They are coming here on Saturday, June 24, to play the deciding game of the series of three which are being played between the local team and Dunmore. That aggregation will bring a crowd of rooters as well as Pitcher "Bill" Loughran, who will put up a great fight for this game. Dunmore cannot afford to lose to Honesdale, now that they are classed as the best team in the Lackawanna League.

Never Buy a Horse After Dark

$25 CLAIM AWARDED VICTOR MISZLER BY 'SQUIRE SMITH TUESDAY.

Judgment for $25 was awarded the plaintiff, Victor Miszler, employed at Charles McArdle's stables, Honesdale, against Albert Kantner, a White Mills farmer, Tuesday afternoon at a hearing before 'Squire Robert A. Smith, Attorney W. H. Lee appearing for the prosecution and Chester A. Garratt, Esq., for the defense.

The claim was for $25 and interest for two years, balance owing on a horse, buggy and harness sold to the defendant by Mr. Miszler June 9, 1909, for $80, and on which payments amounting to $55 had already been made.

A plea of non-assumpsit was entered for the defense. Victor Miszler testified to the sale, and terms of payment which were to be $10 a month. The horse was in "pretty good condition," said Miszler, who also remarked: "You can't get much for $80 can you?"

Charles McArdle testified to a conversation in his presence in which Kantner refused to sign a judgment note for the balance.

Albert Kantner swore that Miszler guaranteed the horse to be true every way. That the next morning he found the horse had the heaves. He paid $1 down and the rest during a period of six months. The horse wouldn't work, and so he gave it away.

Mrs. Kantner testified that the horse had the heaves and said: "I was ashamed to ride behind it."

Miszler was recalled and denied having guaranteed the horse.

Mrs. Kantner's two infant children, Edwin and Kathryn, were present at the hearing.

Declaring the case to be a one-sided one, 'Squire Smith granted the judgment prayed for.

The horse deal was made in the evening. The lesson it should teach Wayne county farmers is, never to buy a horse in the dark.

BUSINESS MEN WANT CROWDS

Circus Advertising Brought Trade to Honesdale

WHY NOT HAVE SIMILAR ATTRACTIONS ONCE OR TWICE A MONTH?

The result of systematic, legitimate and thorough advertising was shown on Friday by several hundred people coming to Honesdale from the rural districts to attend the Sparks circus.

The merchants of Honesdale were a happy bunch when a large majority of these people visited their stores. For days afterward they wore a smile that wouldn't come off, and from a business standpoint it was a paying proposition on the part of the merchant. It is said that shows and circuses are not well come to a town, and they take out more than they leave. This, undoubtedly, to a certain degree, may be correct, but what about the several hundred people who always take advantage of like occasions and visit the town, perhaps once or twice a year to do their shopping?

Right along these lines is an opportunity for the merchants of Honesdale to create or devise some means whereby large numbers of people will be attracted to the town once or twice a month for the purpose of stimulating business.

The summer boarding season is here and there are large numbers of the city guests who come to the county annually to have a good time and be entertained. The numbers are increasing yearly. Every day the boarders go somewhere for a drive, traveling sometimes from fifteen to twenty miles. They go to the largest country town or city from where they might be staying and money is no object with them.

It now lies with the Business Men's association and Greater Honesdale Board of Trade to cooperate in this matter and secure the business that might otherwise go elsewhere. Floral parades, carnivals, or other doings of a special nature can be planned to attract the people to Honesdale.

The summer boarder is not the only class that the town wants, but it is very desirous of the rural district trade. Farmers and others who now go to other places should come to the county seat. Arrangements might be made to have special excursions come to Honesdale over the Erie and Delaware & Hudson roads, thus bringing a large number of people to Honesdale. When the excursion comes there should be some provision made for the entertainment of the visitors.

Every prosperous business man realizes the value of thorough advertising. If the proposed scheme were advertised as was the Sparks show, the proposition would be an overwhelming success from one end of the year to the other. Advertising is gradually being reduced to a science. The time has gone by when any store can hope to be a success except on the one-price system.

SUMMER SCHOOL HAS 30 STUDENTS

Opened Monday, Under Prof. Oday and Mrs. Alma J. G. Dix

27 WOMEN AND 3 MEN STUDYING FOR TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS.

Thirty students, the majority of whom are High school graduates, registered Monday morning at the Honesdale High school when the Summer school conducted by Prof. Harry A. Oday and Mrs. Alma J. G. Dix was formally opened.

