

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

BALL PLAYERS IN BIG REVOLT.

Diamond Stars to Present Bill of Rights to Commission.

TO DEMAND MANY REFORMS.

Want to Be Declared Free Agents After Serving Number of Years in One City—Would Abhor Twelve Month Contracts.

Judging by the present state of affairs, it looks as if our national game will be in the limelight more than ever this winter. There is considerable talk of another baseball war and a twelve city circuit being formed. Added to this is the fact that major league ball players are drawing up a magna charta to present to the powers of organized baseball. They are framing a "bill of rights" to present to the national commission.

The ruling of the baseball commission against the so called barnstorming trips of ball teams during the fall and winter months coming on top of the rule compelling players to sign a twelve month contract seems to have brought the matter to a head, and now the players want to have a say in the matter. The threatening war clouds hanging on the baseball horizon may cause the magnates to listen if the case is properly presented, but they are hardly likely to grant all that is asked in this preliminary announcement since to do so would seriously disturb the present smooth sailing, trust-like serenity of the national game. This is what the ball players want:

"First.—A clause in contracts declaring them 'free agents' after playing in one city for a limited term of years.

"Second.—In case of dispute between player and club owner over the size of the player's salary a board of arbitration to pass upon the case.

"Third.—Representation on the national commission.

"Fourth.—Six months players' contracts to terminate at the end of the league season, or compensation for twelve months of service if club owners insist on that time for their contracts.

"Fifth.—Freedom to play ball or engage in athletic sports with teams other than those in organized baseball after the American and National league seasons are over.

While there seems nothing unreasonable in these demands, to grant them in full would mark the beginning of the end of organized ball, since it would no longer be possible to equalize the playing strength of the teams. The strong teams would grow stronger and the weak teams weaker unless the players were to sacrifice their own preferences and follow along the same lines that the managers are now pursuing in endeavoring to maintain the popularity of the game. If they would do that and do it as well as the managers are doing it some of the money that now finds its way to the pockets of the club owners could be garnered by the men who play the game.

and now they want to tie him up for the other six months without paying him any more money. This is manifestly unfair, and the players have good reason for complaint, particularly those who had planned to add to their income by playing ball during the off period.

GIANT UMPIRES WANTED IN AMERICAN LEAGUE.

There are so many tall catchers in the American league that President Ban Johnson has instructed Chief of Umpires Jack Sheridan to recommend giants for umpirical positions. The shorts can't see over the shoulders of the towering receivers who stand behind the bat. Mul-len, Western association, and Finnegan, Eastern league, are the new names. Ban B. has a fondness for fighting Irish ump's.

BENDER HAS CUBS' MEASURE

Indian Likely to Prove Athletics' Hope in the World's Series. Manager Connie Mack has an idea—and it is based on past performances—that Chief Bender is going to be most effective against the Cubs. Last fall when the Athletics took the barnstorming trip through the west they played a game in Chicago against the Cubs. Bender opposed Reulbach, and the Athletics won, 3 to 0, but one hit being made off Bender. Evers and

Chance were not in the lineup, but all the rest of the team were in the game, and they could do little or nothing with the Indian. "That gives me a pretty good clue on Bender when facing the Cubs," said Mack recently. "If he is right they won't do anything with him, and he will work in at least two and maybe more of the games. He will have to be at his best, of course, but the Chief usually is at critical times, and we hope to be in such a position by October as to give him plenty of rest and have him fit and ready for the big series."

YOUNG NOT READY TO QUIT.

Veteran Pitcher Expects to Keep on Working. It has been insinuated that Cy Young, the veteran pitcher of the Cleveland Americans, intends to make this his last year in baseball. Cy, however, denies having made any such announcement, nor does he care to state what his plans are for the future.

"I have never told any one that this would be my last year in baseball," said Cy recently. "I have not given the future any thought at all. I think I am just as good now as I ever was, and I still like the game. Of course I am not going to stay in it forever, but have not announced my retirement."

BALL PLAYER IS REWARDED FOR HIS PATRIOTISM.

Infielder French, who was sold by Boston to the Chicago Americans last spring, is one player who found it paid to be enthusiastically patriotic. The day he was sold by Taylor to Chicago French was on the coaching lines, yelling his head off in his efforts to have Boston win. The sale had already been consummated, but was not to take effect until that night. One of the other Boston players remarked to him: "What are you working so hard for? You are going to be one of the White Sox tomorrow."

