

METHODS OF CHANGE AND MACK, TWO GREAT BASEBALL LEADERS, COMPARED

By TOMMY CLARK.
FROM now on until the deciding game of the world baseball series speculation will be brisk. Naturally the rabid fans of Philadelphia cannot see anything to it but Connie Mack's demon Athletics, while in Chicago there isn't a native who isn't satisfied that Frank Chance's crew can beat the Mack men in anything from marbles to pingpong with the great game included. More interest is taken in the coming series than has been the case in the last few years. The reason for this is that the two teams appear evenly matched, and hard fought for struggles are anticipated. The Cubs have the strongest catching department. Their infield has a shade on that of Philadelphia, and the Cubs' suburban trio outclasses that of the Athletics. Philadelphia's pitching staff is stronger than that of the Cubs. They are a better hitting team than the Teddy Bears. But Chance's club is a smoother baseball machine. Taken all in all, the two teams are evenly matched, and the way the managers, Chance and Mack, handle their men, especially the pitchers, will be closely watched by the fans.

Chance and Mack Are Great Leaders.
 Connie Mack and Frank Chance are two great managers, master minds in their profession, and they have worked out a winning combination from two directly opposite angles.
 Mack is a great believer in himself, and his purpose has always been to find the kind of material that satisfies his critical taste and then weld and mold it into players who follow out his ideas of attack and defense. He is the absolute director of affairs under his own roof. His players must play his game, he in perfect unison with him on all his principles, their own individuality buried and subservient to his directions, and the result is that when the Athletics go into the field to do battle there are nine Connie Macks arrayed against the opposition.

Mack a Unique Character.
 Mack is one of the most unique characters in baseball. Ever go to a is enough to change the whole course of the game.

 Mack never passes his signals in a public way. He is the soft pedal manager. One wave of his card means this, and another peculiar little twist of the pastboard removes one pitcher and substitutes another. There is no lack of motions in C. Mack's movements. He has the wig-wag way down fine. After a game Mack does not ride to the hotel in a bus with the players. Like the common people, he boards the street car and goes to the hotel. He usually waits till most of the crowd is out of the way. He does not like to be jostled. With all his easy going style nothing escapes him. Interviewing C. Mack is productive of much information—for C. Mack. The longer you talk to Mack the less he tells you and the more he finds out from you.

Chance Likes Fighters.
 Frank Chance, the Cubs' leader, is of different caliber. He is a typical exponent of the playing manager. He will be on first unless the aforementioned dire calamity works a change in the color scheme. And from the initial corner the P. L. is a master hand at driving his hurlers. Ask any umpire who has officiated on the bases when some poor, unhappy Cub finger has experienced a bad spell.

When the reins were handed over to Chance with power to do anything within reason to secure a winner for Chicago he had it all figured out. He wanted and secured a lineup of fighters. Where individual stars would fit into the combination he found and secured them. When he failed to find the right material in the bright lights he developed the kind of player he needed—a fighting, hustling individual, such as, per example, Johnny Evers. And the result is that every time that Cub brigade wanders out on a diamond there are nine self confident fighting warriors in action—the never-say-die kind, who must fight to win even if they fight with themselves. That is the Chance combination.

How Their Methods Compare.
 By way of comparison of the effectiveness of these two combinations one might turn back to a recent game with St. Louis. Mack used eighteen players in a vain endeavor to defeat the Browns. Connie was directing every angle of the play, but all his baseball astuteness was not equal to the occasion. Chance didn't play in the first game in the last series with New York. In fact, he didn't don a uniform or go near the bench. Evers was in charge, and that Chance combination, trailing for a little portion of the game, broke the Giant defense early and came off with flying colors. The Cubs fight all the way, and their greatest forte seemingly is "coming from behind."

With the Cubs the brains of the combination are distributed evenly around the diamond, with the center pin of the same on the initial sack, able to direct without mistake all those intricate plays that crop up in inside baseball.
 The contention here is that those conditions give the Cubs a further edge, and a pronounced one at that, which contention cannot be reasonably contradicted.

Remarkable Pitching Record.
 By striking out more than a score of batters and keeping his opponents helpless for two games recently Pitcher Tucker of the Bessemer (Ala.) team is believed to have established a precedent in baseball by winning both ends of a double header without a hit or run. Tucker gave several bases on balls, but nothing resembling a hit was secured off his delivery.

Shrubb to Quit Running.
 Alfred Shrubb, the famous English runner, who will coach the Harvard university squad, admits that his days as a runner are over. The little Englishman, who holds all the world's records from one and one-half to ten miles, says he does not think he will ever run another race, as his legs will not stand the strain.

NO BAR TO RACE.

Despite Deaths Grand Prix Event Is Assured.

PERMITS HAVE BEEN GIVEN.

Three of Spectators at Vanderbilt Cup Race Have Slim Chance to Recover, While Others Injured Probably Will Survive.

Hempstead, N. Y., Oct. 4.—All indications now point to the holding of the Grand Prix automobile race on Oct. 15 over the Vanderbilt cup course, where more than a score of persons were more or less injured on Saturday and four killed.

The matter was informally discussed for two hours between the race officials and the Nassau county board of supervisors. A special meeting of Motor parkway officials was held at the Garden City hotel, and judging from statements made the Grand Prix will be held, provided the parkway officials employ sufficient deputies to police the course properly.

