Some Big Fish Taken From Paupack—One of Them Photographed.

There is a general move cityward these days, the vacation season being nearly at an end. Only a few are coming this way during the week-end.

There was a Labor day picnic at the Bea grounds on the Paupack. Dancing was the principal diversion. Music was furnished by Pearson and Seaman.

The fishing continues excellent. The best catches of the week were a five-pound bass caught near the boat landing at Wilsonville and a German carp weighing 12 1/2 pounds, 29 inches in length, caught out of the Lackawaxen near the sand bar Wednesday morning by Joseph McNamara.

He set his pole and line the night before, hoping to catch an eel. In the morning when he went to take up the pole he found a heavy load at the end of his line, which he with difficulty, assisted by his brother by plunging into the water, towed to land. The young man's delight can well be imagined and in order to perpetuate his memory of this unusual good luck the fish was photographed by L. Hensel.

Verna Drake went Thursday morning to Adrian, Mich., where she will become a member of the Adrian college faculty as practice teacher and in addition will study music.

John Ames, Jr., has sold his Shetland pony and outfit to Mr. Weisberger of Scranton.

Mrs. Jane Smith of Bellemonte hill is visiting his daughter at Pittston.

Emery and Harry Mandeville passed Sunday, Sept. 4, with their parents on Atkinson street.

A K. Killam has had concrete floors put in his barn.

Mrs. Albert Bray and children, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Decker and Miss Hattie Decker are guests of their parents on Bellemonte hill.

A twelve-pound boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wright Thursday morning.

Mrs. Louise Soderberg of New York spent Friday at Wilsonville.

Richard James of Wilsonville is stopping a few days with Amos Band. Mr. James is another example of the benefits derived from much walking toward activity in old age, he being well advanced in years but still does his traveling on foot, coming from the above place by a circuit route through Pike county to Hawley, none the worse for the journey.

Solomon S. Speers has purchased of W. C. Knapp two building lots bordering Fairview lake on which he will erect cottages.

Zabrisky, Tatton's wheelwright, has built for Henry Von Frank a large motor boat with a 12-horsepower gasoline engine, 24 feet in length by 10 feet wide, with room for 50 passengers. Its initial trip was made on the Paupack Sunday.

Emery Branning of East Honesdale was a Sunday visitor of his brother, D. J. Branning.

James McCloskey left Monday to resume his duties as principal of the Jessup schools. Charlotte Gilpin and Ellen Bishop left the same day, the former for Maplewood, the latter for Orson, where they will teach school.

Fletcher Bunnell and friends of Honesdale, joined by many Hawleyites, enjoyed a clam bake "up the river" Sunday.

Five ducks were bagged on the Paupack river Labor day and Norman Vandermart secured two Saturday.

Owing to lack of orders, nearly all the departments of the box shop are running half time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mauer of New York have been visiting relatives in town. The past week was spent with Mrs. Mauer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Steezer of Lakeville.

Misses Keith and Miss Caroline Purdy called on Mrs. Joseph Pennell at Wilsonville Friday, enroute for Milford, where they motored with their friend, Mrs. George S. Purdy of Honesdale.

Miss Anna Meyer and her mother spent Monday with Mrs. Casper Unger on Bone Ridge.

Mrs. Thomson, who occupies a suite of rooms in the Park View hotel, returned on the Wednesday evening train from a five weeks' sojourn with her daughter in New York. While there she attended the wedding of her grandson.

Henry Hardier, Jr., enjoyed a drive to Waymart Monday. He spent the day with his brother and sister. The former is one of the stockholders in the knitting mill and traveling salesman for the firm. His sister, Annie, is also employed there.

WHITE MILLS.

The home of William Barney of Swampbrook was completely destroyed by fire Friday morning.

Chester Elmore is furnishing his newly-purchased home on River street.

Rudolph Loll is doing some huckster work for Joseph Atkinson this week, corn and tomatoes being the chief vegetables.

STEENE.

Possibility of Paper Mill—Peach Swindlers Abroad.

In the absence of the pastor, G. Robinson of Fortonia preached a very interesting sermon Sunday.

