FRILLS AND FASHIONS

For Women by a Woman

No summer wardrobe will be complete without one or two brown linen suits for shopping and travel. No matter how many white or light colored linen suits my lady has, they do not take the place of the so-called brown one, which must be of the best quality and latest style.

Certain features mark the new models. One shown in a Fifth Avenue popular shop has a scant skirt, but yet a great improvement on the recent fashions, which is doomed, Madame declares, as both unbecoming and impracticable. The jacket is the short, straight front style, with big sailor collar and long rims, fastening at one side just below the waist line.

These box coats are very smart this season. In this particular case both collar and cuffs are faced with pink and white French cretonne. The buttons, another smart adjunct, have linen centers and gold rims. Suits of this description sell for $25.00.

Cretonne facings and pipings are much in evidence in the best emporiums.

Quite as fetching is another brown linen model having a Norfolk Jacket, with belt below waist line in front. This also has a deep sailor collar. This model is marked $15.00.

Box coat effects are the rule. Grey linen suits are also considered stylish, and many of the stores are showing cases of silk hose.

He was master mechanic for a number of years in the Steploc Smelting and Mining Co.'s works at Ely, Nevada, but was obliged to come East for his health, after a long siege of sickness. Mr. Richards is survived by his wife, four brothers and two sisters.

GLAD RAGS FOR BASEBALL. In the opening game on Saturday, May 27, the local team will appear in their new uniforms. This season their color is different from the dark Honesdale suits of the past and they will "come out" in "classy creations" of white with navy blue trimmings. Believe us, they are worth while gazing at and admiring.

Another desirable accessory is the hand embroidered linen shopping bag. These can be found in all shades stamped ready for embroidery. One for each suit is a dainty conceit; the brown linen worked in yellows and black, the white in delicate pinks or blues.

As usual these little accessories tell the whole story of how much attention has been given the summer wardrobe.

Dotted swiss and fine tissues are adorable dresses for hot weather. A pretty model can be had for $7.49.

Ribbon jabots with rose-bud pendants of the ribbon are cunning conceits.

Mousquetaire silk gloves, sixteen buttons are bargains at 85 cents.
