LOCAL MENTION.

—Stroudsburg's Old Home week cleared $645.

—The Demming family reunion will meet in Todd's grove, Uniondale, Saturday. All friends meet with them on this day.

—According to the Pike County Press, the total cost of oiling Milford's streets was $459. It has been very successful in allaying the dust and caused very little inconvenience to travel.

—The fire boys of Seelyville will hold another ice cream social and dance Friday night. They want all the married people to come, and they add that old maids and old bachelors will not be barred.

—Tom Etsel of Damascus, who was brought to jail last Thursday by Deputy Constable Thomas Caffrey and Matt Mogridge after being bound over by Justice A. F. Lawson of Manchester township on the charge of stealing 10 chickens, got $200 bail Saturday and went home.

—Henry Theobald's horse, Sylvia Bargie, is in good shape and will make all the northeastern Pennsylvania fairs this fall. Leo, the youngest of the four Theobald boys, has been working his brother's mare every decent day for three or four weeks and he said Saturday that Sylvia is going finely now. Her mark is 2.26 1/4.

—Nine cars loaded with coal in a northbound D. & H. train in charge of Conductor Wright and Engineer Barnheight were derailed at Starucca shortly before noon Saturday. The cars were piled up, and the coal was spread along the tracks for several hundred feet. Traffic on both the Erie and D. & H. tracks was badly damaged. No one was hurt. Another derailment of two cars occurred in a D. & H. southbound train at Sink Hole, a short distance south of Ararat.

—One of the additions to Glen Dyberry's list of beautiful monuments is one that old veteran, William Skelton, has had erected to the memory of his wife and children, and which is also intended to mark his last resting place. It is a magnificent stone, beautifully but modestly embellished, and reflects great credit on the skill of Martin Caulfield, who cut and erected it according to the plans and instructions of Mr. Skelton. The latter, although in his 85th year, possesses the vigor and energy of many a man much younger.

—There is a Democratic lawyer in this borough who implicitly believes the bullet James Gallagher sent into the head of Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York may yet prove the strongest plank in the mayor's presidential platform two years from now. He admits that up to the day Mayor Gaynor was shot the strong, logical candidate was Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio, who got on his job so quickly and effectively when it came time to quiet the city of Newark after the lynching of an anti-saloon league detective; but he believes the American people are more romantic than the majority of folks think, and on this he bases his contention that just as soon as the New York mayor is declared out of danger the Gaynor boom, not for Albany but for Washington, will be tremendously stimulated. Mayor Gaynor, his closest friends declare, has no over-weening desire to run for governor, this year or any other year; but they do say he believes a successful municipal administration in the greatest city of this hemisphere will make a man strong enough to go into a national convention with confidence. The Honesdale lawyer is not betting on Gaynor any more than he is betting on Grim, but he says Gaynor will be helped politically by the attempt to assassinate him on the deck of the steamship that was to take him to Europe, and he is even sanguine enough to express an expectation that the incident which helped him in the convention would help him to some extent at the polls.

Miss Annie Abrams of Scranton is the guest of her sister, Mrs. David Fisher.

—A blueprint of the proposed Honesdale armory is on display at the office of J. D. Weston.

—Two strawloads of Honesdale young people attended the dance at Beach lake Friday evening.

—The seventh annual Peck and Alexander reunion will be held in Carpenter's grove, Uniondale, Friday, Aug. 26.

—Rev. William H. Swift, D. D., will preach Sunday in the Forest Lake clubhouse. Dr. and Mrs. Swift will return to Honesdale tonight from Lake Minnewaska, N. Y.

—Billy Miller, the colored pitcher, whom Honesdale fans all remember, is seriously sick in Port Jervis hospital and may have to go under the knife. His father, who lives in one of the valley towns, went through Honesdale Sunday on his way to his sick son's side.

—M. Garfinkel, the eyesight specialist, will be at his office, Commercial hotel, Honesdale, Pa., Saturday and Monday, Aug. 20 and 22; at Gill's hotel, White Mills, Tuesday, Aug. 23. Eyes examined free. Charges for glasses moderate. Main office, 118 Renwick Place, Syracuse, N. Y.

—Hon. E. B. Hardenbergh and J. D. Weston are in Gettysburg, to be present at the opening of the bids for the erection of the Honesdale armory. Mr. Weston went Monday. Mr. Hardenbergh took the 7.20 train this morning. The former will come directly home from Gettysburg, but the latter will stop over in Harrisburg.

—Robert M. Dorin's "Kid" orchestra is practicing diligently and playing well. The youngsters, all under 12, will be giving a concert one of these days. The players are Otto Heumann, violin; Elsie Heumann, piano; Raymond Paatz, cornet; Raymond Short, flute; Harold Mullaney, clarinet; Robert L. Dorin, trap drums.

