HOUSES BUILT ON MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

During a recent trip through the southern section of the state we were impressed with the number of signs, displayed in towns and cities, advertising that certain contractors would "build houses on monthly payments."

If there is one thing that will help to make a young couple save, it is "to go into debt" for a home. It encourages thrift, promotes health and happiness, and tends to financial independence in old age. It is not what we make, but what we save, that makes us rich. We may earn $100 a week and if we spend $98 of it, we are no better off than if we were earning $20 a week, and saved $18. No matter how large or small our wages may be, if we see to it that the "outgo" is less than the "income," we may rest assured that we are on the safe road to competency. The matter of investing our savings safely is one worthy of universal consideration, and a "home" as a permanent and paying investment is well worth the serious attention of many a young couple as they plunge blithely, gaily, and unconcernedly into the battlefield of matrimony; which momentous step is frequently compared, sometimes happily and then again otherwise, to the commencement of the "Thirty Years' War."

ADULTERATION.

Our words ought to conform to the law of truth. We naturally think that there is no need of urging such a lesson as that. For there is no character whom men so readily unite in despising as the liar. There is no way in which so quickly you can make a man's blood boil with anger, and stir him to quick and vigorous resentment, as by charging him with lying. And yet, there is no sin which is more fearfully prevalent than this. David said in haste that all men are liars. But we have heard good men of wide experience say they were inclined to make the same statement deliberately. But we do not need to take the word of anyone else. We can see for ourselves. Take the matter of deceit in trade for example. Stand by many a counter and listen as goods are sold. The buyer runs down the goods he is bargaining for. The seller runs them up. "It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer, and when he is gone his ways then he boasteth." That is as true a picture today as it was thousands of years ago when the wise man wrote it. It is Saint Augustine who tells of a man who announced that on a certain day he would tell all who came to hear him just what was in their hearts. As might be expected a great crowd gathered. The man stepped out before them and said, "This is what is in your hearts, to buy cheap and sell dear." It is the desire to buy cheap that makes the falsehood in front of the counter, and the desire to sell dear that makes the falsehood behind the counter.

All the deceit of the salesroom it is true is not spoken. This is the age of adulteration of goods. Men pay the price of the thing they want, and get something else. Not long ago we were in a drug store in a neighboring city when a messenger came in with an order for a certain kind of drug. There was none in stock. The head of the firm came to the clerk and asked "Do you know the odor of so-and-so?" "Yes," said the clerk. "Can you make something to smell like it?" was the next question. Now that is a sample, we presume, of what goes on in that store every day—a sample of what goes on in many another store. Men are trafficking in false appearances and in these things, they are lying to those with whom they deal. These customs of trade, of course, are only a specimen of what is going on everywhere else. It is not likely that men are deceitful in business and truthful in other relations, is it? You can see how general a distrust of one another men have when you consider that those who give testimony must be put under oath. You can see how keen a sense of personal untruthfulness we have when you remember how apt we are to make our statements strong by such phrases as upon my word, upon my honor and the like,—as though the plain yea and nay that the Savior commanded were not sufficient. Why is it that it is one of the highest compliments you can pay a woman to say "She always speaks the truth?" Why is it that a man is regarded as a model of integrity if you can say of him "His word is as good as his bond?" Simply because truthfulness is a rare virtue among us. And so our own customs condemn us as guilty of one of the sins we affect most to despise.

ECONOMIC WASTE?

The Editor of the CITIZEN would be pleased to hear from any one who has decided opinions on the subject as to "Whether or not it is an 'economic waste' to keep our churches closed six days in the week, and open only on the seventh." A resume of the views presented will be published, omitting the names of the writers, unless they are willing to have them printed.

MAGAZINE POSTAGE VERY COMPLICATED.

Two Rates for Reading and Advertisements.

