ORCHARD DEMONSTRATIONS.

The last one at Hull Brothers farm at Waymart on Thursday and the other at Judge A. T. Searle's farm at Siko on Friday. Both meetings were largely attended. The writer saw the work at the latter place which was very interesting and instructive.

D. A. Kruppenburg, Lake Carey, Wyoming county, had charge of the demonstration and was ably assisted in his work by William H. Bullock, who is the local inspector. Actual demonstration was given of the proper method of trimming both old and new apple trees with helpful side talks on how and when the trimming should be done.

Many farmers brought infested twigs for examination showing the engine which is a 3½ h. p. "New Way" air cooled, stating that it can be used for all farm engine power by being detached from the pump which takes but a minute. The tank holds 125 gallons in which an agitator keeps the solution thoroughly mixed. The pressure is easily kept at 200 pounds. The whole outfit is neat and compact and looks to be very durable.

Demonstrations of various spraying devices were also given. The "New Way" Motor Company, Lansing, Mich., demonstrated a power sprayer called the "New Way" Success. J. J. Moore, from the factory, and E. W. Gammell, who has the sole agency for Wayne and part of Lackawanna counties operated the machine during the afternoon, except when lectures were given. That this sprayer is what its name indicates, a "Success" was satisfactorily proven as all who saw it work can testify.

It would go over rocks and climb the hills doing as good work as on the smooth and level ground. Mr. Gammell called special attention to presence of scale and fungus and received instructions as to the best procedure to cure these undesirable conditions.

O. M. Spettigue, Jr., also demonstrated a Myer Century Spray Pump. This pump has a cog gear handle and is claimed to be the easiest working hand pump on the market. It is very compact and durable, all the working parts being of brass or bronze. The pump develops a pressure of 120 pounds and does very efficient work.

After the demonstrations of spraying and trimming the trees Messrs. Kruppenburg and Bullock delivered addresses on practical horticulture. The former contrasted the conditions in Pennsylvania with those in Washington and Oregon and stated that we could grow better apples in Pennsylvania than can be produced in the San Jacinto Valley, Washington. He gave some interesting and inspiring accounts of what had been done with old orchards in Pennsylvania and proved conclusively that an orchard cared for, as a farmer would care for any other crop, would pay enormous dividends. He also gave instructions as to how to select trees for new orchards. He laid a special emphasis on the fact that the modern method is to keep the limbs of a tree near the ground; the trunk of the tree should not be over three feet in height. He stated in this connection that the modern idea was to raise apples but not timber. Mr. Bullock then gave an instructive talk on the preparation of spraying mixtures, the various elements necessary and the easiest and best way to mix them. He also gave advice as to the best times for using the spraying mixtures.

These exhibitions prove that it is no longer necessary for the fruit grower to be at the mercy of the various pests that attack trees, and the knowledge gained at the meetings will enable the farmers hereabouts to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the finest fruit raising belt in the land.

AMUSEMENTS.

"My Cinderella Girl."

"My Cinderella Girl," a musical farce by Richard Walton Tully, who is perhaps best known as the co-author with David Belasco of "The Rose of the Ranche," and William Frederick Peters, composer of "The Mayor of Tokio" and other comic opera successes is the distinctly high class offering at the Lyric Theatre on Monday, April 17. This attraction is unquestionably one of the very best of the local season, and as it has been drawing crowded houses in the city, the result will probably be the same here. It comes to us with a record of over three hundred performances at the Whitney opera house, Chicago, and the endorsements of all of the dramatic critics and managers of St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis, and the other principal cities where the company has recently appeared.

It is a clean, wholesome farce, with the unusually tuneful musical score presented by a company of unquestionable ability.
