LOCAL MENTION.

—Make your plans early to be an exhibitor in as many departments as you can, and thus do your part toward making the fair this year larger and better than any exhibition of former years. The buildings and grounds were never in so fine condition. It is the aim of the society to make this fair one of the very best in this section, and that this may be done we ask for the help of every resident of the county. Come with your family and join in the festivities of this annual reunion of the people of this county. There will be something to please everyone, from the youngest to the oldest, and by helping to increase the exhibits, and by swelling the numbers in attendance, you can materially assist in making this annual exhibition a splendid success.

—Mennen & Co's store will be closed Monday, Sept. 5th.

—Rev. G. S. Wendell will conduct public services and preach at the Dyberry Baptist church Sunday afternoon next at 2.30 o'clock.

—The new piano in the house of Texas No. 4 dance company was tried out at the house Wednesday night, when the Ladies' Improvement society took charge of the entertaining.

—Samuel Slater of Pike street, Carbondale, aged 40, died Tuesday. His wife and the following children survive: Philip, William, Irving and Jennie. The body will be brought to Honesdale, where interment will be made Friday.

—At the First Baptist church services will be held on Sunday next at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. with preaching by the pastor. The communion of the Lord's supper will be observed at the close of the morning worship. Sunday school at 11.45 a. m. Young People's meeting will be held at 6.30 p. m.

—A systematic plan for the robbing of the Lehigh Valley road by illegal sale of tickets has been unearthed by the company's detectives at Hoboken. The clue that led to the unmasking of the men was discovered by a boy who swept out one of the stations. The tickets he came across did not correspond with the series on sale and this fact was communicated to a detective. After an investigation it was found that the agents were in a plot to steal tickets and dispose of them.

—The summer term of Miss Keen's school closed Friday last for a week's vacation. In spelling B class pupils who obtained the greatest number of headmarks were, Thelma Markey 8, Earle Arnold 8, Marion Knorr 7, Nicholas Stapleton 7, Robert Cory 4. In the C class, Russell W. Poble and Robert Crist did well in reading and Carl F. Marsh in number work, while little Helen Marsh and Francis Sherwood made a fair beginning in reading. Those who did best this summer in penmanship were George B. Light-hiser, Nicholas Stapleton, Carl F. Marsh. The fall term will commence Tuesday.

—Honesdale is coming to the front in the matter of up-to-date improvements. Wayne's capital will soon be able to boast of a handsome modern hotel which will be built by capitalists on historic Irving Cliff. The site of the new hostelry is an excellent one, as it affords a sweeping view of the town. It was named in honor of Washington Irving on the occasion of that famous author's visit to Honesdale in company with Philip Hone a good many years ago. The new hotel should prove a success and be the means of attracting many persons to the Maple City, which is one of the most delightful places in the state. Its natural beauty and healthful location are not surpassed anywhere else in Pennsylvania.—Scranton Truth.

—Attention, Veterans! Regular meeting of Captain Ham post on Friday evening, Sept. 2. Preparations for attending the National Encampment at Atlantic City on September 19.

—Cyrenus Ball is D. & H. conductor between Honesdale and Carbondale just now, for Conductor Ward is taking a little vacation. Mr. Ball is greeted by Wayne and Lackawanna county friends daily on the short train over the Moosics.

—Eddie Huyck, the clever steeple-jack from Deposit, could not shin the Methodist steeple today because of the forbidding weather, but he and the other members of the slate-roofing concern put in their time to good advantage mixing gold leaf and getting ready to retouch the weather vane. Crosses, A. J. Huyck, the veteran roofer, says are plain sailing, but the weather vanes are more touchy jobs to handle.

—In Athletic hall, South Scranton, Fred Foster, Scranton's heavyweight champion wrestler, will meet Joe Tiplady of Olyphant, who claims the welterweight championship of the county, tonight. The match is a handicap one, Foster agreeing to throw the Olyphant man three times in thirty minutes. It is for a side bet of $250 apiece. Foster finished his training Tuesday and is in fine trim for a hard tussle. Tiplady is also declared to be in tiptop shape.

—Services will be resumed in the Presbyterian church Sunday. The pastor will preach at 10.30 a. m. A service of unusual interest will be held in the evening at 7.30. This is Labor Day Sunday. Addresses will be made by A. T. Searle, Homer Greene, Esq., and Thomas P. Lovely of Boston, an officer of the Boot and Shoemakers' Labor union. Sonner's orchestra will assist with the music. A cordial invitation is given to all, particularly working men and women.

—Four young men more or less well known in the borough aim to pass Labor day and the day before in New York, going down in a buzz wagon. One fellow, an agreeable salesman in a retail store, promised to join the gasoline journey to the metropolis and then at the eleventh hour reneged, his excuse being that the new suit in which he invested the other day would be ruined by the dust and so on that might be encountered between Honesdale and New York.