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Taft and Postmaster General Hitchcock conferred today upon the recommendations the President will make to congress regarding a change in the second class postage rates as affecting magazines and other periodicals. Mr. Taft will recommend that the magazines be required to pay the present rate of 1 cent a pound on all reading matter and a much higher rate, to be determined later, on the advertising pages. Each magazine will be required to send a copy of its current issue to the postoffice department each week or month, as the case may be. There the publication will be dissected. The reading matter and the advertising sections will be separately weighed and the amount of postage computed by the number of magazines sent out. Newspapers will not be affected. The average haul of the newspaper is but 300 miles, while the average haul of the magazine is 1,100 miles. Mr. Hitchcock told the President today that the plan of separating the reading and advertising matter in the magazines is entirely feasible and he believed it to be the proper solution of the problem. The hauling of magazines in the mail has proved costly to the government and both the President and the postmaster general believe it has entered largely into the deficit shown each year in the postoffice department. The adoption of a new rate, Mr. Hitchcock believes, will entirely wipe out the deficit and put the postal establishment on a self-sustaining basis.

Captain Ham Post Banquets. The annual inspection of Captain Ham Post was held at the post rooms on Friday evening. Comrade John W. Bayley, of Scranton, was the inspection officer. He was accompanied by Comrade S. N. Callender also of Scranton. After inspection the members of the post, numbering 12, accompanied by the invited guests, proceeded to Hotel Heumann where they partook of a sumptuous repast and enjoyed a camp-fire. The menu was one of Heumann's best and was a grand one, the service as usual being excellent. The Lyric orchestra rendered splendid music. Speeches were made by M. J. Hanlan, Leopold Fuerth, Dr. R. W. Brady, C. W. Callender, and Inspector Bayley. Singing and music was also enjoyed which made the evening a very pleasant one. On account of the night being stormy many of the veterans were unable to be present, and some of the speakers failed to be on hand.

Willed Paper Million. Boston, Oct. 28.—Believing herself a beneficiary to the extent of one million dollars in the will of a rich man in New York, whose name is not disclosed, Miss Cora Johnson, who died here a few days ago, left a will disposing of such property, although being possessed herself of but $100 at her death. Miss Johnson, of whom little is known, makes several public bequests of $5,000 each to hospitals and homes and leaves half a million dollars in trust for the benefit of Charles Edward Holbrook, son of Henry W. Holbrook, of Newtown, Mass., the boy to receive the principal at the age of twenty-five years.

Caution to Hunters. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 8.—General orders have been issued to the captains of the troops of the State Police to have the State's troopers assist wherever possible in the prevention of violation of game laws and the arrest of persons who disregard them. For several years the police have been assisting the game and fish departments in the prevention of violations and this year at request of the authorities the troopers will patrol the woods and endeavor to round up the persons who exceed the limits. Reports received at the office of the Game Commission indicate that many hunters are out and that good bags of rabbits and birds are being made. The deer season will open on November 15 and only deer with visible horns may be shot.

Fatal Forest City Accident.

Henry Gratton, Carbondale, aged 35, conductor on the D. & H. R. R. Co. coal train was fatally injured, and brakeman James Norton seriously injured in a collision near Forest City. An Erie freight train plunged into the caboose of a coal train on the Erie track catching Gratton, Norton and Theodore Kelly, all of Carbondale. The D. & H. train was at the water tank when the accident occurred. The three injured men were removed to the Emergency hospital, Carbondale, where Gratton who had lost both his legs, died from the shock. Norton was seriously, perhaps fatally injured about the head, Kelly escaping with a severe scalp wound.

The D. & H. train, conductor Gratton and Engineer Gilbert Hinton in charge, arrived at the watering station at 8:45. The engine began to take on water, Gratton, Norton and Kelly staying in the caboose. Conductor John Madigan and Engineer Elwood Regan were in charge of the Erie freight. No flag was out, according to the Erie officials, and the Erie conductor said he did not know there was a train ahead, and that he had been given the right of way.

CHRISTMAS SHIP ARRIVES.

Steamer Frankfurt Had a Hold Full of Wonderful Toys. Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—The North German Lloyd steamship Frankfurt—the Christmas ship—thirteen days out from Bremen, tied up at the Snyder avenue wharf yesterday at noon, and an hour and a half later proceeded up the river, where she discharged her cargo. Among the Frankfurt's passengers was an unusually large number of children, ranging in age from two to five years, and the disembarking reminded one of an Independence Day parade. The little folk had felt an air of freedom in the new land, and many of them showed their new found loyalty by carrying diminutive American flags in their grimy little hands.

