LOCAL MENTION.

—The Honesdale National bank will be closed Monday.

—The town council have ordered a new one-horse lawn mower, to cost $53. The residents fronting Central park have contributed $25 toward paying for this machine.

—Miss Grace Jadwin will teach as principal at Seelyville school next year. The vice-principal will be Clarence Hopkins of Aldenville, the primary teacher Miss Clara Eck.

—Evidence that some one is dynamiting the Delaware is found in a number of large bass floating dead at the Water Gap. Some of the bass, it was estimated, would weigh at least seven pounds.

—On Friday, July 1, the Seelyville Fire company will have an ice cream social, followed by a dance in their hall at Seelyville. The attendance from Honesdale is bound to be large. The social will be held on the lawn.

—W. A. Rose, United States post-office inspector, who was in charge of the district extending from Honesdale to Williamsport, with headquarters in Scranton, has just been transferred to St. Louis, Mo. He has entered on the discharge of his duties in that city.

—Attention, veterans! Regular meeting of Capt. Ham Post, G. A. R. Friday evening, July 1. The Post has been invited to attend the dedication of the monument to Gen. Sheridan in Scranton, Monday, July 4, and at this meeting will take action on the invitation.

—Early Monday morning of last week a young man of Olyphant found an automobile along Main street, near the Riverside. The machine was found to be broken in its steering parts, and was evidently abandoned. The young man took it in charge and Wednesday the owner called for it, explaining that he had met with an accident and that he left the machine there while he went on urgently to his destination. He took the machine to his home near Ariel.

—The historical committee of the Old Home week celebration held a meeting at the club rooms of the Stroudsburg Industrial club the other night, when the arrangements were completed for the publication of the historical sketch of the borough, which will be put up in attractive book form and sold during the big week. The book will be suitably illustrated, and it is expected will meet with a generous demand. The committee will have the book in two different bindings, one more substantial than the other and sold at a slight advance in price. This is a very important work and no doubt there will be a copy in every home in Monroe county after they are placed on sale.

—The poles are set and wires strung for the trolley between Scranton and Moosic lake, to take the place of the rather unsubstantial and unsatisfactory steam line to the sheet of water in question. With new cars, reasonable rates, says a Scranton writer, many attractions at the lake, and the picturesque scenery en route, Moosic lake should prove to be one of Scranton's most popular excursion and picnic resorts. It is expected the new line will be opened early in July, and with the Northern Electric road extended to the outlet at Lake Winola and the proposed extension to Lake Sheridan and on to Binghamton, with the proposed new trolley system to Lake Ariel and Rocky Glen and other suburban resorts and the Sunday excursions on the Jersey Central and O. & W., the people of Scranton and vicinity will have no lack of delightful places to spend a few hours in recreation.

—There will be communion services in the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning.

—The factory buildings of Kelly & Steinman are offered for sale. See advertisement.

—Captain James Ham Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—The Pennsylvania Christian Endeavor union will hold its fifth biennial convention at Franklin July 12, continuing three days. Wilkes-Barre wants the next meeting.

—Ernest Miller, whose hotel at Twin lake was burned recently, has had more misfortune. A valuable horse fell dead at East Honesdale Thursday. The animal was valued at $150.

—Manuel Jacobson, the former owner of the Boston store, who was lately declared a bankrupt, left Honesdale on Saturday for Rochester, where he will enter the employ of a relative.

—Considerable work is being done on the Port Jervis-Milford road. It is widened in places, the water breaks removed and parts have been gravelled. These improvements will be appreciated by autoists.

—There is now on deposit in the Honesdale National bank $15,000 to the credit of the general fund of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. There is in the Dime bank $5,000 belonging to the sinking fund and $25,000 in the Wayne County Savings bank credited to the same fund.

—The rite of baptism was conferred on children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rowley of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Augustus P. Thompson of Andover, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bader and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tingley of Honesdale at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

—Harvey Huffman, who was successful in securing the Democratic nomination for state senator in this district, admits spending $1,916.24 to secure the nomination. This is paying a good price to have the privilege of running for an office which pays $1500 per session, two sessions in four years.

—Committees are hard at work arranging for the annual excursion of the parish of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church, Carbondale, which will be held at Lake Lodore today. The proceeds will be turned into the building fund for the new church, and it is expected the excursion will be liberally patronized.

—Orders have been received at the Erie offices in Port Jervis to prepare the pay rolls of men employed wholly or partly in New York state and forward them to the auditing department. The Erie has taken the step to pay twice a month in conformity with the law which the court of appeals has declared constitutional after considerable litigation.

—Patrick Burns, aged 84, died Friday at his home in Prompton from the infirmities of old age. He is survived by six children—John, James and Martin, living in New York; Margaret and Sarah at home, and Mrs. Anna McCabe of Carbondale. Undertaker E. J. Burns of the latter city is a nephew. The funeral was held Monday morning from St. John's church, with a mass of requiem. Interment was in Honesdale.

—Patrick H. Baker, who recently tendered his resignation as foreman at the Delaware and Hudson locomotive shops, has left for Pueblo, Col., where he has accepted a position as general foreman of the shops of the Denver and Rio Grande. The offer was received through M. J. Powers, the master mechanic, who is a former resident of Carbondale. Mr. Baker is a skilled mechanic and has the hearty well wishes of all his friends for his success in the West.