It is rumored that a paper mill is about to be located here, as some capitalists from Wilkes-Barre were here the latter part of last week looking over a 100-acre tract heavily timbered with just the kind of trees they are looking for, mostly basswood and poplar. The tract is owned by Mr. Meaken of Wilkes-Barre. As the Boholink was their guide, he knew by their talk that the site and timber were just what they have been looking for some time. The 100 acres comprises a fine lot of second growth white ash, basswood, poplar, black cherry, hard and soft maple, hemlock and hickory.

The residents or farm women of this vicinity were very much taken in last Saturday by a couple of peach vendors claiming to hail from Carleton, N. J., and selling from 75 cents to $1.00 per basket. Their load was very well put up as to looks—yes, they looked fine so far as the eye could reach down into the basket—but as the slippery eels had no use for the basket you purchased, of course they didn't want the purchaser to empty the basket. Every woman that was uncooled out of her hard-earned money is up in arms, with blood in her eye, so if the same party should send another load this way with a different gang, don't forget that every basket purchased by the angry women will be carefully examined to the bottom. We do not look for the same men in this section again, as it would be very warm for them if they came.

School opened at Prompton and Steene Monday.

Miss Ruth Nichols, who taught the Steene school last winter and is now teaching at South Canaan, visited Mrs. Mill Sunday.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Oakley S. Tyner of Equinunk, a brother-in-law of the late Sike Lord, is in town.

William B. Roadknight, who has been feeling poorly since Friday, is stronger today.

Reuben Brown and Harlen Histed have returned from a week's overland trip in Wayne county.

W. H. Sherwood, who sold his property on an avenue last week, has leased part of the Fitch home on East Extension street.

Miss Gussie Jones of Wilkes-Barre returned home Saturday after an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Will H. Hiller of Church street.

Dr. H. B. Searies said today that George Taubner of Church street and Sadie Miller of Ridge street, typhoid patients, were much better.

Attorney Herman Harnes of Hawley came up to Honesdale on legal business Friday and put in an hour at the courthouse, where the Frank Daniels case was being tried out before Justice Smith.

George B. Rockwell of Scranton greatly pleased a crowded Lyric audience with vocal solos at the picture show last Thursday evening. Mr. Rockwell has been engaged to sing at all Thursday evening performances.

Cards received today by the postoffice boys from Assistant Postmaster Sharpsteen were mailed at Phillipsburg, N. J. The cards of the day before came from Stroudsburg. The assistant postmaster says E. H. Cortright is all right when it comes to shooting a Chinese car over the elegant stone and dirt roads of Monroe county.

J. M. Hale, state road inspector assigned to the Dyberry road, and Mrs. Hale got back to Honesdale Monday, having completed all the vacation they propose to take at the present time. Mr. Hale says he and his wife did not spend all their time in Philadelphia but took in some Old Home week reunions and a fair or two, besides "doing" Atlantic City and the boardwalk. Mr. Hale is well acquainted in the southeastern part of the state and at one time he was a Bucks county member of the legislature.

FIRE TRUCK COMING HERE?

Mayor Thinks Chance To Get Carbondale Outfit Too Good to Lose.

CARBONDALE, Sept. 13.—Mayor John Kubbach of Honesdale and William Vogel of Middletown were in this city the other day negotiating for the purchase of the horses and equipment of the Hendrick Hook and Ladder company. The Middletown fire department is anxious to secure the team of horses and Honesdale will purchase the hook and ladder truck if a suitable price can be agreed upon. The third horse is now being used by the Mitchell Hose company and will be sold in the near future to the highest bidder.

A lengthy meeting was held in the office of Mayor Sahn between the Honesdale and Middletown representatives and a committee of the Hendrick Hook and Ladder company. The committee of the Hooks will hold a meeting and it is quite probable the offers made by the two representatives will be accepted.

Mayor Kubbach today admitted he was over to Carbondale on this matter and he added that he went because the council, which talked over the possible purchase at the last meeting, wanted him to see the property on the spot. The Mayor is strongly in favor of buying the Carbondale fire outfit, which includes two fine 35-gallon extinguishers, three horses, and all necessary ladders and equipment. The outfit cost Carbondale $4,500, the Mayor says, and can be bought for $2,100, though it never has been used.

