LOCAL MENTION.

—All the banks close Monday—legal holiday.

—Captain James Ham Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., will meet this (Friday) afternoon at 3 o'clock.

—Rev. A. L. Whittaker will hold services in the Presbyterian church at Waymart Sunday at 3 p. m.

—On and after July 4 the doors of the postoffice lobby will be locked at 8 p. m. The earlier train service on the Erie from New York is responsible for this, and patrons will govern themselves accordingly.

—The Seelyville Fire company's ice cream social and dance comes tonight. The eating is on the lawn, if the weather holds fine. The dancing will be in the hall.

—The plum crop will be a light crop this year in Wayne county, say the farmers who go in for fruit. The cold spring was a freezer for the plums and those that do reach the market will be small affairs.

—Next Sunday there will be special services in the Presbyterian church. Communion will be celebrated at 10.30. In the evening, at 7.30, Dr. Swift will speak on "The Threshold of Independence Day."

—Judge James J. O'Neill at Scranton Wednesday granted a decree in divorce to Belle King, of Wayne county, from Michael King. They were married Aug. 8, 1900, and separated in Oct. 1905. Desertion was alleged.

—Dr. George C. Butler returned yesterday from the meeting of the state dentists in Harrisburg, reporting a fine time and a very profitable gathering of the tooth surgeons of Pennsylvania. He did not make the trip in the new steam auto the Butlers have just bought, but he thinks another year he may steam to the convention if he goes at all.

—Irving Stark of East Honesdale, with his family, started to drive home from the circus late Tuesday night and on Church street ran into a hole, although the hole was properly marked and lighted. He was not hurt by the turnover and neither was anybody else in the carriage, but the back of the seat was smashed and the whole Stark party was badly scared. They woke up half the neighborhood before the carriage could be gotten out of the hole and the journey to East Honesdale resumed.

—Wild strawberries are still being plucked on Irving cliff and other elevations, and the boys and girls spend some of their spare time tramping, climbing and picking. The cultivated berries have been quite plentiful and cheap. They have sold at 10 cents a box for a matter of 10 days or a fortnight past. Honesdale housewives started their strawberry canning about as soon as the 10-cent period arrived. Next winter, or even before then, those dark red berries in their own rich, satisfactory syrup will taste good to every man and woman who is not a crank on the subject of grub.

—A delightful reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wetter at their cottage at Lake Ariel Sunday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wetter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Wetter, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wetter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wetter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Wetter, Mr. and Mrs. John Hefty, Mr. and Mrs. William Eiden, Mr. and Mrs. James Ratchford, Mr. and Mrs. James Garry, Misses Charlotta Wetter, Maudie Kramer, Anna Wetter, Margaret Rofan, Mammie Hefty, Anna Hefty, Hilda Wetter, Marion Ratchford, Genevieve Ratchford, Sadie Ratchford, James Ratchford and John Carroll.

—The joint excursion of the Langeliff and Moosic Presbyterian Sunday schools will be run to Lake Lodore Thursday, July 21. A large number of athletic events have been arranged.

—Attention, veterans! Regular meeting of Capt. Ham Post, G. A. R., tonight (Friday.) The Post has been invited to attend the dedication of the monument to Gen. Sheridan in Scranton Monday and at this meeting will take action on the invitation.

—Saturday's ball game will be between Honesdale and Jermyn. Encouraged by last Saturday's success, when the locals beat the strong East Stroudsburg normal team by a score of 2 to 1 in a hot 12-inning game, Capt. Kupfer's boys expect to take another scalp, though Jermyn has a fast and clever team and has won several games already this season. Gregor, the young southpaw "from the hill," will be in the box.

—W. C. Rinearson, general passenger agent of the Queen and Crescent railroad and formerly general passenger agent of the Erie, died at Merion, a suburb of Philadelphia, Tuesday, after a long sickness. Mr. Rinearson, whose headquarters were in Cincinnati, came to the home of his son-in-law, George K. Erben, at Merion in an effort to regain his health, but he steadily grew worse. He was 62 years old. Interment will be made at Hamilton, Ohio, the home of his youth. Mr. Rinearson was known in Honesdale.

