The policy of the The Citizen is to print the local news in an interesting manner, to summarize the news of the world at large, to fight for the right as this paper sees the right, without fear or favor to the end that it may serve the best interests of its readers and the welfare of the county.

FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1911.

A man is known by the companies in which he is a director.

The woman who goes to Reno too often gets her divorce at last.

In the family the man is the politician but the woman is the campaign manager.

If we could all see ourselves as others see us what a lot of us would soon commit Harikari.

As the little blue-eyed girl next door said when showed a copy of the new Citizen Magazine, "Ain't it toot?"

The Harrisburg Telegraph says that "the candidacy of La Follette is not a menace to President Taft. It is an affront." Wonder what the candidacy of Mr. Bryan would be. A joke?

The New York American says that "it would take 50 teams, on the principle of a ton to a team and make a procession three-fifths of a mile long to haul Mr. Carnegie's annual income of $25,000,000 laid down and paid down in gold." Sort of a 100 H. P. income, what?

Brooklyn man went on the warpath with an empty gun. This is Brooklyn's idea of being a regular devil. Connecticut cow gives strawberry milk. Now if it only gave Neapolitan cream it would be worth boasting about. * It costs $7.50 a word to cuss an Atlantic City policeman, but we understand that it's worth it.

THE MAINE RELICS.

Undoubtedly there is little hope of raising the Maine except in pieces. The explosions which caused the destruction of the ill-fated vessel did their work only too well; and the report which was recently circulated that the Maine would return to the United States under her own steam has been therefore proven premature and impossible.

The Maine has been under water for thirteen years. A few fragments of the bones of the dead sailors have been found, and that is about all. Still, even for a longer period of time than those bones have withstood the corroding chemical action of the mud and water of Havana Harbor, will the memory of the destruction of the Maine and the war which the destruction precipitated live in the minds and hearts of all those who believe that a great world power like the United States should uphold the cause of the wrongfully oppressed against even greater nations than Spain.

THEIR TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Tafts have celebrated their silver wedding. The reception was probably the most brilliant private function ever given at the White House which has been the abode of so many Presidents. There is no doubt but that the American people without regard to politics or creeds are united in wishing President and Mrs. Taft a continuance of the happiness that has marked their twenty-five years of wedded bliss.

In less than a year the nation has come to see President Taft as he really is, a big, broad-minded, liberal, determined, courageous, capable and efficient executive; a gentleman in the highest sense in which the word can apply—honest, brave and true to his great trust.

It is the earnest hope and dearest wish of the citizens of these United States that no cloud may mar the happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Taft's future life.

THE CORONATION.

It is probable that King George will be the last of the English sovereigns to be crowned, if the historical prophets are correct in their view of the British government in days to come. Undoubtedly the coronation Thursday was a most imposing and magnificent sight. Those who were fortunate enough to see it without bankrupting their pocket books, found a great many curious and interesting details for comparison with our own Presidential inaugurations. For instance we doubt very much whether the coronation of an English King is any more dignified, solemn or impressive than the inauguration of an American President, despite the pomp and ceremony attendant on the former.

As a gorgeous spectacle, however, with its accompanying fancy dress balls, dinners, and social splendor generally it will undoubtedly set a standard which will be hard to beat, if the English form of government doesn't materially change.

And looking at it from a British business point of view, it is a great thing for London and our English cousins will wax fat on the millions spent by American tourists.

PENSIONS FOR OUR EX-PRESIDENTS.

Under this head we print by request a very sensible editorial which appeared in a recent issue of the N. Y. World. As it is very much to the point and represents the Citizen's point of view so completely as well as complying with an old subscriber's wishes, we publish it verbatim as follows:

In a very graceful speech to members of the Commercial Club of Cincinnati Mr. Taft announced his intention of returning to the practice of law when his official career comes to an end:

"The prospect of going back to a less active life has in it at this time some phases that are welcome and some that are unwelcome. The necessity for labor which will follow my retirement, however, relieves me somewhat from anxiety on that score. There is as yet, so far as I have been informed, no provision for an ex-President, and while I do not wish to hold out any competition to the two lawyers who honor this club, I wish to say to the rest of the members of the club that I shall open an office and be ready for business, not at an old but at a very new stand."

Practising law could not be an uncongenial occupation for an ex-President who had ranked for years among the country's great lawyers; yet it were far better that Congress should make provision for ex-Presidents in order that they might not be under the necessity of practising law or editing magazines.