The object of the school is to fit young men and women to take the teachers' examinations. For the five weeks' term the moderate fee of $5 is charged.

All of the thirty embryonic pedagogues are women, with three exceptions. In this connection it may be of general interest to know that only two or three of the young men who graduated from the Honesdale High school within the past ten years, have made teaching their profession, owing probably to the small salaries paid male instructors. The majority of them are engaged in more profitable occupations. The schedule of daily lectures in the Summer school is as follows:

9-9:40 a. m.—Algebra; 9:40-10:20 a. m.—Arithmetic; 10:20-11 a. m.—Grammar; 11-11:30 a. m.—Physiology; 11:30 a. m.—Geography; 1:30-2:10 p. m.—Theory; 2:10-2:50 p. m.—History; 2:50-3:20 p. m.—Civil Government; 3:20-4:00 p. m.—Reading.

A list of the students, listed according to the names of the schools from which they graduated, is as follows: Honesdale High school: Marie Bracey, Honesdale; Bessie Bunnell, East Honesdale; Agnes Carr, East Honesdale; Edna Dirlam, Honesdale R. D. 2; Anna Doherty, Rileyville; Anna Kilroe, Tanners Falls; Bessie Kimble, Honesdale; Gertrude Murrman, Honesdale; Alice Mullen, Cherry Ridge; Dorothy O'Connell, Honesdale; Margaret Rickard, Honesdale; Clara Saunders, East Honesdale; Alice Turabarger, Honesdale.

Prompton High school: Florence Denny, Waymart. Clinton High school: Nellie Gleason, Honesdale R. D. 3. Damascus High school: Bertha Fellsp, Tyler Hill; Carrie Snavely, Fallsdale; Mamie Tyler, Galilee.

Aldenville High school: Gerald Shaney, Waymart. Binghamton High school: Hazel Hopkins, Rileyville. Starrucca Graded School: Ruth Huyck, Starrucca; Everett Stephens, Starrucca.

Those who have done High school work, but are not graduates of any institution are: Teresa Maloney, Laurella; Carrie Noble, Calkins; Blanche Oliver, Beachlake; Grant G. Oliver, Beachlake; Mabel Peterson, Beachlake; Anna Schmidt, Indian Orchard; Edna Toms, Honesdale; Jennie Van Wert, Beachlake.

The ages of the students run from 17 to 24. No less than thirteen of the future school teachers are only eighteen, while one young woman's age could not be ascertained. Five are of age, three are twenty, four are nineteen, two are twenty-two, and the youngest one is only seventeen.

The Great Council sessions were opened in a public meeting when an address of welcome was delivered by the Mayor, and responses made by two of the great chiefs. The other sessions were held behind closed doors.

The week's festivities were marred by only one accident, Richard Zellers, an organizer in one of the Philadelphia tribes, being knocked down and run over by a giant auto truck, receiving a fractured left ankle.

Mr. Dunning said he found the convention a very interesting and instructive one, and that he learned lots of new points.

The 1912 convention will be held in Williamsport.

REAL ESTATE DEALS.

An important real estate deal was consummated in Manchester township June 10 last when Hyman Weitzer sold to Dr. F. C. Frisbie and J. N. Farley, Buckingham township, several tracts of valuable land, consisting of about 500 acres. Heavy forests of timber stand upon a number of acres. The contract price is private.

A. W. Lakin, Winwood, to Dean W. Howell, Preston, 130 acres, $1,900.

H. Wilson, master, to Barbara Slattery, lot in borough of Hawley; consideration, $1,475.

CROSSING COLLAPSES UNDER ROLLER'S WEIGHT.

The monster new Texas township road roller passed through the streets of the Maple City Wednesday, leaving destruction in its wake. The stones of the cross-walk at Ninth and Main streets collapsed under its great weight. Planks were used at the other crossings to avoid further mishaps. Puffing and panting, like a thing of life, it disappeared into the hill country of Texas.

CARGILL-DOW.

James Ira Cargill, Tallmansville, Pa., and Miss Clara E. Dow, Preston Park, Pa., were united in marriage by Rev. O. A. Merchant at the M. E. parsonage, Deposit, N. Y., on Thursday, June 15.

RED MEN HOLD HEAR BIG SLEEP

The Shamokin Convention Largely Attended

HONORS FALL TO LOCAL TRIBE; OVER 6,000 IN PARADE.