—A bulletin on the so-called thyroid carcinoma, which affects brook trout, has been issued for free distribution by the state department of fisheries. This disease, a growth on the thyroid glands of the trout, has long been known to pisciculturists, but a near panic arose recently from a report that the disease communicated cancer to persons who eat trout infected. This belief seems to be fallacious. The bulletin gives a number of experiments by Dr. David Marine of the Western Reserve university, Cleveland, O., which show the disease is readily curable by the use of iodine.

—This world is an ungrateful region. The portly citizen of large heart and kindly practices who is noted at the hotel where he boards for the cheerful alacrity with which he gets up nights to let keyless boarders in at the front door came home late the other night and found, to his consternation, that the key to his room was in his other suit upstairs. He banged and pounded in the front hall and the side hall but all without result until one of the girls employed by the hotel got up and found him another key. He says the girl will be remembered in his last will and testament, but that the lazy men folks that refused to reciprocate his kind acts will not get so much as a souvenir postcard or one-cent stamp out of his estate.

—The members of Holy Rosary congregation of Providence are making extensive preparations for the excursion to Lake Lodore Aug. 25. There are no better nor more enthusiastic lot of workers in any parish than may be found in Holy Rosary, and this year's reunion of the congregation will eclipse any annual event previously held by them. A fine programme of events is in course of preparation, and there will be nothing left undone to make the affair a financial and social success. The members of other parishes throughout the valley have in years gone by arranged to take a day's outing with members of Holy Rosary, and this year that number will be increased because of the delightful time experienced on previous occasions.

—The postoffice shuts up shop at 8 o'clock at night now. The Erie train from New York that used to drop its rather heavy Eastern mail here at 8.19 gets in at 6.45 and the clerks like the change. They get an extra hour's recreation these pleasant summer nights, whereas under the old regime they had to stay on the job until 9. Not everybody in Honesdale is wise yet to the fact that the first Erie train in the morning goes out at 7.20, not at 8.27. Two or three business men anxious to get to New York in the forenoon have been left on the station platform, and there is at least one Honesdale citizen who struck Chambers street in New York at 2.30, expecting to take the 3 o'clock train out, only to find he could not make Honesdale on the Erie that day.

—A young business man who went to the circus poor in purse but rich in the confidence and courage required to ask other men to arrange for his expenses says he had the time of his life when Howe's London shows hit Honesdale. He reached the grounds with a dime in one pocket, a nickel in the other pocket, no cigars, no chewing tobacco, no matches and no bottle. At the main entrance a good if not great friend agreed to provide 50 cents for the ticket. The beneficiary of this circus day generosity did not give any security. He did not sign a judgment note for half a dollar. He simply walked into a reserved seat and feasted his hungry optics for two hours on the clown and the elephants. At the end, he was escorted back to Main street by the same compassionate companion who had bought his ticket and from this same bountiful source of supply received two drinks and a 10-cent cigar. He says it pays to go to the circus grounds in an impecunious condition and that he hopes he may fare as well when the county fair comes in October.

—There will be a dance at the Alert hall under the auspices of the Alert Fire company Wednesday evening. There will be good music by Sonner's orchestra.

—Mrs. E. A. McMullen, Jr., entertained the members of Carbondale's Just So club at her summer cottage at Waymart yesterday. Refreshments were served under the trees and the elegant country air was thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors from Carbondale, who left for home on the 5 o'clock train.

—A beautiful cut glass vase, also a cut glass water set of a dozen glasses that have been on exhibition in the window of Thos. Farrell, Jr., were awarded to the members of classes F & A, respectively, at the matinee races. These prizes were donated by John R. Townsend, and are the make of the A. E. O'Connor factory.—Goshen cor. Middletown (N. Y.) Mercury.

—At the Baptist church Sunday evening Rev. George S. Wendell, who is making up, one by one, the best hymns in the English language, will tell what he knows about "Lead, Kindly Light," that immortal production of John Henry Newman. He has already considered "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Rock of Ages." These talks are unique, instructive and well worth hearing.

—John Pizry, the Port Jervis darkey accordion player and singer who has missed very few circus days and other lively occasions in Honesdale since 20 years, was here Tuesday and Wednesday. His singing and playing are both holding their own, and he entertained scores of his old acquaintances in the customary manner at the customary places. He thinks he began his Honesdale trips before 1880.

