REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Secretary of Internal Affairs HENRY HOUCK.
State Treasurer CHAS. F. WRIGHT.
For Congress, C. C. PRATT.
For State Senator, WINFRED D. LEWIS.

COUNTY.

Representative, H. C. JACKSON.

If we could get everything we want by praying for it, nobody would want to work.

It is always the political party that is out of office that views things with alarm.

Two men go through the same door—one to success, the other to defeat. What had the door to do with it?

The people of Germany are finding fault with the horse meat the United States are shipping them. Do they suppose we are going to send them the young and tender colts?

In the approaching political campaign, there is going to be an opportunity for a good many people to lose their heads, and possibly do a great deal of injustice to some people, and injury to the country. Study your men; don't lose your head. Edwin S. Stuart was vilified by the same papers and men who are now vilifying John K. Tener. Four years from now they will turn their batteries of mud upon the man whom the Republican party will nominate.

Why are the Democratic papers silent as to the character of their candidates? The Democratic papers of Monroe hardly mention Harvey Huffman's name. What did Harvey do when counsel for the county commissioners? Old-fashioned Democrats don't like a lawyer who will represent both sides of a case for his own greed. Why don't the Herald speak about George W. Kipp's valuable services to Wayne county? The editor, Mr. Stocker, knows all about the indignation meeting called by the citizens of Wayne county to compel George and his associates to disgorge some of the ill-gotten money that was squandered by Kipp and his associates.

One week more will end the political campaign and we shall then know whether the policies of the Republican administration at Washington are to be continued or whether we may look for a Democratic President to succeed Taft.

Let no mistake be made about this. It is easy to think of the Presidential struggle as two years off, and to repeat that one cannot cross a bridge until he arrives at it. As a matter of fact we have arrived practically at that bridge today. This election throughout the Nation is preliminary to the great contest just ahead. It is proposed by the Democrats and their sympathizers to capture right now the House of Representatives at Washington; to control enough legislatures to win the Senate of the United States, or at least to so reduce the Republican majority in the Senate as to make victory easy in another two years; to run a Wilson or a Harmon or a Gaynor for President, in case a triumph next week, and thus place the Democratic party in power.

And this triumph can be brought about, but only with the consent of Republican voters. Let all Republicans consider that. Let them permit great Republican states to be turned over to the Democrats next week and they will quickly find that their chances for redeeming the country in 1912 and electing a Republican President are exceedingly slim.

CHARACTER and CANDIDATES COMPARED

PRATT VERSUS KIPP.

CHARLES C. PRATT.

C. C. Pratt has served half a term in Congress. His official record shows that on every bill effecting the interests of the people of his district, he was present and his vote stands out as being cast for the best interests of his people. He stood for the passage of every measure that would benefit the workman. On the glass schedule he was insistent on having the cut glass and glass blowing interests protected from the cheap ware and cheap labor of Europe. On agricultural matters, he was "Johnny on the spot," working tooth and nail to see that the farmer and dairyman and all their interests had a fair square deal. For the old veterans he did more in his half term than Kipp did in a full term. He introduced and had passed 15 special pension bills. Pratt has measured up to the high standard of a faithful Congressman. His private life is above reproach. His business life is as "clean as a hound's tooth," not a syllable has been uttered against him. A man of excellent habits, morally clean, and in business, square as a die. As a citizen he has been foremost in every public work that called for time or money. He has never shirked any duty or any tax placed upon him; he pays on every dollar he has at interest which is $40,000, and every obligation of civic life has been squarely met. In social life he is genial and companionable, although he has never drunk liquor, or used tobacco, yet to meet him is to like him, and it matters not whether a man is a ditch digger or a bank president, to Charles Pratt he is a fellow man, and the same glad hand of fellowship is extended not only before election, but after and always. Broad-minded, big hearted, C. C. Pratt is a man always, everywhere, and to everyone, and a vote for him is a vote you will never cause to regret.

GEORGE W. KIPP.

