LOCAL MENTION.

—Meet me at the fair. —Look out for many new features this year.

—Does this paper circulate and is this paper read? The young man in town who was written up in "Off the Bat" as "the 'candy kid' of Sullivan county" got at least 25 postcards from friends in county, state and country...

—C. L. Chapman, proprietor of a big stock farm at Moosic, has been through Wayne county buying up choice hogs, mostly brood sows. He has bargained for nearly 200, shipments to be made from various points to Moosic.

—Don't fail to bring the little ones. They will enjoy the fair, too.

—The Honesdale postoffice has letters for parties in "Coxton lake, Wayne county" and "Kenjockey, Pa." which the clerks cannot deliver, for there are no such places.

—The Tri-State Packers and Cannery association held a special meeting in Wilmington, Del., this week, when it was reported that the tomato crop would be but 50 to 60 per cent. of a whole crop...

—Two very bad counterfeits have been discovered by the secret service officers of the treasury. They are imitations of bank notes and badly done. One is a counterfeit $5 note of the First National bank of Los Angeles, Cal.

—A building boom has recently struck Hancock, N. Y., so the town must be growing a little. With the I. O. O. F. hall and opera-house in course of construction and G. W. Peck's new home on Leonard street recently finished...

—A strict order was recently issued by the O. & W. to engineers that hereafter no one be permitted to ride on an engine without a written order from an official authorized to give one.

—Treasurer Leo Freeman of the Skat club is a fisherman who seldom returns with a dry hook and an empty basket. He took an outing to Adams pond Tuesday and his basket upon the return trip contained a bullhead that weighed two pounds and a quarter.

—Revised premium list for 1910. —Don't miss a single day of the fair this year.

—Exceptionally good bass fishing in the Delaware is being enjoyed by a number of our local sportsmen. A number of city people are also trying their luck, but they apparently don't know where to look for the finny fellows.

—You don't have to go to war to be patriotic. Improve your locality, uphold your city, enlarge its interests, and lend a hand to progress...

—The farm owned by the Honesdale Consolidated Water company has been bought by G. Smith & Son, who propose to make it a large and modern dairy farm. It contains 400 acres.

—In the installation of the new Hall system on the Erie, and the system of telephones to replace the telegraph operators in the handling of trains, a large number of concrete telephone booths are to be erected along the line.

—Our fair will be a grand object lesson of man's ingenuity.

—Earl Heacock, baggagemaster at the Delaware and Hudson station in Carbondale, whose disappearance Thursday caused the report that he had absconded with money belonging to the company, returned Saturday and denied the charge.

—The work of installing the new Hall system of automatic block signals along the Erie has been progressing rapidly and is fast nearing completion. A few days ago 18 miles of the signal system between Wellsburg and Big Flats on the Susquehanna division was tested.

—There is general complaint with the large summer resort keepers that comparatively few city people are coming. They say that in years the season has not been so poor and various reasons are assigned for the dearth, chief of which is the automobile.

—Local liquor men are sore at the new revenue ruling that compels them to scrape all names, initials and figures off the barrels. It means a good bit of extra work for them; and it means, too, the purchase of a gouge expressly for the job.

—Secretary of State Koenig of New York, who has charge of the enforcement of the new automobile law, announces he will inform the heads of police departments of the state that all applications for owner's and chauffeur's licenses have been filed in his office in Albany and all cars which have no new number plates and chauffeurs that are driving without license badges should be put under the ban by the authorities.

—Former District Attorney William Travers Jerome of New York county will be chief counsel for former State Engineer and Surveyor Frederick W. Skene of New York for alleged grafting in connection with the awarding of good roads contracts during his administration. It is understood Mr. Jerome volunteered his services for the purpose of paying off an old score he has against the interests instrumental in securing the Skene indictments.

—The following young people enjoyed a party on Irving cliff Tuesday evening: Misses Edna Katz, Josephine Schweiger of Wilkes-Barre, Helen and Marie Ward, Merle and Florence Eldred, Madeline and Doretta O'Connell, Margaret and Vera Rierdon, Beattie Lawyer, Helen Jacob, Bessie Healey, Minnie Schoell, Florence Kimble, Letitia Greene, Clara O'Connell of Susquehanna; Messrs. Otto Truscott, Edward Katz, William Rierdon, Clarence Greene, Richard Bracey, Thomas Finnerty, Eugene Cauffield, William and George Peurket, Bud White, Thomas Charlesworth and Leo Osborne.