—Miss Elizabeth Everling, daughter of Mrs. Peter Everling, died at the home of her mother on Cliff street Friday of typhoid fever after two weeks' sickness. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon from the German Catholic church. The following brothers and sisters survive: Peter and Michael of Carbondale, Mrs. Chris. Kittner and Nicholas of White Mills and Josephine at home.

—The Youngstown Vindicator announced in Saturday's issue that "Our" Fred Schuerholz, who is one of that club's leading pitchers, had been signed by the Washington-Americans to report at the end of the O. & P. season. Without doubt "Sherry" will make good, as he has had plenty of minor league experience and can deliver the goods. His host of friends in Honesdale and vicinity will be delighted to learn of the big boy's success.

—Mrs. Mary E. Schugens died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pruemers, on Sixteenth street, Monday morning at 9 o'clock of paralysis. Mrs. Schugens had spent the past year in Honesdale, coming from Buffalo, N. Y., her former home. She was born in Hirschland, Alsace, Germany, Feb. 26, 1833, and came to America when 14 years old with her parents. Mr. Schugens died five years ago. She is survived by two sons, Edward of Minneapolis, Minn., and Lewis of Rochester, N. Y., and three daughters, Emile and Gertrude of Buffalo and Mrs. Pruemers. The body was taken to Buffalo Tuesday for burial beside that of Mr. Schugens.

—Ed. McQuade, the big and jolly Elk who takes care of the Elks home, that beautiful, modern building lately erected by the antlered brethren of Port Jervis, N. Y., has a long memory for his Wayne county friends and those that find themselves in his ballwick are entertained with a very complete and cordial hospitality. Mr. McQuade tells with great gusto the story of how some Orange county Elks, himself in the party, journeyed to Wayne county to lay away the body of a supposed brother killed in a railroad wreck and buried the wrong man. He has recently made it a point to treat his Honesdale visitors to a trolley ride to Sparrowbush and a walk over the new state road at that point. Not infrequently he buys them a dinner at a Sparrowbush hotel, a dinner prepared by a retired White Star line steward who can cook and serve a meal with the finest talent at the trade.

—For Saturday's ball game Capt. Kupfer announces a contest with the Taylor Reds, a good team that has put up some fast games in Lackawanna county this summer. The final game with Carbondale may come at Lake Lodore Sunday. Carbondale has won two games, one at home and one away. So has Honesdale. The "rubber" at the lake will be for blood. The report has come over the mountain that Manager Nick Murtaugh, who was cut to the heart by the result of that Sunday's game in which his boys were trounced by the score of 8 to 2, has scoured the valley with a fine-tooth comb to rake up three or four gilt edge men for the final tussle with Honesdale. This is going to be a ginger game all the way through, from present indications, and a sizeable crowd is bound to go up from Honesdale. The last two games with Carbondale were games free from stones and bricks. It is hoped that the decisive game of the series of five will be equally peaceable.

—August William, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kinzinger, born November 1, 1900, died Monday at 3 p. m. of cholera infantum. A brief service will be held at the house on Vine street Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. C. C. Miller.

—The camping party consisting of William Brady, William H. Bader, Henry Tingley, C. L. Dunning, and Dr. F. W. Powell returned Sunday evening. Most of the time was spent in fishing and the anglers have some terrible tales to relate. F. W. Schuerholz and Dr. George C. Butler called on the party in the latter's auto Friday.

—William Campbell, the Dyberry man who thought he had broken his arm when he struck it against a door jamb just as he shook out an umbrella, suffers less pain and the bump at his elbow is going down. He will visit Honesdale Saturday to consult Dr. Harry B. Searles, who now thinks a trip with his patient to Scranton to get an X-ray examination may not be necessary, after all.

—Clarence W., the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Rogers of River street, died of typhoid fever Friday morning. His sister, Alice and brother, Horace, are recovering. Clarence was born near Honesdale and was the youngest of a family of eight. He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Howard Smith, Misses Alice, Helen, Edna, George, Horace and Russell. The funeral was held from the home of his parents Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Will H. Hiller of the Methodist church officiating.

Mrs. James Ashby and sister, Gertrude Roegner, of West street, leave Wednesday for a month's visit with friends in Williamsport and Towanda.

Mrs. J. C. Little has returned to her home in Rochester, N. Y., after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Charles Boyd. Her daughter, Edith, is now spending a few days with Mrs. Boyd.

Myron E. Dodge, looking as fine as a fiddle and apparently feeling as sound as he looks, is back at the Allen house desk. His large circle of friends took pleasure in greeting him at the familiar post.

