel Victor Montenegro is one of the rebel leaders that has given the new aspect to the revolt. He is an army officer who was banished from a choice berth in Mexico to Yucatan for exhibiting a preference for General Bernardo Reyes for vice president against the wish of President Diaz, and it is said that a number of other officers banished with him have taken up arms with the insurgents.

Maximiliano R. Bonilla, another rebel leader, has been American refugee in Yucatan for many years, and there is now a price set upon his head.

Further reports are received of the sacking of towns throughout the interior of Yucatan. As yet only small places have been attacked, and the rebels have contented themselves with killing officials and taking what arms, ammunition and money they could find unless they were resisted. They have also waged war against plantations owned by known to have been unusually loyal to Diaz.

A Mexican gunboat with two battalions of infantry has reached Progreso, the principal seaport of Yucatan, from Vera Cruz. The troops have been dispatched inland. The troops have been on duty in the state of Vera Cruz, which is itself something of a tropical region, and the Mexican government has confidence that they will be able to deal with twice their number of insurgents. They were taken inland through Merida, the capital, where they were loudly cheered, showing that the people of the capital are loyal. They cannot reach the section of dissatisfaction without a hard march, and this may be delayed from the fact that Colonel Victor Montenegro, leader of the rebels, has seized the army transportation and also torn up the railroad tracks.

WILL CONSULT HUGHES.

J. Pierpont Morgan to Seek Governor's Advice in Equitable Affairs.

New York, June 9.—The trust agreement made by Thomas F. Ryan five years ago by which stock control of the Equitable Life Assurance society with its assets of $475,000,000, are vested in Morgan J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse as trustees expires next Wednesday.

Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Westinghouse under the deed of trust have the power to continue it for another five years, but they have taken no action in the matter.

The 502 shares of stock of the Equitable which Mr. Ryan bought from James Hazen Hyde are owned by J. Pierpont Morgan, who acquired them last winter. After Mr. Ryan got stock control of the Equitable he sold some of the shares subject to the deed of trust to the late E. H. Harfinan, and when Mr. Morgan made his purchase he bought from Mr. Ryan and Mrs. Harriman.

What Mr. Morgan's plans are for the future protection of the 600,000 policy holders have not been explained, but it was ascertained that he has advised his partners that his plans must first be submitted to Governor Hughes and the state insurance department and their approval obtained before anything definite is done.

BURNS BESTS COULON.

New Jersey Boy Outpoints "Champion" From Chicago.

New York, June 9.—Frankie Burns, the New Jersey bantam boxer, outpointed Johnny Coulon, who styles himself the 115 pound champion, from Chicago.

From the start the Jersey boy was there and managed to cleverly side step some of Coulon's wild rushes. It was a fast bout from start to finish, with action in every second of each round.

JOHN M'GRAW.

Giants' Manager Blames Moran Because Team Wasn't First.

New York, June 9.—McGraw's explanation of the failure of the Giants to be in first place yesterday morning is the fact, as he calmly insists, that Augie Moran is using a Turkish towel for a spine instead of the regulation backbone prescribed in the official rules.

In the ninth inning of the duel between New York and St. Louis the Giants had a chance to win, when Wilson led off with a single that tore two or three inches of bark from the off shin of Shortstop Hauser. Devore, the fleetest footed young warrior in the business, was immediately substituted for Wilson for base running purposes, and the fun started.

McGraw is at all times willing to gamble on chances in baseball, and, in the parlance of the esteemed crap game, he decided to "shoot it all." When St. Louis was least expecting such a maneuver Devore got the office to steal second with none out. He started like a streak, and to the grand stand it appeared as if he had dived under the ball at second and was safe by a yard. Empire Moran already had his hand uplifted, as if to bring about a disaster, and he couldn't stop. Having gone that far Augie evidently decided to go through with it, and he called Josh out.

To get a fair idea of just what happened you should drop a lighted cigar into a keg of blasting powder and await developments.

That decision on Devore killed off the chances of a victory, for later two more runners got on the bags. With the death rattle in their throats, the Giants had no hope left in Murray, but he couldn't deliver.

TRIAL NEAR CLOSE

Sugar Frauds Case Reaches Jury This Afternoon.

HEARING CLOSING ADDRESSES

Interested Crowd Gathers at Final Day of Celebrated Trial—Last Words Being Said For and Against the Three Defendants.

New York, June 9.—Before the United States circuit court adjourns this evening the sugar frauds case will be in the hands of the jury.

Some time tonight or tomorrow the three defendants will know their fates.

These are Charles R. Helke, aged former secretary of the sugar trust; Ernest W. Gerbracht, former superintendent of the Brooklyn refinery, and James F. Bendernagel, former superintendent of the refinery.

In the beginning there were six defendants, but three of the accused men in the middle of the trial decided to plead guilty, following the testimony of Oscar Spitzer, former dock superintendent, who was pardoned from Atlanta prison and made a full confession of the sugar weighing frauds.

The closing scenes at the trial attracted an interested crowd in which prominent sugar men were conspicuous.