George W. Kipp, who is the candidate on the Democratic ticket for Congress and has managed to get on the Keystone ticket, although he has none of the qualifications that the Keystoneers claim is necessary. Kipp was Congressman one term and was absent 147 times and always when he was needed by the people of his district to protect their interests. He shirked every time when needed. As a commissioner of Wayne county in 1883, he was a party to exhausting the county treasury to such an extent that his own party leaders held a mass meeting to call a halt on the lavish squandering of county money. The result of this meeting was $1,000 was returned to the county treasury by legal process, and what was lost to the county could only be estimated. Kipp has been a success as a business man in making money. He is worth at least $1,000,000, but a recent examination of the records of Bradford county show that he has never paid one cent of taxation only on his occupation, one cow and one horse. On his millions invested in bonds, stocks and money at interest, he has dodged the taxes for years, and yet he asks us to vote for him to represent us in Congress.

LEWIS VERSUS HUFFMAN.

WINFRED D. LEWIS.

Winfred D. Lewis is the Republican candidate for State Senator. The nomination came to him unsolicited. It was a case of the nomination seeking the man and not the man seeking the nomination. He has never held office, although eminently fitted to fill any office of trust or responsibility. He is a young man 31 years of age, began life as a breaker boy around the mines, received a good common school education; then earned money for a college course, working evenings to pay for his tuition, afterwards entered Dickinson law school, graduated with high honors, built up a law practice in his native town and county and by straight-forward, manly business methods has won the respect and confidence of all who know him in every walk of life. He entered this race for Senator with reluctance but at the earnest solicitation of his many friends in both parties. He has started his canvass and so warmly has his cause been espoused by Democrats and Republicans that it is confidently expected he will be elected. His own county will give a rousing majority. Monroe county Democrats, disgusted at the antics of Huffman, who is thoroughly unreliable, are outspoken in their disapproval of Huffman's attempt to get on the Keystone, Prohibition and Socialist tickets and will either not vote for Senator or vote for Lewis.

HARVEY HUFFMAN.

Harvey Huffman was nominated at the June primaries by a judicious use of boodle and lots of promise made to the Wayne county element. He extended the glad hand to the saloon men here in Wayne county and was a "hale fellow well met" while going the rounds. In Monroe county where he thought he had a cinch, he cajoled the Keystoneers until he got their nomination, only to be thrown off the ticket when they got on to his curves. He then managed to sneak in on the Prohibition ticket and his name was sent in and nearly all of the Wayne county ballots were printed with his name under the Prohibition circle. This was discovered and the Secretary of the Commonwealth telegraphed Sheriff Braman to cut him off the Prohibition and put him on the Socialist ticket where he belongs. There is a big cloud hovering over Harvey's record in Monroe county and although it was no bigger than a man's hand a few weeks ago, it will be tornado size before election day. Harvey was counsel to the commissioners at one time and he was counsel for some other people at the same time and, it is said, he mixed his advice up in such a way that Harvey didn't lose anything, but the county can't say they didn't. Monroe Democrats are noted for their drawing the line on honesty in official business. Lookout for a landslide in Monroe county.

JACKSON VERSUS FUERTH.

H. C. JACKSON.

H. C. Jackson is a Wayne county man by birth, by education and a lifelong residence with us. Can you mention any better recommendation for a man, whom you wish to represent you? He is a farmer and a successful one, and as a farmer he represents the very best element of county life for it is the farmer who digs the money out of mother earth in the shape of vegetables, fruit, grain, etc. He is the biggest manufacturer with NATURE as a silent partner that the world has. Do away with the farmer and we would all die of starvation. The farmers of Wayne county raise crops from the soil, turn them into money, bring the money to the Honesdale banks, so that the merchants and manufacturers can go to the bank, borrow the farmers' money to pay wages to the workmen, clerks, etc. Now the farmers of Wayne county have nominated Farmer Jackson of Tyler Hill as the man whom they want to represent this county at Harrisburg. Now "Honest Injun" don't you think, Mr. Storekeeper, Mr. Workingman and Mr. Manufacturer that its a square deal to grant them this wish, especially as they have not had a representative for so many years that it has escaped the memory of man. This man Jackson has had a valuable experience in mercantile life; he has been successful in his own business, pays his debts, and is one of the most respected citizens in this section of the county. There are a lot of questions concerning agricultural pursuits that will come up in this next legislature.

LEOPOLD FUERTH.

Leopold Fuertth has been to Harrisburg four times; this is the fifth time he has tried for the position. A great many people think he has been elected as many times as he ought to be. He promised some people he would not run anymore, but would try for State Senator, but Joel Hill got the whip hand of him in that deal and so he comes back for another trial as Representative. Leopold is a real good fellow in many respects but he has got it in to his head, that the legislature of Pennsylvania actually needs him in order to make the laws of this state. Leopold's paper which he had published in Scranton proudly points to his record and it actually insinuates that Fuertth was the whole shooting match when at Harrisburg; that all the virtue that grew at Harrisburg was planted by him.

