

GOULDSBORO.

[Special to The Citizen.] GOULDSBORO, Pa., June 6.—At 8:30 a. m.—Memorial Day—the majority of the citizens of Gouldsboro and vicinity, many from Scranton, Moscow, Tobyhanna, Clifton, Lehigh Glen and Lehigh met at the Lackawanna station to greet and escort members and Chaplain T. D. Swartz, Post No. 218, of Moscow, and Captain Patrick DeLacy and S. N. Callender, of Scranton, to Lehigh cemetery, where the services were held. Knedler's band of twenty pieces, under the leadership of Dr. Knedler, accompanied the members of the post. H. G. Stalbird, commander, acted as marshal. The line led by the band followed by the children, each of whom carried a flag, the choir, speakers and citizens marched to the main entrance where the line opened and the veterans passed through to the grave of Elias LaBar, the second soldier buried here (Jan. 10, 1843). The morning was perfect, cool, and with just enough clouds to make it pleasant. The cemetery, which is said to be one of the prettiest country cemeteries in the state, looked exceptionally beautiful, with nearly every plot showing the care that it had received. The broad roads, well kept paths, the beautiful monuments all show that "God's Acre," in Gouldsboro is not neglected, nor those sleeping beneath the green sod forgotten. Captain DeLacy acted as master of forms and ceremonies. The services at the grave consisted of the regular G. A. R. service. Invocation was by Rev. P. S. Lehman. The reading of the roll of the dead was as follows: Samuel Owens, 1874; Rev. Lewis (Confederate), 1881; Elias LaBar, 1888; William Wagner, 1888; William Strauser, 1895; David Walton, 1897; Sylvester A. Adams, 1900; Simon S. Hager, 1901; David Kahley, 1902; Charles Oakes, 1904; Edward Staples, 1908. Then followed the salute to the dead, two songs—"Dropping One by One" and "Falling Into Line," two selections and songs by the band, "America," by the assembly. Ten young ladies accompanied a delegation of soldiers to each grave, where a handsome bouquet was placed and at the same time three little girls each placed a floral offering on Mr. LaBar's grave, while each of the children placed a flag, after which the line formed and led by the band marched to the park entrance of the cemetery, where addresses that will long be remembered were made by Chester H. Rhodes, Stroudsburg; Captain Patrick DeLacy, Scranton; reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by A. H. Flower, and several songs by S. N. Callender. Two selections were given by the choir and songs by the children. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. P. S. Lehman. The band, speakers and all soldiers proceeded to the Villa, the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wirt, where an ample dinner had been provided and the house beautifully decorated in their honor. A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Wirt for offering her home for the services in case of rain. Among those who were especially missed this year at the Memorial services was G. S. Brown, Moscow, adjutant of the post. Mr. Brown has attended the services here for many years and taken an active part. Last year Mrs. Brown accompanied him. A few weeks ago after a very short illness she passed away, the bereavement coming as it did when Mr. Brown was convalescing from a serious illness, has so broken down his health that he has gone to the middle west to a sanitarium, where he is under special treatment, but reports received have not been so favorable as we would wish.

W. W. Latimer, who was seriously injured two years ago by being thrown from a wagon, was brought to the services last year, but was unable to be out this year.

R. W. Balcom, who was with us last year, has been called to Virginia by business.

The committee appointed by Post 218 wish, through The Citizen to extend their most hearty thanks to all who helped to make the memorial services pass off so pleasantly and to show the "boys in blue" that we still have with us respect that will be rendered them as long as we remain, and their graves kept green when they have answered the last roll call.

The committee was especially glad of the assistance rendered by the young people. Miss Bessie E. Smith, who had charge of the music gave a great deal of time and carefully drilled the children whose sweet clear voices were enjoyed by all, and to Mr. Callender, whose singing was so thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Helen Smith, assisted by Miss Alice Downing, Miss Rose Courtney, Miss Myrtle Major, Miss Lila Flower and Mrs. M. Kelley, showed they had not been idle, having raised sufficient funds to defray all expenses and they had a sum left which will be used toward erecting a suitable marker for the grave of Rev. Lewis, the only Confederate soldier buried here. Through the efforts of Michael Hurley, Daleville, a member of Post 218, his name, regiment, company, etc., have been learned. Thanks are also extended to Mrs. Charles Wirt and Mrs. William Surplus in loaning an organ and stand for speakers, etc., and to the L. O. O. F. lodge for the use of their chairs, to all those that sent flowers and the ladies that arranged them, and to Knedler's band. Also to those who made the addresses, some who gave up other engagements to be here; to all the citizens who helped by their presence, and last, but not least, to all the veterans to whom coming to Gouldsboro at half past eight in the morning, meant an early start.