Mr. Taft's services as a lawyer would undoubtedly be in great demand and he could command his own fees; yet the spectacle of a former President pleading for a great corporation before a Judge whom he perhaps had appointed to office would not be altogether inspiring.

For years The World has advocated a liberal pension for ex-Presidents. The cost would be comparatively trifling to a Government that spends $1,000,000,000 a year and the public gain would be very great. It should never be necessary for an ex-President of the United States to traffic in the prestige of his exalted office in order to support his family.

OUR BOYS

EDITED BY

ONE OF THEM

BOY SCOUTS.

The boy scouts will be in uniform Thursday evening and will receive instructions in "First Aid to the Injured."

Plans are being considered whereby the troupe may go in camp nights on one of our hills. If this camp is instituted the boys will practically be under military discipline. They will be obliged to be in camp at a certain hour each evening and will be excused in the morning. No scout will be permitted to leave the camp or be absent without permission from his parents or employer.

The following good advice was given the editor of this column by a successful business man of Honesdale. Cut this out and place it in your scrap book:

Use tact. Be courteous. Always wear a smile that won't come off.

Look after your employer's interest at all times.

If a customer does not exactly know what he or she wants, enumerate articles carried in stock and help create a sale.

Do not take any more time than necessary to perform your duties. Promptness is a key to a successful business career.

Don't stand in the doorway of the store or appear idle, when, at the same time dust that may have settled thickly upon the shelves or your employer's desk is in need of attention. Be industrious.

Resolve to perform what you ought; perform without fail what you resolve.—Franklin.

Many boys unconsciously or apparently from lack of interest perform their duties mechanically. Remember, boys, your employer has his eye upon you and your advancement is based upon the interest you take in your work.

If you have not been doing your very best, resolve now to do so and help lighten the burden of your employer. He will appreciate your efforts and you will be the gainer.

From observation it is noted that boys in stores and offices entertain each other with "chin" music and neglect their duties. Is this right? Ask yourselves, boys. Your employer or manager pays you for your time and while under him you are in duty bound to work in his interest. You would not take a red cent from the till, yet you take the time that belongs to your employer or manager by visiting in working hours. Where is the difference? Ever look at it in that light, boys?

Has it ever occurred to you that perhaps your employer or manager expended several dollars for your benefit, that you may profit thereby. He has undoubtedly done this and many more kind and considerate things for you and still you do not appreciate it, or in fact he has reason to believe that you do not appreciate it because of the apparent indifference you show in your work. Place yourself in your employer's position and then live up to the Golden Rule.

THE OLD PINE TREES

By S. S. Robinson.

Just before the ancient portals Of the old ancestral home, Stand two lofty towering pine trees Reaching up toward Heaven's dome;

Murm'ring in the gentle breeze,— Whisp'ring softly, speaking low, Telling of the days departed In the happy long ago.

Years ago they were transplanted There by one long passed away,— Sleeping near their spreading branches

Where the roses bright and gay, On his lonely grave are blooming. And the modest myrtle too, Twines about his mound so lonely, Dainty wreaths of blossoms blue.

Many happy days in childhood, There within their pleasant shade, Often with my younger brothers, We together there have played,— Swinging in their spreading branches Swinging gaily to and fro,— Life seemed then, but endless gladness.

With no trace of care or woe, Forms that often passed beneath them, Never more will pass that way,— Kindly hands have borne them outward.

Kindly hands have laid away— Those we fondly loved in childhood— Those we would, but could not keep. And the old pine trees are whispering. While they rest in peaceful sleep.

GRANGE NEWS

Lakeville Grange, no. 1447, held a regular meeting last Wednesday evening. After the regular business had been disposed of a communication was read from F. L. Hartford, requesting the appointment of a press correspondent and after the matter was discussed at some length Rev. H. T. Purkias was appointed correspondent for this Grange.

The hour for the literary program having arrived, and in the absence of the worthy Lecturer, Bro. Theo. Klein, State Grange Organizer, who was present, consented to take charge and gave a very interesting talk upon raising alfalfa, and the value of skim milk as a fertilizer on the farm. He also gave a very interesting and amusing talk on "rats" and how to catch them.

