—Teachers attention! Read very carefully the pamphlet which is inserted in your copy of the Institute Manual. This appeal by the Women's Auxiliary association of the Wayne hospital, for your aid and assistance should meet with your hearty co-operation.

—Two of the contestants in the late balloon race named Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post are missing and it is feared that they have drifted over into the unexplored wilderness of the Hudson Bay region and perished. Active search is being made for them. Later dispatches state they have been found alive and well.

—"The Bachelor," a three-act original comedy by Clyde Fitch, delighted a large audience Wednesday evening at the Lyric theatre. "Jennie" as the stenographer with advanced ideas in matrimony quite captivated the crowd, and George Goodale made an admirable New York bachelor. The inevitable outcome was one "more" Benedict and one "less" Bachelor.

—Some joker placed an advertisement in the New York World to the effect that $100 would be paid to the person suggesting the most appropriate name for the new Port Jervis theatre. The result was the mails bags reaching that city have been loaded down with communications answering the advertisement and Port Jervis has a few thousand names at their disposal.

—The new Dyberry state highway is now completed to within less than 200 feet of the stopping point, Big Eddy. The contractors, Seaman, Brennenman and Irwin, were urged by the state authorities to complete another thousand feet, which would carry the road to what is known as Nelson's bridge, but they declined the offer. Complaint is made by teamsters and farmers living along the line, at the rapidity with which autoists pass over the highway, thus endangering the lives and property of others.

—J. Oscar Terrell, who has been confined to his home with the gripe for about a week, is better today.

—Jack Johnson was beaten in the $5,000 automobile race by Barney Oldfield at Sheepshead Bay race track on Tuesday. The winner of the Johnson-Jeffreys prize fight is a failure as an automobile racer.

—Louis Rauner and Heman Cole were in town Monday and Tuesday. Both of these men were interested in the Edsall case, having suffered the loss of harness, chickens, etc.

—Henry Wiseman and wife, of Wilkes-Barre, are in town for a short time. Mr. Wiseman has sold out his shoe business in Wilkes-Barre and is now enjoying a well-earned rest.

—The Citizen has received an invitation from the trustees, faculty and students of the Pennsylvania State College to attend "Pennsylvania Day" at State College, Pa., on Friday, November the eleventh.

—"The Call of the Wild," a melodrama, was the attraction that comfortably filled the Lyric theatre on Tuesday evening. The play was most staged, supported by a strong company, and was full of pathos. John Ermine was most appealing in his character of the White Weasel.

—The Men's society of the St. John's German Evangelical Lutheran church met Tuesday evening. On Thursday evening, the Young People's society of the same church met, and elected delegates to the Fall convention of the Northeastern District of the Luther League of America which will be held in St. Paul's church, North Scranton, the early part of November. It may be of interest to the many Honesdale Leagueurs to know that at the state convention of the Luther League held at Meyersdale, Pa., this week, P. Walter Banker, of Wilkes-Barre, president of this district, and well known here, was elected State President.

—The Edsall case had a sudden ending at court on Monday when the defendant, who was out on bail, was called. He failed to appear and his father, who was bondsman, stepped up to the rail and placed down $300 cash which was the amount of the bail bond. Attempts were made by parties representing the defendants to settle this case by paying for all the goods which had been stolen from the prosecutor determined to see the case through and place the defendant so he could no longer pay nightly visits to barns and hen coops. In some localities there are people who believe and act the belief that chicken stealing is not a crime. The indictment against Edsall still remains and he will be arrested on sight and the next time bail might not be accepted.

—The Democratic papers are exploiting the news that Horace G. Young, well known in Honesdale, has renounced Republicanism and joined the Democracy. We think this statement is slightly warped and twisted. Mr. Young has no doubt come out for John A. Dix, the Democratic candidate for governor in New York state, and his reason, no doubt, is the fact that he is opposed to the bulldozing tactics of Roosevelt in bossing the New York state convention. Mr. Young, like a great many of the business men of the country, who have had experience in the financial world know that the success of Rooseveltism in politics will have the same effect upon business interests as a bull would have in a China shop. When frenzied politics has resumed its normal conditions Mr. Young, we think, will be found in the ranks of the G. O. P.