Among the guests recently entertained by Mr. and Mrs. William McAree were Mrs. McAree's brother, Thomas Lowney, Scranton, Mrs. Salie Martin, Maple Glen, and Howard Cross, Crosses. Mr. Cross recently returned from a four years' trip through the west. He spent the winter in California. He was accompanied east by Mr. and Mrs. Heber Cross and children of Denver. Before returning home they expect to visit Gouldsboro friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hager, Russell and Horace Hager and Miss

Mary Hager, Roselle, N. J., returned home on Wednesday, having spent Memorial Day with her mother, Mrs. S. S. Hager. They entertained at the St. Charles on Tuesday. Mrs. Hager and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ellenberger and children of Sunnycrest Farm.

Two very interesting games were played here on Tuesday afternoon between Elm Park team of Scranton and the Gouldsboro team. The first game was won by Gouldsboro; the second with a score of 3-2 in favor of Elm Park. Dinner and supper was served in the hall. The Scranton boys were accompanied by a number of ladies.

Mrs. M. E. Smith and daughter, Mrs. Margaret, Mrs. James Dowling, Mrs. Charles Edwards, Mrs. A. L. Rhodes, Mrs. G. A. Kerling, Miss Mary Hager and Miss Madeline Mathews attended the Memorial services at Moscow Tuesday afternoon.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. William McAree, Mr. and Mrs. John McAree and Miss Mollie McAree attended the funeral of Mrs. William McAree's sister, Mrs. Ellen Caritop, at South Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Garagan, Prof. Slep, Misses Annabell Wright and Harriet Newell, Edgar Dowling and LeRoy Crooks attended the commencement exercises at Newfoundland.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Pittston, spent Memorial Day with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Fairless at West End.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hutley and son, George, Dickson City, have returned home after a few days' visit with relatives here.

ALDENVILLE.

[Special to The Citizen.]

ALDENVILLE, Pa., June 6.—The graduating exercises of the Clinton High school of this place passed off very smoothly on Monday evening, May 29, in the M. E. church. Promptly at 8 o'clock the class, headed by Prof. Koehler, Richwine and Watkins, also Judge Alonzo T. Searle, marched up the aisle to the platform. The order of speakers was as follows: Salutatory, Miss Edith Freer; declamation, Samuel Counterman; essay, Miss Lillian Gleason, Dyberry; history, Miss Ruth Sneider; Prophecy, Gerald Shanley; Class Will, Miss Kathleen McCabe; essay, Herbert Loomis; valedictory, Miss Edith Rosner. Much credit is due to the class for their essays and to the faculty for turning out such a strong class. Excellent music was furnished throughout the evening by Dr. Welby's orchestra from Forest City. The church was neatly trimmed and was filled to the doors, the entire seating capacity being taken up and standing room as well. On Friday the entire class and Principal Richwine spent the day in Honesdale and visited the points of interest, including, no doubt, the photograph studio. We hear nothing but praise for the fine success of this year's school, everything having moved smoothly along like a well-oiled, carefully adjusted machine.

The entire proceeds from the base ball celebration held here on Memorial Day was over $40. Rain spoiled the chances for a good game on Saturday last. Next Saturday the Honesdale East Side A. A. will endeavor to reverse the decision on the "Alerts." Now here is just a word in regard to the expense connected with every game the fans have the privilege of seeing. It costs the base ball association from $8 to $10 per game—cash outlay—whether they play at home or away. Now if every loyal fan will remember the silver collection which will be taken at the games the sport can be maintained. The thanks of the management and entire team is extended to all who contributed to the success of the dinner on Memorial day.

We noticed in a recent issue of The Citizen the article regarding the magnolia tree on Mrs. Forman's property in Honesdale. The claim that this is the only one in Wayne county is incorrect. On the property of C. C. Loxier of magnolias, two of this family of magnolias. The older of the two was set out by Levi Alden over fifty years ago, and is perhaps forty feet tall. The large fragrant blossoms fill the air with perfume and have attracted the attention of many.

On the farm of Maurice Pethick is a tree of another type of magnolia, according to the opinion of scientific men who have visited it. This tree is a splendid sight at present, being in full bloom. Though its blossoms are not fragrant, they are fairly swarming with honey bees.

Mrs. Elizabeth Greiner and daughter, Mrs. Grace Handley, have been making visits among former friends in Clinton. They leave for Denver, Col., in the near future and will also visit relatives in Seattle, Washington, and spend the winter in Riverside, Cal.