Brother Seegar gave his experience on "Scarecrows" on the corn field and also on "Rats" and the fun there is in catching them. After a very enjoyable and profitable meeting the grange was closed in regular form.

Sterling Grange meets each Wednesday evening. The last meeting was unusually interesting.

After the usual order of business was concluded Rev. W. E. Webster, a member of this grange, gave a splendid talk on various phases of Grange work, showing how the farmer through the help derived from the Grange, might make his farm more productive and yield greater financial returns. After all he said the greatest product of the farm is the boys and girls and the Grange may be a great help in moulding and developing their lives mentally, morally and physically.

Several other short talks were given after which the worthy Lecturer, R. D. Gilpin, announced a series of debates upon questions of interest to farmers, one to be taken up at each meeting.

The question for debate at the next meeting is, "Resolved that the cash road tax system is best for the farmer." A. C. Howe has the affirmative and Dr. R. A. Smith the negative side.

At the close of the Grange the members and visitors adjourned to the lower hall for a social hour where ice cream and cake were served.

Salem Grange, as usual, had a most excellent meeting on Friday evening, although a large number of our younger members attended the High school commencement at Ariel that evening. Clara Basley, one of our members, being among the graduates.

In the absence of the Master, I. G. Williams, Pastmaster F. L. Hartford took the chair.

The secretary read a communication from W. E. Perham suggesting the possibility of getting one of the movable schools of Agriculture to come to Salem this winter. The matter was discussed and the secretary was instructed to secure a list of names with pledges of attendance and return to Mr. Perham at once. The picnic committee reported that on account of so much rains lately the farmers were very busy and it was advisable to postpone our picnic until early in August and the report was adopted.

An excellent literary program was rendered consisting of songs, recitations and select readings, among them a poem read by Mrs. D. W. Edwards, entitled "This Old World is Full of Beauty"; a recitation by Arthur Curtis, "What Pa Did When He Was Young"; a recitation by Leola Hartford, "Hall to the Farmer Girl"; a select reading by Edna Chumard, entitled "How the Deacon Drove the Calf." The program was closed by singing, "The Farmer Feeds Them All."

Sisters Clair Simons and Elba Alt return home this week from the State Normal school at Stroudsburg for their summer vacation. Sister Edna Resigne is again with us after a prolonged stay at Honesdale.

HAWLEY.

HAWLEY, Pa., June 22.—Miss Margaret Wild accompanied her uncle, Charles Krouse, to Port Jervis on Tuesday where she will visit some time with friends and relatives.

Max Herbert, New York city, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday. He is a large dealer in cut glass. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Oschmann drove last Sunday to Blooming Grove and visited their friends, Mr. Armbruster and family. On their way home they met with an accident. The horse became unmanageable and commenced kicking. Mrs. Oschmann jumped with her child in her arms from the wagon that was fast going into splinters. She landed in a wire fence and badly lacerated her arm. Mr. Oschmann was dragged some distance but managed to bring the horse under control.

A party was given by Mrs. Henry Harder on the 18th at her home on Lone Ridge in honor of her daughter, Elizabeth's fifteenth birthday. Quite a company attended and by all reports enjoyed a pleasant day. Some of those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jordan and Tille Lindau, Uswick, and several from Hawley.

Mrs. R. H. Ely returned yesterday from her visit to Laceyville, Wyoming county.

Lafayette James, Bohemia, is carpentering for A. Hause on his dairy farm near East Hawley.

Mrs. Florence Shook and little daughter, who have been visiting out-of-town friends, returned home Monday afternoon.

Professor and Mrs. Mark Cressy leave for Light Street to-day where they will be joined by his mother who will accompany them on their trip to the Pacific coast where they will attend the National Educational association which will convene in San Francisco. They will visit many places of interest enroute.

Miss Della Woodward, who was with her sister, Mrs. J. S. Ames, during the past Winter and Spring, has gone to Adella to summer with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Woodward.

Mrs. Skinner, Wangum Avenue, is entertaining her mother who lives in Canada.

Amos Baird of the East Side will enter the State hospital in Scranton this week to have his arm treated.

A. F. Voigt was calling on Honesdale friends Monday.

Mrs. Daniels is seriously sick at her home on River street.

We understand there was no insurance on the building, owned by A. Heyne, which was burned recently on Winding Hill. An account of this fire appeared in the last issue of The Citizen.