"I don't think any final action will be taken before the October council meeting," said Mayor Kubbach at his place of business this morning. "The No. 3 company will have a meeting tonight, at which time the Hendrick proposition will be discussed, I expect."

Honesdale if she gets this $4,500 firefighting apparatus will profit by Carbondale's spite. Carbondale needs the outfit, but the Carbondale council and the Carbondale mayor, A. L. Sahn, are at loggerheads about all the time and the council will not stand for anything the mayor wants or does. If it were not for this Sahn-council mess the outfit would not be in the market at any price, Mayor Kubbach says.

The $4,500 purchase money was raised by Mayor Sahn personally and he feels sore that the horses, extinguishers and ladders are lying idle. He has had some clashes of a rather sensational character with the city fathers and at a council meeting in August he made a stir by saying he thought it might be a good plan for him to throw up his job and let Carbondale try the commission form of government now being agitated in Harrisburg, Williamsport, Johnstown and other cities.

Sahn would rather see the stuff come here than have it go to Middletown," said Mayor Kubbach. "He told me so when I was over there the other day."

He added that the chance seemed to him too good for Honesdale to pass by.

Joe Stephens Dreams a Dream.

Mr. Editor: I had a little dream last night and it was all about the Wayne county fair. The first two gentlemen I came in contact with were E. Gammell and Ralph Martin, both members, I believe, of the Wayne County Agriculture society. Mr. Gammell said:

"Now, Mr. Martin, I have been informed that you are very much interested in the poultry department and you want to promote the interest in poultry culture in Wayne county. I have the same interest in cows, pigs, horses and goats as you have in chickens, turkey, guinea hens and pigeons. Now I think that if you would call on all the lawyers, printers and practical business men of Wayne county and ask each one of them to give from 25 cents to $1 on the breed of birds that they are most interested in, that is, $1 on the best Rhode Island Red, male or female, Leghorn, Wyandottes, Minorcas, Plymouth Rocks or any breed, then some of the people would become interested in the special and it would cause a whole lot of interest in the county."

"A bag of grain, some poultry netting, a pair of shoes, a pair of pants, or if some of the glass industries would offer a cut glass bowl or pitcher to be won three successive times and then to become owner of the same on the best bird in show, or if they would like to promote some special breed of their choice."

He also said "Let every man give what he wants to and under his own conditions but get the special premiums out in the county papers before the fair, so that every poultryman can know on what breed to get busy."

Mr. Martin said: "Thank you, Mr. Gammell. Those are things of importance that never came before my notice and probably next year it will be wise for me to look after this important matter."

Mr. Martin said: "Mr. Gammell, I do not know what advice to give you in return that might promote the interest in cows, pigs, horses and goats."

Rev. J. B. Cody behind the fence shouted: "Say, Martin, offer a good egg nog."

This being too much for my nerves, on reaching out my hand I awoke, only to find it a dream.

Grim Makes Speech at Reading.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—Democratic day was observed in nearly all the counties Saturday, probably the biggest event having been held at Reading, where Senator Grim addressed a great crowd at the fairgrounds. Club members and several hundred other Democrats combined in making the day a notable one.

The Central club's rooms were open the afternoon and evening and a buffet luncheon was served. The rooms were decorated with the national colors and flags were flying from the windows.

HONOR TO LAWYER IN BOARD OF TRADE

A Eulogy by Col. Dimmick.

In adding his word of personal praise to the minute that had gone on the record W. H. Dimmick made one of his happiest addresses. He sketched the boyhood life and studies of Mr. Rowland and said that George H. Rowland of Pike county, the father of the four Rowland boys, was one of the speaker's most cordial friends. O. L. Rowland, he said, was a man of fine legal perception, who had received a careful preparation for the law in the office of Henry M. Seelye, afterward judge of the Wayne county court, and he had the talent and the temperament to have become one of the most successful practitioners in northeastern Pennsylvania. He ought, Col. Dimmick said, to have lived and practiced 20 years more, even 30. He paid tribute to Mr. Rowland as a soldier and a citizen and said that his early end is a distinct and individual loss to every man that knew him.

W. H. Lee and E. C. Mumford added brief remarks.