—Of interest to railroad men and traveling men alike is the announcement that 46 engines, declared by railroad experts to be of the highest type of modern construction, have been delivered to the Lackawanna company from the Schenectady plant of the American Locomotive company. Tests made so far of them have proved very successful and the 46 will soon be in active service. This order is said to be one of the largest ever filled for an Eastern company at one time.

—By a recent change in the form of the postoffice money order the mail advice to the postmaster of the office on which the order is drawn is eliminated. This will effect a saving to the government of about $500,000 per year. The new order is provided with a coupon which is mailed to the person in whose favor it is drawn, and is retained by the postmaster making the payment. The new form will go into use as soon as the public printer can obtain the necessary supply of safety paper.

—The Stroudsburg Jeffersonian, known to many Monroe county people as "the Jeff," has been bought by George C. Hughes, once manager of the Passaic (N. J.) News, more recently in the same position on the Washington (N. J.) Star. Mr. Hughes has been in Stroudsburg journalism before, for he started the Times, an afternoon paper, while proprietor of the old Monroe Democrat. The paper he has bought is all right, and Mr. Hughes, from what Wayne county newspapermen have heard about him, is all right. The Citizen hopes he may still further improve the paper and increase its bank account and the contents of its cash drawer.

—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lutz on Tuesday a daughter.

—Walter Hempstead has secured a position as driver with Fred Rickard.

—Mrs. H. A. Decker of Cliff street was badly bitten Sunday while trying to part her dog and a neighbor's as they fought.

—There are unclaimed letters in Honesdale postoffice for: Miss Lolita Burcher, Miss Beatrice Capollo, Bert Haney, Julius Tirk.

—A marriage license was issued in Scranton Monday to Almus W. Olber of Syracuse, N. Y., and Miss Annie E. Boyce of Hamlin.

—Snapping turtles are not terrapins, so not protected by law. Recently one was caught in Westcolong pond that weighed 53 pounds.

—Hon. Joel G. Hill of Lookout is convalescing. His daughter, Miss Myra, a trained nurse, is caring for him. He was much more comfortable yesterday.

—Charles F. Rockwell, who has been an inmate of the State hospital, Scranton, several weeks, where he submitted to two serious operations, returned home Tuesday afternoon.

—Mrs. William B. Holmes gave a dance and supper in honor of her granddaughters, Misses Helen and Daisy Mills of Brookline, Mass., who are spending the summer with her. About 50 people were present.

—Pity the horses this hot weather, see that they are not left standing in the sun while you're enjoying cooling drinks in the shade. Provide them with fly nets. A straw hat with a sponge in it is another humane protection for these faithful dumb beasts.

—Health Commissioner Dixon plans to fight for the lives of poor children of Pennsylvania who may be in danger of tetanus by distributing anti-tetanus serum free of charge to such needy ones as may be injured by explosives July 4. C. C. Jadin will be the Honesdale distributor.

—Ex-President Roosevelt is likely to visit Milford the coming summer as the guest of Gifford Pinchot at Grey Towers, say Pike county dispatches to New York and Philadelphia papers. No confirmation, however, has yet been secured; indeed, it is not certain the deposed chief forester will be at his country place this summer.

—The second of Rev. George S. Wendell's series of sermons on notable hymns was given Sunday evening, when the Baptist pastor talked on "Rock of Ages," by Augustus M. Toplady, a contemporary of Charles Wesley, whose "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" was considered by Mr. Wendell one week ago Sunday. He explained the beauties of Dr. Toplady's composition and briefly sketched the author's life. Next Sunday, Mr. Wendell said yesterday, he hopes to take up Cardinal John Henry Newman's "Lead, Kindly Light."

—The work of erecting the Phil Sheridan monument on Court House square, corner of Adams avenue and Spruce street, commenced Monday, and the contractor has given assurance to the monument committee that the undertaking will be completed by Friday night. All the stone is now on the ground, the foundation is laid and nothing remains to be done except erect the pedestal and place the figure. After the monument is erected it remains unveiled until unveiling day on the Fourth. This will be a big day in Scranton's history and the unveiling will draw heavily from many of the northeastern Pennsylvania towns.

—The Pennsylvania Coal company of Shohola has made its last run of logs for the season down the creek, which for a couple of miles back from the mill at Shohola is filled with timber. The reservoirs will be allowed to run out to save expense of repairs in summer. After the lumber is all removed it is possible the property may be converted into a summer resort. Recently architects and surveyors have examined the sites and it is found that a lake several miles long easily can be made which, with the large area of wooded land, would make a desirable location for that business. The Shohola is one of the finest trout streams in northeastern Pennsylvania.

—Wayne county sports are not putting up much money on the big fight for the world's heavyweight championship that will be waged on the Fourth at Reno, the lively little divorce town in Nevada. There are not many Johnson men in Honesdale and the prevalent impression here is that the white slugger ought to lick the life out of the black slugger, but there is one man in town who won money on the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight at Carson City in 1897 and this man says that if the mill goes 18 rounds the Johnson chance is good. Traveling men putting up at Honesdale hotels very generally favor Jefferies and they are willing to wager hats and cigars and the like of that on the big St. Louis boller-maker, though not many of them offer to go down into their jeans for the long green. "I'll bet the best hat in Honesdale that Jeff knocks the nigger out," said one of the best known landlords in northeastern Pennsylvania. Nobody offered to take him. He was talking to a Jeffries crowd.