"Well, I am one of the Red Sox today," was French's reply, "and I am playing for Boston. Tomorrow I shall play just as hard to beat Boston."

When Taylor heard of the conversation he added $150 to French's check.

BRITISH PUG A HUMORIST.

Bombardier Wells Tells How He Would Defeat Johnson. Bombardier Wells, England's "hope of the white race," has outlined his plan of battle when he faces Johnson. He says:

"In my opinion, the men who have fought Johnson have made the mistake of not trying to 'draw' him more—in not forcing him to lead and give them an opening.

"To beat a man like Johnson you must hit him hard and often, and the only chance of hitting a man with such a defense is to compel him to lead and give you an opening. If I had to fight the champion I should keep on feinting till he was compelled to lead. Then there would be my chance."

A perusal of the Briton's opinion forces the belief that he is not a pugilist, but a vaudeville humorist. Wells should come to this side at once, take to the vaudeville circuit and convulse the audiences by telling them of his plans to beat Johnson.

ROWE TO GO TO ENGLAND.

Trainer Who Made Keene's Colors Famous on Turf to Seek Fame Abroad. James Rowe, one of the greatest trainers of race horses that the world has ever known, will leave America in the near future for England, where he will handle the stable owned by Her-man B. Duryea. Jimmy Rowe, as he is better known, will never be forgotten in turf lore, for he was the man that made the white and blue spotted jacket of James R. Keene famous the world over.

For fourteen years Rowe handled the horses belonging to Keene and within that period won over $2,000,000 for the veteran turfman. During his career with the Keene establishment Rowe has handled the best race horses that ever ran in this country. He broke the world's record of winnings three years ago when Keene gathered in $420,000 in purses.

The cutting down of the Keene stable induced Rowe to secure his new berth.

Jones May Handle White Sox in 1911.

It is said on good authority that Fielder Jones, who piloted the Chicago Americans to a world championship in 1906, will be seen in a Chicago uniform next season. Jones has received an offer from Owner Charley Comiskey which the great center fielder could hardly refuse. The White Sox's poor showing this year led Comiskey to offer Jones the enormous salary of $20,000 and also 10 per cent of the club's profits to become playing manager. This, the fielder figures, will net him the round sum of $35,000. This is probably the biggest price ever offered to a playing manager.

SPORTING POINTERS

Cleveland is making strenuous efforts to secure the Olympic games for 1916. Rochester, N. Y., recently witnessed a tennis tournament under electric lights.

The California Jockey club will give $20,000 in stakes at the meeting in San Francisco, beginning Nov. 12.

Battling Nelson, the former lightweight champion, weighs 157. It looks as if he is out of the game for good.

The strength of Rugby football as played by the Pacific coast colleges is shown by 120 freshmen turning out at Leland Stanford university and 140 at California in an effort to make the teams.

The twenty-first annual field trials of the National Beagle Club of America will be held at Shadwell, Albemarle county, Va., on Nov. 19, and the fourth show of the same will occur on Nov. 13.

No Stimulant For Olympic Marathoner At the Olympic games in Stockholm, Sweden, Marathon competitors will not be permitted to partake of foods or stimulants during the twenty-six mile grind. In previous long distance races the athletes have been in the habit of reviving themselves with whisky and brandy.

BREAD ON THE WATERS.

Recompense, Just Like in the Stories and Plays.

A Cleveland paper tells of a tramp who came to the back door of a residence and begged for shoes. The mistress of the house gave him a good pair and said to him: "There, put those on, and if you want to show your gratitude, just happen around here some morning after a snowstorm and clean off our sidewalk."

Some time after the lady was awakened early one morning by some one scraping the sidewalk in front of the house. Looking out, she found that there had been quite a heavy fall of snow, and there she beheld the tramp to whom she had given the shoes, clearing away the snow from the sidewalk with an old broken shovel. When he caught sight of his benefactress at the window he raised his hat and to her, and his self-imposed task finished, went away without saying a word or even asking for anything to eat. Three times the same thing happened during the winter, but the man never asked for compensation or food.

A New York woman once invited a ragged, dirty beggar into her house, and after he had had a comfortable meal and some clean clothing she sent him away with words of encouragement, telling him that he was "good for something better than trampant, but it was a shame for a man of his apparent intelligence and good heart to be getting a living in such a disgraceful way."

