Interment was made at Aldenville. Mrs. Manaton was 36 years of age, and is survived by her husband, four sons and three daughters: Howard, Claude, Earl, George, Eva, Clara and Reta. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eade, Pleasant Mount; two sisters and two brothers, Bodie Eade, Carbondale; Floyd and Anna Eade, Pleasant Mt. and Mrs. Ella Bate, Creamton, also survive to mourn her early loss. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in their sore bereavement.

GIVES HIS WIFE TO ANOTHER.

Husband Helps Woman Pack Up and Depart With Rival. Chico, Cal., Nov. 3.—First getting consent of her husband and leaving her two children with him, Mrs. O. J. Eller, wife of the section boss of the Butte County railroad, left town with Alexander Bowen, also married, but whose wife is in the east. They intend to live together. Eller went to the depot to see them off and kissed his wife, saying he hoped she would enjoy her new life. The children also kissed her goodby. Leaning from the car window, she waved her hand at the family group on the station platform until the train had disappeared. "If she loves another man better than she does me I would rather she lived with him," said Eller. "I helped her pack her trunk. I trust she will have no reason to regret her choice."

TRUCE IN STRIKE. Mayor Gaynor Trying to Force Arbitration Plan.

MANAGER PLATT HOLDING OUT. Head of United States Express Company's Unwillingness to Accept Conciliation Has Blocked Peace So Far—Business Under Guard.

New York, Nov. 3.—After a long conference with Mayor Gaynor at the city hall Valentine Hoffman and William Ashton of the Teamsters' brotherhood and Mayor Wittpen of Jersey City announced themselves as confident that the express drivers' and helpers' strike will be called off by an arbitration agreement. Mayor Gaynor appeared to think that there is no doubt about the outcome. Frank Platt, president of the United States Express company, and the vice presidents of the American, National, Adams and Wells-Fargo companies were in conference in Mr. Platt's office. Mr. Platt took to the other express company officials a suggestion of arbitration advanced by Mayor Gaynor and the Civic federation, which provides for the return of the strikers to work at once and the submission of their grievances to a committee of seven arbitrators—two for the men, two for the companies, two to be chosen by the four and Mayor Gaynor to be the chairman. Mr. Platt declared himself against arbitration, but the others were against him. It was the general opinion among express company officers that Mr. Platt would fall in line. If the arbitration plan goes through, Hoffman and Ashton will be the two arbitrators representing the strikers. They were summoned to the city hall by the mayor and submitted their side of the controversy at length. Mayor Gaynor spent his entire business day in an effort to settle the strike. He started by inviting to his office Mr. Platt, a representative of Governor Fort of New Jersey and representatives of the National Civic federation for a talk over the situation. There were present at the mayor's office Mr. Platt, Mr. Stedman, vice president of the Wells-Fargo Express company; Adjutant General Sadler of New Jersey, representing Governor Fort, and John Mitchell, Emerson McMillan, Marcus M. Marks, Louis Schram and Timothy Healey, the conciliation committee of the National Civic federation. The proposition suited the conciliation-committee, but it did not suit Mr. Platt. However, it is believed that Mr. Platt will come around to the arbitration idea. In case he does the strikers will be ordered back to work and will work at their old wages pending the announcement of the decision of the arbitration committee, which might be delayed a month or more in order to allow for full investigation. The suggestion was made that an arbitration committee of six members be appointed, the express companies to choose two, the strikers to choose two and these four to choose the final two. Mayor Gaynor, the suggestion continued, was to be chairman of the arbitration committee and have the deciding vote. The express companies are practically tied up. The withdrawal of police guards from the wagons about suspended the collection of packages from outlying districts.

STRIKERS RAID A TRUCK.

Men and Women in Scramble For Finery Strawn in Street. Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 3.—Strikers upset a truck loaded with women's hats, ostrich feathers, rolls of velvet and artificial flowers in Grand street, near St. Aloysius academy, Jersey City, to "get back" at B. Umansky, a Newark truckman, for attempting to deliver shipments at express depots in Newark. The ropes were cut and the hat boxes and cases rolled into the street. In a jiffy a big crowd of men, women and children pitched into the loot. The boxes were ripped open and a grand scramble followed to get bonnets and other valuables. Women fought with each other in their struggle to get possession of millinery, and in a few minutes the side streets were filled with scampering hoodlums who balanced fine bonnets on their heads as they ran.