—No need to wait for Friday, Nov. 4th, when you will be sure to go to the sale in Sunday school room of Grace church. Leave your orders now for cake, rolls, mince meat, etc., with Mrs. W. J. Van Koyren. For everything suggestive of Christmas gifts go to Mrs. D. W. Menner, adv.

ing job for the O. & W. R. R. George Simpson, of Winwood, stated that he saw the gray mare and that it had a very sore back. As a cavalryman with three years' Civil war experience, he knew quite a little about horses.

The defense then opened its case, the first witness called being James Manley, the defendant, who said he was employed by Mr. Harding to watch the men and horses. Harding was over him on the job, and Manley had worked quarter of a mile from the defendant who frequently visited. On June 18 Constable Sherwood came along and talked with him. "I have a warrant for you," he said, and ordered the horse put in a barn. At the 'squire's the defendant pleaded not guilty, but was refused Mr. Harding as bondsman, and gave the 'squire $10 and his watch. The fine he paid under protest. Later the constable came with another warrant and threatened to take him to Honesdale if he didn't pay the $30 fine. McClain went his bail. Mr. Harding had all authority as foreman. The horse's back "looked like a bile came on." It was healing on June 24th. The doctor gave him a certificate and the horse was worked ever since. Harding paid the drivers.

On cross-examination he admitted boarding with Decker, and keeping the mare in his stable. He helped to doctor the horse. His father paid Decker. He did not plead guilty before the 'squire.

Morris Harding, general foreman of construction work on the O. & W. railroad between Poyntelle and the river, stated the O. & W. hired horses from the defendant's father and that he as foreman had general charge of the work. He observed the sore on the mare's back. In the work the saddle couldn't touch it. A silver quarter would cover the sore.

On cross-examination he said the wound was only skin deep.

Frank Cornell, of Winwood, testified to working on the O. & W. railroad grading job under the direction of Card, and that he was the driver of the gray mare. In his opinion the sore was caused by a boll. He spoke of treating the sore with balsam of myrrh.

Dr. H. A. Paget, a veterinary, of Scranton, with a practice of 22 years, told of being called to see the horse June 26th. He found a sore caused by an abrasion of the skin which was made worse by the application of balsam of myrrh. He prescribed a mild astringent lotion for the wound.

In his opinion the sore could cause absolutely no pain unless touched by some part of the harness. The sore was healing when he was summoned.

John Manley, of Winton borough, testified to furnishing horses for the O. & W. railroad. He saw the gray mare. To him it looked as if it was stung by something.

M. J. Barrett, of Jessup, a dealer in horses for twenty years, testified to seeing the mare. No part of the saddle touched the sore.

J. B. White, of Jessup, testified to seeing a small sore, in the process of healing, on the withers of the mare. The horse didn't squirm when he touched her.

On rebuttal Constable Sherwood and Frank Card testified. Card spoke of the removal of the burlap from under the saddle, and blankets were fixed on each side, and the harness removed.

Court adjourned at 12.15 p. m. pending the final arguments of counsel.

Board of Trade Lands Cut Glass Works for Village.

Hallstead, Pa., Oct. 25.—The Hallstead board of trade has secured for this village a large cut glass factory which is anticipated to open business in Hallstead immediately after January 1, 1911. The firm will employ about 100 hands.

Accordingly the Hallstead board of trade has issued the following announcement:

"Bids will be received for the erection and completion of a large concrete factory to be located in Hallstead, Pa. Plans and specifications may be seen at the store of W. M. Knoeller, Hallstead, Pa., until Saturday, Oct. 29. Right reserved to reject any or all bids."

The factory will be about 150 feet long and 75 feet wide. While the board refuses to make public any definite estimate of the cost, as they are awaiting the bids of the contractors, it is not thought the cost will be over $25,000.

The building must be ready for occupancy by January 1.—Binghamton Republican.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

WAYNE TEACHERS' ASSO. MEETS

Do Much Serious Work, and Enjoy a Chicken Dinner. Special to The Citizen.

South Canaan, Pa., Oct. 26.—The Wayne County Teachers' Association met at South Canaan, Saturday, Oct. 15, 1910.

The meeting was called to order by vice-president, Chas. E. Martz, in the Methodist church.

After singing and devotional exercises led by the pastor, Mr. Howell announced that dinner would be served by the Ladies' Aid society in the Grange Hall.

