—With such long trains as the Erie is now running, and so few trainmen to man it, it is no wonder robberies of freight cars are frequent. How can it be otherwise with the idle, the vagabond, the professional thief lying in every nook waiting for just such an opportunity?—Port Jervis Union.

Eleven years ago the value of the agricultural products of the country was $4,417,900,000; last year the aggregate was $8,760,000,000, almost double. Right in this connection it will be in order for President agricultural products are needed at home when our population has increased only about 10,000,000 in the last decade.

—A number of public-spirited citizens have been demonstrating the effectiveness of the split-log drag on the Snyderville road, just beyond the borough line, to the spoke factory, across by the covered bridge and down the Bartonville road as far as the stone bridge. This road was gone over in July and now again after the recent rains, which is the time to use it, says a Stroudsburg paper. It is only necessary to drive over this road, gone over in a day, and compare it with any approach to the town. It is smooth, dry and without a mud hole. The keynote of its success is that the water cannot stand on its surface because it is leveled and evenly sloped. It is beyond question the cheapest, fastest, most effective road-making of the day. Every supervisor in this county should see for himself and every individual taxpayer insist on its use as he is sure to do once having seen its work.

—There is a dip in the walk on Church street just north of the Lutheran parsonage and every time a hard rain comes there is a puddle 15 feet long, four or five feet wide, and maybe five to seven inches deep. This grade, people who have frequent occasion to pass that way remark, ought to be raised without delay. Tuesday night the pond was very much in evidence and everybody passing had to beat it out into the muddy street or else deploy into the wet grass on the open lot side of the water.

—Robert M. Dorin, whose "Kid" orchestra plays better and better every time the youngsters get together, said today that the "Kid" band is a possibility for another summer. The band, Mr. Dorin added, can be put together much more readily than the orchestra. From a great many people there have come to Mr. Dorin warm words of commendation for his skillful drilling of the boys and girls. The juvenile orchestra seems to be a success. The band, if there is to be one, doubtless will prove equally interesting.

—Hank Doudican of Carbondale, the star third baseman of the Bloomsburg team in the Susquehanna league, met with an accident while practicing at Archbald on Sunday that will keep him out of the game for a couple of weeks. He was treated by an Archbald physician. Doudican has Honesdale friends. He went with the Honesdale team on that July trip through Sullivan county when Honesdale played Walton, Hancock and Liberty. "He is an excellent man on third base."

—The Port Jervis (N. Y.) Gazette has a word of caution about the oiling of streets and roads. The Gazette is an oil paper, but it does not want the street gunned up with oil. It says: The methods pursued in various communities, (Port Jervis not excepted) of oiling the roads, is being condemned wherever it is done in the profuse distribution of the stuff to the detriment of pedestrians and vehicles. Complaints of this character are coming in from many parts of the state of the wasteful extravagance of literally pouring on the oil to an extent of flooding the highway and gutters, making the roads dangerous to traffic. A sample of this kind of work was given during the week of the Orange county fair, when the state road leading out from Middletown to Otisville was flooded with the black stuff and automobiles and other vehicles were smeared with it. It is a wonder the Middletown people submitted to what was an outrage of compelling visitors to the fair to wade through the mass of black oil which covered the roadway and ran into the gutters.

—Matthews H. Heusel, held at the jail pending a hearing as to his sanity, had a talk today with Dr. L. B. Nielsen, Attorney W. H. Lee and H. T. Menner, the commission in his case. These men will try to find out what is the matter with Heusel, who once held to the idea that a Wayne county manufacturer owed him $11,000 and who Wednesday told Sheriff Brannan the Black Hand was after him. Two of that society's assassins, he informed the sheriff, entered his cell and tried to kill him. Heusel has been acting queerly for quite a spell. He has been in jail 12 days.

—Fifteen men in Dyberry township would like to get the two practical jokers from Honesdale who went to Tanagers Falls Sunday and, after one of them had been injured, had a talk today with Dr. L. B. Nielsen, Attorney W. H. Lee and H. T. Menner, the commission in his case. These men will try to find out what is the matter with Heusel, who once held to the idea that a Wayne county manufacturer owed him $11,000 and who Wednesday told Sheriff Brannan the Black Hand was after him. Two of that society's assassins, he informed the sheriff, entered his cell and tried to kill him. Heusel has been acting queerly for quite a spell. He has been in jail 12 days.

—The pupils and teachers of the Honesdale public school have arranged for a course of lecture and entertainments the coming winter. The course consists of two permanent lectures, two musical entertainments and the best magician on the Lyceum platform. The entertainments will be held in the high school auditorium and are of such a nature as to be instructive as well as entertaining. The course has been secured at a great expense, and yet the performers expect to make some money over and above expenses. They desire very much to make money enough to equip the shower bathroom with shower baths and to place some lockers in the gymnasium. The season tickets for the five numbers of the course will be $1. All people solicited within the next few days should consider themselves fortunate in being able to purchase five tickets for that price.

MRS. KATZ LAID IN GROUND.