—The Boy Scout movement is still being agitated, though at present in a quiet way, by the Honesdale men and women interested in the organization of a band here. All that is needed, according to the man, a professional man, most impressed by the feasibility of the idea, is somebody to take hold of the movement as an organizer. The right man, this informant stated, has not yet been found. In Scranton, Harrisburg, Altoona and other Pennsylvania cities the Scouts are in good shape, both numerically and financially, and are accomplishing a practical work by increasing the number of boys willing to cut out cigarettes, cheap novels, smutty talk and low associates as the essential steps toward decent boyhood. It is expected that by cool weather a suitable man will have been found and that then the training of the lads will be started in good earnest.

—A non-union glasscutter from the Herbeck-Demer shops was jeered and hissed and called a scab by about 100 men as he crossed the Sixth street bridge Tuesday night just before 6 o'clock. Policeman Canavan, who was sent for, came in citizen's clothes and quieted the crowd. County Detective Spencer was also a peacemaker. Late that night, not far from the German Catholic church, the same man, this time on his way from the Lyric, where he had witnessed "Home Ties," was hissed and called a scab and addressed by other opprobrious names. George Wolfe, who was with him, reached for a gun and fired two shots in the air. Policeman Canavan, who had been following the party of 30 or 40 men, now came up and dispersed the crowd that was annoying the two men. Afterward he took Wolfe and his wife up Main street to Policeman DeGroat's post, and the latter escorted them to the borough line on their way home.

—Thoughtful men, alive to the sharp problem of keeping the young folks on the farm from drifting to the city and also wise to the necessity of teaching farming as a science, hope the agricultural course decided on by the school board last year may speedily be put in operation. One of them, a leading lawyer of Wayne county, said Wednesday that Pennsylvania farmers could raise apples as good as those raised by the farmers of Oregon, the best paid orchardists in the world, if the apple men of the Keystone state had the benefit of the same scientific apple training and knew how to combat the worms that chew the fruit to pieces and cut the crop in two by their depredations. He added that some of the youngsters think a farming course is designed to remodel them into countrymen, but this unfortunate fallacy of the juveniles he felt sure can be overcome just so soon as the boys and girls see what a fascinating study it is to learn about soils and seeds and the production of crops that ultimately feed the local population. The farming course has made good in a number of cities that have tried it. Most level-headed parents with whom we have discussed its practicability confess they would like to see it tried out in Honesdale.

—Regular September council meeting tonight.

—St. John's church lawn, has been plowed up by the men at work under the direction of F. C. Lutes, the expert landscape gardener from Ohio. Much stone has been pulled up and carted away. The job of beautifying the grounds takes time, but it will be thorough.

—Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith of Syracuse, N. Y., were made happy last week by the arrival of a young traveling man who came to join their family circle. Mr. and Mrs. Smith's family now consists of two boys. The former is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Smith of Thirteenth street.

—There will be no general picnic on the golf links on Labor day but coffee will be served from 3 to 7.30 and in the evening there will be an informal dance for the members. The annual cup tournament will be played off during the day. It is hoped that as many members as possible can do so will arrange to be present during the day and evening.

—The young fellow from the hill who started the row on the special train from Lake Lodore Sunday night, a row during which a window was broken and considerable commotion produced, was arrested Wednesday by Detective Spencer and a D. & H. gumshoe man detailed to work up the case. Mr. Spencer took the fellow before Justice Smith, to whom the prisoner said "I'm guilty and I want to settle for the thing." Justice Smith, who says the accused youth is far from a bad boy, fined him $1 and then remitted the fine.

—The creation of an army of 40,000 notaries public was authorized by the postoffice department in accordance with legislation enacted during the past session of Congress. All carriers of the rural delivery mail service are now required by the department to execute vouchers for United States pensioners residing on their routes, for which service they are to receive 25 cents for each voucher executed. The establishment of the rural free delivery service should do the work previously performed by the fourth-class postmasters.

—Three violations of the liquor tax law have recently been recorded by the courts in Sullivan county. State Commissioner of Excise Clements reports that he has received $500 from Annie J. Purcell of Monticello in payment of the bond in a suit brought against her for violating the liquor tax law by selling on Sunday. Suit has also been brought against Samuel O'Krom of Center-ville for the illegal selling of liquor on Sunday. It is also reported on good authority that a hotelkeeper of Parkville named Leinhardt has been fined for selling liquor to a man who was posted.

—Pay-as-you-enter cars will soon be spinning over the system of the Scranton Railway company. They were ordered several months and delivery was promised for early fall. It has not been decided on what lines they will be placed but the probabilities are they will be on the lines where traffic is heaviest. Those style cars are being bought as an experiment. If they show good results, it is probable there will be a larger order sent in at once. The cars are built along the most comfortable lines. Passengers enter by the rear platform, paying fare as they enter. They leave by the front platform. This system has been in use in the big cities some time and has been found successful in relieving congestion.