The pastor delivered an address of welcome, which was full of enthusiasm and encouragement, and emphasized the fact that a "chicken dinner" awaited every one at the hall.

Mrs. Alma J. D. Dix delivered the inaugural address, and told of her vacation trip to the Pacific coast. This talk was exceedingly instructive and entertaining, the speaker giving a vivid account of conditions in Idaho.

Miss Alice Gregory gave an account of a trip to Old Orchard, Me. She emphasized the loyalty of the people of Maine to their own state. Mrs. Dix also noted this characteristic in the West.

Miss Jennie Lee gave a description of the "House of Seven Gables" which in reality has eight gables. Miss Theresa Soete, in her characteristic manner, told how to become acquainted with Wayne county. She gave many interesting ways of teaching the geography of Wayne county, calling especial attention to the lakes and the boroughs.

The report of the committee on standardizing high schools of the county, was read by Prof. Creasy. Comparatively few High schools keep complete records. All principals are urged to begin at once to keep records.

The matter of "uniform requirements" was difficult to regulate until the present year, when the state course of study for elementary schools has regulated the work to be covered by them. Uniform examinations given by the county superintendent will decide the mastery of the course by the pupils.

There should be sufficient uniformity in our course to permit classification of pupils changing to different High schools to prevent loss of time to the pupil.

The committee suggests that frequent written tests be given. The questions to be prepared by principals of other High schools.

Short recitation periods are not as effective, and a seven-month term cannot expect to cover the work of a nine-month term.

Preliminary contests might be held at intervals and a final contest given.

Teachers conveniently located should organize a reading club. This it is believed would bring the elementary and secondary schools into closer touch and would result in much good. Such arrangements should give the teacher more definite aims in their work. Too often to the teacher and pupils of the country school the High school is in another world, one which they know little about or care less.

The discussion was opened by Mr. Martz. A motion was made that Supt. Koehler appoint a committee to make uniform examinations for the county high schools. Prof. Creasy suggested that the discussion be postponed for future meeting.

Prof. J. H. Kennedy read an excellent paper on "Teachers' Don'ts" which will be published at some future date.

"What we may reasonably expect of pupils entering High school" was the discussion opened by Charles E. Martz. He said: "No pupil should be allowed to enter High school under fourteen years of age. Finishing at 17 or 18 they are young enough to enter college or take up a trade, and can get fullest understanding of studies. The pupils entering High school should not be without some thought of the future. They should have completed satisfactorily the work of the grades; should know more technical grammar as preparation for Latin. See that definitions tell the truth, and that the child reasons to that effect, not only in grammar but in all branches. Teach more political geography."

The subject was discussed by Prof. Oday and Prof. Watkins.

A vocal solo was rendered in excellent taste by Miss Freed, teacher of vocal music in the Hawley graded school.

"Are our schools meeting the demands of the community?" was the subject of Supt. J. J. Koehler's talk. Mr. Koehler intended discussing: Common things seen in the school room, Agriculture and Alteration scheme, but time growing short he made his talk brief, not however before making some inspiring statements as "There is no profession in which there are so many unselfish men and women as in the public school system." "I firmly believe in the public schools and in the public school teacher."

The committee on resolutions returned thanks to the residents of South Canaan for their hospitality and courtesy, and the meeting adjourned.

VOTE FOR PRATT.

The Wages of Sin!

"I am going to be married soon," said a young Carbondale man several days ago in the course of conversation with a friend of his. "I'll have to get in a whole lot of fun until then. I'll be decent then."

"My husband and I don't live together," said a divorced woman in speaking of her matrimonial troubles to a reporter recently. "He was a drinking man, and unfaithful in every way."

What a terrible indictment of the "double standard of morality," such statements are! Is it any wonder that our divorce courts are kept busy? The wages of "ante-nuptial wild-oats sowing" are martial infelicity, and inevitable discord and final separation.

Wrestler Breaks Arm.

J. McDonald, of Buffalo, N. Y., in a wrestling match, Tuesday evening, with Milo Fitch, of Carbondale, at Mienerchor Hall. In this place, for a side bet of twenty dollars, the winner to be the one who got the best of three falls, was so unfortunate as to badly twist his left shoulder, which put an end to the bout in the second round. W. Ballas was the referee of the match, and about twenty-five men enjoyed the proceedings. The time-keeper was Harry W. Butler of this place.