—Hon. E. B. Hardenbergh, Judge A. T. Searle, Postmaster M. B. Allen and C. H. Dorflinger left Wednesday morning for a water, rail and gas-horse trip that should prove enjoyable. They went to New York on the 7.20 train, and from New York they took the Sound steamer for New Bedford, Mass. At New Bedford they got into a speedy touring car and motored to Danvers, the old home of Judge Searle. They are expected in Honesdale by Saturday. The home trip will be made by rail.

—The women of the Rileyville Presbyterian church will have their dinner at the church tomorrow noon, as stated in Wednesday's paper. They are preparing to feed the customary large company. Sunday should be an interesting day at the church, for Rev. Thomas Houston, the blind preacher whose labors have been so successful at Rileyville this month, is coming back. At Siko this week he has held largely-attended meetings that are bound to bear fruit. He is very eloquent as a talker and his earnest appeal to his congregations seldom fails to bring results.

—The death last August of E. H. Harriman is largely responsible for the return to the stage of Margaret Illington Bowse, which was recently announced, says a New York dispatch. Her husband, Edward J. Bowes, is the chief owner of several thousand acres of Tacoma, Washington, suburban real estate purchased four years ago after the Harriman railway began purchasing terminal property there. The failure of the Harriman railway since Harriman's death to build a separate railway has delayed the development of Bowes' property in the west end. Bowes' indebtedness on his large holdings is said to approximate $500,000. Miss Illington's return to the stage is prompted by a desire to help her husband retain and develop all his real estate holdings.

—In a little while farmers will be more or less troubled with crows pulling corn. Prof. Surface of the Pennsylvania station recommends that the seed be soaked a few minutes in water containing a solution of coal tar or gas tar and then spread out and allowed to dry. This makes the corn bitter and crows will not touch it. Another and better method is to scatter corn over the fields at about the time the planted crop is shooting through the ground. The crow, however, is very fond of grubs and the cut worm and he searches for them where he usually finds them—in hills of corn. In quest for this kind of food, he most always takes a kernel of the sprouting corn along with the grub or cut worm where he finds it. If he would only take the grub and leave the corn to grow he would be one of the farmers' best friends.

—One of the greatest fools on God's green earth is the fellow who takes his roll to the circus with him. A Wayne county farmer—a man, by the way, who does not care much about fire water—came to town Tuesday and in his pocket he had $125, good and lawful money of the United States. He didn't need over $5 for the day's enjoyment, but he got an idea it would be a good plan for him to be well supplied with the shewes of war on circus day. Fortunately for this well-heeled denizen of the rural regions, he told a business man in town on whom he called that he "had a hundred and a quarter in his pocket to see the elephant with." He was induced to leave $115 in the safe of his friend, who gave him a receipt for that amount. He peeled off a $10 bill and started for the circus ground. Late that night he called for the balance, took his $115, tore up the receipt, and started for home, remarking as he went that he guessed it was a poor plan for a man to take all his money to the circus.

—The Merry Heart club held a picnic at Fortena Wednesday. On Monday they will leave for a week's outing at Elk Lake.

—At Grace church Sunday there will be holy communion and sermon at 10.30 a. m.; evening prayer and sermon 7.30; Sunday school and Bible classes at 12 M.

—John C. Beck, the genial proprietor of the Farmers hotel in Milford, captured a live rattler on his farm in Milford township. His snakeship measured over three feet and sported eleven rattles and a button.

—Gov. Stuart has appointed Judge Ralph B. Little of Monroe a member of the commission to build a hospital for the criminal insane. He succeeds Charles F. Wright, state treasurer, who resigned. Both men are known in Wayne county.

—The annual excursion of the Carbondale Presbyterian church to Lake Lodore will be held today and it promises to be one of the most enjoyable outings at the lake this summer. The train will leave Carbondale at 9.30 o'clock and return leaving the lake at 6 p. m. Sports of all kinds will be indulged in, including a game of ball between the married and single men.

—With little formality Rev. C. C. Miller, the new German Lutheran pastor, will commence work Sunday. At 10.30 he will preach in German. At 7.30 in English. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were here a fortnight ago and at that time met a number of Honesdale people, parishioners and others. The new pastor and his wife made at that time a very pleasant impression, which time and better acquaintance will no doubt deepen. The services Sunday will be attended by good-sized congregations, called out by the desire to give Mr. Miller the most cordial possible welcome to Honesdale.
