BENNET'S DISTRICT FOR HIM.

Nineteenth of New York Working to Make Congressman Governor.

The New York Tribune says the boom of Representative William S. Bennet for the Republican nomination for governor got another boost when the 19th assembly district committee endorsed his candidacy.

The 19th is the Congressman's home district, of which he was leader until he laid down the work to Senator Alexander Brough last fall, and in a long set of resolutions eulogistic of his character and achievements the committee pledged itself to work for him.

Nathaniel Levy, chairman of the committee, introduced Assemblyman Murray, who spoke at some length on the strength of Bennet and wound up by introducing the resolutions, which were put through with a rush.

In the resolutions the congressman was spoken of as "a patriotic American and an able representative, responsive to public sentiment and abreast of the times concerning the current issues and political demands of the voters of the state."

The increasing majorities by which he had been elected to the house each time were dwelt on, and it was declared that a strong sentiment in support of his candidacy for governor was manifesting itself in various parts of the state.

Congressman Bennet showed much feeling in his reply, saying he had come "to believe the high office to which you seek to elevate me is second to but one in the gift of the American people."

Berry a Man of Many Party Affiliations.

William Harvey Berry, the candidate of the Keystone party for governor, has been in public life for a number of years. He has figured as a Bryan Democrat, a free silverite, a Prohibitionist and as a candidate for the legislature on a local option platform.

He was born in Edwardsville, Ill., September 8, 1852. He served as an apprentice in a machine shop in Buffalo and has several inventions of his own, among them a high pressure heating boiler. He is a resident of Chester, where he twice figured in unsuccessful campaigns for Congress on the Democratic and Prohibition tickets. When he was nominated for state treasurer in 1905 he was mayor of Chester. He was then named upon the Democratic, Prohibition, Lincoln and other tickets and he defeated the Republican nominee by 90,000 plurality. That was the year when John Weaver led opposition to the Philadelphia Republican organization and a big bank failure in Allegheny county contributed to the defeat of the Republican nominee.

After his term as state treasurer ended Mr. Berry was defeated by over 1200 majority as a local option nominee for the legislature in the Chester city district. He is engaged in the brick manufacturing business. Publicity given recently to the fact that Col. James M. Guffey, the Democratic leader, holds his notes for a considerable sum attracted widespread attention. Mr. Berry has intimated that the money was used in his efforts to reveal grafting in the furnishing of the state capitol, while Col. Guffey is quoted as saying the money was loaned for Mr. Berry's personal use.

MODERN WOODMEN

Committee in Charge of Log Rolling at Rocky Glen.

Thousands of Woodmen, members of the 39 camps comprising the Northern Log Rolling association of the Modern Woodmen of America, will unite on Aug. 20 in the log-rolling festivities at Rocky Glen. A program varied to the tastes of 5,000 people expected to attend has been prepared, and it has been arranged with the management of the park that if the weather is unfavorable on Aug. 20 the outing will be postponed until the next open date.

One of the chief features will be a cigar-smoking contest. There will also be ball games and a water carnival.

The following general committee is in charge: H. F. Marshall, chairman; W. G. Loomis, secretary; P. S. Saltry, treasurer, and A. H. Howell, White Mills; John B. Jordan, Carbondale; Fred G. Tolley, Honesdale; H. J. Hoover, Ariel; E. B. Baldwin, Pittston; G. W. Hughes, Carbondale; Peter Saltry, Scranton; Walter Kelly, Olyphant; M. J. Smith, Taylor; C. H. Sauerlich, Wilkes-Barre; M. A. Stevens, Factoryville; J. J. L. Jones, Unifondale; E. C. Stackhouse, Horace G. Smith, Edward W. Finn, Dr. William Zechman, E. F. Hegers, Dr. James Stein, James Doherty, James Hurd, W. F. Gibbons, W. G. Moser, all of Scranton; James Montgomery, Susquehanna.

BIG LAND TRANSFER

Last Link in Wilsonville Reservoir Property.

The recent transfer of 2,240 acres of land, mostly in Wayne and some in Pike, by Estelle M. Ross of New York to Louis Watres Healey of Scranton completes the transfers of land connected with the immense new power reservoir to be built at Wilsonville. The price paid was about $80,000.

A large, well-cultivated farm, several tenements housing 10 families, and stone quarries employing a number of men are on the tract and included in the purchase.

This land includes the village of Wilsonville, the first county seat of Wayne. The land extends several miles up the Paupack river and in some places both sides of the river are in the tract.
