Cleveland's Chief of Police Will See King George Crowned.

New York, June S .-- Chief Kohler, known as the "Golden Rule Chief of Police" of Cleveland, O., will sail for Europe today. He may be in London during the coronation period.

Chief Kohler called upon Mayor Gaynor and extended to him his congratulations and felicitations, "but not sympathy, for he needs none," as he himself expressed it.

HOLD HUSBAND AND WIFE FOR MURDERS

Double Baltimore Crime Charged to Account of Love,

Baltimore, June & - Charged with murdering Morris Cohen and Mrs. Sarah Cohen by administering poison to them in their food, Mrs. Ida Cohen, wife of the dead man, and another Morris Cohen, husband of the dead woman, are under arrest.

The motive for the alleged crimes, as a result of which little ten-year-old Samuel Cohen, son of Morris Cohen, is also believed to have lost his life, is thought by the police to have been a desire of the couple now under arrest to get rid of wife and husband in order that the attachment of the living Morris Cohen and Mrs. Ida Cohen might be more favorably fostered. Each prisoner refused to make any statement. Neither expressed surprise at being arrested.

Zulu "House Boys."

The best of all servants in South Africa is a Zulu, especially if he is raw-that is, fresh from his native kraal and totally unspolled by the wiles of civilization. Such a "house boy" is honest, sober, quick, clean and anxious to learn the ways of the white man. He soon becomes as deft as an English butler and as handy as the ideal housemaid. He does everything, from cooking to answering the door, and after a little practice he does it well. The boys have all manner of strange names, usually chosen by themselves from some one or other of the words they hear often used, such as sixpence, "tickey" (threepenny piece), shilling, breakfast, kettie, silly fool, ugly, pint pot, scrubber, chapper or whisky.-Harper's Weekly.

The Lion's Taste.

Miss Charlotte Mansfield in "Via Rhodesia" tells of a native South African boy who came to England and was taken to the Hippodrome. "Instead of enjoying the entertainment. however, he begged, with tears in his eyes, to be taken out, and he said: There are llous over there'-pointing to the stage-'and I am the only black man here.' It is a well known fact that a man eating lion will make a meal off a black in preference to a white man if it is a question of choice. Perhaps the flavor is stronger and the taste for white flesh-like caviar-has to be acquired."

were left and by this means escaped death. It is a true problem, and the question was to know before the killing began which numbers in line the two friends should assume.-Louisville Courier-Journal.

His More Important Duty.

The error into which King Alfred fell in that famous instance when he let the cakes left in his care burn is not going to be repeated by the telegraph operator of whom Arthur W. North tells in "Camp and Camino In Lower California.'

I learned at this point that for the first 500 miles before me I would require more change than I had on hand and would pass through no place where checks could be cashed. Moreover, my drafts were used up. In this dilemma I wired for money. After four days of exasperating delays I received this satisfying message from the obliging operator of the wireless office:

"Operator on other coast say he have two messages for some one, but his bread in oven-wife she awayand might burn if he leave it long. After lunch he transmit message."

The wedding was over.