Funeral of Young Honesdale Woman Largely Attended Wednesday Morning.

With brief but impressive ceremonies conducted by Rev. A. S. Ansbacher of Scranton Mrs. Nellie Roos Katz, wife of Sigmund Katz, was buried Wednesday morning from the home of her short married life at 1422 Main street. The house to which Mrs. Katz came as a bride 18 months ago was filled to overflowing with relatives, friends and neighbors who gathered to pay the last tribute to the memory of a lovely young woman who during her short residence here had gained a circle of friends as great as the number of her acquaintances. The clerks in Katz Bros. store and the employees of Katz Bros., underwear factory attended and there were people among the mourners from Scranton, the girlhood home of Mrs. Katz, from New York and from Baltimore.

The funeral procession consisted of 24 coaches. The flowers filled two, the clergy had one and bears one, and the remaining 20 were filled with mourners. The procession moved at 11 o'clock from the home to the Hebrew cemetery that joins Glen Dyberry, where all that was mortal was laid to rest. The services at the grave, like those at the Katz home, were brief.

The flowers from relatives and friends were abundant and beautiful and included some splendid pieces from the employees of Katz Bros. and the Katz underwear factory. Scores of neighbors as well as friends remembered the afflicted family with floral tributes.

The pallbearers were Arthur M. Leine, Dr. E. T. Brown, Henry Schwemley, C. F. Rockwell of Honesdale, M. O. Sahn of Carbondale and Leo Levy of New York.

TWO MEN ARE OUT

CONDUCTOR AND OPERATOR FIRED FROM ERIE AS ONE RESULT OF WRECK AT LAKE ARIEL IN WHICH TWO WERE KILLED AND 17 INJURED.

DUNMORE, Sept. 15.—On account of the head-on smash between two passenger trains at Lake Ariel on the Erie Sept. 2 Charles Elston of Dunmore, a conductor, and Leslie Brown, operator of Maplewood, have lost their jobs.

Responsibility for the wreck was a few days after the crash attributed to a mistake on the part of one or the other of the operators in Scranton, at Maplewood and Lake Ariel. According to the company the operators here and at Lake Ariel were absolved, it having been shown they transmitted the train orders correctly.

The conductor on the train running to Scranton, however, got an order directing him to proceed to East Junction instead of West Junction from the Maplewood operator, the mistake being made apparently by the latter operator in making it out. Just how Elston, who was conductor of the train coming the other way, is responsible is not clear here.

Elston and Brown were both popular men with the commuters, and in Elston's case, at least, it is stated the end is not in sight, since the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will take up the case with the company. Elston was with the Erie many years, having been an old Gravity employee.

Division Supt. Eckels in a statement today said:

"The investigation of the Lake Ariel wreck has not been completed yet and may not be for several days. When a decision is reached, however, it will be forwarded to Mr. J. H. Maddy, the Erie's special representative in New York, who will, I presume, make a formal statement to the press."

Mr. Eckels intimated that he would at no time give out personally any information as to the cause of the Lake Ariel disaster.

FIRE COMPANY'S ELECTION.

Protection No. 3 Will Support Foreman Brown For Chief Engineer of Department.

Protection No. 3 held their annual meeting and election at their headquarters Tuesday evening. There was present about 40 members. The meeting was called to order by the president and the regular order of business was transacted.

The committee on picnic reported progress, showing the net receipts would exceed $340.

The election resulted as follows: W. W. Wood, president; W. J. Ferber, vice-president; F. W. Schuerholz, secretary; William H. Bader, treasurer; George Bergman, Charles Grey and J. H. Carroll, trustees; R. M. Salmon and Charles P. Searle, auditors; H. Oday, foreman; William B. Roadknight, first assistant foreman; John Carmichael, second assistant foreman; J. M. Lyons, chief engineer; J. H. Carroll, assistant engineer, and Charles Truscott, stoker.

It was the unanimous desire of the company that Richard R. Brown, the retiring foreman, be re-elected, but as Mr. Brown is a candidate for the position of chief engineer of the fire department, a position made necessary by the fact that there are now two fire companies in the town, it was resolved that Mr. Brown, on account of his long experience and marked efficiency, be supported for the position of chief engineer. It was further resolved that Hose company No. 1 be requested to unite with No. 3 to confer this honor upon a man who is eminently fitted for the position.

After the business meeting adjourned the members retired to the banquet hall and partook of a lunch which had been prepared. The balance of the evening was very pleasantly passed in smoking and feasting. Professors Bodie and Sonner discoursed sweet music on piano and violin.

Mrs. Harriman's Stewardship.

Wall street on Saturday reviewed one year's control of the vast Harriman fortune of $100,000,000 by his widow, Mrs. Mary W. Harriman, and it was agreed that her stewardship has left nothing to be desired. Not a single dollar has been withdrawn from the Harriman projects, but all have been developed as the "little wizard" planned, while it has been demonstrated that the belief that Mrs. Harriman knew as much about her husband's affairs as he did was well founded.