No sooner had their feet touched the pier than they began to indulge in games which lack of space prohibited on the way over. Their quaint costumes added a fine touch of color to the groups. As a fitting cargo for so youthful voyagers, the Frankfurt brought over 5,000 canaries from the Hartz Mountains for a Philadelphia dealer in birds, and a large consignment of Christmas toys and novelties. Most of the cargo remains in Philadelphia, a small portion of it having been consigned to Chicago.

VICIOUS ASSAULT.

Young Austrian Girl the Victim of an Awful Crime Near Wilkes-Barre.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 5.—The police of this city and the neighboring towns are searching for a foreigner who viciously assaulted and robbed Mary Matella, an Austrian girl, aged fifteen years, who came to Wilkes-Barre, last night for the purpose of making her residence with her parents at No. 723 North Washington street. The girl was in a critical condition after the attack, but is slowly recovering. The assault was one of the most revolting that has been committed in the section in many months. The girl arrived in this city last night about 7 o'clock. Her father waited for her at the depot for a number of hours, but missed her, owing to the trains being late. The girl had the address of her home on a slip of paper and was directed to a Parsons car. When she alighted at Brookside she showed the address to a foreigner and he said he would take her to her father's home.

Instead he took her to a place near the D. & H. No. 5 colliery, where he criminally assaulted her and then robbed her of $17 in Austrian money and $2 in American money in addition to a small package of clothing. The girl recovered from the attack and Outside Foreman Sutton found her and notified the police. An interpreter was secured and she was taken to her home. The crime greatly agitated the girl's parents and they wept continually.

Accident Near Pleasant Mount.

Last week about three miles from Pleasant Mt., Peter Grimes and daughter, Florence, while on their way to Pleasant Mt., with a large load of produce intended for shipment to the Home of the Good Shepherd, Scranton, were seriously hurt by the team running away down a steep hill. Mr. Grimes was badly cut and bruised, and his daughter was thrown on a stone and badly sprained her back. The injured father and daughter were removed to a nearby house, and a doctor was summoned. They are recovering slowly. One of the horses was badly cut and bruised.

The Eternal Question!

"I didn't have anything for three days. I have been out in the country where they didn't have anything," remarked a Carbondale hunter in the course of conversation with a friend, on a Delaware and Hudson train, the other day. "The man who drinks whisky never pays his bills," said a warm local option enthusiast the other day. "I guess they have it 'too dry' on the hill," remarked a prominent citizen recently, in endeavoring to explain why a certain man had refused to work his team for the municipality.

Directors' Association, at the H. S. Auditorium, 8:00. Lecture: The Spenders—Dr. Edward Amherst Ott. Admission 35c. Pupils 25c. The Newburgh (N. Y.) Daily Journal devoted an entire column recently to a flattering notice of the Dudley Buck Concert company which gave the opening concert in Y. W. C. A. "The company 'made good,'" it says, "and at the very outset established cordial relations with their hearers. The vocalists, consisting of a quartet of pretty women and one man, sang their selections with dash and warmth. Miss Henrietta Turrell, soloist, possesses one of the finest contralto voices ever heard in this city."

Ordinance Primer Lesson.

What is this? This is a book. What is in this book? There are borough ordinances in this book. What do these ordinances say? One says we must clean off the snow at once. Do all the people clean off the snow at once? No, some do not clean it off at all. Why do they not clean off the snow? We do not know. Mrs. James Rainey and son, of Aldenville, were shopping in town on Monday.

Try This for Catarrh

Get a HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) outfit today. Pour a few drops from the bottle into the inhaler that comes with each outfit, and breathe it in four or five times a day. Immediately you will know that HYOMEI soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated membrane. But HYOMEI does more than soothe and heal; it kills the germs, those persevering pests that are at the root of all catarrhal conditions. "Last year I suffered terribly with catarrh. I used one bottle of HYOMEI, and my catarrh was better."—Miss Helen McNair, Loyalton, Cal. A complete HYOMEI outfit, including a bottle of HYOMEI, a hard rubber pocket inhaler and simple instructions for use, costs only $1.00. If you now own a Hyomei Inhaler, you can get an extra bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents at G. W. Pell's and druggists everywhere.