—Honesdale is to have at least one more ball game before the season of 1910 goes out of business. Disappointed by the Clinton, Conn., team he expected to get, Capt. Kupper got busy Tuesday and that night telephoned Archbald for a game. The team from over the mountains that played White Mills on Heptasoph day at Lake Lodore will get here on the 9.25 Saturday morning, and the game on the silk mill grounds will be called at 3 sharp. Manager Moore of the visiting team is sanguine his boys can lick Honesdale. He says Archbald is a match or more for White Mills, the team from whom Honesdale took a series of five games during July and August, and he will, he says, be much disappointed if his team takes the home train defeated. "Willie" Doucher will pitch for Archbald. He is a good twirler, but so is Bennie Hessling and so is young Gregor. A fast game is expected.

—R. M. Stocker is counsel for Chauncey Tyler, the young man from Masthope in jail the past six weeks for the part he is alleged to have taken in the car-cracking and beer-stealing at Hawley the night of July 2. Mr. Stocker is of the opinion that the four confessions Tyler has made to Herman Harnes, Frank Kelly, N. B. Spencer and one other man that quizzed him before he retained his present lawyer are all a little off and that the statement made in jail the other day to Mr. Stocker is the only confession according to Hoyle. In the Harnes confession—or rather confessions, for Tyler made two to the Hawley lawyer—Ollie Wright and Joe Kelly were not in the job at all. Wright and Kelly are represented by Mr. Harnes. Tyler's wife, a fairly prepossessing young woman, sticks by her husband steadfastly and visits him sometimes two or three times a day, but neither she nor any of the friends of the young man from Masthope have been able to get anybody to go bail for him. Tyler's health in the jail is pretty fair.

—There are various ways by which the members of the Skat club propose to get to Newark, N. J., the scene of the Labor day tournament. Some, it is expected, will board Erie trains at Honesdale and go direct, but Jonas Katz, Leopold Blumen-thal and Leo Freeman have thought out a different and more novel trip. They will shut up shop Saturday night at 10 and drive to Narrowsburg and at that point board the Erie main line mail train due in Narrowsburg at 2.50 and in New York at 7. The transfer from New York to the Jersey side of the Hudson will be made via the new North river tunnel. The tournament lasts two days and the program this year is particularly complete and suggestive of solid enjoyment for the Skats.

WANTED—Canvassers to sell petticoats. Liberal commission paid. Economy Mfg. Co., Rockwood, N. Y. 67t4

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Grace McNally of Scranton is the guest of Honesdale friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dunning are spending the week in Syracuse, N. Y.

Mrs. George Olsen and son, Howard, have returned to Brooklyn, N. Y.

John Wolfslagel of Equinunk was in town Wednesday on a business trip.

Mrs. P. H. Hoff was at Cherry Ridge Wednesday, the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Harvey Welch is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westphal of Scranton.

Hal Kimble has returned from a six weeks' visit with friends in the metropolis.

Miss Marie Seaman has returned to Carbondale after several weeks' in Honesdale.

Conductor Ward put on plain clothes Wednesday and went to the Wilkes-Barre fair.

Angus Lawyer has returned to his duties in New York after spending his vacation here.

Miss Annie Miles and Miss Marjorie Howe of New York are visiting friends in Honesdale.

H. C. Jackson of Damascus, Republican legislative candidate, was in Honesdale Wednesday.

Mrs. Ford and daughter, Loretta, of Fairmount, Va., spent Monday with Honesdale relatives.

Jonas Katz went to Reading Wednesday. He will go to Newark, N. J., with the Skat club Saturday.

Mrs. Nicholas B. Spencer and two children got back today from Lake Ariel, where they went July 1 for the summer.

Emmett Groner, rural carrier of No. 1, R. F. D., spent last week in Delaware, W. Va., celebrating Old Home week.

Miss Pauline Penwarden has returned to Carbondale, after a 10-days' visit at the home of her uncle, G. W. Penwarden.

Mrs. T. Seymour and daughter, Gertrude, of Jersey City are visiting at the home of her brother, John D. Bryant, of East street.

Dr. and Mrs. Tracy Clark and two sisters of Macon street, Brooklyn, N. Y., are visiting Frederick Farnham of North Main street.

Senator Miles C. Rowland of Pike county came Wednesday to attend the funeral of his brother, Orville L. Rowland, who will be buried tomorrow.

Miss Bessie Decker of Beach lake is making a short visit with Honesdale relatives. She is on her way to teach school at Hollisterville and will stop off at Peckville.

Reuben Lancaster of South Sterling was in town Thursday on business. Being well known to so many Honesdale people kept him busy shaking hands while here.