When counsel for the government and for the defendants in the sugar trial began their summing up addresses in the United States circuit court there were five to talk. Winfred T. Denison opened for the government and Henry L. Stinson will close. Henry F. Cochrane summed up for Bendernagel and Clarence W. Lexow for Gerbracht. John B. Stanchfield summed up for Helke this morning.

"We do not claim," said Mr. Denison, "that these defendants knew of the frauds on the specific cargoes mentioned in the indictment. It is not necessary to prove that, but it is inconceivable that the defendants here should not have known of the frauds in general, as the very atmosphere of fraud permeated the whole trust. Bendernagel was located at the distributing point. Figures went from him to Wall street. We do not claim he was the originator or operator, but it is as plain as day that he must have known the government was being defrauded."

"It is a pitiable situation for him to be in. He is a man of honorable disposition, and he must have suffered cruelly during all those years to find himself the center of a system so dishonest. This is a consideration, however, only for the court when it comes time to impose sentence."

Mr. Denison denounced Gerbracht, the $20,000 a year superintendent, so fiercely that his lawyers objected. He decided Gerbracht's defense of being merely an instrument of "Old Man" Havenmeyer and maintained that Gerbracht sanctioned the thefts and rewarded his perpetrators.

Of Helke, Mr. Denison argued that to assume Havenmeyer's "Man Friday" did not know of the weights was beyond all human possibility. As chief of the bookkeeping department, a man whose hobby for twenty-nine years was in weight statistics, Mr. Denison asserted that Helke was the one man in the sugar trust offices at 117 Wall street who knew of the discrepancies.

"It was Helke," he declared, "who conceived and conducted the remarkable bookkeeping system which has made it so difficult to place blame on him."

Mr. Cochrane for Bendernagel said there was no evidence to show that his client had had any physical participation in the frauds or was even acquainted with those who had.

Mr. Lexow for Gerbracht said that frauds on the docks are conceded, but not to the extent alleged by the government. He followed this up by an attack on the tabulations of Harry Waters, the customs liquidator.

"The whole dock," he said, "was tainted with the pestiferous taint of Oliver Spitzer." When the sugar trust paid more than $2,000,000 to the government it paid out money not only for the short weights, but also paid the penalty for having such a man as Spitzer in its employ.

TORNADO HITS PRISON.

Three Buildings at Missouri Penitentiary Wrecked.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 9.—A tornado struck Jefferson City and partly wrecked three buildings at the state penitentiary, but killed no one. It swept in from the river, unroofed E hall, one of the cell buildings, in which there were 800 convicts and eight guards.

Further on it twisted the roofs and fire walls from two other large buildings.

DROPPED 700 FEET

Ten Spilled From Mine Ore Car; Five Killed.

HASTE CAUSE OF DISASTER.

Workmen Crowded Into Narrow Space Are Upset Near Surface—Four Save Themselves by Clutching Shaft Timbers as They Fall.

Dover, N. J., June 9.—Five men were killed, one mortally hurt and four others had narrow escapes from death in the seven hundred foot fall of a shaft lift in the Richard mine.

The accident was due to the eagerness of the ten men involved to leave the mine. They jammed themselves in and on top of an ore lifting car only large enough to hold four inside. In piling on the car they disobeyed the rules of the mine.

The ore lifter ascended the shaft slowly and with many hitches. Finally, 700 feet from the bottom of the mine, the car suddenly turned turtle and spilled its human burden down into the black well.

Those who were clinging to the ropes and practically standing on the heads of those inside the car jumped as the lift tilted over and grasped at the timbers that walled the sides of the shaft. Some of the four men who were saved fell sixty feet before they could secure a firm hold on the timbers. The five men who were killed had been pitched headlong down the shaft and had no opportunity to grasp at anything but air.

Five of the six that reached the bottom of the shaft were mangled past recognition. The sixth man fell upon the others, and though his legs were broken he was alive when found. He had snatched at the timber of the shaft, ripping out the flesh of his hands and arms, but somewhat breaking the impetus of his fall.

Coroner Edward F. Totten, after investigating the accident, exonerated the company from blame. The coroner declared the men were entirely at fault, as they had wilfully violated the company's rules.

One of the dead men, George Dorman, leaves a widowed mother.

TALIAFERRO BEATEN.

Broward Will Be the New Senator From Florida.

Washington, June 9.—Telegrams received in Washington by members of the Florida delegation say there is no doubt of the defeat of Senator Taliaferro by former Governor Broward in the senatorial primary.

The new senator started life as a deckhand on a steamboat plying the St. John's river. His mission in life has been the reclamation of the Everglades of Florida. This was the issue that carried him into the governor's office, and it has been his hobby ever since. His success in converting the Everglades into productive farms helped him in his senatorial primary by a decisive majority. The newly elected senator has been at the head of a realty company since he left the governor's office. He is not a lawyer.

through the customs the same as any private citizen returning from a trip abroad. I expect to pay full duty on every article not exempted to the general traveling public."

The former president yesterday recovered from the effects of his strenuous day at Oxford. His throat, which had failed him when delivering his lecture, was better, and he was feeling "bully." Yesterday afternoon a reception in their honor was given by Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid at Dorchester House.

It was made known at the White House that the president had asked Mr. Meyer and Mr. Wilson to go over to New York to greet their former chief.
