THE FOOT BRIDGE.

The town is to be congratulated on having secured a foot bridge over the Lackawaxen. Its thanks are due the gentlemen whose favorable report to the court made possible such a greatly needed convenience. It is to be hoped the estimates may soon be in and the contract awarded, so that there may be no delay in securing the benefits to be derived from the use of this improvement to the hundreds who will have occasion to cross over it every day.

-:U:-PROGRESSION.

As we pointed out in a recent issue of The Citizen, Mayor Kuhbach's selection of a committee to take charge of the matter of erecting a monument to the Stourbridge Lion and Horatio Allen left nothing to be desired. The meeting held Friday evening, when various committees to take charge of the many details of the plan were appointed, is sufficient evidence that the project will be brought to a successful conclusion and one which will bring honor to Honesdale for originating the plan of the commerative

It is our belief that a large majority of the public prints will give every possible aid to this worthy cause even if the late editor of the Herald their clerk G. P. Ross to write for did not honor the plan with his unqualified approval.

With $100 already pledged voluntarily the committee in charge may count unreservedly on sufficient support in the future to render the plan an entire success.

ONE WOMAN-ONE BABY.

Mrs. Olive Schreiner who gained some prominence with her book "The Story of an American Farm," is now after new laurels. It appears to the lady author's firm opinion, or better, conviction that "one baby is enough for any woman." She says she is the apostle of a new movement for women. Perhaps she is. We do not know. Neither do we know whether Mrs. Schreiner has had her one child or not. But we do know such a doctrine as she preaches is dangerous. If her scheme was put into effect the universe would be depopulated in very few generations. As it is a couple having four children just keep the human race stationery. It has been found that on an average only two of the four reach maturity, thus replacing their parents and continuing the population of the race. With one child only there would soon be race suicide. Mrs. Schreiner may be an apostle but she is also entirely wrong. As some one says, "next to a family with no children, the saddest is where there is only one."

-:0:-OILING THE STREETS.

The application of oil upon Main street, one block cost the property and Mr. Fortman was to meet her at augh beat out a grounder to third, ers an average of $3 each. It required fifteen barrels and cost nearly the train. owners an average of $3 each. It required fifteen barrels and cost nearly $60. The apparent complete success of this method of laying the dust ought to be followed by other progressive merchants until the whole length of the street will have been treated with an oil dressing.

There was little criticism at first as to the method of application, but after the second day the oil did not track.

The oil makes a sofer roadbed for riding, acting more like a cushion instead of the hard, sunbaked road that it is where water is used to keep down the dust. If sufficient care was used to keep the oil off the cross walks during the process of oiling the streets, the only criticism thus far would seem to have been dispelled. This is the first time that oil has been used on our streets and a fair test should be given it ere its use is condemned.

FOOT BRIDGE FOR LACKAWAXEN

missioners Accepted by Court

WILL BE OF GREAT BENEFIT TO PUBLIC; BIDS TO BE ASKED FOR.

The county commissioners, their regular monthly meeting held Tuesday morning in the court house approved the application for a foot bridge across the Lackawaxen river at the intersection of Court street

Trade, was drawn up, circulated and pesented to the court by Atterney C. P. Searle, chairman of the Street and Highway committee of the Board of Trade.

The court appointed E. W. Gammell, John Odgen and Isaac B. Sandercock as viewers. They reported favorable and the petition was afterwards confirmed nisi and later absolutely by the court.

Tuesday morning the commissioners were waited upon by a committee representing the town council, composed of President Martin Caufield, Treasurer G. W. Penwarden and S. T. Ham; also by epresentatives of the board of trade, managers and superintendents of industries near the proposed site of the bridge, and property owners in the vicinity.

There was not a single remonstrance filed objecting to the building of the bridge which made a fav-orable impression upon the commissioners. sioners. The dire need of a foot-bridge at this point can be readily seen by the commissioners, as it will not only accommodate shop employes, but school children, church goers, armory visitors and the public at

The commissioners authorized estimates for the construction of a concrete footbidge across the Lackawaxen at the designated place and that bidders furnish their own plans and specifications.

DEATH OF ADAM SCHILLING.

Adam Schilling, one of Honesdale's best known citizens, died Saturday evening in Dr. Reed Burns' private hospital, where he went a week ago to undergo an operation for appendicitis. It was also discovered that he was suffering from abscesses. Mr. Schilling lived a week after the operation.