J. S. Kirkpatrick, Scranton, registered at Reader's hotel on Tuesday. Richard Phillips, Paupack, was in town on Tuesday.

The fishermen of Hawley and vicinity will be pleased to know that the Legislature of Pennsylvania has appropriated $1,000 to build a more complete dam at Promise Land Pond in Pike county. The old mill dam which has stood there for many years held back the water for some distance, making quite a pond which was noted far and near for its excellent fishing. When the dam is completed the water will cover a large territory of worthless land.

B. F. Kellam, Paupack, was doing business at Honesdale Monday. Franklin, the feet and corn doctor, went to Scranton Wednesday on urgent business.

James Sheeley has gone to Port Jervis where he will spend a few days with his brother; from thence he will go to Milford where he has secured a position for the summer at the Bluff House.

Miss Lena Baschon, teacher of the Shohola school, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baschon, at the Eddy. Wilma Knapp, a student of Bucknell University, is spending her vacation with her parents here.

EQUINUNK.

[Special to The Citizen.]

EQUINUNK, Pa., June 22.—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Farley and daughter are spending a few days in Scranton.

Mrs. Isaac Lord, who has been very ill, is very much better. Gertrude Hornbeck spent part of the past week with Hancock relatives.

Mrs. Oakley Tyner and children returned Sunday after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, at Rileyville.

Joe Warfield, Paul Branning, Fred Watson and Horton Lord spent Friday evening at Lake Como.

Ralph Spencer, Preston, spent Monday at the home of J. S. Watson.

Josephabelle Pine returned from New York Wednesday. The Willing Workers are preparing to celebrate the Fourth.

The Equinunk Study club will meet with Mrs. J. W. Farley soon. A cordial invitation is extended to all the ladies of Equinunk and vicinity.

Cain Lord has removed the hedge in front of his home which greatly improves the appearance of the property.

Joseph Watson, LeRoy, N. Y., spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents.

Mrs. Puff, Middletown, N. Y., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hanford Knapp.

Two Tablets and Stomach Misery Gone. G. W. Pell sells and guarantees the best prescription the world has ever known for disturbed and upset stomach, gas, belching, heaviness, heartburn, acid stomach and biliousness.

THE AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHER

PHOTOGRAPHER

The editor of this department is anxious that Wayne county amateur photographers take advantage of the opportunities offered them under this head in last Friday's Citizen. It behooves each and every amateur to become active if he or she wants free a list of the photographic clubs in the United States and foreign countries. July 15 is the day when this offer expires. We hope to have a general response from all parts of Wayne county.

Each township can have its own camera club. If you do not exactly understand or know how to organize correspond with the Citizen's Amateur Photographer and he will help you in every way possible, offer suggestions and make it so clear that you cannot help but organize at once without any difficulty. After you have organized your township, boroughs, or hamlets correspond with this department and Honesdale's professional photographers will come to your town, give free demonstrations in taking, developing and making pictures. This alone is an incentive and ought to be taken advantage of. Let us hear from you.

Magic Photographs.

A magic photograph is a photograph which can be made to appear on an apparently blank piece of paper. The process of making it is as follows: Make a photographic print on a piece of albumen paper, printing it the exact tone desired in the finished print. Wash for two or three minutes, and place, without toning, in the fixing-bath, composed of one ounce of hypo and eight ounces of water. Leave the print in the fixing-bath for five minutes, wash thoroughly, then place it in a saturated solution of bichloride of mercury until the picture has entirely disappeared. Leave it in this solution just long enough to bleach out the print, then wash and dry as for other prints. The paper now appears perfectly white, but it contains a latent or invisible image. The magic by which the picture is made to appear is the action of hyposulphite of soda. Soak a piece of clean blotting paper in a saturated solution of hyposulphite of soda and dry. When it is desired to make the picture appear, moisten the blotting-paper slightly, and place the picture on it face down, rubbing it to insure perfect contact. In a minute or two the picture will begin to show, and will soon be as bright and clear as when first printed. When one wishes to show this magic photograph, it is more surprising to the uninitiated if the blotting paper has been moistened and placed inside a book. Show the apparently blank piece of paper, slip it in the book next the blotter, shut the book tightly, and in a minute or two take it out, and what was to all appearance a piece of plain white paper will be found to have a picture printed on it. The picture will disappear after being exposed to the light for some time, but it can be made to reappear indefinitely.
