Dr. George Edward Reed, president of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., in an address to the board of trustees of the college, at their semi-annual meeting in Philadelphia, recently, said that it was his intention to resign as head of the institution on or before the commencement in June. He asked that a committee of seven be selected to appoint his successor. Doctor Reed's announcement that he wished to resign was received with profound regret by the trustees present. He said that while he did not want it understood that he wished to retire from active life, he felt that the duties as president of such a large institution had become too burdensome for a man of his years, and he would prefer to be relieved of them. With the commencement in June, Dr. Reed will complete his twenty-second year as president of Dickinson college. He will continue a trustee of the institution. A successor has not been considered. The committee of seven named to select a successor will meet in a few weeks.

Roche, Carbondale, is transacting business in town. If the big men of the world could see their way clear to devote their time to the world's governmental work, we would have fewer problems to solve. In the same way, if the big men of city and village, could see their way clear to devote their time to the work of city and village, many of the problems which confront such places would rapidly dissolve in an atmosphere of clearer understanding. Men who will not take any part in the government of their respective towns, have no moral right to complain if bad or unbusiness-like conditions prevail. Local good government, and the way to attain it through the co-operation and guidance of its practical business men.—Seneca Falls Revueille.

Catarrh Goes So Does Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Croup and Asthma. You can easily tell by reading the symptoms below, whether you have catarrh or not: Offensive breath, frequent sneezing, discharge from the nose, stoppage of the nose, huskiness of the voice, tickling in throat, droppings in throat, a cough, pain in chest, loss of strength, variable appetite, spasms of coughing, low spirited at times, raising of mucus, difficulty in breathing, loss of vital force. G. W. Pell has a sensible remedy (money back if it fails) for catarrh, called HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) which is a vaporized air, so antiseptic, that when it is breathed over the inflamed and germ-infested membrane, it kills all germ life, gives relief in two minutes, and cures catarrh. The price, including hard rubber pocket inhaler, is only $1.00. The inhaler will last a lifetime, so that should you need a second bottle of HYOMEI, you can get it for 50 cents.
