FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1911.

THE UNANIMOUS CHOICE.

By the unanimous consent of the leaders of the Republican party in Wayne county, Homer Greene, the well known lawyer and respected citizen, has been chosen as the party's candidate for the Congressional nomination for the vacancy caused by the death of the Hon. George W. Kipp.

THE HAWLEY POSTOFFICE.

Our neighboring and neighborly town is to be congratulated on its fine new postoffice which is without doubt one of the handsomest in the State or even the country, for that matter, considering the population and size of town in which it is situated.

Hawley is justified in being proud of its recent acquisition.

PURE MILK AND BABIES.

The Association for Supplying Pure Milk to Harrisburg Babies is to be congratulated on the success of the charitable enterprise, as shown by the first month's operations. It is certain that the health of many little ones has been improved and there is little doubt that some lives have been saved.

THE HAY CROP.

The hay crop has been heavily damaged throughout the country by the severe drouth. It is about 20 per cent. below normal. Cattle feeders in the West are particular sufferers, but recent heavy rains bring practical assurance of large yields in fall feed and silo stuffs. It is noticeable that the grain markets continue weak on the repair to corn and spring wheat which will be effected by the needed downpour.

THE CHOLERA SCARE.

It is gratifying indeed to be assured by so high authority as the American Medical association that, in spite of the recent alarming reports from New York to the effect that Asiatic cholera is present, no alarm need be felt.

Every safeguard and preventative measure to insure the detection and detention of any steamship passengers infected by the dreaded germ is being taken in addition to the usual methods of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service. The period of observation has been extended from 5 to 10 days and it seems certain that the awful scourge will be successfully withstood.

ABOUT BOY SCOUTS.

Information given out a few days ago at the New York headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America shows that they have tripled in number in the last eight months.

The national headquarters is now spending money at the rate of $60,000 a year and these expenditures will increase in proportion to the growth of the organization itself.

But who will say that the Boy Scouts are not worth $60,000 a year, or $600,000 a year? They are an army of little gentlemen, a reserve force of good citizens, the patriotic future of an unpatriotic present.

When we are inclined to think that the whole country is made up of higher critics and that nobody loves the old eagle any more, we turn to the Boy Scouts and take heart. There we find the good, old-fashioned patriotism; the old-fashioned ideas of courtesy and manhood; the old-fashioned respect for elders; the old-fashioned authority.

HAWLEY.

[Special to The Citizen.]

HAWLEY, Pa., August 4.—Go to the new postoffice for your mail next time.

Martin Barrett has procured a position in a large ware house in the Electric City. His family are moving in rooms with Mr. Barrett's mother until fall, when they will move to Scranton.

It has been expected for some time that the noisy motorcycle run by Alva Willis would frighten some one's team and compel the owner to pay some amount of damages. This realization all came true on Friday when L. Griswold who lives some ten miles below Hawley left his horse standing in front of B. De Groat's blacksmith shop on Church street when along came this puffing rattlebox and frightened his horses. They ran some distance but were caught after the tongue of the wagon was smashed into splinters. We understand that Wells was arrested and taken before a justice but settled by paying damages and costs.

Lawrence H. Watres, Scranton, was at Reader's Hotel on Tuesday but we did not learn just the nature of this business trip, although sure that it had to do with Hawley's greatest enterprise, that is, the great dam and new developments will show forth in a few days.

THE AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHER

We are receiving a number of complimentary remarks concerning this department and of the article on color photography which we are now running. This is chapter four:

"In one of the processes of color photography a glass plate is covered with an emulsion perfectly transparent, and exposed in the cameras with the glass side to the lens, and with the film side backed up with mercury. In this way the brilliant mirror of mercury comes in close contact with the film and reflects back upon itself the light which comes from the lens. The film must be transparent and thick enough for one or two of the longest light waves to be fully formed within it. Where the light waves collide there will be no image; where they do not come together an image will appear. The result of this is that when a plate has been exposed, developed, and dried, there is a film upon the glass in which the image consists of a series of layers of extremely thin deposited silver separated by equally thin layers of clear gelatin. When these layers are seen in a light falling upon them at a certain angle they show colors just as a soap bubble does. In this way parts of the original which are red appear in the same color in the picture, and the same is true of other colors, though none of them is exactly true to nature.

"Another process employs three different negatives. Suitable screens are interposed so that only those rays are allowed to act upon the plate which excite a particular color sensation in the eye. They are usually made of dyed gelatin or collodion hermetically sealed between two pieces of perfectly flat glass. In making pictures by this process a photomicroscope, taking two pictures at once, is used."

Shortly after the accident he was taken to the Moses Taylor hospital, Scranton, and as he was pronounced incurable was brought home in a few weeks. On July 19 he was taken to the Lackawanna hospital in hopes that some relief could be found for his suffering. ## ONE OF THEM

If you have any ambition to bear yourself well, to succeed in life in all ways as well as in the financial way, which is commonly understood when "success" is mentioned, you must become aware of the fact that you cannot live any kind of life you may like for years and still have the highest character. It is the little incidents from day to day which make a man's character, and perhaps the strongest of all these little incidents are those which concern the treatment of women and girls by men and boys.

Furthermore, when you are dealing with the other sex it is wise to bear in mind that as you treat them, so are you building up character in yourself. If you do not bear in mind the courtesies of all kinds which are woman's due, you cannot retain for any length of time a pride in your behavior which is commonly called self-respect; and without self-respect you will have a hard time of it in the world.
