

THE COUNTY

BOYDS MILLS.

[Special to The Citizen.]
BOYDS MILLS, Pa., June 8.—Labor Grange held their regular meeting in Grange Hall Saturday evening.

A number from this place attended the baccalaureate sermon at Damascus on Sunday.

Rev. Moyer, Damascus, preached his first sermon in the Union church on Sunday evening.

Harold Dickens, Scranton, a college student who is home on his vacation will preach in the Calkins Union church next Sunday morning and evening.

The Young Men's Bible class will meet next Sunday with Ralph Wall.

Ralph Wall and Claude Martin expect to start a meat market soon.

Maude Noble has returned home for her summer vacation.

L. B. Elighmy, Port Jervis, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Caroline Elighmy, who is very sick.

HAMLIN.

HAMLIN, Pa., June 8.—Memorial Day was celebrated here only by very brief services in the cemetery at 9:30 a. m., after which the members of the G. A. R. attended their services at Nobletown.

Among those who spent Memorial Day here were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wright, Miss Maggie Thompson, Miss Edna Rice and Bertnam Wright, Scranton, and Mrs. Meytrot and daughter, Marguerite, West Pittston.

On Thursday, June 1, Rev. Robert Blickensdorfer, St. David's church, Scranton, conducted services in St. John's Episcopal church of this place.

Services will be held in the Presbyterian church every Sunday evening throughout the summer months.

Mrs. C. M. Loring entertained on Memorial Day Mrs. A. Phillips and Mrs. J. Killam, Paupack, and Miss Maude Lewis, Scranton.

Mrs. W. H. Alt and Mrs. Salinda Jones have returned from a few days' outing at Big Pond.

Charles Arndt, Hoboken, N. J., spent last week at the home of Mrs. Frances Orchard.

Mrs. Emily Simons left on Friday, June 2, for an extended visit with her son, W. L. Leonard, at East Orange, N. J.

The ball game on May 30 resulted in a defeat for the home team, they losing to Paupack by the score of 17 to 18.

Max Simons, Peckville, was in this place over May 30.

Mrs. Hattie Wilcox and daughter, Mrs. Miller, Scranton, visited at H. C. Pelton's.

Miss E. M. Buckingham is away on an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horton, Carbondale, visited Mrs. C. M. Loring over Sunday last.

H. M. Simons, with a party of friends, spent Decoration Day at his cottage here.

The annual reunion of the Buckingham family will be held as a basket picnic in the grove at Ariel on June 17.

LOOKOUT.

LOOKOUT, Pa., June 8.—Jesse Hathaway is laying a cellar wall for John Gillis at Girdland.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hill were recent callers on friends at the Hancock.

Mildred Teeple, Pond Eddy, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Teeple.

Miss Anna Knapp, who has been seriously sick, is slowly recovering.

Her sister, Mrs. Millard Teeple, Pond Eddy, spent a few days with her the first of the week.

Miss Nellie Flynn is visiting friends at Binghamton, N. Y.

Quite a number from this place attended the ice cream social at John Blake's at Union Wednesday night.

There will be an ice cream and box social at the home of S. J. Rutledge on Thursday night, June 15. All are cordially invited to attend.

STATE COLLEGE.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 8.—Quite heavy rains here on Tuesday, Friday night and Saturday, accompanied by cooler weather.

Memorial Day was well celebrated at the college and at Pine Hall, where decoration and a speech to the veterans was followed by a supper, the proceeds from the same going for the benefit of the church.

The Children's Day exercises on Sunday, June 4, at the Methodist church passed off very successfully to the satisfaction of the teachers of the little ones who had charge of the exercises, and the appreciation of a large audience which packed the church.

On the previous Sunday contribution envelopes were placed to each member of the Sunday school and each member put his or her contribution for the day in these.

The proceeds go to the Children's Student Aid fund to be loaned to young people desiring a college education but not having the means with which to procure it.

The preparations for commencement have been going on steadily for the last few weeks.

The portion of the campus in front of the Engineering Building has been leveled and a concrete retaining wall put in next to the street.

The part newly leveled has been planted in shrubs and grass, making a great improvement in its appearance.

Clinton Gilpin has Dr. Simons' car thoroughly overhauled and put in good running order and intends to motor home in it after commencement.

The Penn State baseball team defeated the Susquehanna University team on Saturday with a score of 3 to 1 favor of State.

FATHER TITUS' SERMON.

would say their business is to follow a trade, on the farm, in the office, shop or factory.

"The women would say their business is at home at the family fire-side. This is not so. That is not your business. Your words may be true in the sense in which you use them. There is a great and real business. All men here on earth have but one and the same business, and what is that? The salvation of the immortal soul.

"No matter who you are, whether young or old, rich or poor, educated or ignorant, you all have the same business here on earth and that is the salvation of your immortal soul.

"Although this is really the most important business on earth, yet it is neglected by man. How many people live just as if they had no soul. How many people live and die and appear before the judgment seat of God who have taken no care of their soul.

"Now in order that no one of you make this great mistake, I would call your attention to the great care you must exercise in order to save your soul.

"Your soul deserves your greatest care, first, because your soul is the most precious and valuable thing that you have, because you are in great danger of losing it; and because you have only one soul, and if lost once it's lost forever.