Miss Louisa Miesler, the experienced table girl at the Wayne hotel, returns today from a short vacation, which she has spent at various places not far from Honesdale.

William Freund, who has been working in the census department at Washington, relinquished his position and is at his home preparatory to entering Lafayette college.

Miss Helen O'Neill, who has been visiting at her home here for the past two weeks, leaves Friday morning for Philadelphia, where she will make a short visit with relatives.

On September 7 Miss O'Neill enters the Mt. St. Joseph convent, Sisters of Mercy, Hartford, Conn.

Edward Wintermute, a former well known resident of this city, and for the past six years "one of the finest" of Brooklyn, N. Y., is in town greeting his many friends and relatives, who hardly realize he is the same old "Ed." of yore. He tips the scales at about 250 pounds, and has a "beat" in the residential section of Brooklyn, in precinct 282, which, he assures us, is a model one; not much to do but walk the limits, swinging a stick and bow to the ladies, although once in a while he has a "scrap" a little to keep up appearance. He is visiting his father, W. H. Wintermute, and sister, at 5 Holbrook street for a major portion of his ten days' vacation. He will visit at Hawley and Honesdale ere the time limit expires. May his shadow never grow less and may he round out his 20 years in good style, and enjoy his pension to the utmost, is the wish of his friends.—Port Jervis (N. Y.) Gazette.

A DENIAL FROM MR. KIPP.

As the editor of the Bradford Argus has seen fit to make a personal attack on me as a candidate for member of Congress, and has accused me of statements I never made, I take this way to deny his false charges and have asked him to print my reply in the Argus.

In the first place I never told him that I had left the Democratic party, nor have I stated to Editor Parsons that I would not vote for any Democrat. I have always tried to support fit men. I have always regarded the wishes of my fellow citizens as supreme. I have not pledged myself to the bosses or machine, and I would rather stay at home than go with the understanding that I must vote for any party measure without regard to how that measure would effect the people of the whole district.

What I did say to Mr. Parsons was that I would not support the candidates at the Allentown convention. I have no faith in party juggling nor party prostitution, and in state affairs I intend to support such men as have proved themselves honest in office and effective in working for the people.

To my mind a good Democrat cannot support the Penrose machine, and if he dislikes the machine in the opposite party, he has no right to support one in his own party. In this connection I say as earnestly as I know how that I admire the glorious and splendid record of William H. Berry, who as state treasurer smashed the combination of graft and corruption in Harrisburg and compelled the political crooks to answer at the bar of justice.

I am sorry that the Allentown convention did not rise to the opportunity on nominating Mr. Berry for governor. In all my political career I have been opposed by the Republican machine, and now it is strange to find a so-called Democratic paper using the ammunition of the Republican machine and opposing me, without a doubt because I am not the kind of a Democrat that Cannon and Penrose would like to see elected.

This is my pledge to the people, Republicans and Democrats, if elected I will constantly support all measures that will benefit the people of the district, I will oppose all measures that are detrimental to progressiveness, and I will oppose Cannon and all that Cannonism represents.

I will regard the people of the district as the only bosses to whom I am responsible. If this is undemocratic and disloyal, then I suppose I am guilty, but I am willing to rest my case in the hands of the people. GEO. W. KIPP.

P. S.—I do not intend in any way to cast a reflection on Mr. Grim personally. Towanda, Pa., Sept. 1, 1910.

LIKE HAWLEY CASE

CAR LOOTED FOR BEER AS IT STOOD IN RAILROAD YARD—LIET, JOHNSTON AND "LONG" KELLY, ERIE COPS, AT WORK ON CASE—PROMINENT YOUNG MEN MAY BE THE CULPRITS.

NARROWSBURG, Sept. 1.—A carload of beer that stood on the switch at Narrowsburg was broken into and a cask of beer taken out. Considerable speculation has been going on among the town people as to who the perpetrators of the theft were, and those who claim to know say that several of the most prominent young men in town are implicated.

It appears that the carload of beer was switched in at Narrowsburg on the morning in question, consigned to George Vogt, Charles VonKleist and C. G. Reers. During the day Vogt and VonKleist had taken their beer out of the car and then sealed the door.

Some time during the night the seal was broken and the cask of beer removed, and it is said that the deed was done after eleven o'clock, which is the closing hour for all hotels and saloons.

There had been a dance in town that evening and the young men who are said to be implicated probably attended the dance and, desiring more liquid refreshments after the closing hour, had helped themselves, acting as their own bartender.

The Erie police department was notified and Officers Kelly and Johnston came up from Port Jervis and succeeded in apprehending the guilty parties, although as yet no arrests have been made and it is probable the case has been settled quietly because of the prominence of the parties concerned. Kelly and Johnston returned to Port Jervis.

Marvin Bodie, superintendent of the collection department of the Johnstown, N. Y., Gas company, is spending his vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Bodie.