This lady became embarrassed financially and was in sore need of money. She asked a friend where she could borrow $500, but he could not accommodate her, nor did he know of any one who could. Next day, to her great astonishment, a man, total stranger, as she thought, called at her house and told her that he had heard she was pressed for money, and that he had come to her the amount she needed. With growing surprise she asked how it was that a complete stranger, whom she had never seen, was willing to trust her. The man then explained that he was the tramp whom, a few days before, she had taken to her house and treated like a brother; that her kindness on that occasion had been the turning point in his career; he made a man of him again; that he prospered beyond his dreams, and that ever since he had gotten on his feet he had been wishing for an opportunity to show his appreciation of what she had done for him.

Disliked Publicity.

"Young man," the rising statesman said to the reporter, "newspaper notoriety is exceedingly distasteful to me but since you have asked me to give you some of the particulars of the leading events in my life I will comply. I do so, however, with great reluctance." Here he took a typewritten sheet from a drawer in his desk and handed it to the reporter. "I suppose, of course," he added, "you will want my portrait, and, although I dislike anything that savors of undue publicity, I can do no less than comply with your wish." Here he took a large photograph from a pile in another drawer and gave it to the reporter. "Anecdotal matter concerning myself," he added, "you will find in this printed leaflet, as well as particulars of my hobbies and tastes. When this appears in print you may send me two hundred and fifty copies of the paper."

Children and Fools.

The boy was an idiot. His head was twice the normal size, and he would sit for hours without speaking. However, when he did emit a remark, it was sure to be startling, and couched in apt language. One day, an extremely "plain" old maid was calling on his mother. After a long period of apparently thoughtless silence, the idiot remarked suddenly, "Do you know, Miss Perkins, you are absolutely the homeliest woman I ever laid my eyes upon?"

In agony, the mother turned to him: "Charlie, do not let me ever hear you make such a remark again," she cried, severely. "Mother," quoth the idiot, "I never shall have occasion to."

COURT PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the Judge of the several Courts of the County of Wayne has issued his precept for holding a Court of Quarter Sessions, Oyer and Terminer, and General Jail Delivery, in and for said County, at the Court House, to begin on MONDAY, OCT. 24, 1910, and to continue one week:

And directing that a Grand Jury for the Courts of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer be summoned to meet on Monday, Oct. 17, 1910, at 2 p. m.

Notices are therefore hereby given to the Coroners and Justices of the Peace, and Constables of the County of Wayne, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at said Court House, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said 17th day of Oct., 1910, with their records, inquisition, examinations and other remembrances, to do those things which to their offices appertain to be done; and those who are bound by recognition or otherwise to prosecute the prisoners who are or shall be in the Jail of Wayne County, be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Honesdale, this 24th day of Sept., 1910, and in the 19th year of the Independence of the United States and of said County, at the Court House, in and for said County.

Do You Suffer from Splitting Headaches?

If headache sufferers would do a little hard thinking, they would surely learn that headaches of all kinds are simply results—warning signals—of far more serious trouble. Usually headache means that the blood and nerves are poisoned by an inactive and sluggish liver. Don't become one of the habitual headache sufferers who explain their condition by saying: "Oh, I am subject to headaches. I always get headache if I get excited or it is too noisy." There is no need of it either. Stop taking dangerous headache powders, and put your liver in good shape, so that it will carry off foul secretions and remove properly the bile elements from the blood by taking Smith's Little Pills and Bitternut Pills.

These Little Pills are Nature's true laxative, and a positive cure for a torpid liver. They assist digestion, unload the bile ducts, and cure headache by first removing the cause. Physicians use and recommend. They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These little Vegetable Pills will ward off many ills.

The Era of New Mixed Paints!

This year opens with a deluge of new mixed paints. A condition brought about by our enterprising dealers to get some kind of a mixed paint that would supplant CHILTON'S MIXED PAINTS. Their compounds, being new and heavily advertised, may find a sale with the unwary.

THE ONLY PLACE IN HONESDALE AUTHORIZED TO HANDLE CHILTON'S MIXED PAINTS. Is JADWIN'S PHARMACY.

There are reasons for the pre-minece of CHILTON PAINTS:
1st—No one can mix a better mixed paint.
2d—The painters declare that it works easily and has wonderful covering qualities.
3d—Chilton stands back of it, and will agree to repaint, at his own expense, every surface painted with Chilton Paint that proves defective.
4th—Those who have used it are perfectly satisfied with it and recommend its use to others.