Mrs. Clarinda Wilmarth, who has been visiting among friends and relatives at Aldenville, will spend the winter at Passaic, N. J.

There are a number of sick horses this spring. G. H. Knapp and G. G. Wilmarth had two serious cases, each having a horse taken with colic. Dr. Lidstone is doing quite a business up this way. Everyone is lamenting, and sometimes worse than that, over the condition of our roads. The road taxes are very high and little or nothing being done to the roads. What is the matter? Are we to be held up to ridicule by our neighboring towns? Prompton has a wide-awake pathmaster who understands road making and road maintaining. They also have a split log drag which is used after each rain and throw out all loose stones with the result of the cheapest and best roads the town has had for years. In the name of progressive decency can we not stop the political bleeking (if that is the trouble) and pull together and repair the roads. It certainly will be cheaper and far better in the end.

The recent rains have rescued the hay crop as well as all the other crops that were being dried up. The huckleberry bushes are reported to be covered with berries and if the weather conditions are favorable the huckleberry crop this year should be large.

Gleanings and Gossip.

The eagle that attacked the aeroplane, racing from Paris to Madrid, took something much more than its own size and it vindicated its dignity as the time-honored monarch of the air. Apparently, too, the aeroplane had to come down. If the eagle was shot by the aviator, then it wasn't a fair fight.

Coronation prices are tumbling and there is an opportunity to see the parade and live in London a week without being a multimillionaire. The native Londoners who asked $5,000 for a front window while the king was passing the house found that they are reckoning on too great a rush of fool Americans.

"Hatpins projecting from head-dresses" are among "the dangers of coronation time" against which the commissioner of police in London takes pains to warn the public. The hatpin peril in America has perceptibly abated during the past year, thanks to the press agitation against it and the municipal antihatpin ordinances enacted in various cities. Evidently the English are still pestered and imperiled by the terrifying things.

One of the last official acts of Secretary of War Dickinson was to send a communication to Congress declaring that, unless it directs otherwise, the wreck of the battleship Maine, when raised from the mud of Havana harbor, will be floated out to the deep sea and sunk. It is to be expected that before that is done there will be full examination of the historic hull, and when its story has been told it may well be buried out of our sight.

It is an immense gratification to see that our Detroit Baconian-Shakespearean cipherist and cryptogrammer, Dr. Owen, is not in the least discouraged because he has found no Baconian manuscripts, revealing the great secret, in the mud bottom of the river Wye. Having found the remains of an ancient Roman bridge instead of a box of documents, Dr. Owen will simply renew his digging elsewhere. He is a true Baconian.

Western Kansas, once a treeless and arid plain, is being rapidly covered with forests and orchards, so the reports from that quarter say. It is stated that the farmers in that region are planting 2,600,000 catalpa trees this year alone. The tree seems to thrive there, particularly by the rivers, and it is of such quick growth that six years make it available for fence posts and after 10 years it yields commercial lumber. Corn and potatoes are raised among the catalpa plantings during the first two or three years.

Rev. Thomas Grieves, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Greenwich, N. Y., announced last week that he would sell all his possessions to make restitution for the death of little Mary Maginn of Saratoga Springs, who he recently ran down with his automobile. The car had already been sold and the rector's cottage at Riverside is on the market. The proceeds, he said, will be turned over to the parents of his victim. A coroner's jury recently held Mr. Grieves blameless for the accident, but he has grieved over it greatly.

There were fat pickings for two professional gamblers who came over on the Lusitania to New York Friday. One passenger reported that in four days they picked up $14,000 and that one of their victims lost $1000 in an hour. "I've lived with most all my life in parts of the West," said this passenger, "where gambling is wide open, but I never saw such quick action at poker. Play usually began in the smoking-room at 11 o'clock at night and lasted until 3 or 4 in the morning. The pigeons could evidently afford their pickings, and as it was none of my business, I did not interfere."

With a small fortune she acquired in tips received in the 3 1/2 years she served as maid in the women's parlor at the Hotel St. Regis, New York, Miss Helen Wollan, 22 years old, said good-bye to New York 10 days ago. She left for Europe on board the Hamburg-American line, and will make her future home with her mother in Vienna. She saved $6,000 in the time she was employed at the St. Regis, and, according to employees of the hotel, the little fortune came from tips. Miss Wollan came to New York in 1907, and through Mrs. R. M. Haan, wife of the proprietor of the St. Regis, whom she had met in Austria, she obtained employment as maid. She was a linguist, speaking English, French and German.