—The special attractions will be the best that money can buy. —The Midnight Sons gave an informal dance at the Lyric under the name of the "Hurruy Club."

—S. S. Drake is dressing the stones for the Wayne Milling company. He is an old miller and an old soldier.

—Don't forget the concert at the Baptist church Friday evening. There will be a violin and song recital by Prof. and Mrs. Thelle of New York.

—A. J. Huyck and his two boys will wind up their slate roofing in Honesdale about Sept. 1 and then they expect to go to Wilkes-Barre, where a big church job is waiting for the three men from Deposit.

—Steve Senay, a South Canaan farmer, and Mary Rogue (correct) of Simpson got their marriage license today at the office of Prothonotary M. J. Haulan. They will be married in Simpson, probably.

—Detective Nick Spencer had great luck with the catfish at Lake Ariel. The three he gave Charles J. Weaver today weighed six pounds. The hooks were in the fish when they got here, indicating the dispatch with which Mr. Spencer started the finny trio for Honesdale.

—Dr. Ely had J. A. Bodie take a picture of Thomas Murphy, the Tamers Falls smallpox patient, Wednesday. Like the doctors that see Murphy, the photographer was thoroughly enveloped in antiseptic robes, with only two small holes for the eyes. Dr. Ely will have several pictures developed.

—Gov. Stuart has named as state representatives to the international conference on state and local taxation at Milwaukee ex-Representative G. M. Hosack of Pittsburg, Francis Shank Brown of Philadelphia and N. E. Hause, chief clerk of the auditor general's department, who is a Hawley man and has Wayne county friends by the bushel.

—Otto Heumann, the sprightly son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Heumann, is the leader of the "Kid" orchestra now being drilled by Robert M. Dorin, and the orchestra is to be called Heumann's orchestra. Otto, who plays the violin, is 15 years old. His sister Elsie, the pianist of the outfit, is 14. The youngsters play twice a week and they are improving with every lesson.

—Sheriff Braman now has seven unbidden guests to feed in his stone boarding house by the river. The sheriff says the unfortunate men and women committed to his care have plenty to eat—greengrocer and other fresh stuff right out of the jail garden—and that they live fully as well in Hotel Braman as they would in the average boardinghouse in Wayne county. They have a change of meat every day, the sheriff says, and they make no complaint about their rations.

—For Saturday's ball game Capt. Kupter announces a contest with the Taylor Reds, a good team that has put up some fast games in Lackawanna county this summer. The game will be called at 3 sharp. The final game with Carbondale will be played at Lake Lodore one week from next Sunday. Carbondale has won two games, one at home and one away. So has Honesdale. The "rubber" at the lake will be for blood. There will probably be a special train from Honesdale.

—Sergt. Herbert Smith of Troop B., state police, has written from Wyoming barracks to Justice R. A. Smith, giving him the names of nine men the sergeant wants for witnesses before the grand jury Oct. 10 in Honesdale. Among them are Trooper Charles Gould and Ed. Van Berger, who testified here in the hearing last Friday; Lieut. W. H. Dingelberry of Dickson City, who was not called then, and six others, the sergeant has found, saw Gould clubbed by George Adamitis and others in the crowd at Lake Lodore last Thursday night.

—Fred W. Michels and Chris Hartung took the 12.25 train for Scranton this noon. They went over to see Thomas Groves, the lessee of the Nickel, about opening up the house.

—Mr. Michels said he thought it high time the house got busy and he seemed to think it would be a good plan to put on some pictures of men, politicians and otherwise, that are known in this part of the state. He did not seem to think it would pay to put on the films representing the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno, which are having a huge run in Scranton now. The fight pictures are costly and it is doubtful, Mr. Michels said, whether the Honesdale crowds would be big enough to take in the money required to get them here.

—Thanks to the vigorous enforcement of the pure food laws in this state, the people of Pennsylvania are learning things about the constituent elements of certain table commodities that they never have before, says the Scranton Times editorially. Sausage, for instance. A large quantity of that mysterious amalgamation was recently seized in Pittsburg and subjected to analysis to determine whether it fulfilled the requirements of the food law. Many unexpected things were discovered. For one thing, the sausage contained some twenty per cent. of water. There was also a considerable proportion of starch, a good deal of ground-up potatoes and an excess of coloring material. The most surprising thing of all, however, was the discovery that the sausage contained faint but well-defined traces of meat.

