Friday afternoon four, all the ministers here, spoke on personal recollections of their stay here. It is good to know that they keep in memory only the bright side. Rev. Houck, in a humorous vein, told the history of the building of the church; the remodeling of the old Baptist church after buying it for $100 and putting on improvements. Sunday school rooms, etc., to the amount of $2,000, and, with the stone flagging for payment for the church, all was paid for and $2.50 left in the treasury before Mr. Houck left. His time was from 1886-1906. The members of the official board then were Charles Faatz, Charles Blake, William Paynter, Thomas Hoar and the late William Box. There is a portly wholesaler, a regular boarder at one of the hotels in town, who is noted for several things but whose principal claim to local consideration is based on the fact that he is a weather optimist of the most decided character. Sunday afternoon, just at sundown, he sat out on the piazza, his chair so placed that he could without getting up see the vane on the Methodist steeple, and remarked that the little weather instrument up there in the air was slowly but permanently shifting around to the westward. "That," said the weather optimist, "means fair weather. It's going to clear away. You men who said it would rain the whole of June have another prediction coming. Each of you owes me a cigar. I smoke 10-cent cigars, remember." One man, a fellow boarder of the W. O., observed that it might be a good plan for him to shin up the steeple and hold the vane to a western portion the rest of the month. "Nothing doing," was the complacent rejoinder. "You see, I only weigh 265, and if I went up that steeple, why, I'd break the whole business down, before I'd got halfway up to where I could take hold of the vane, and then what kind of weather would you folks get in Honesdale?" It is understood one of the cigars will be paid some time to-day.

OTHER CONQUESTS

Hamilton Expected Soon to Start on Greater Flight.

HE IS $10,000 RICHER TODAY. Aviator's Wonderful Round Trip Aerial Voyage From New York to Philadelphia Hailed as Great Triumph of Air Navigation. New York, June 14.—Today Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, is $10,000 richer than he was yesterday, and his fame has spread over a wider portion of the world's surface than ever before. His aerial flight from New York to Philadelphia and back again proved that Hamilton is more than a "daredevil man-bird." It places him high among the master aviators of the world. In completing the wonderful flight Hamilton not only displayed daring, but the resourcefulness and generalship essential to the conquest of the air. When his machine broke down on the return voyage it looked for a time as though the $10,000 prize would slip from his fingers, but Hamilton grimly held to his purpose and at last sailed triumphantly back to his starting place. His prize was equal to that paid to Glenn H. Curtiss for his air ride from Albany to New York. As Curtiss is "a New York boy," New York was proud of his success and rejoiced with him. Hamilton is "a Connecticut boy," and today Connecticut is rejoicing. Hamilton's friends now declare that he will make an early start to win one of the big $25,000 and $30,000 prizes offered for aerial voyages from New York to Chicago and from New York to St. Louis. They jubilantly say he will surely meet with success in the great long distance voyage. Hamilton, the little redhaired acrobat of the upper airs, lifted his biplane over Governors Island at 7:43 o'clock yesterday morning, and at 6:40 p. m. yesterday evening he returned to the spot from which he started. The flight to Philadelphia was made without mischance. Straight as a pigeon on the wing Hamilton sailed over cities, rivers and farms, winging an unsurpassed course. At 9:28 a. m. he was shaking hands with Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania, eighty-six miles from Governors Island. Hamilton's luck failed him on the journey home or he might by wheeling around Yonkers have beaten Paulhan's record for uninterrupted flight—117 miles, London to Litchfield. Fifty-three miles from Philadelphia he lost his bearings, mistaking a green patch of Jersey for Staten Island, and simultaneously two of the eight cylinders of his engine coughed and quit work. He dropped into the clutch of a swamp near South Amboy, and it was hours before repairs could be made and the aviator could escape the immense crowd that swarmed from the Jersey towns. As it was, his actual flying time for the 172 miles was 206 minutes, and he fulfilled to the letter his contract with the New York Times to make a round trip from New York to Philadelphia within twenty-four hours, Glenn H. Curtiss, the first man in this country to make long distance calls in a flying machine, said he considered Hamilton's achievement the greatest in the history of aviation, unsurpassed in that Hamilton struck out a course for himself, without land buoys to guide him, without a charted route to help him, and accomplished the feat with such accuracy that he kept to the second on the schedule he had laid out. Few men have received the kind of reception that Hamilton got when he dropped out of the clouds last evening. Along the Battery, the water front of lower Brooklyn, the edge of Staten Island and the Jersey shore the piers and sea walls were black with people. Thousands of them had waited for hours, swayed by rumors that came from the Amboy swamp. On Governors Island, at the aviation

HAMILTON MAKING START.

$100,000 AVIATION PRIZES.

Washington Will Offer Great Inducements For Flight to Capital. Washington, June 14.—At a meeting of the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce and the Aero Scientific club it was decided to postpone the proposed New York to Washington flight until the fall. Officials of the chamber of commerce said they were sure they could raise $100,000 if a contest could be arranged among any of the well known long distance aviators. It is deemed advisable by them to fix the prize for a New York to Washington race, provided four machines enter it, at $50,000.