Dr. McConville and William J. McKenna went to Lake Huntington Sunday. They got back Monday and the doctor resumed his practice, but Mr. McKenna went on to Beach lake for the balance of the week.

Charles McKenna leaves in a few days for Atlantic City. He goes by the way of New York, where he will be joined by W. L. O'Connell of the National Elevator company, who will accompany him. They will spend a few weeks at the shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Greiner and little daughter, Faith and Dorothy, and Mr. and Mrs. George Locklin and little daughter, Margerie, of Peckville motored to Honesdale Sunday in the former's car. They were guests at the William H. Hawken home.

Miss Beattie Kelly entertained the following at her home on Church street Sunday: William Mullaney, Joseph Hart, Michael Hendricks, Jack Laughany and Thomas Kelly of Jermyn; Misses Loretta Murray, Lucy Murtha, Mae McGraw and Helen Oaks, Honesdale. Refreshments were served and singing and music was indulged in.

Mrs. H. E. Bassett and sister, Mrs. Emma H. Johnson, went to Battle Creek, Mich., on Tuesday, where the latter will consult a specialist in regard to her health and procure a needed rest for six weeks or two months. Mrs. Bassett will probably remain west about ten days and intends to visit Detroit for a short stay upon her return.

Druggist Blows and wife and Mrs. Babcock of Peckville motored to Beach lake Sunday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Budd of Peckville and the former's father, Ed. Budd of Mt. Vernon, and F. Blows of Peckville. Dr. Budd has a fine new Chalmers-Detroit car and he made his initial trip over the mountain, stopping with Honesdale relatives for a short period.

Howard M. Jones, who travels for the American Book company, was here Friday and Saturday. Mr. Jones belongs in Newfoundland. He has sold schoolbooks all over the eastern states and is well versed in the geography of Pennsylvania, New York and New England. He says Dreher has a fine new schoolhouse and is taking excellent care of her boys and girls from an educational standpoint.

Harry G. Penwarden of Ashland, Ky., son of yardmaster George W. Penwarden of South Main street, returned to Honesdale and on Monday last entered into an agreement with the Honesdale Shoe company whereby he will take charge of the management of the stitching department. Mr. Penwarden held a similar position with the Durland-Thompson Shoe company until 1905, when he entered the employ of a shoe concern in Barnesville, O. From Barnesville he moved his family to Marion, O., and built a fine home. Mr. Penwarden and family will be welcomed to their former home. At present Mrs. Penwarden and little daughter, Emma Joyce, are visiting relatives in Marion and Columbus, O.

Lackawanna's Population to be Known Soon.

Replying to Sheriff P. F. Connor's request for information relative to the population of Lackawanna county under the census recently completed, E. Dana Durand, director of the bureau of census, in a letter says the information desired is not available at this time.

"Owing to the pressure of work and the large number of special requests for advance statements of population already on hand," writes the director, "it has been found necessary to discontinue the issuing of such advance statements."

The figures for Lackawanna county will be contained in an announcement to be issued in the course of a few weeks.

Sheriff Connor desires the information in order that he may embody it in his election proclamation, to be issued some weeks hence. It is expected the census figures will show a population of close to 225,000. It was 193,381 in 1900, an increase of over 50,000 from 1890.

Vinny Cody spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Etta Gager of Scranton.

How Berry is Regarded By One Lackawanna Paper.

The Keystone men opened their campaign Thursday at Towanda, says the political writer on the Scranton Truth. Candidate Berry was there and delivered an address, in which, however, he very cleverly evaded any mention of the Stuart administration. In the absence of some substantial campaign material, the former state treasurer devoted almost his entire talk to arraiving men in the Republican and Democratic ranks, men who fought him openly when a candidate for state treasurer and who made no bones of their opposition to his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor this year. The very excellent administration of the affairs of the commonwealth during the term of Gov. Edwin S. Stuart, which is nearly a close, in proving one big stumbling block, not only to Berry but to the candidates of the other parties as well. The citizens of Pennsylvania generally are quite well pleased with the way the affairs

OBITUARY.

HUNT—Abram Hunt died at his residence in Scott township, Aug. 8, of cancer of the stomach. He was born in Buckingham township May 19, 1828, making his age 72 years, 2 months and 19 days. Deceased was a veteran of the Civil war, having enlisted in Co. F, 50th N. Y. Engineers in Honesdale, early in September, 1861, under the late Capt. Portous G. Gilbert, he then being a resident of Preston township. Nearly the entire command was recruited in Wayne county. He was a pensioner. Mr. Hunt is survived by his wife, a son and daughter. Deceased was a member of John Plaskett Post, No. 483, G. A. R., of Hancock, N. Y., who conducted the funeral services.
