REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Governor JOHN K. TENER.
For Lieutenant Governor JOHN M. REYNOLDS.
Secretary of Internal Affairs HENRY HOUCK.

COUNTY.

Representative, H. C. JACKSON.

What a strange combination. Roosevelt, the apostle of civil righteousness and Hearst, the preacher of unrest, discontent and near anarchy.

There is every indication that H. C. Jackson, the Republican candidate for Representative, will have a good big majority in Wayne county.

Let every workman read the article on "Glass Cutting in Japan" and "Oriental Competition a Menace," and then ask himself the question, is it not better to vote for C. C. PRATT for Congress, a man who has always voted for Protection to workingmen and farmers, then to vote for George W. Kipp who always follows the lead of his party which is opposed to a tariff that will shut out Chinese and Japanese labor.

The outlook in this congressional district looks as if C. C. Platt will be returned by a larger majority than he obtained in 1908.

Election day is only four weeks away and there is but little of the hustle and bustle of years gone by.

Abraham Lincoln had a wonderful facility of putting facts into words that strike home like blows of a hammer.

"I do not know much about the tariff, but I do know this much, when we buy manufactured goods abroad we get the goods and the foreigner gets the money.

And any community which depends for its commercial welfare upon the wages of its workmen, who are in need of protection from cheap foreign labor, is loud in its demands for a protective schedule.

GRIM VERSUS BERRY.

New Castle, Oct. 10.—Last night, for the first time in the campaign, Senator Grim spoke of his moral right to the Democratic nomination for governor.

He told how he had worked hand in hand with William H. Berry in an effort to defeat the selection of Munson delegates to that convention; how he and Mr. Berry had counted noses on the night before the Munson withdrawal and had found that they had enough delegates between them to almost certainly prevent the nomination of Mr. Munson; how, after his nomination, Mr. Berry had come to him and congratulated him upon his nomination and had pledged him his support; how ten days later he had again declared his intention to abide by the will of the convention and support its nominee, in spite of the fact that all the circumstances were known to him. Mr. Grim again asked his opponents, who are spreading insinuations against his private and public character and impugning his motives, to present some evidence to support their claims or to do him the justice of withdrawing from the field, to insure the triumph of the reform forces in this state.

TENER AND LABOR UNIONS.

In a speech made at Sharon, Pa., John K. Tener put to rest rumors that had been circulated in the industrial sections misrepresenting his attitude toward organized labor.

A report has gained circulation that I was opposed to the motormen and conductors of a traction company in Charleroi, of which I am an officer, joining a union.

I am in favor of organization and realize that little can be accomplished in a religious, social or industrial way without it, but I hold that no man who gives permanent employment to labor is a greater benefactor of his fellow men than he who gives money for temporary relief.

Hence in my opinion every union man should consider his employers' interests when he seeks through organization to advance his own welfare and that of his union.

ORIENTAL COMPETITION A MENACE—CHEAP LABOR AND RAW MATERIAL.

Why workmen and farmers should vote for Pratt and Jackson who stand for Protection.

The rapid development of the manufacturing industries of Japan has greatly disconcerted Western nations.

A comparatively few years has sufficed to completely change this erroneous estimate of the Japanese.

There is no longer any disposition to assume that they are merely imitative, for it is seen that with their acquired knowledge they are rapidly becoming inventive as well as adaptive, and that they have other qualities which make them formidable competitors in lines of manufacturing which Westerners had no expectation of their entering into.

But now comes another competitor on the scene, The Chinese, whose stores of iron ore and excellent coal are reputed to be enormous, have commenced to exploit them.

It is not probable, however, that the Chinese will content themselves with shipping to us their raw products.

Foremost among these must be reckoned an immense body of cheap labor which can easily be converted into that of the skilled sort.

For some time to come, as in our own country, progress will be slow.

It is an interesting situation that will be created by the new development.

The new invasion, if we may call it by that name, is of a different sort.

If the expectations of those who are now observing the new development of China are realized; if that country makes half the progress predicted, in a very short time Chinese manufactured articles of iron and cotton goods will be entering our markets and shutting out those from the East; and perhaps the invasion will make hopeless the attempt to build up a Pacific coast industry.