A book which is calculated to prove rasping to British nerves has been published in Paris under the title of "The England of Edward VII." It is a severe and unsparring analysis of English social life and present-day politics by Augustin Filon, a French author of some note, who appears to have spent many years in England. As reviewed and sampled in the French press the principal conclusion of the book is that the England of Edward VII, with its lowering of domestic ideals and its pursuit of pleasure, destroyed all that which made for the moral strength and true glory of the England of Victoria. The author refers to the English educational system with particular severity, and makes the mordant comment that "they learn everything in the English schools,—except English and morality." But in his references to English politics this Frenchman speaks somewhat as a "reactionary" republican might in the United States in lamenting present tendencies, and his apparent failure to give due credit to the progressiveness of the liberal government raises some question as to the entire justice of his flings at English society. However, it is interesting to have the social atmosphere of England under Edward thus described, if only to serve as a comparison with that which is to obtain under the present king and queen, who are apparently setting an example of domesticity which will make for a return to the age of Victoria, so far as the influence of the court is concerned.—Springfield Republican.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Simple Contrivance For Cleaning Knives.

LAW

The device for cleaning kitchen knives herewith shown is the invention of a Californian man. This contrivance consists of a couple of cleaning stones held in juxtaposition in a resilient frame. The frame consists of two inverted V shaped wires with springs connecting the three corners of each. This has the effect of keeping the stones close together all the time, but allowing enough leeway for the admission of a knife blade or the tines of a fork, which can be cleaned by being rubbed up and down a few times. The springs will insure a sufficiently strong pressure to give good frictional action at all times.

Ham and Peppers.

The odds and ends of a boiled ham may be used up in a scallop with green peppers. Mince the ham. Cut the peppers in two, remove the seeds and chop them fine. Then butter a baking pan, put a layer of the ham in the bottom, add a layer of the peppers, sprinkle with fine breadcrumbs, turn in a little beef stock or hot water flavored with beef extract, salt and pepper; put in more ham, peppers, etc., and continue until the dish is full. Sprinkle the top with buttered crumbs, bake covered for about half an hour and then brown the top.

Veal Cutlets With Onion.

Have the bone taken out and the cutlets trimmed carefully. Then sprinkle an onion that has been chopped fine over the bottom of a baking pan, put the meat on it, brush the meat with melted butter, sprinkle over it a little more onion, a cupful of stewed and strained tomatoes, a tablespoonful of minced parsley, salt and pepper and bake in a hot oven for about half an hour. Remove the meat to a hot platter and strain over it the sauce from the pan.

Stewed Sheep's Tongue.

Three sheep's tongues, pepper, salt, one sliced onion and lemon juice. Boil the sheep's tongues till tender and remove the skins; dredge thickly with flour, pepper and salt. Put them into a stewpan with one gill of stock, onion and a few drops of browning and simmer gently for five minutes. To serve, cut each tongue lengthwise. Place on a hot dish. Bring the gravy and add ten drops of lemon juice and pour over.

Cleaning the Teakettle.

To remove the deposit from the inside of teakettles fill the kettle with water and add to it a dram of sal ammoniac. Let it boil for an hour, when the fur or petrified substance found on the metal will be dissolved and can be easily removed. Rinse the kettle well, then boil out once or twice before using the contents.

Eggs and Tomatoes.

Choose large, smooth tomatoes. Cut off top, but do not remove the skin. Scoop out the inside and break into each tomato an egg. Season, strew with crumbs, put a bit of butter on top of each one and bake for eight or ten minutes in a very hot oven. The pulp may be stewed and used as a gravy, if desired.

Eggs and Sausage.

For an appetizing little supper dish cover the bottom of a baking dish with stewed and strained tomatoes and over them drop poached eggs. Put slices of cooked sausages or tiny sausages in the spaces between the eggs, bits of butter on the eggs and heat thoroughly in the oven.

Filler For Floor Cracks.

An easily made, cheap and satisfactory crack filler for floors can be made as follows: Dissolve one pound of ordinary glue in a pint of boiling water. To this add enough fine sawdust to make it of a consistency to spread well. This is one of the best fillers to use before varnishing floors.

Brass Curtain Rings.

An easy way to clean pins and rings that have become black with use is to put them into a bowl with hot water and vinegar, two parts vinegar to one of water. Let them stand for a few hours and then rub on a coarse cloth, and they will look like new.

Stuffed Dates.

Dates stuffed with walnuts and then dipped in melted chocolate make a delicious bonbon. Among a sauciful of such dates have, for variety's sake, a few that are stuffed with raisins and dipped also in chocolate.