Supervisor Smith Cox, chairman of the board, said that inasmuch as permits had been given to hold the race he would not oppose it, providing all available police protection was given.

Three of the spectators injured at the Vanderbilt cup race are fighting for their lives with slim chance of success in Long Island hospitals. The others injured are all expected to recover.

$1,500,000 FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Nine Persons Hurt at Biggest Blaze Crockery Ever Saw.

New York, Oct. 4.—In a fire that swept both sides of Eleventh avenue from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth streets for five hours, destroying buildings for great distances along the avenue—the greatest fire that Chief Croker has ever seen, he said—nine persons were injured, $1,500,000 worth of property was consumed and a spectacular view of wind fanned flames and sparks was presented to thousands who thronged the scene.

Saw mills and lumber yards, storehouses and a small hotel were eaten up by the fire, hose was shrivelled and sidewalks were blistered and cracked by the awful heat.

Along the Manhattan shore of the North river for four blocks, where boatmen, railroad police and firemen were working under streams spread by two fire boats, the sparks from the fire, wafted straight in the air for hundreds of feet, showered down into the river like a great, wide, fiery waterfall.

MARRIED TO REFORM HIM.

Court Lectures Mrs. Brown When She Tells Her Story.

New York, Oct. 4.—"So you felt sorry for this man and married him to reform him? Well, I think you made a pretty poor job of it," said Justice Denel in the Brooklyn court of special sessions to Mrs. Margaret Brown, a landress in the Kings County hospital.

The woman declared her husband, James Brown, had beaten her, and added, "You know he was a jailbird before I married him."
 "Well, what did you marry him for?" queried the judge. Then he sentenced Brown to six months in the penitentiary.

Discovering That Lover is Only a Waiter, She Jumps Into Sea.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 4.—Discovering that the man who had laid siege to her affections was merely a waiter instead of a wealthy visitor, as she supposed him, Miss Anna M. Howe, sister of Frank Howe, a Philadelphia theatrical manager, cast herself into the sea.

The woman's body was found in the bay off Somers point, and her identity was a deep mystery until parts of her outer clothing were found on the beach.

HURRY CALL FOR COACHES.

Yale Has Four of Best Men On Hospital List.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 4.—It was feared that Halfback John Field will be out of the game for the rest of the season with his dislocated shoulder, re-injured in Saturday's game with Syracuse. He was regarded as one of Yale's mainstays. Last year a similar injury in midseason benched him.

A hurry up call for more coaches has been sent out. With four of the best men on the hospital list the need of more advisers to whip the great material into shape became acute.

MAY PILOT REPUBLICANS.

C. S. Francis, Roosevelt's Friend, Mentioned as Woodruff's Successor.

New York, Oct. 4.—It is said in political circles that Charles S. Francis is a close political ally of Colonel Roosevelt, by whom he was appointed ambassador to Austro-Hungary, will succeed Timothy L. Woodruff as chairman of the Republican state committee.

During the convention at Saratoga Mr. Francis was often at the colonel's right elbow and was at all the conferences which resulted in the downfall of the "old guard."

Wilson to Follow Hughes.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 4.—If he is elected governor of New Jersey Woodrow Wilson will habitually employ the Hughes plan of appealing directly to the people on legislative matters. He said so explicitly in making an address here.

La Follette to Be Operated On.

Rochester, Minn., Oct. 4.—Senator La Follette entered St. Mary's hospital today to prepare for an operation for gallstones.

Appreciation of Langley.

Surely it is time to express a few words of appreciation for the man who ventured, in the face of opposition and ridicule, to investigate the laws governing the internal work of the wind and of the sustaining power or surfaces, who devoted energy, skill and scientific reputation to the placing of a problem, hitherto despised and scorned, upon a plane commensurate with its true importance, and in a position whence success was surely to be obtained.

The present is not the time to disparage the work of Chanute, of Lilienthal, of the Wrights, of Farman, Bleriot, Rolls, Curtiss and Hamilton, but it is the time to remember the magnificent work of Samuel Pierpont Langley.—Casseler's Magazine.

ball game to discover the director general of the Athletics? Ever notice Connie Mack in the limelight? Ever see what becomes of him after the ball game? Well, if you never observed these things take a look and you will be surprised. Mack enters the ball park when nobody knows. His presence is not heralded. He just comes. He never appears in front of the bench. During the game a long, lean, anxious looking man may be discovered in the shade of the visiting club's bench, but that's the nearest he ever comes to the public gaze.

When the game commences Connie Mack crosses his legs, unlimbers them, makes motions with a score card and records religiously just what happens to every batter. A gentle wave here or there of the ever present score card

Trying Hard to Rival Catcher Sullivan.

Ever since Billy Sullivan of the Chicago Americans performed the feat of catching three balls thrown from the Washington monument backstops all over the country are trying similar stunts, only the distance the ball is dropped from is much lower than the monument. Earl Baxter, catcher of the Beverly (Mass.) baseball club, a few days ago caught three balls in succession dropped from the top of the Bunker Hill monument, a distance of 204 feet.

Steals 105 Bases in One Season.

By stealing 105 bases this season William Zimmerman of the Utica team of the New York State league has written his name in baseball history beside that of such old time heroes as Hamilton, Brown and Lange.