"I say your soul is the most precious, most valuable thing that you have. If you have something very precious you take care not to lose it. The more valuable, the more precious that thing is, the greater is the care you take of it.

"Suppose you have a few nickels or dimes in your pocket. You would not mind it very much if you should lose it, for you know if you should lose it, not much would be lost.

"Suppose instead you had several hundred dollar bills or 20-dollar gold pieces. You would take great care not to lose them. You would first examine your pocket to see whether there was a hole in it, and you would look into it every now and then to see if it was still there. The larger the sum the greater care you would take of it.

"Now your soul is the most precious and valuable thing that you have. Therefore it deserves greatest care. We have a soul my dear Christians. When God created man he formed his body from the slime of the earth; a lifeless form, a beautiful statue. God breathed into it a living soul. Now the soul that God breathed into it was made after his image and likeness.

"Your soul resembles God also because it is immortal, that is it will never die.

"Why is it, O man, that all creation falls down before you, and proclaims you lord and monarch? It is because of your soul, because the image of God is stamped upon you.

"O man, I don't care who you are you have a soul.

"To understand the great value of your soul consider what a price was paid for it. A great price had to be paid for it in order to save your soul. The Son of Man came down to earth, led the life of poverty and sacrifice and died on the cross.

"In the Catholic church we honor thousands of heroic men who gave up earthly relations and friends and cheerfully endured the most cruel deaths. And why did they do so? In order to save their precious souls. And even at the present day, we have many young women, brought up in all the luxury wealth can provide, forsake wealth in order to enter a nunnery, to devote their lives to the nursing of the sick and the teaching of children. And why? In order to save their precious souls.

"Your soul deserves your greatest care because you are in great danger of losing it. By the loss of the soul I mean the loss of God which is occasioned by mortal sin. And this loss becomes fatal if you die in that state. Unless you take great care you will fall into mortal sin.

"There's many a home, many a house, many a place of public resort over the gates of which one could write, 'The Gate To Hell'; places where souls are lost daily and hourly.

"And if you fall into mortal sin, you are also in danger of dying in that sin. How easily may you die. The least thing—a false step, a railroad accident, a flash of lightning—and you are launched out into eternity without preparation. Therefore take great care of your soul, that is in great danger of being lost.

"You should also take great care of your soul, because you have only one soul, and if lost once, it is lost forever.

"You have two eyes. If you should lose one it would be a great misfortune, but you have another eye left with which to see. But you do not have two souls, only one soul, if that soul is lost you have no other.

"A certain King once asked a favor of Pope Benedict XI, and the Pope could not grant the King's request, without being guilty of a sin. One day when the ambassador insisted that the Pope should grant the King's request, Pope Benedict said to him: 'Sit down and write to your King that I have only one soul. If I had two souls I would be willing to sacrifice one to please the King. Since I have only one soul, I cannot afford to lose it.' Beautiful words: 'I have only one soul, therefore I cannot afford to lose it.'

"If your soul is lost once it is lost forever. Every earthly sorrow may be healed by time, but the soul once lost is lost forever.

"Do all in your power to save your precious soul, and you have to do that yourself. It's a personal affair. No one can do it for you.

"Must you leave the world to save your soul? God does not require this of all. He says to all, 'Do no more than what is appointed you.'

"By means of your daily occupation you should work out your salvation. Therefore if you have sinned cleanse your soul by a good confession. Preserve your Catholic faith. Make good use of the means of grace. Make a firm resolution, yes now I will make peace with God and save my soul!"

TWO CENTS.

JUNE 7, 1911

SEMI-WEEKLY.

THE DEMOCRATIC DEWDROP.

Chapter 1.
All was still.
In the great auditorium the silence was intense.

The immense room was packed to the keyhole.
The delegates perspired, mopped their brows and perspired some more.

It was the Democratic National Convention.

Chapter 2.
A pin dropped.
Everybody jumped, thinking the building had fallen down.

Chapter 3.
On the platform stood a man.
He addressed the convention in flowery language.

"My nomination for the Presidency of these glorious United States," said he, "is that marvel of humanity, Mr. Woodrow Wilson."

The cheers were deafening.
The nomination was carried.

The delegates fled out of the hall together below.

Chapter 4.
That night a tall, bald, portly gentleman entered the deserted hall.

He stood with downcast look on the exact center of the auditorium.

Four scalding tears ran down his handsome face, north, east, south and west.

His strong frame shook with sobs.
He dampened ten handkerchiefs.

Then ten more, and ten more after that.

The tears ran faster.

Chapter 5.

A pool formed at his feet.
It reached his knees.
It rose higher and higher.
It reached his chin.

The next day the body of a drowned man was found floating over the platform.

Chapter 6.
It was W. J. Bryan, the Democratic Dewdrop.

The End.

Items of Interest.

Jack Johnson wasn't arrested once in the last half hour.

Bill Lorimer's senatorial seat is going to be upholstered with caston. The White House quartette will render that fetching ballade "Make a Noise Like a Hoop and Just Roll Away."

A hen crosses the road to get in the way of automobiles.

There is just enough water left in New York for the inhabitants to take one Saturday night bath apiece.

Johnny slapped his sister's face.
Knocked it clean way out of place.
Johnny'll surely go to Heaven.
Ain't he cute, he's only seven!

See the airship in the air.
Going some—well, I declare.
Going faster. Hear the roar?
Hit a tree—'twill go no more.