"The whole Pennsylvania system was tied up by the Red Men's convention at Shamokin last week," said Sergeant Charles L. Dunning, the delegate from Oselek tribe, Honesdale, to the annual state meeting of the approved O. R. M. held in that city June 12 to 15, in describing his trip to a Citizen man Wednesday morning.

"Why you couldn't get a glass of water in Sunbury, only eighteen miles away last Thursday," continued Mr. Dunning. "All the trains were delayed and I never got into Carbondale until midnight, the train being over four hours late."

Mr. Dunning, by the way, was complimented as the representative of Oselek tribe, by the great chiefs for the excellent showing made by the local tribe in the recent "Long-boom" when 65 palefaces were initiated into the mysteries of Red Manahp.

"We also have the honor of the appointment of the district deputy, A. M. Leine," said Mr. Dunning, "who was officially appointed by the great chiefs of the state."

The only other Wayne county delegate at Shamokin, was Fred Schalm, who represented High Sun lodge of Hawley.

Mr. Dunning stopped at the Windsor Hotel during his stay in Shamokin, one of the largest hotels in the city, accommodating 455 guests and headquarters for several of the uniformed tribes from Philadelphia.

The parade, according to Mr. Dunning, was a great feature of the convention, more than 6,000 men being in line.

The delegates were given the freedom of the city, and every effort was put forth to make their stay a pleasant and memorable one.

"Each representative," remarked Mr. Dunning, "was handed six tickets as he received his official pins and they admitted him to almost any attraction in the city. We were given free transportation on two electric roads running out to the beautiful Edgewood park. The coal company offered their 'monitors' to show us the mines. They took us out to a large culm pile there, as big as a whole hill, which people go to see for miles around."

Great Sachem W. H. Long, who congratulated Oselek tribe very highly on its recent successful membership campaign, promised Mr. Dunning to be at Luna Park, Scranton, on the great Red Men's Day, July 19, when all the chiefs from Wayne county will gather for a day's outing.

The 530 tribes of Red Men in the State, with a combined membership of 80,833, were represented at Shamokin by 510 delegates, besides the great chiefs and committeemen, bringing the total attendance up to about 550.

The Great Council sessions were opened in a public meeting when an address of welcome was delivered by the Mayor, and responses made by two of the great chiefs. The other sessions were held behind closed doors.

The week's festivities were marred by only one accident, Richard Zellers, an organizer in one of the Philadelphia tribes, being knocked down and run over by a giant auto truck, receiving a fractured left ankle.

Mr. Dunning said he found the convention a very interesting and instructive one, and that he learned lots of new points.

JUDGE SEARLE DELIVERS FINE ADDRESS AT WINWOOD.

WINWOOD, Pa., June 20.—Last evening was a gala night in Winwood. The class of 1911 of the Winwood High school held their commencement exercises in the Methodist church and the largest crowd ever assembled in Preston township witnessed the function. It is estimated that fully six hundred people were present. The church was crowded to the doors and at least one hundred persons were unable to secure even standing room.

Judge Alonzo T. Searle delivered the commencement address, which was a forcible, thoughtful and splendidly delivered speech, containing words of excellent advice to the young graduates and which were applicable to grown-ups as well. Judge Searle closed his address with a splendid and stirring tribute to our grand old Keystone state and urged love of country, state, county and township as one of the great essentials for young or old. The volumes of applause which greeted him and his address demonstrated that the Judge is very favorably thought of in the northern part of the county.

The orchestra was secured from Carbondale and during the evening Miss Helen Buckley rendered several songs in a most excellent manner.

The addresses of the graduates were all excellent and well delivered. After the invocation by Rev. H. B. Emil the graduates delivered their addresses in the following order: Ella Corey..... Modern Chivalry Mary Madigan..... True Nobility Edith Barrows.....

Disciples of Life and Character Leon Cole..... The Negro and the South Harold Stanton.....

The Treason of Benedict Arnold Rose Smith..... Memory's Message Reba Hine..... Education Related to Civic Prosperity.

Guy Bennett..... The Declative Battle of the Rebellion Raymond Lee..... American Ideals

The graduates all did splendidly and it would be a very difficult matter to say which one was best. After the presentation of the diplomas by Principal McAndrew refreshments were served in the school house and everyone went home feeling that they had spent a most pleasant and profitable evening.