SOUTH CANAAN.

South Canaan, Pa., Nov. 1.—Anna Spencer, of Pleasant Mount, who is teaching the Ammerman town school, Beulah Swingle, who is attending the State Normal at Steubensburg, Pa., Mrs. George H. Swingle and son, Robert, of Avoy, dined with H. L. Butler and wife on Sunday. E. Carey's cow choked on an apple recently, but after good treatment by way of giving her raw eggs and oiling her throat, the obstruction was removed, and the cow is at this time doing well. The senior L. T. L. was entertained at the home of Mrs. Grace Shafer at Gravity, Saturday, Oct. 29. Miss Beatrice Enslin, daughter of Clarke Enslin, is seriously sick at this writing. The weather is beautiful up here at this writing. I only wish I had more news for you but I will have more the next writing. The noblest contribution which any man can make for the benefit of posterity, is that of a good character. The richest bequest which any man can leave to the youth of his native land, is that of a shining, spotless example.

VOTE FOR JACKSON.

STUART'S INDORSEMENT OF TENER.

For nearly four years Edwin S. Stuart has conducted the affairs of Pennsylvania as its chief executive. In the campaign of 1906 he was the Republican candidate for Governor. Rarely has there been a political battle such as that was. Mr. Stuart had led an honorable life, but that fact did not prevent the villainiers of Philadelphia and the libelers of Philadelphia and the agitators from assailing him on the stump. The people were told that if elected the state would go to the dogs; that he did not own himself; that he was the candidate of "bosses," and as such must bow to them. All sorts of evils were predicted.

Not only was he the target for the coterie of political highwaymen in Philadelphia and for the hypocrites in politics everywhere to fire at, but men entirely honest in their opinions—mistaken, but honest—argued and voted against him. Rudolph Blankenburg was one of those who stumped the state and did his best to defeat Stuart. William H. Berry was active in his denunciations.

What happened? The majority of the people were not to be fooled. They supported Stuart and he was elected. And there has followed an administration that has proved to be a model. There is, and can be no just criticism of the Stuart administration. On the contrary, it is admitted even by his former fierce opponents that the Republican administration of the affairs of Pennsylvania stands without a blemish.

Today another Republican candidate, pledged to carry out the Stuart policies is before the people, and once more the same agitation is heard throughout the state. Tener cannot own himself, they tell us, just as they said of Stuart when the latter was the candidate.

Governor Stuart has won by splendid service the right to be considered a straightforward and level-headed man. He knows just what estimate to place upon the political frothings of men with an itch to seize upon the government of Pennsylvania. He knows how mistaken the worst men may be. He is in a position, through actual experience, to size up the present situation. When Governor Stuart speaks, he speaks with sincerity, and when he presides over a Republican meeting, as he did over the tremendous ovation to Tener, which aroused all Harrisburg on Monday of last week, he presides because he believes that it is the right and honest thing to do. When he says of Tener, as he did in his presentation speech, "I am satisfied that he will do what he promises you he will do, and I say that with all sincerity," he means precisely that.

Governor Stuart has confidence in Tener. And so have we.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

LETTER FROM MONROE COUNTY.

We read a piece in our county paper written by somebody up in the north part of your county praising Harvey Huffman, and recommending him for State Senator. The man who wrote it must have met Harvey on one of his trips. Harvey is smooth and oily all right. Here in Monroe county where he lives we have him down pat and the reason why the Democrats are going to vote for Lewis is, we know both Huffman and Lewis and while it "goes agin' the grain" to vote for a Republican, yet of the two evils we must choose the least. Lewis is clean, honest, reliable and capable. Anybody who is honest and knows Harvey Huffman can't say that he has any of the above qualifications. He is as slippery as they make them. He is a liquor man to the liquor dealer, a local option man to the Keystoneers, a prohibitionist to the temperance crowd, and now he is on the Socialist ticket and to them he claims he is out for an equal division of everything under the sun. Monroe county Democrats will not stand for any such monkeyshine business and will vote for Lewis who has won the respect of those who know him. Huffman's record as counsel for the County Commissioners is about all Monroe county can stand. JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRAT.
