NECROLOGY.

Death of Henry Bowden.

Henry Bowden, an aged and highly-respected resident of Wayne county, died at his home, in Bethany, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the immediate cause of his demise being dropsy. Mr. Bowden, who was 87 years of age, was one of the best-known inhabitants of Bethany, and one of the pioneer settlers in that region. He was married to Anna, a daughter of Samuel Doney, and lived in the Doney homestead. Largely-attended funeral services were held in the Bethany Methodist Episcopal church, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. W. B. Signor officiating.

COLES FOR JANUARY.

Happy New Year! How swiftly, as an arrow from a strong bow, 1910 has flown! Father Time, old and gray, his beard white from the Winter snows, stands upon the battlement of the world, bidding adieu to the Old Year with its past joys and sorrows, and ushering in the New Year with confidence and hope.

Like the distant songs of Angels in the fields of Asphodels; And chubby childhood went sparkling to his aged father's side, and the New Year kissed the Old Year, and the Old Year gently died.

Welcome to January. A deathlike stillness, save an occasional sob from the wintry winds that now and then flit mournfully over white, deserted fields and frozen stretches of river—feeble tear-born gusts that expire, almost as suddenly as born, in the icy fret-work on the hedges and the gaunt branches of the shivering trees. Is not this the picture that instantly springs before the mind's eye at the bare mentation of January; when the poor, naked trees seem glad to hide their shame in the snow that weighs down their drooping branches; when the weak, wan sun scarce lifts himself at utmost noon above the horizon, and all too soon, digusted with the chill white world that meets his gaze, leaves behind him long, dark, cheerless nights. Is not the Wolf month, of all months in the year, the most dismal? What, then, could Numa Pompilius have been thinking about when the fiat went forth from his royal lips that the birth of the year was no longer to date from the beginning of Spring, but from the depth of Winter.

The New Year opens up with a very unusual position, and strong aspects of the planets. As the sun crosses the line into Capricorn, Mercury will be the first planet to form an aspect; therefore, there will be many sudden "spurts" of business caused by the "Messenger of the Gods." Uranus is separating from an aspect of Neptune. Earth passes between Neptune and the sun before the middle of the month, and Uranus is in conjunction with Old Mother Earth and the sun on the 16th. The close aspect of Jupiter, the Financial planet, and Mars, the Red Warrior, shows great inharmony and discord between capital and labor in our own country.

There will be fourteen "low ebb" days during the month. Business will be unusually active off and on, but subject to sudden reversals, although these "breaks" will not last long.

The health conditions are favorable, except to those subject to weak stomachs and nervousness.

In all probability January will bring many dangerous disturbances. See Storms and Signs Calendar. The storm periods of greatest activity will be on or about the 3rd, 14th, 21st, and 29th. The indications are that the storms, especially during the last half of the month, will be diversified from tropical rain and thunder southward, to intense blizzards of sleet and snow northward. The strongest and best days for surgical operations will be Tuesday, the 3rd; Wednesday, the 4th; Thursday, the 5th; Saturday, the 28th, and Tuesday, the 31st. Avoid having an operation performed in the sign under which you were born. Do you know in what sign you were born?

The best days to transplant and set trees, shrubs and cuttings will be Friday, the 13th, and Saturday a. m., the 14th. Next best days will be Thursday, the 5th; Monday, the 9th; Saturday, the 21st, and Tuesday, the 31st.
