appearance last Wednesday when Senator Sproul, of Delaware county, introduced three bills in the Senate providing for the virtual reorganization of the present State Highway Department.

In effect the bills, one of which is in the form of a resolution amending the State Constitution so as to give the State the right to borrow $50 .-000,000, provides for a system trunk lines throughout the State connecting with every county seat and every town of importance. The State is divided into 50 districts, with the State having supervision over all. Various positions are provided which carry salaries aggregating $142,400. The positions fixed and the salaries for each are as follows: One Highway Commissioner, $

First Assist. Commissioner Engineer of Bridges 3,600 Superintendents

Eight Assistant Draughts-men, $1800 each Chief clerk Two Clerks, $1200 each

Two Stenographers, $1200 2,400 each Two Bookkeepers, $1200 each

Total$142,400 Another important feature of the bills is contained in the one which gives to County Commissioners and Township Supervisors the right to apply to the State Department for aid in constructing and maintaining those highways which are classed as "State-aid roads." These roads are not covered by the provisions pro-viding for the "trunk lines," but are intended to cover what are termed as roads running parallel to the trunk lines. Under the provis-ion for these parallel lines it is required that the county or township authorities must first enter in to an agreement with the authorities by which the latter are given the right to maintain the roads and to charge the cost of such maintenance to the county or township in the ratio of one-half.

Death Of Orlando J. Dickinson.

[Communicated.]

Orlando J. Dickinson died at his home in Wilmington Wednesday, February 8, of heart trouble, at the age of 65 years, lacking two days. He had been in poor health for some town where he was born until about five years ago when the family moved to Whitingham. About three years ago he bought the Henry Barber farm on Cherry Hill where he lived at the time of his death. He was married to Marion B. Simpson, Preston, June 20, 1883. Of this union two children were born—Eg-bert M. Dickinson and Mrs. Ernest Murdock, who, with his widow, survive him; also two grandchildren— Harold and Raymond Murdock. Mr Dickinson was a hard-working, pros-perous farmer. He was a man of a quiet, kindly disposition, one whom the better acquainted his friends the better acquainted his friends became with him, the more they re-spected and admired him. He will long be remembered and greatly missed by a large circle of friends. The funeral was held from the Uni-versalist church, Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Flint M. Bissell. The body was placed in the valut and interment will be in Riverview cemetery in the Spring.

Labor Troubles. Coming down Fifth Avenue several times between twelve and one o'clock we noticed the street was crowded with a course, dirty crowd of the laboring class and wondered where they were employed to be in that vicinity at that time of day. Since then we noticed a complaint had been sent to Mayor Gaynor to have the avenue cleared of such nuisances. They were in the habit of blocking the walks by congregating there at lunch hour, making it im-possible for other pedestrians to pass. Sometime ago it was reported that many business places were go ing to cut their lunch hour to a half hour as the young men spent the time on the corners in bunches agitating strikes.

Since the recent shake-up here when the boat load of dynamite blew up and shook everything generally, every one is wondering what would happen to the people in the street if an earthquake should ever come this way and topple over "The Man of the Hour" will be seen again in this town, at the Ly-ric Monday, February 27, and as local theatregoers have heard and read so much of this great play, there is no doubt standing room will be at a premium. While George Broad-hurst, the playwright, has taken for his theme conditions which exist in every large city, still there is said to be interwoven in "The Man of the Hour" a delightful love story, and is so skillful in construction as to hold an audience's keen attention from beginning to end.