—You will be entertained with melodious music every day of the fair.

—The lawyers for Sam Reed and Leona Lord say there is nothing new in their cases today.

—The Lutheran young people had a successful cake and cream sale Tuesday evening in the parlors of the church.

—The Robinson family reunion will be held Tuesday, Aug. 23, at the home of Mrs. Martin K. Kimble, the president, at the fairgrounds. J. B. Robinson is secretary.

—Scranton delegates and others who attended the sessions of the national convention of the C. T. A. U. of A., at Boston have all returned. The vanguard arrived Sunday, but the main contingent came Tuesday with the C. T. A. U. regiment of Wilkes-Barre. Scranton was successful in securing next year's convention and already plans are under way to give the Catholic temperance hosts of the country a big time when they visit the coal regions in August. This will be one of the largest conventions ever held in Scranton, for upward of 1,000 delegates usually attend these sessions.

—This fair will be a liberal education to every visitor. Come to the fair.

Mrs. F. C. McClaine and sister, Madeline McGarry, and Miss Florence McCann of Scranton, who are spending several weeks at the McGarry farm in Cherry Ridge, were calling on friends in Honesdale today. Dr. F. C. McClaine spent Sunday at the farm.

Russell T. Whitney of Scranton is here for another little visit. Mrs. Whitney was a Honesdale visitor last week. Mr. Whitney finds his oil job congenial and remunerative, and he and Mrs. Whitney consider themselves permanently located in the Electric City, to make two out of the 129,867 people that place now contains.

Edwin B. Callaway, who is a hard worker, both newspaperwise and in his new job as secretary of the Greater Honesdale Board of Trade, was under the weather Tuesday and went home to bed with a pain in his right side. Wednesday he felt better and was at his desk all day.

John L. Wolfe, an erstwhile Honesdale printer who went from The Citizen to Scranton in the days of Judge Wilson and E. A. Penniman and in due course of time rose to be the foreman of the Morning Republican composing room, was at the Heptasoph picnic at Lake Lodore Wednesday and shook hands with one Honesdale friend after another. Mr. Wolfe is a member of the lodge in Scranton. He expects to pay one of his stated visits to Honesdale about Sept. 3, the anniversary of one of the days when Mr. Wolfe took unto himself a wife.

The jovial John has been married twice, but excessive matrimony has not commenced to streak his locks with gray and his seal brown mustache does not sag with sorrow when he tells about his housekeeping experiences in the Electric City. He has bought a house in Scranton and, in company with some of his wife's people, will occupy it some time between now and the first of September.

At our fair you will get more for your money than any place on earth.

Boy From Damascus Is Locked Up. Two men from Damascus, one old, the other young, got drunk on Main street this afternoon and at 3 o'clock were mixing it up in good shape near the corner of Main and Sixth. Detective Spencer locked up the young fellow, who, according to the detective, was too drunk to give his name. He added that he had found out where the lad got his liquor. The prisoner is about 16 years old. His companion disappeared and at 3.45 had not been caught.

Label All Pies Containing Benzozate. State Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust while in Pittsburg announced that in addition to prosecuting sellers of adulterated pie "alder" his department would enforce the pure food law to the extent of requiring restaurant and hotelkeepers to label pies served which contain one-tenth of 1 per cent. of sodium benzoate. Commissioner Foust said:

"Other foodstuff containing this deleterious chemical must be labeled under the law, and pastries containing it will have to be marked or else a card must be placed on each plate when served to a customer, stating the contents; or, if this is not done, then the restaurant keeper must put up a placard on his walls to include all such pies.

"It may be considered impractical to paste a label on each piece of pie, but the department cannot help that. I have instructed agents in all parts of the state to secure samples of pies at once."

—Valuable space to rent to persons wishing to do a legitimate business.

—The Citizen has all the borough and county news, fresh twice a week. Read it regularly.

EVER INCREASING.

A bank account is like a snowball—roll it gently along and it will get larger (almost without your noticing it) as the days go by. Like the snowball, too, the hardest work is making the first deposit, giving it the first push, after which the initial impetus gains as the ball runs down, the bank account rolls up. We want to help you with your financial snowball.