ACID FACTORY SHOOTING UP.

Work on Reider's acid factory, Tanner's Falls, is progressing rapidly. In all there are about fifty men employed in the different stages of construction, from excavation to building. Kretner Bros. of Honesdale, are doing the carpenter work, while Contractor Busselman, Hancock has charge of the concrete work. The main building is 29x78 feet, fire proof and will be modern throughout. When completed it will be one of the finest structures of its kind in the state.

GOVERNOR F. J. SULLIVAN SIGNING BILLS

Next Week Will See Completion of Task

JONES ROAD BILL CUT $500,000; SCULPTOR BARNARD GETS $80,000.

Next week will see the finish of the legacy left to Gov. Tener by the late Legislature, as the thirty-days after adjournment will have elapsed. All bills will either have been vetoed or signed, or they will become laws by reason of the expiration of thirty days without action on the part of the Governor. Quite a number are still in his hands, although this week has seen the closing up of a great many.

Among the bills signed was one providing for an addition or extension of the Capitol Park grounds, carrying an appropriation of $2,000,000, although only $200,000 is made available this year. Not a little pressure was brought to bear upon the Governor by Harrisburg people to sign the bill, and the Executive evidently gave the matter careful consideration. This was evidenced by the statement he gave out when he signed the bill to the effect that if it should develop that the land in question could not be secured for the amount of the appropriation, he would recommend that the next legislature repeal the bill. How likely they are to do this may be guessed by the fact that two successive Legislatures passed such a bill as Governor Tener just signed, almost unanimously, and this undoubtedly had some influence with the Governor.

A great many disinterested people incline to the belief that the State will have expended nearer four million than two million when the grounds are cleared and put in presentable condition and 25 acres are added to the 17 the State already owns, and the care of these will naturally double the number of laborers, policemen, etc. A commission is to be named to get the work under way at once. Streets must be abandoned, car lines changed, factories removed, telephone, telegraph, gas and water service completely cleared out and a lot of cheap, flimsy, wooden dwelling houses demolished. In many respects the changes made necessary mean a decided gain to the Capital city in ridding it of a most undesirable section, to say nothing of the ready cash this big purchase involves.

In vetoing a number of salary raising bills, while approving others less worthy, the Governor brought down upon himself the condemnation of those he did not favor, and many comparisons were made. What moved him to such action is a matter of conjecture, but he doubtless had what he regarded as good and sufficient reason. The vetoes were not on account of insufficient revenue.

Another veto, which will probably cause more condemnation, was the Jones road bill, which was given $500,000 by the Governor, instead of the $1,000,000 appropriated by the Legislature. There are many who believe that the dominant party will lose by this action, among the farmer voters, for this bill appealed to them especially. If money were necessary that amount could have been cut from some other bills, for there were quite a few where the State was more generous than fair.

Sculptor George Gray Barnard was allowed $80,000 by a bill signed today. This will help him to recoup some of his losses. Mr. Barnard has been here most of the week putting the finishing touches on his work, so as to have it ready for the unveiling ceremonies in September.

Harrisburg was signally honored this week by the presence of two great Democrats, Speaker Champ Clark and Governor Wilson of New Jersey, both of whom regard themselves as Presidential timber, and have a little boom under way. These gentlemen were here for the encouragement and quickening of the state Democracy, particularly the reorganizing element, and a big crowd of the untrified was on hand. Congressmen Palmer, Stroudsburg, and Wilson, Tioga county, were also present. There is no doubt but our friends are in better fighting shape than usual this year, and Speaker Clark felt so encouraged that he ventured to predict the success of the Democracy in the Presidential campaign next year. Perhaps he may be correct. Much may happen between now and November of 1912.

N. E. HAUSE.

ANXIOUS TO HELP.

The people of Honesdale are enthusiastic over the Citizen's suggestion, relative to a monument being erected in Torrey park in honor of the running of the first locomotive on the western hemisphere, which occurred at Honesdale August 8, 1825. Many say that if a petition were circulated they would gladly give toward a monument. It is now up to the Mayor.

TO MAKE MAIN STREET OVER.

On Monday next Street Commissioner Weidner expects to reconstruct Upper Main street. The road, for three blocks, is in bad condition. It will be plowed, graded and rolled. The Texas township new ten-ton gasoline engine will be used in moulding the road to its proper shape.
