REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Governor JOHN K. TENER.
For Lieutenant Governor JOHN M. REYNOLDS.
Secretary of Internal Affairs HENRY HOUCK.
State Treasurer CHAS. F. WRIGHT.
For Congress, C. C. PRATT.
For State Senator, WINFRED D. LEWIS.

COUNTY.

Representative, H. C. JACKSON.

Governor Stuart, after a thorough and exhaustive examination of the charges made by the North American against John K. Tener, has offered his services to the Republican State Committee to take the platform from now until election.

There is a strong objection to returning our present representative to the legislature. The people have given him eight years of office and to give him ten years is too much. Somebody else ought to have a show.

repealed by a Republican legislature March 21, 1873. Trades, occupations and professions were taxed for STATE PURPOSES by an act passed April 29, 1844, by a Democratic legislature and a Republican legislature repealed this act on June 2, 1871.

Household furniture, gold and silver watches and pleasure carriages were taxed by the act of June 11, 1840, and that of April 29, 1844, both were passed by Democratic legislatures. A Republican legislature on May 12, 1857, repealed both of these acts.

Under Republican administration the corporations, not the people, pay the expense of administratng the state government. Every Republican candidate for Governor has been compelled to run the gauntlet of abuse, slander and libelous statements, and yet when elected have won the respect of every honest citizen.

One of the wonderful things that reformer Berry did when State Treasurer was to send a check for $25,000 of the people's money to the New Castle Trust Company three months after it had failed and been placed in the hands of a receiver.

TENER AND HIS ACCUSERS.

The cowardly conspiracy of money-hungry newspapers and office-hungry candidates to discredit John K. Tener before the people has served one good purpose. It has enlightened the honest citizenship of Pennsylvania as to the moral qualities of men who, in this campaign, as in other campaigns, have presented themselves as evangelists of reform.

John K. Tener is an upright citizen. He has the confidence of every man and woman who knows him. From the day when as a lad he sought his first employment he has had an unbroken business career of fair dealing.

The Republican candidate for governor has met his traducers as any other honest man who is falsely accused would meet them. When he finishes with them there will not be a man outside the sinister alliance which has borne false witness against him who will not say that he has spoken the truth.

On November 8th an unusual opportunity will come to the people of Pennsylvania; an opportunity to elect as Governor a man who is able, clean and honest, by an indorsement that will violently repel the black hand methods of a political vendetta.

Every voter in this state who believes that the decalogue ought to have a place in politics should cast his ballot for John Kinley Tener.

A WORKING MAN WHO REMEMBERS.

Pittsburg Gazette Times. It is much to be regretted that the Tariff has been a political issue again. The Democratic party was out of ammunition, and if there is one thing Democratic politicians like to talk about and denounce and yet know less about it is the Tariff.

Yet it is only a short time since this happened. I believe there are enough living who still carry scars from that period of suffering, and will refuse to vote for any candidate who talks low Tariff. There are

AMUSEMENTS.

The authors of "The Time, the Place and the Girl" can be credited with having succeeded admirably in showing in that original and amusing piece the delightful probabilities afforded by opportunity and the necessary conditions. And Adams and Hough do it, too, in such merry fashion that the audience glides through the current of the story with a joyous abandon which is akin to the pleasure of a fascinating waltz.

MECHANIC. Homestead, Pa., Sept. 24.

TAX DODGER KIPP.

After Mr. Kipp's unwarranted attack upon Congressman Pratt in his letter of acceptance wherein he charged him with being the agent and tool of the "Special Interests" (meaning the corporations) the Republican County Committee of Bradford county at the request of the Towanda Republican club, investigated Mr. Kipp's record along that line.

It uncovers one of the most brazen and successful schemes to evade taxation of modern times. The report goes to show that Mr. Kipp is the President of ten large corporations in the United States and Canada, that he is a director in many others, and that all told his holdings in the stock and bonds of these corporations amount to more than one million ($1,000,000) dollars; and besides this, he has upwards of $100,000 in Western states where the rates of interest are higher than here, and after showing that every dollar invested in the stock and bonds of corporations in states outside of Pennsylvania, and all bonds issued by Pennsylvania corporations and all the money invested by him in mortgages in other states is subject to the payment of a four mill state tax, three-fourths of which would be returned to the county of Bradford, it makes the amazing statement that during all the years Mr. Kipp has resided in Towanda he has never paid one cent of taxes upon his money at interest.