In that event it is not unlikely that the East will assume a different attitude on the subject of cheap Chinese labor from that formerly taken. It may even find occasion to strengthen rather than relax its views on the subject of Protection and reach the conclusion that even "slant" industries cannot successfully compete with the industries of countries possessing an abundance of raw materials and an illimitable supply of docile labor.

GLASS CUTTING IN JAPAN.

The next congress will have some work cut out for it, in order to provide better tariff protection for our cut glass manufacturers and workmen. This will be a very important and a vital subject to every workman in the cut glass industry.

"It is wonderful to witness the deftness of these people in handling glass and the great results they get in this new industry.

"I should have the boys instructed in the rudiments of military science. They should be taught to throw up earthworks and to plan scientific lines of defense.

"Our standing army of 80,000 men is far too small, and Congress should provide for its increase to at least 140,000 men.

"I approve of the 'Boy Scout' movement which is taking hold in several cities, as it is in line with my belief in juvenile military education."

OLD VET PAYS FOR BREAD HE STOLE NEARLY 50 YEARS AGO.

Gettysburg, Oct. 10.—Miss Agnes McAllister, who lives south of town, near McAllister's mill, was last week visited by a veteran here for the monument dedication who insisted on paying for some bread which he had stolen at the time of the battle.

Mr. Swain insisted on paying Miss Agnes McAllister whom he recognized as the woman from whom the bread had been stolen.

A SHABBY MAN WITH A WAD.

New York, Oct. 10.—A man who spoke German with the same facility as the American vernacular and who wore a summer suit that was a bit faded and a hat that was in style several years ago boarded the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II a few minutes before she sailed from her Hoboken pier.

"I don't want an inside room. Give me the imperial suite."

"That for me," said the man of the simple attire, pulling out a fat wallet and displaying what Ewan Justice, press agent of the line, declares was a large roll of $1,000 and $10,000 notes.

"I don't want an inside room. Give me the imperial suite."

THE CLEAN BOSS OF SAN FRANCISCO.

"Blind Buckley was the boss of San Francisco in those days," writes Richard Barry in Human Life for October. "Arrogant, treacherous, resourceful, alert, unscrupulous and thoroughly versed on the weaknesses of men, he owned the city as completely as did ever a robber baron his castle.

"McNab saw all this, and he could not believe that same, independent American citizens would permit it to continue.

"About this time the editor of a weekly paper, hearing a fiery speech that McNab once made before his debating club, asked him to write a contribution.

"But there was consternation in the minds of McNab's friends. Could a man assail the Boss publicly and still live in San Francisco? His friends looked for him—a young fellow only twenty-five years old—to be consumed in a flash of blue fire from the stronghold of the Boss."

GEN. WOOD WANTS ALL BOYS TO BE SOLDIERS.

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—Every boy in the United States over thirteen years of age should be trained as a soldier, according to Major-General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States Army, who is in St. Louis to attend the twelfth annual convention of the National Guard association.

"I would out-German the Germans," said General Wood, "by substituting compulsory military education in all schools.

"Every boy thirteen years of age or more should be compelled to learn to use a rifle as part of his school course.

"Military drill would be part of the compulsory education. Uniformed companies in the public schools would be advisable, though not indispensable.

"Our standing army of 80,000 men is far too small, and Congress should provide for its increase to at least 140,000 men.

"I approve of the 'Boy Scout' movement which is taking hold in several cities, as it is in line with my belief in juvenile military education."

REGIMENT OF ANTS DEFEAT U. S. ARMY.

Here's a story from Washington of a battle between a regiment of white ants and a regiment of United States soldiers.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of HYOMEI, costs only $1.00 at drug stores everywhere and at G. W. Pell's.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment.

"Every boy thirteen years of age or more should be compelled to learn to use a rifle as part of his school course.

"Military drill would be part of the compulsory education. Uniformed companies in the public schools would be advisable, though not indispensable.

Banish Catarrh

Breathe Hyomei for Two Minutes, and Stuffed-Up Head Will Vanish.

If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritating cough in the shortest time, breathe HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me).

It will clean out your head in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely, awake or asleep.

HYOMEI is made chiefly from eucalyptus, a soothing, healing, germ-killing antiseptic, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, where catarrh, asthma and consumption were never known to exist.

HYOMEI is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber pocket inhaler, breathe it, and cure is almost certain.

Menner & Co. store are now showing the new line in carpets, house furnishings, rugs, porters, curtains and wall hangings.