Just think of it, handling all his great wealth right in the county of Bradford and not even paying one penny in taxes, when he should have been paying thousands of dollars. What do the farmers and business men of this Congressional district think of it? If the farmer has a few hundred dollars at interest he knows that the assessor and the tax collector both find him, but neither can find Kipp. He goes scott free.

The scheme is this: He neglects or refuses to fill out the blank furnished him by the assessor, and keeps his money invested where the assessor cannot find it. Very simply but very effective. Most people think they are in duty bound to fill out the blank and swear to it, and so they are. Particularly is that the case where one has money at interest, but Kipp escapes the performance of all such little matters as these. He, the millionaire, simply don't do it.

The report further shows that Congressman Pratt, the Republican candidate, although by no means as wealthy as Mr. Kipp, has made his reports of money at interest regularly and this present year returns over $40,000 in money at interest, three-fourths of the state taxes upon which will be returned to the county of Susquehanna where he resides.

Further comment is unnecessary. Mr. Kipp has been "bolst by his own petard." He has been proven guilty of the very offense which he charged against Col. Pratt, and the record that Mr. Pratt has come out of the burning without the smell of smoke upon his garments.

The report invites Mr. Kipp to go before the assessor for his district or the county commissioners and fill out a blank and swear to it as provided by law just the same as most other people do. Will he do it? Not much. The money he saves each year by evading the payment of his taxes gives him a nice little campaign fund to expend in running for office.

The expense of his tax dodging scheme has created a sensation all through the district and a feeling of indignation against him and his methods is rapidly spreading and destroying all possible chance for his election.

Moral: Pay your taxes and write your own letter of acceptance.

What Would Jesus Do?

New York, Oct. 26.—"If Jesus were preaching here today, I think He would use moving pictures," says the Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reinsner, pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, answering Methodists who criticize the moving picture exhibitions he gives in the church Sunday evenings and week nights. "Jesus used the things about Him in His teaching. When He healed a blind man He spat on the sand and rubbed the sand on the man's eyes. He told His disciples, when they had fished all night and caught nothing, to drop their net on the other side of the boat, and they caught many fish. He used water to make wine. He could have healed that man without using sand and saliva, just by a word. He could have rained fish from heaven into that boat. With a word He could have made a jar and filled it with wine. But His beholders would not have understood these things as clearly as they did when He used the common, everyday things of life to work with.

When the father of Thomas Edsall appeared before Judge Senrie and paid the forfeited bail of his son indicted by the grand jury on the counts of breaking and entering, larceny and receiving stolen goods, thinking that by so doing the indictments against his son would be quashed. He learned to his dismay and consternation that his son would be safe only so long as he remained outside of the jurisdiction of the court, and that as soon as he returned he would have to stand trial.

Turtle Treasure Trover. Five years ago three East Stroudsburg Normal students, J. N. Conniff, of Plains; E. J. Davies, of Plains, and James McCluskey, of Hawley, found a small land turtle near the school while surveying under the instruction of Prof. Sandt. They carved their initials, as well as those of the professor, on the turtle's back and liberated it.

This was the last thought of it until Saturday. J. N. Conniff, one of the boys, came to the school to see the Normal-Wyoming game. While in the school house after the game one of the present students brought in the self same turtle, which he had found on the campus. "Jim" was so pleased with it that he took it home with him to keep until his days were ended.

This was an unusual incident, but the gentleman was very much pleased that his old friend turned up in such a peculiar manner. He exhibited the turtle in town before leaving for home.

Long Run of Hard Luck. In the past several years nothing but hard luck has been the lot of Frank E. Ruggs, a prominent farmer of Fort Hill. A few days ago a rattlesnake bit one of his cows. Other stock became infected and as the result three head of cows, one valuable horse and five sheep have died.

About a year ago Mr. Rugg's large barn filled with stock caught fire and was completely destroyed and two years ago a son was killed at Fort Hill.
